A Marvellous Escape.

About ten years ago I was employed as night watchman in a sugar-refinery at Greenock, a town where there are probably more sugar-refineries than any other in Britain. That in which I was engaged was the largest in the place, and on account of its size there was another watchman besides myself. His name was Blackwood; he was a widower; and his only son, a boy of about twelve, used often to come and sleep in the little room where he kept watch. Blackwood had promised to take his son for a sail, and asked me one day if I would accompany them. I did so, and we went to Loch Lomond, and spent a very pleasant day, and returned just in time to go to the sugar-house. It was hot weather at the time, and having done without our usual sleep we felt very tired. The heat of the sugar-house was not calculated to refresh us, and we could hardly keep our eyes open. We tried reading, as usual, but it was useless. Before ten o'clock Blackwood was asleep. I determined to keep awake, and intended, after a couple of hours or so, to rouse my companion, and take a sleep myself, for I felt it would be impossible to keep watch all night. I must, however, have fallen, sleep unconsciously, and have remained so for several hours. I dreamt that I was in the cabin of a steamer in which I had been that day, and that it was full of smoke, and that I was being suffocated, and could not get out. I awoke as if I were struggling for life, and found the room filled with a stifling vapor, and felt an intense heat, and I heard without the crackling of flames. The sugar-house was on fire.

Blackwood was still asleep, and I knocked him up, and opened the door of the room. A cargo of raw sugar and molasses had just been taken in, and this was piled up on each side of the vaulted passage that led from the main door of the refinery This mass was on fire, and was sending out dense volumes of smoke; on the other side of us were wooden stairs, which led to various parts of the building, and these were also in flames. The refinery had evidently been on fire for a long time, and we could hear the shouts of the people without. We were surrounded by the flames, and the heat was so great that it was certain that we could not survive long. Blackwood and I looked at each other in dismay. His boy appeared to be calmer than either of us, and suddenly cried out "Father, the beer cellar!"

The men who worked in the refinery, on account of the great heat to which they were subjected, had a daily allowance of beer, which was kept in a cellar about twelve or fourteen feet under ground. It was to this place the boy referred. The top of the stone stair which led to it was surrounded by fire, but we at once rushed to it, and descended the steps. In passing the flames at the top of the stair, my face was scorched and my hair singed. The door of the cellar was locked, but with the strength of desperation we dashed ourselves against it, and burst it open. How cool it felt after the fearful heat of the furnace we had just left. But how long would it remain so, was the question Blackwood and I considered in a few hurried words. We had hardly closed the door when we heard the frightful crash of the falling wood of the refinery, and pieces of burnt wood came hissing and crackling down the stair. We rolled two barrels behind the door, which we did not fear would catch fire, as it was covered with iron, and then we waited while it began to grow hotter and hotter. It was quite dark there although we were so close to the bright flames, I could hear Blackwood praying as he knelt on the floor of the cellar. He was a good man, I believe, and well prepared for the death that met him that night. I soon felt the choking stench of the burnt sugar, and on putting my hand to the floor I was burnt severely. The melting sugar and scalding molasses were flowing down the stairs, and filling the place where we were. The floor sloped considerably, and I retreated to the end farthest from the door. The heat was growing intense, and the vapor was stifling. I became unconscious, and how long I remained so I cannot tell. When I recovered my senses the heat had not gone, and there were about six inches of water in the place where I was lying. This had come from the fire engines, and was lukewarm. I could not feel this with my hands, as they and my face were fearfully scorched, but I did so with my tongue. I had called on Blackwood, but there was no answer, and by wriggling over with great pain for a few yards, I found both him and his son lying dead. The scalding sugar had reached the place where they were, and had apparently stopped there. I could feel the hardened cake under the water. I conjectured that they, like myself, had become unconscious, and had been burned to death with the boiling sugar. In the agony I was enduring, I envied them. Death had no alarms for me then.

The time during which I remained in this place seemed like weeks. I had no hope of escape, as I knew that above there must be an immense mass, formed by the parts of the building which had fallen. I had not strength even to reach the door. At last, when my pain had decreased a little, I fell asleep or fainted, I cannot tell which, but when I awoke I felt somewhat relieved, and a longing for life. I also for the first time felt hungry. I managed to get some beer, which revived me considerably.

I tried to open the door, but was unable. The silence which pervaded the place, and the consciousness of the presence of the two dead bodies, had their effect on my weak state, and I knew I was becoming delirious. I remember I laughed hysterically and began to shout. When I stopped, I heard a faint sound far above me; this made me perfectly wild. There was a hammer, which my hand had accidentally come against, and I took it, and began beating an empty barrel in frenzy. Then I heard a shout from above, but I was mad now; and I remember, as if it were yesterday, that I attempted to strike my head with the hammer, and then I lost all recollection. When I regained my consciousness, I was in the infirmary. They told me that when the men were clearing away the rubbish they heard a sound, and remembering the cellar, had dug down to it. They thought at first that we were all dead; and it was not till a medical man had seen the bodies, that it was discovered that there was still some life left in me.

I lay there for months, and was not expected to recover. A young, and strong constitution, however, served me in good stead; and I was at last able to fill a very good situation, which the owners of the refinery kindly procured for me in England. Ten years have passed since then, and I am glad to say very few effects have remained of that terrible experience.—Chambers' Journal.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. The Harvest.

The crops in the vicinity of Victoria Harbor are the best for some years.—Orillia Packet.

The crops around Arthur never looked better than they do this season, and a few more days will put them beyond all danger of frost, which has proved so fatal around here in past years.—Fergus News Record.

The crops are now mostly secured, and, what rarely happens, even the farmers themselves acknowledge them good, which may be fairly regarded as implying more than is expressed.—Markham Economist.

The barley crop in Mill Point sections is now ripe, is being harvested, and it is the best ever raised on the Bay of Quinte. The kernels are bright and plump, and weigh over 50 lbs. to the bushel.—Belleville Ontario.

The crops in old Prince Edward never looked better, fruit is good and plentiful, apples are ripening, some have been taken to market and commanded a high figure. Wheat, rye, barley, oats, and root crops are excellent.—Napanee Beaver.

Grain is being harvested in splendid order, and gives promise of a good yield in this section of country. Fruit will be a partial failure—few apples, comparatively, and no plums worth speaking of. Root crops need rain.—Bowmanville Statesman.

Harvesting has made great progress during the past week throughout the counties. The hay crop has been nearly all secured, while fall wheat and barley have also to a large extent been got in. The country everywhere looks beautiful, and the farmers were never better in spirits.—Cornwall Gazette.

Our harvest, upon the whole, will be the best that we have had for years, and it is being gathered in in splendid condition. Already several loads of fall wheat and barley have been brought into market and our produce men may look out for a heavy busy season, and we feel confident that they will be prepared for all that comes. —Harriston Tribune.

The spring crops around Seaforth have a very fine appearance. Flax will make an excellent yield. Hay, which had made a poor appearance at first, will give more than an average return; while spring wheat, oats, peas, &c., will be almost too heavy. The farmers have ceased complaining of anything except that irrepressible bug.—Huron Signal.

The long continued drought had parched up everything, and the late crops were suffering badly until partially relieved by the rain, which fell rather sparingly on Thursday morning. Farmers were beginning to look blue over the prospects of the root crops, and horticulturists in this vicinity have given up all hopes of saving their cabbages, which are being in many cases entirely destroyed by the midge and worm. The grain has been safely housed, except late oats, and a plentiful shower of rain would be of great benefit to the late crops.—Cobourg Sentinel.

From all parts of the country we hear the most gratifying accounts of the promising condition of the crops. The farmers are now actively engaged in cutting down their hay, which is unexpectedly heavy this season. The only kind of cereal in which there is a drawback is the oat crop, which, owing to the backwardness of the season and the inclemency of the weather, will, it is feared, fall far short of an average. The potato crop promises an excellent yield, and on the whole our farmers are jubilant over their gains, and have almost forgotten the gloomy prospects of last spring.—Cape Breton Advocate.

In the neighbourhood of Paris the grain harvest was finished fully ten days ago, with the oat crop, which was also secured in good condition, though a little shrunk from the effects of the heat. Many of our leading agriculturists have finished thrashing, as Mr. Coleman, who completed thrashing as far back as 7th August. Sixty-three acres of barley yielded 2,131 bushels of beautifully plump and bright grain, or nearly 34 bushels per acre. The fall wheat (30 acres) yielded fourteen bushels to the acre. We have not heard the result of the spring or oat crop yet. The yield of hay on the Coleman farm this year has been 400 tons.—Transcript.

The hay crop in Bright is about finished and all housed in good condition. It will be upon the whole above an average. Spring crops look excellent, and a heavy yield is anticipated. Fall wheat will exceed early prognostications; where it is sheltered it will yield heavily. Root crops look promising. Farmers in Burford are busy in the harvest. Crops are looking splendid, and there will be an average yield. Winter wheat on heavy land is not very good, but on light soil the yield will be more than an average. The crops surrounding the village of Burford do not look very promising, but as some of us do not depend on the farm for support, we are not so much troubled as might be supposed. The pea crop, which looked the best, is threatened with destruction by the blackbirds, which alight in great flocks on the fields.—Woodstock Review.

The wheat crop is threatened with serious damage from the weevil. We have heard frequent rumors to that effect recently, but were rather chary about giving them credence. The statement is now confirmed by a farmer in the eastern part of Canada, who says that the early ravages of this worm lead to grave reflections as to the probable results of the attack of this very destructive pest. An abundant crop of hay has been secured in West Zorra. Fall wheat harvest has commenced. It is much better than was at one time expected. Spring crops look very promising. Harvesting operations are progressing satisfactorily in this country, and the promise of abundant crops in spring grains seems likely to be realized. Even fall wheat with many is turning out better than was anticipated. With good grain crops and a favourable season for cheese. Oxford ought to be in a prosperous condition.—Hamilton Times.

Of fall (or white) wheat, of which there was a larger average sown than last year, the season last fall being favourable for putting the seed into the ground, several fields were badly winter-killed, owing to the light fall of snow during the winter, and the dry, cold winds which were very prevalent in the early spring, farmers fearing from the causes that the crop would be a total failure, but the very favourable weather which has prevailed during the summer months seem to have amply made up for any backwardness ensuing from the above causes, and, although some low fields have suffered from rust, the crop will be more than an average one in quantity and quality. The weather has been exceedingly favourable for harvesting, and the crop has been secured in good condition. Too much cannot be said of our barley crop. An average breadth was sown, and the season from the commencement has been favourable both for growth and harvesting Consequently we have one of the best (if not the best) crops of this grain that has ever been gathered in this neighbourhood, the yield being about one-third more than the average, heavy in weight, and bright in colour. Spring wheat promised one of the largest yields we have had for several years, but we regret to learn that along the front the weevil has done considerable damage in the early sown fields, though we have heard no complaints from the back country. Late sown spring wheat has escaped and looks well. The season thus far has been favourable for securing this crop. Oats and peas promise an abundant yield, fully one-third more than an average. —Port Hope Times.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1874.

The report that the contract for the construction of the section of the Pacific Telegraph Line, east of Fort Garry, has been awarded is premature.

The St. John Board of Trade met last week for the purpose of discussing the Reciprocity Treaty, but after very little deliberation, they relegated the matter in the meantime to a committee representing the various interests affected, who were instructed to report to the Board at a future day. The committee was to have met yesterday for a first time.

The contract for the grading of the branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Pembina to Fort Garry has been awarded to Mr. Joseph Whitehead, of Clinton. This gentleman, it will be remembered, represented North Huron in the Commons during the first Parliamentary term after Confederation. He is a railway contractor of great experience and success.

We understand the Hon. George Brown has denied upon oath, not only the charge of seduction made against him through the columns of the National but also all the statements of a libellous nature published in connection therewith. It will now devolve upon Messrs. Thompson and Smallpiece to make affidavit to the truth of their accusations, and of course their doing so will render them liable to a prosecution for perjury, with which such action on their part will be followed.

THE BRITISH PRESS ON CANADIAN LOYALTY.

A western contemporary, of the genus Tory, referring to a recent article in our columns on the unwarranted strictures of the London Standard, wants to know where the organ's treason "comes in," and says it only stood up for the carrying out of the Canadian Pacific Railway scheme in its integrity. Had our contemporary copied another couple of lines from our article, and not garbled its quotation, there would have appeared to readers of ordinary intelligence little reason for putting the foregoing question, and sufficient cause to doubt the accuracy of the summary presented to them of the actual views of the London Tory organ; or at any rate they might have been induced to read the document whose import was disputed and interpret its meaning for themselves. If to counsel British Columbia, in case the unreasonable and exorbitant demands of Mr. Walkem were not acceded to, to secede from the Canadian confederation, be standing up for the carrying out of the Canadian Pacific Railway scheme in any shape or form, it will surprise quite a few, even to the most rabid "terms" advocates in the Pacific Province. We repeat that it is a treasonable sentiment towards Canada to counsel its disintegration, and that to stir up disaffection and discord amongst the subjects of Her Majesty in any portion of the British Empire, colonial or imperial, is disloyalty to the Sovereign of this realm. We have been told by the Tory press time and again that Independence for Canada meant annexation to the United States. If the independence of the whole Confederation, brought about by peaceable means—and it could never be brought about by any other means, if it could be brought about at all—meant annexation, what could the forcible separation of British Columbia from the rest of Canada mean? Either the argument regarding the independence of Canada means nothing, or the secession of any individual province, especially one so far separate from the rest of the Dominion as British Columbia, means a very great deal.

Our Tory contemporaries, under the impression, no doubt, that they can make a point for their party by it, have been bandying about charges of disloyalty against their opponents of late without, we should charitably be disposed to hope, fully realizing the grave importance which in some quarters may be attached to their false accusations. Of course the people of Canada fully appreciate the motive which inspires such charges, and the utter hopelessness of the cause they are designed to revive; but it should never be forgotten that people outside of Canada are not equally well informed in this respect. It is impossible, for instance, for a writer on the British press who has never lived in Canada, and is acquainted with it only by the newspaper exchanges, to know how much truth or how much falsehood there may be in the sweeping and wholesale impeachments of Canadian statesmen which from day to-day make their appearance in the columns of rabid party journals. With a perversity common to human nature, the tendency is to believe the worst that is charged, and even all that is insinuated. The writers we have referred to know that the present Government of Canada is supported by a majority in Parliament proportionately greater than ever owed allegiance to either Mr. Gladstone or Mr. Disraeli; they know that the Opposition is a body of such small proportions that it can do practically nothing to check the legislation of the dominant party, either for good or evil; they know that a government, just fresh from the people, and supported by them with a cordiality never before extended to public men in this country, are charged with disloyalty to Britain and British interests; and, taking for granted that those allegations have more or less foundation in fact, they naturally conclude that a large majority of the people of Canada are also disloyal. If they attach the slightest importance to the ravings of the Opposition press—and it would be too much to expect that some of them would not do so—they could come to no other conclusion. That such a deduction is a slander upon the people of Canada we defy the Opposition to contradict. They dare not cast such an imputation upon the nation openly, and yet when such papers as the Standard and the Saturday Review do so, they are simply drawing a logical inference from the utterances of their political prototypes on this side of the water. Some of the latter are beginning to awaken, if not to the folly of the course they are themselves pursuing, at least to the pernicious nature of its consequences. We take the Halifax Express, the pocket organ and mouthpiece of Dr. Tupper, as an example. No journal has been more profuse in its abuse, none more prolific in inventing pretexts for charges of disloyalty against the Government and the party which supports them, than this same organ; yet it finds the pill proffered by the Saturday Review, and so eagerly swallowed by the Tories of the inland provinces, by far too bitter; and it speaks of it as one of "those exasperating articles "which a Colonist always wishes to tear up "and fling in the face of the writer as the "best answer to his arguments." Of course as the Review attacks the Reciprocity Treaty, this condemnation must to some degree be qualified, or the organ would be committed to a support of the very measure it has so blindly and with so little reasoning opposed; so it tells us there is a good deal of truth in the article, and also a good deal of insult. The effect of the latter qualification, however, must certainly be held to negative the commendation. "Canada," says the writer in the Review "is loyal to "England, on the well understood condition that the Colony is never to make "a sacrifice for the benefit of the Mother "country." "If this exasperating statement were true," says the Express in reply, "the Mother country would not have "any Canada to be loyal in any shape to "her. Canada has been, all her national "life long, making sacrifices for the "Mother country—from the time when "the Canadians turned back the tide of "invasion from the walls of Quebec to "the time when their Parliament passed "the Washington Treaty, making a decided sacrifice for the Mother Country in "doing so."

The writer in the Review goes on to speak of the probabilities of annexation arising from reciprocity, and hints that if Canada could only be induced to abandon the idea of free trade by a threat of coercion, it would not be wise on the part of the Mother Country to make use of that means, as it might furnish a powerful and plausible argument for annexation. To which our Halifax contemporary makes the following bitter rejoinder:—

"We do not know how to characterize this flippant impertinence with an undertone of cowardice. Great Britain has never had any "difficulty" in getting Canada to accept whatever was for the benefit of the empire; and has never experienced any "difficulty" in "preventing" Canada from doing anything injurious to the empire. And if there is anything certain in the future, from the historical indications of the past, it is that the North American continent never will be united "in a single confederation." And the suggestion of the Review that any attempt to obstruct a treaty might furnish "a pretext for annexation"—does he mean a forcible annexation we wonder?— is the simplest and most shameless cowardice—it means, the Canadians had better consent to be robbed lest worse things befall them! An article of that sort may win a man the blue ribbon of the Saturday Review, but in Canada it would certainly deserve and possibly receive a ducking in a horsepond."

Our contemporary should remember, in the midst of its indignation, that it is, in company with its political confreres in Canada, entirely responsible for the asseverations of the Review, as well as for the base insinuations and accusations of the Standard and the London clique it leads. Until the Tories learn to place their country before their party, until they learn to sustain defeat with becoming composure, and until they begin to comprehend that some of the mud they throw about them so promiscuously is sure to stick where they do not desire it, the wholesale condemnation dealt out by British journals to the people of Canada need neither surprise nor irritate them.

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B, July 22, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant.

CITY AND VICINITY

SERIOUSLY ILL.—Judge Armstrong is reported to be seriously ill. His physician considers his condition so precarious that there is little hope of his recovery.

REMEMBER the Auction Sale this afternoon, on Albert street West, in rear of Jamieson's Bakery, of household furniture, etc. A. B. Macdonald, auctioneer.

ARRIVAL OF HOSE.—1,500 feet of 2½ inch Carbolised Rubber Hose has arrived from New York to be used in connection with the steam fire engine "John Heney." This will contribute materially to the appliances for the subjugation of fires.

THE "JOHN HENEY."—This Steam Fire Engine was out for practice last night at the Canal Basin. Owing to the lateness of the hour, it was impossible to observe closely the working of the machine. Six hundred feet of the new 2½ inch rubber hose was attached to the engine, and a most effective stream thrown.

ONTARIO RIFLE MATCH.—The Ontario Provincial Rifle Association match begins this morning at Toronto. Several crack shots from the Capital have gone to try their skill, amongst whom we might name, Major Egleson, Lieut. Harris, Gunner Morrison, Quarter-Master Sergeant Yeoman, and Gunner Lambert, all of the Garrison Artillery.

COME AT LAST.—At a meeting of the Council held last night it was decided to construct a platform on the north side of Besserer street, from King to Augusta streets. This improvement was sadly needed, and when completed will confer an inestimable boon upon the people living on that much neglected street.

OTTAWA LADIES COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.—The fair students of this popular institution are begining to return from their summer migrations, and soon the sombre appearance which the college windows have presented during the evenings of the past ten weeks, will be entirely changed. A large accession to the number of pupils is expected at the ensuing term. The College opens to-morrow (Wednesday) morning.

HOSE TOWER.—Work has been commenced on the new hose tower on George street, giving evidence of the determination of the Corporation to infringe on the recently purchased Market Square. A good deal of dissatisfaction exists at the expenditure of so large an amount of money, on what is at best, but a temporary site. The moment the market extension is begun, the present temporary fire station will inevitably be removed.

LACHLAN TAYLOR.—It is announced that the Rev. Dr. Lachlan Taylor, who is now in the city, will occupy the pulpit in the Metcalfe Street Wesleyan Church next Sunday morning. The Dr. is about starting for Europe in furtherance of the Emigration interests of the Ontario Government, he having recently been appointed to that bureau. Many will doubtless go to hear the Dr. preach, as it will be his last Canadian sermon for at least several years.

THE HYDRANTS.—The hydrants are being rapidly located throughout the city for the Water Works. In some instances they are placed in the middle of the platform, rendering their appearance very unsightly, not to speak of the liability of people running up against them on a dark night. It would be well, if at all possible, to place them at the outer extremity of all platforms. It is now generally conceded that water for all purposes will be let on about the first day of October.

MAIN SEWER.—This work is being prosecuted vigorously by the contractors. The excavation has reached Bear street, a considerable distance from the Ottawa river, the outlet of the sewer. The contractors for the supplying of brick have notified the engineer that they are prepared to furnish material in such quantities as may be found necessary to prosecute the work. An inspection of the brick will be made at once with a view to test its suitableness for the main sewer.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Last evening Miss Clara made her first appearance for a season of four nights in a new drama entitled "Dick the Chevalier." The piece is of the Jack Sheppard order, treating of the escapes of a certain noted "Chevalier d'Industrie. The lady is pretty, young, and vivacious, and full of espieglerie and dash. Her vocalisation is excellent, and in her two songs made a marked impression. A few hitches as regards the scenic department were a little noticeable, and the waits between the acts were longer than usual. Several of the tableaux were recalled. This evening Chevalier Dick will be repeated, in which Miss Clara will introduce several new songs, and it will be supplemented by a new drama entitled "Leatherstocking."

City Council.

A special meeting of the City Council for the purpose of considering the City Hall tenders, was held last night, His Worship the Mayor in the Chair. Present, Aldermen Waller, O'Connor, Rocque, Robertson, Birkett, Christie, Pratt, Bangs, David, McDougal, Groulx, Heney and Durocher.

CITY HALL TENDERS—REPORT OF THE BOARD OF WORKS.

The Board of Works in this their ninth report, respectfully submit that they have taken into consideration the various tenders for the erection of the proposed City Hall. The majority of your Board not being able to agree upon any one of the following bulk or separate tenders, do decide that they are the only ones from which the Corporation may accept such tenders, as may seem most desirable in the interests of the city.

The three lowest of the bulk tenders are as follows:—

Jacobi Fink	$68,000 00
Crane & Lyons	68 341 00
P. Rocque	68,900 00

The three lowest separate tenders are as follows:—

W. Stutford, Mason Work	$30,000 00
Johnson & Reid, Carpenters' work	22,073 00
Thomas Dunn, Plastering	3,110 00
H. Roche, Gasfitting	4,390 00
H. Gallagher, Gasfitting	2,890 00
Total	$62,463 00
George Adams, Mason work	$31,256 00
Johnson & Reid, Carpenters	22 073 00
Thos. Dunn, Plastering	3 110 00
H. Roche, Gasfitting	4 390 00
H. Gallagher, Painting	2,890 00
Total	$63,476 00
P. Cassidy, Mason work	$32,474 00
Johnston & Reid	22,073 00
Thos. Dunn, Plastering	$3,110 00
H. Roche, Gas-fitting	$4 390 00
H. Gallagher, Painting	$2,890 00
Total	$64,937 00

The difference between the lowest bulk tender and the lowest split tender is $5,537 10, and that between the two lowest separate tenders is $1,256, and the difference between the second and third separate tenders is $1,218. From information obtained, your Board is of the opinion that if the contract is awarded to Mr. W. Stutford for mason work, he will not be forthcoming to sign the contract, and would therefore recommend that his name be struck from the list of persons tendering.

Your Board would recommend that a small drain be constructed from the corner of Wellington street to Sparks street, at a cost not exceeding $150.

It also recommended that a platform be laid down upon Augusta street, opposite to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, at a cost of some hundreds of dollars.

Ald Pratt moved, seconded by Ald. Bangs, that the tender of George Adams for mason work, at $31,256; Johnson & Reid for carpenter work, $22 073; Thos. Dunn for plastering, $3,110; H Roche, gasfitting, &c., $4,390; H. Gallagher for painting, $2,890. Total, $63,719 be accepted, and that each of the persons whose tenders are so accepted be required to sign the necessary contract and give the necessary security to the satisfaction of the Board of Works and City Solicitor, on or before the 7th September next.

Ald McDougal remarked that the Report was out of order. It had not lain the usual two days in the City Clerk's office, for inspection by the members of the Council.

Ald. Waller said the meeting had been called for the special purpose of considering the City Hall tenders. Other improvements were mentioned in the Report, which necessitated the expenditure of money. He contended that the Report was out of order.

His Worship the Mayor suggested, that as the meeting was called for a special object, it would be better for the Council to confine itself to the consideration of the City Hall tenders

Ald. Waller again remarked that he was desirous that everything should be done in order by the Board. If not, he would be obliged to move an amendment that that portion of the report be struck out.

Ald. Robertson said that he observed by a resolution at the last meeting of the Council, that the tenders had been referred to the architects as well as the Board of Works. He would like to know from the Chairman, the opinion of the architects on the practicability of working the separate tenders.

After some discussion

Ald. Waller in amendment moved, seconded by Ald. Robertson, that the following tenders be received:

Johnston & Reid	$22,073
P. Cassidy	32,474
H. Roche	4,490
Thos. Dunn	3.110
H. Gallagher	2,890

Ald. Waller said that after paying considerable attention to the matter, he came to the conclusion that the above were the lowest and only bona fide tenders. He had taken the trouble to look into the merits of the respective tenderers, and found that they were all ready to come forward and give the necessary security.

After some further discussion the amendment was lost on the following division:

Nays—Ald. Pratt, Bangs, McDougal, Rocque, Groulx, O'Connor and David.

Yeas—Ald. Heney, Waller, Robertson, Birkett and Durocher.

The motion of Ald. Pratt was also defeated.

Ald. McDougal complained of the insufficiency of the report of the Board of Works, and regretted that the board did not face the music and recommend some tender. He moved in amendment to the amendment, the adoption of a series of tenders amounting in the aggregate to $57,000, It was however voted down by a vote of 11 yeas to 2 nays, after a long and wearisome debate.

Ald. Christie moved, seconded by Ald. Heney, the adoption of the bulk tender of Crain and Lyons for $68,341.

The mover contended that the adoption of a bulk tender would obviate much difficulty and eventually save the Corporation in the way of extras.

Ald. O'Connor moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Groulx, the adoption of the bulk tender of Jacob Fink for the sum of $68,000.

A sharp discussion followed this resolution, in which some personal recriminations were indulged in, and insinuations freely made that two or three Aldermen were interested in the two lowest bulk tenders.

Ald. Waller moved in amendment to the amendment, that the following tenders be accepted, provided the proper security be given to the satisfaction of the City Solicitor and His Worship the Mayor.

A. Sparks, Masonry	$33 650 00
Johnson & Reid, Carpenters	22 073 00
H. Roche, Gasfitter	4 390 00
Thos Dunn, Plasterer	3,110 00
H. Gallagher, Painter	2,890 00
Total	$66,113 00

This resolution was voted down, and the amendment also.

At this stage a resolution to extend the time of the Council two hours was lost.

Ald. Pratt then moved, seconded by Ald. Bangs, in amendment to the original resolution, that the tender proposed by him in a previous resolution be accepted, substituting Keough & Strang's painting tender of $3,581, making a total of $64,410 67.

On motion of Ald. Christie, the time of the Council was extended for one hour.

Ald. Robertson moved in amendment to the amendment, seconded by Ald. Waller, that the following tenders be accepted:

Johnson & Reid, Carpenters	$22,073
P. Cassidy, Mason	32,474
H. Roche, Gasfitter	4,390
W. Howe, Painter	3 950
J. Dunn, Plasterer	3,110
	$65,997

This amendment was voted down, as was also the resolution of Ald. Pratt.

The Council then adjourned till Friday evening at 7 o'clock, when the question will again come up for consideration.

Canada and Ireland.

The Belfast correspondent of the Dublin Freeman's Journal writes as under:

The Phœnician steamer, of the Allan line, sailed at two o'clock this afternoon from this port, with her full complement of cabin and steerage passengers, for Quebec, Canada, and amongst her cabin list I noticed fourteen young ecclesiastics for the diocese of Hamilton, in the Province of Ontario, Canada, under the care of the Rev. Father Brennan. Mr. Larkin, the Canadian Government Emigration Agent at Dublin, came down specially to arrange all the details for their departure, and he and Mr. Munro (the special agent of the Allans in Belfast) saw them all suitably berthed and provided for before the steamer sailed on her voyage. The good Bishop of Hamilton (the Most Rev. Dr. Crinnon) also sailed from Queenstown this afternoon for his new diocese in Canada, after having received a telegram from Mr. Larkin that all his young Levites had sailed at the expected hour, thus leaving the shores of his native land (which he had not visited for thirty-five years) with the assurance that he was successful in accomplishing his mission to Ireland, in which he was earnestly engaged for the last three months, with his good Secretary, the Rev. Father Hamnett, of the diocese of Albany, who kindly volunteered to accompany the worthy bishop on his mission of great interest for all our emigrating people, who thus see provision made in their new homes in the West for their spiritual as well as their temporal interests.

The English in Canada.

Canada cannot be misrepresented in England without a prompt refutation of any false statements. Some returned emigrants recently told the story of their hardships to their parish clergyman, who wrote to an English paper detailing the woes to which the wanderers from his fold had been subjected. Hon. William McDougall replied in the London Standard alluding particularly to the complaints that the work is harder in Canada than in England, and that Canada is partially irreligious. From his able statement we extract:

They must learn the quick step if they intend to win the race in the new world; and until they have thrown away their hobnailed shoes, and recovered from the debilitating effects of too little food, and the stupefying effects of too much beer, they will, no doubt, complain of the hard work of the Canadian farm. But ask any of the octogenarians to be found in every settlement, once emigrant farm labourers, now living in comfort on their own farms, with their children and grandchildren settled about them as independent proprietors of the soil, whether the hard work they encountered ever seriously affected their health? Whether good food and plenty of it, with a bracing climate, and the knowledge that the fruits of their labors would fill their own garners, and lay up a store for wife and children in the distant as well as the near winter time, and not make that work easy—a pleasure rather than a task? Ask them if they would exchange their homes and fields and flocks, the social, educational, political, and religious privileges in Canada for the best cottage and the highest wages obtainable, under the best landlord in these kingdoms, with all the blessings which are to be found here, including Sunday ministrations and week-day "cups of tea" with the vicar of two or any number of parishes? I have heard the answer at many a Canadian fireside. It was always the same. Even the poor Scotchman, driven from his native hills to make room for sheep and cattle, thanked God the cruelty of the landlord that compelled him to cross the sea had been turned to a blessing. Many revisit the old home, but only two classes, as a rule, remain—those who have accumulated wealth, and, it may be, having lost their children, prefer to end their days among relatives in their village, and those who, like the vicar's parishioners, fall into evil courses, complain of hard work, and after 'loafing' about the country for a few months, beg or steal enough to pay their passage back to the 'comforts' and blessings to be found here.

I admit at once that, if religion consists of a State paid priesthood, and uniformity of faith and practice, enforced by Acts of Parliament, with a special judicial machinery to prevent the established clergy from teaching superstition, we have none of it in Canada. But if religion consists of a conscientious behalf in the great truths of Christianity, and the willing observance of those forms and practices that give evidence of its existence in the hearts of the people, then the vicar of two parishes have grossly slandered four millions of British subjects on the other side of the Atlantic. I am ready to produce statistical evidence and witnesses to prove that the Sabbath is better observed, that there are more churches, places of public worship, and church-goers, that there is less drunkenness and fewer crimes, in proportion to the population, in Canada than in England.

The Feejee Islands—Britain's New Colony.

[From the St. John Telegraph.]

It appears certain from a statement made by Mr. Disraeli in the House of Commons, in answer to the question of a member just before the prorogation of Parliament, that the Government of Great Britain intends to annex the Feejee Islands. This is done agreeably to the desire of the people of these Islands themselves, who are weary of the rule of petty chiefs and desire to be under the protecting arm of a strong Government. Very few people in this latitude, we may assume know much about the Feejee Islands beyond the general idea that they lie somewhere in the Indian Ocean and are inhabited by cannibals. They are situated between the 16th and 18th degrees of southern latitude, and lie about 1,100 geographical miles east of Australia. The largest island of the group is Viti-Levu, with an area of about 3,750 square miles—considerably more than that of Prince Edward Island, and the next in point of size is Venua-Levu, also larger than Prince Edward Island, with an area of 3,000 square miles. There are more than fifty Islands in the group, but the others are much smaller than those we have named. Their total population is 150,000, and there are now on the Islands several thousands of white settlers, mainly from Australia, who have been largely instrumental in agitating the question of making the Feejee Islands a British Colony. For some years the Feejee Group had been virtually governed by these white settlers. There is, perhaps, not in the whole world a more delightful climate or a more fertile soil than these Islands possess. Vegetation is wonderfully rapid; turnips, radishes and mustard appear above ground 24 hours after being sown, and melons, cucumbers and pumpkins in three days. Sea island cotton grows luxuriantly, and the planters can compete successfully with the cotton of India and America in the European markets. Sheep farming and sugar raising have also been found profitable. Cocoanut oil can be raised in large quantities, and coffee succeeds well. Land can be bought at low figures, and the climate allows a European to work out of doors the year round, the heat of the tropical sun being tempered by the surrounding ocean. The hottest months are January and February, when the thermometer sometimes reaches 100, but there is none of that parching heat which prevails in Australia and the western parts of America. The natives are lazy and idle, finding all their wants supplied by the bread fruit trees, the wild yams, beans, arrowroot and the fruit of the mangrove, but when taught to work they are said to labor well. Such is Great Britain's new colony. Sir Charles Dilke and other radicals are opposed to the Feejee Islands becoming a part of the British Empire, but their opposition will not affect the measure in the least degree. We have no doubt this group of Islands will presently be filled with a numerous white population, and be one of the most prosperous colonies under the Imperial flag.

Little Bismarcks.

It is reported in the Courier de Caserte that a certain Captain Salvatore Paniolli gave his son, in 1867, the name of Bismarck, and that this youth, now seven old, recently sent the following telegram to Kissengen to enquire after the health of the Prince: "Honoured to bear your glorious name, I hasten to obtain news of your health, since the hand of an assassin has made an attempt on your life so dear to Italy and to Prussia, and to the history of modern civilization. BISMARCK PANIOLLI" To this message Count Bismarck, the Prince's son, replied: "Prince Bismarck thanks you for your sympathy. His wound is recovering" In reference to this exchange of courtesies, the Journal de Paris publishes as genuine the subjoined letter, which it states has been written by the German Chancellor to a friend of his in Naples: "Dear Friend—Among the compliments which are generally paid to people in power, I hardly expected to see my name given to children at their baptism. It is only in Italy that I have had that honor. I am neither pleased nor amused with it; I am only sorry for it. I recollect that in 1847 the name of Pius IX, was given to children, and among the Queens of Europe there is one called Pia. Then came the power of Napoleon III., and how many little Napoleons were born forthwith among the Italians! To-day it is my turn, and little Bismarcks are beginning to appear. I regard that as a bad augury, and begin to be afraid. If you can prevent the example of Caserta being followed you will do me a service.

Yours affectionately.
BISMARCK.

Death of Mr. Robert Middleton

[From the Quebec Budget.]

It is with sincere regret that we find ourselves called upon to chronicle the death of Robert Middleton, Esq., Editor of the Quebec Gazette, and a member of the well known esteemed firm of Middleton & Dawson, publishers; the sad event took place at Three Rivers on Wednesday evening about seven o'clock. The deceased left Quebec only on Saturday afternoon last, by the steamer 'Quebec,' in his usual good health, and intended to return by Monday night's downward boat: but on Sunday, about noon, he was suddenly taken ill and was shortly afterwards seized with paralysis of the brain. He became unconscious and in this state lingered until Wednesday evening, when as above stated, he expired about seven o'clock. The painful intelligence will doubtless be a surprise to many who were in ignorance of the fact of his illness or absence from the city. It appears that Mr. Middleton, who has for many years filled prominent positions in the Methodist Church of this city, was called upon to go to Three Rivers, to conduct the service in connection with that body there, and was suddenly stricken with paralysis whilst officiating on Sunday last. He lingered until Wednesday, when he was relieved of his sufferings by death. Mr. Middleton edited the Quebec Gazette, of which he was part proprietor for many years, and with which we understand he was also connected during the proprietorship of Hon. John Neilson and his son, Mr. Samuel Neilson Queen's Printers, and for some time was one of the original proprietors of the CHRONICLE. As a journalist, he was distinguished for the delicate and careful manner with which he treated his subjects, at all times thoroughly imbued with the importance of accuracy in statements, made through the medium of the press. His journal was conducted in a manner which reflected the highest credit on his judgement and common sense, and with much ability. The deceased we learn has been a resident of Quebec for a period extending over forty years. He was highly esteemed by all, particularly by those who had the privilege of a personal acquaintance. His loss will be keenly felt by the Methodist body here, as he has been one of its most active, useful and consistent members, holding the highest position with advantage to the church. We desire to sympathise with his family in their affliction. The funeral will leave his late residence, No 80 St. John street (without), at 2:30 p.m to-day, 29th, for the Wesleyan Church, thence to Mount Hermon Cemetery.

MARRIED.

On the 31st ult., at the Bishop's Chapel, by the Rev. H. Pollard, Chas. H. Carriere, Esq., formerly Lieut. in H. M. 100th Regiment, to Mary Desmond, eldest daughter of William F. Coffin, Esq.

DIED.

In this city, on the 31st of August, Joseph Mills, aged 48 years.

In this city on the 31st ult., after a long and painful illness borne with Christian resignation, Mary Amelia, relict of the late Paul Hugg, aged 58 years.

The funeral will leave her late residence, King street, on Wednesday morning at 8 a.m., to the R. C. Cemetery. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend without further notice.

Election Court

TORONTO, Aug. 31.

Present—Chief Justice Richards, the Chancellor, Chief Justice Hagarty.

E. Cornwall Election—Mr. Bethune moved absolute a summons to strike out the recriminatory charges herein, as the fee was not claimed. Mr. Osler showed cause and cited chap. 27, sec. 19, 36 Vic (Dominion). Order made.

W. Cornwall—Mr. Osler moved absolute for better particulars, and to amend the particulars. One of the objections Mr Osler pressed was that a charge that a person named bribed another person named and others unknown and not named. He considered that the particulars were indefinite, and that no charge should be allowed against persons not named. Mr. Bethune contra. The Court ruled against Mr. Osler. Summons discharged. Costs to be in the cause.

East Toronto—The election was fixed for Tuesday, 29th September at the Court House.

South Norfolk is fixed for Tuesday, 3rd Nov., at the town of Simcoe.

South Huron—Order made to strike out the preliminary objections. Mr. Osler; Mr. S. Richards, Q.C.

North Leeds and Grenville—Mr. S. Richards, Q.C., proved the service of the petition, and showed that nothing had been since done. He asked to fix a day for the trial. Fixed for 10th November, at Brockville.

North Victoria—Fixed for the 4th Nov., at the Court House, in Lindsay.

Cardwell—Fixed for Thursday, 15th Oct., at Osgoode Hall, in Toronto.

W. London—Mr. J. K. Kerr moved absolute a summons to strike out particulars as indefinite. Mr. C. Robinson, Q.C., showed cause. Summons discharged, except as to one item which is to be amended.

This evening a lecture will be given at Shaftesbury Hall by Rev. Mason Gallagher, of New York, on the Reformed Episcopal Church, showing wherein it differs from the Church of England.

The Court is exceedingly anxious to have parties apply to have the days for trial fixed, as it is not in their discretion to fix the same without such application.

Mr. Hodgins, Q.C., and Mr. Robertson, Q.C., Dundas, are appointed Benchers in place of Judges Patterson and Burton. Both of the newly appointed Benchers have been placed on the Committee of Legal Education.

The usual meeting under the auspices of the Prohibition League was yesterday afternoon well attended. Mr. Luke Sharp occupied the chair, and addresses were delivered by Mr. J. McNaughton, of Cobourg; Mr. H. S. Watson, Lecturer of the I. O. of G. T., of Ottawa, and Mrs. Watson, a prominent member of the same order, from London, England.

The members of the Young Men's Christian Association were entertained on Saturday afternoon at Oaklands, the seat of John Macdonald, President of the institution, at which a number of the clergy of all denominations and a large number of ladies were present.

John Golden was brought before the Police Magistrate, on Saturday, for cruel treatment of a horse, in smearing turpentine over the animal's coat and setting light to it as a substitute for singeing. The animal was severely burned, owing to its kicking, while in agony, the man who was to have smothered the flames at the proper time. The case was remanded.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.

A little boy named McQuirk, about ten years old, was accidentally drowned in the canal yesterday.

One of the City Passenger Cars, which had been shunted into a yard off St. Catherine street, was set on fire about four o'clock this morning and partly burnt.

Mr. Robertson, it is stated, is coming to Montreal on Monday next, to enquire into the details of the Land swap. The Gazette says that after having made these enquiries it has sufficient confidence in him to believe that he will refuse to share the responsibility of the Government, but that on the contrary, he will at once withdraw from a position which he certainly could not then hold consistently with the honour and good name of the country, or his own high character as a public man.

Several families of Mormons passed through Montreal yesterday, bound for Utah. The women in the party predominated largely.

It is stated that several of the grave stones have been stolen from the Dorchester street burying ground, also a handsome square of cast iron railings. Legal proceedings will be adopted against the perpetrators of these unhallowed deeds.

On Friday night an interesting social meeting took place in St Mark's Church, on the occasion of the return from a tour in Europe and the East of the pastor of the church, Rev. W. M. Black.

On Saturday a nice little boy of ten years named Charles William McGuirk, was sent at noon with his grandfather's dinner to his place of work. After delivering the pail he joined some other lads, and went to a partial excavation in the fields beyond the Wellington Bridge, where he stripped and went in swimming. The place had an uneven bottom, and young McGuirk got into a hole where the water was about eight feet deep, where he sank. His companions tried to help him, but were entirely unsuccessful, and he was drowned.

A cargo of Ottawa deals was shipped direct from this port to the British Channel on Saturday last, by Messrs. Carbray & Routh.

A company, bearing the name of the Champlain Quarry and Lime Company, for the purpose of supplying lime, building stone, and marble, has just been organized by Messrs. Bond Bros. The quarries are situated on the boundary line, a few miles beyond St. Armands, on the line of the Vermont Central. The color of the stone varies from a blue grey to a pure white, and the quality of the latter is said to be something similar to Italian marble. The first lots offered to consumers here, were, we understand, readily taken.

The market here this morning opened higher with activity and advancing prices in Bank of Montreal and Merchants Bank, but closed slightly, although at firmer rates than at the close on Saturday. Sales:

Toronto 203, closing at ½ to 4.
Merchants 119½, up to 20¼, closing at ½ to ¼.
Montreal 165, up to ⅛, closing at ⅛.
Sales at the afternoon board,
Montreal 195.
Merchants 120½.
Telegraph 204.
Commerce 136½ to 7¼.

QUEBEC.

North Shore Railway — Merchants' Bank.

QUEBEC, August 29.

General Seymour, Engineer in-Chief of the North Shore Railway, has returned from the survey of the line between Three Rivers and Quebec. He is very well satisfied with the manner in which the rapidly advancing works are being conducted.

The Merchants' Bank of Canada will open its new agency at Levis on the 1st September next, under the charge of Mr. Dunbar Wells, late of the Union Bank of Lower Canada in this city.

The sexton of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, while inspecting the cemetery yesterday, found a quantity of loose earth and on digging down about three feet came upon a rude box containing the body of a newly-born infant, which had been mysteriously buried there. An inquest was held, but no light has as yet been thrown upon the matter.

LONDON.

Abolition of Tolls—Prohibition—Large Yield of Barley—Reform Convention.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

The County Council closed its meetings today. At the evening session yesterday the opponents of the scheme to abolish tolls on the county roads took the advantage of the absence of several members favourable to the scheme, and passed a resolution rescinding the previous vote of the Council on the subject. To day the abolition men mustered in force, and restored the resolution that had been expunged. They also passed a motion instructing the Warden and Solicitor to draft a petition to the Legislature to pass an Act empowering the county to take necessary steps to complete the scheme of abolishing tolls.

The Prohibitory League have elected Rev. Canon Innis, President; G. Webester and M. Knowlton, Vice-Presidents; J. J. Bradley, Financial Secretary; W. H. Winnett, Treasurer, and J. H. Samuels, General Secretary. The next annual meeting is to be held in London on the last Tuesday in August.

Mr. Robt. Wilson, London Township, threshed out 560 bushels of barley, the proceeds of a nine acre field, being an average of 55 bushels to the acre.

East Middlesex Reform Convention is to be held in the Court House on the 3rd prox., for the selecting of a candidate for the Local Legislature. The names of Mr. James Evans, M.P.P., Mr. D. Mache, Mr. J. Armstrong, Mr. V. Cronyn, Mr. A. M. Ross, Mr. B. Anderson, Mr. W. H. Niles, are prominently mentioned as coming before the Convention.

KINGSTON.

Abortion Case—Requiem Mass for Father Boyle—The Harbour.

KINGSTON, Aug. 30.

A case of abortion was disclosed here to-day. A young woman was brought here by her cousin to be confined of a child, and placed in the General Hospital. She was allowed, of course, to go out for a drive, and on one of these drives she on Thursday met a doctor who performed an operation. This morning she was confined and the child died in a few minutes. A searching inquest is to be held.

Hon. R. J. Cartwright arrived here to-day for a vacation. The Governor-General and Lady Dufferin are to be guests for two days here at his country residence.

The requiem mass and burial service for the late Father Boyle in St. Mary's Cathedral to-day were witnessed by a very large crowd. All the priests of the Diocese were present.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

The New Cable.

LONDON, Aug 31.—The 'Great Eastern' up to yesterday, noon, had paid out 647 nautical miles of the Anglo-American Company's new cable, and all was going on well.

Steamship Arrivals.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Arrived, 'Minnesota' from Liverpool, and 'Oder' from Bremen.

PLYMOUTH, Aug. 31.—Arrived, 'Pommorania' from New York. The steamship 'Prussian' has arrived out.

GLASGOW, Aug. 31.—Arrived, 'Europa' from New York.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug 31.—Arrived, steamship 'Illinois' from Philadelphia.

Strict Quarantine Regulations.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Quarantine regulations have been put in force at Queenstown which cause great hinderance to commerce. All persons are prohibited from leaving or embarking on vessels from ports in America, West Indies, Mediterranean and Black Sea, until it is ascertained that such vessels have a clear bill of health.

UNITED STATES.

A Rumour.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—A Sun's Washington special states that it is well known that an arrangement has been completed by which Spain will cede to Germany the island of Porto Rico, as soon as the Carlists are ejected from Spanish territory, and that our Government will not interfere in the matter.

The Fenian Convention.

New York, Aug. 31.—The Fenian Convention which has been in secret session here for several days past adjourned sine die yesterday morning having spent the whole night considering the draft of a new constitution, which was finally adopted. Col. John O'Mahony was unanimously elected head centre. The name of the military organization of the brotherhood was changed from the Legion of St. Patrick to the Irish Legion.

The Glendenning Case.

In Jersey City to-day Rev. John L. Glendenning, of Prospect Street Presbyterian Church, appeared before Judge Aldridge for examination on a charge of bastardy. The counsel for the people asked to have the dying statement of Mary Pomeroy admitted as evidence and offered to produce other evidence. The defendant's counsel would admit nothing, and the case was withdrawn to be brought before the Higher Courts on charges of seduction and breach of promise.

Saratoga Boat Races.

SARATOGA, August 31.—The first race, two miles, single scull, was won by 'Roach' of Gramercy, in 14 24¼, with 'Lathrop' very close; 'Hardy' 3rd; 'Ackerman' 4th; 'Rahnson' 5th, and 'Hasslacher' 6th. The second race was a special race of three miles. O'Neil had to row over the course alone, as Davis did not start. He made the best three miles on record. Time 21.19¼.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES.

ENGLAND.

The 'Virginius' Outrage—England demands of Spain a Prompt Settlement of her Claims.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Additional correspondence between the British Government and its representative at Madrid concerning the 'Virginius' outrage, is published.

Mr. McDonell, the British 'Charge d'Affaires,' writes to Lord Derby, on July 7th, that the Spanish Government appeals to England to defer pressing the settlement of her claims, on account of the negotiations pending with the United States. Spain will be hampered in dealing with the latter power if the American Government is able to cite as a precedent, the payment of the indemnity to England. Lord Derby replies, on July 17th, demanding that a settlement be made by a fixed, and not too distant date. Mr. McDonell telegraphs to Lord Derby on Aug. 7th, that Senor Ulloa, the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, agrees that the indemnity shall be settled immediately under certain reservations.

Ship Burned at Sea.

The new ship 'Sierra Nevada,' which sailed from Liverpool on the 2nd of July for San Francisco, took fire at sea and was destroyed. The crew were saved.

SPAIN.

Carlist Outrages.

MADRID, Aug. 31.—The Carlists have made two determined assaults on Puycerda to-day. Both the attacks were defeated, and the besiegers in their rage set fire to and destroyed houses outside of the walls.

ITALY.

Volcanic Eruption.

ROME, Aug. 31.—Mount Etna has been in a state of eruption since Saturday, and streams of lava are pouring from three craters.

Increase of Brigandage.

Several Regiments have been sent to Sicily, because of the increase of brigandage and general lawlessness. Court Martials has been established for the prompt punishment of the offenders.

UNITED STATES.

Battle with Spaniards.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Another battle with the Spaniards is reported in Cuba. Some 2,000 Spanish troops are said to have been put to flight.

Libel Suits.

S. D. Morris and A. C. Davis will now sue the Brooklyn Eagle for libel.

A Contradiction.

A Washington despatch says that there is no foundation for rumours that Secretary Bristow is going to resign, and McCullough to take his place.

Additional Statements from Tilton and Moulton.

Tilton and Moulton both, threaten the public with additional statements this week.

Reprehensible Conduct.

A Kingston, Jamaica, letter states that there are evidences on the part of designing people to breed trouble between the lower and uneducated classes and the Government officials.

Fire.

St. Thomas advices state that a fire there on the 17th inst. partially burned the Turco Hotel.

Small-Pox Declining.

Small-pox is declining in the West Indies.

The Saratoga Boat Races.

SARATOGA, August 31.—Thirteen crews started in the four-oared race of three miles. The Argonauts were the favorites, and led to the return. On the return the 'Beaverwicks' of Albany led winning the race in 18 24, the 'Argonauts' 2nd in 18.47½ the 'Buffalos' 3rd in 18 51¼, the 'Wahwahsums' 4th in 19.6¾ the 'Potomacs' 5th in 19 15, the 'Yawanhakas' 6th in 19.19¾. Just before reaching the turn the 'Atlantas' fouled with the 'Wahwahsums' and 'Duquesnes' and sunk. The crew were picked up. There was great excitement over the result.

Destructive Fire.

NASHUA, Aug. 31.—The steam saw mill of W. Fessenden was struck by lightning last night and burned; loss $4,000.

Steamer Despatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Steamer 'Despatch,' which has been cruising with the Senate Committee of Naval Affairs on board, is expected at Washington to-day or to-morrow.

Base Ball.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 31.—At the Base Ball Tournament to day, the 'Flyaways,' of New York, played the 'Nassaus,' of Brooklyn, for the first prize of $400. The 'Flyaways' won by 12 to 3.

The Blackhills Expedition.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—Gen. Custer reports to Lieut.-Gen'l. Sheridan the return to-day to Fort Lincoln of the Blackhills Expedition and says: 'We have marched about 1,000 miles and my command with replenished supplies is in good condition to take the road to-morrow.'

Meeting of Locomotive Engineers.

Port Jarvis, N. Y., Aug. 31.—An important meeting of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers connected with the Erie Railway was held here to-day. The exact business of the meeting cannot be definitely ascertained, but it is believed to have been of an important character. Notices of a reduction of 10 per cent in the pay of the shopmen were posted in the Erie shops of this place to-day, and it is rumored that this action of the engineers was in reference to the contemplated reduction in their pay.

CUBA.

Gen. Dockeray.

HAVANA, Aug. 31.—Gen. Dockeray has been brought to this city from Puerto Principe and taken to Fort Cabaras, where he will remain until sent to Spain.

Dominion Editors' and Reporters' Association.

On Friday last a meeting of the Toronto District members of the Dominion Editors' and Reporters' Association was held in Shaftesbury Hall, Toronto. The attendance was large. Mr. A. H. Dymond, M.P., 1st Vice-President of the Association, was elected Chairman, and Mr. Lovkin, Corresponding Secretary for Toronto, Secretary.

The Chairman pointed out that the object of the meeting was to consider the advisableness of forming a branch in accordance with the by-laws of the Association.

Mr. Richardson, Secretary of the Association, explained the course to be taken under the constitution with a view to the formation of a local branch, and suggested that before any steps were taken the opinions of the members present should be elicited as to the propriety of establishing a branch, and the form which it should take.

Mr. N. F. Davin expressed a strong opinion in favour of the growth of the Association having the objects of the Dominion Editors' and Reporters' Association, which were to promote greater unity and friendship among members of the press. A branch, if formed in Toronto, would have the effect of bringing journalists together and enabling them to know one another better, and would act as a buffer to check the impact of political strife and party bitterness. He alluded to the great advantages of union, and pointed out that at any time the Press might find it necessary to form a solid phalanx against external attack. He deprecated personality in journalism, and hoped this Association might tend to promote a more harmonious feeling than had hitherto existed.

Mr. W. Boyd spoke briefly in support of the proposed formation of a branch.

It was then unanimously resolved, on the motion of Mr. Davin, "That the preliminary steps be taken towards obtaining the formation of a local branch for a district, including the city of Toronto and the counties of York, Ontario, Simcoe, and Peel."

An informal discussion followed as to the scope of the proposed branch, and ultimately a committee was appointed to draft by-laws for submission to a future meeting.

After a vote of thanks to the chairman, the meeting adjourned.

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1872. Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochrane. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

The Minister of Customs has gone to Halifax, having left by last evening's night train. We notice that his visit was hailed with much pleasure by all parties in Charlottetown. Mr. Burpee is laboring energetically to make himself acquainted with the state of affairs at the principal ports, and to get matters into good working order. We presume we ought to hear of Halifax getting a new collector 'ere long. Mr. Burpee returns to Ottawa at an early day.—St. John Telegraph.

POND'S EXTRACT

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pustules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatoro Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.
MONTREAL, 13th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

NORTHRUP & LYMAN,
Agents for the Province of Ontario,
Scott street, Toronto.
Or to DEVINS & BOLTON,

Price $1 per bottle. Large Bottles $2.

PAIN-KILLER
THE GREAT
Internal and External Remedy.

TAKEN INTERNALLY it relieves INSTANTLY the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY it is the best LINIMENT in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

Price, 25 Cents per Bottle.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS. 2605

BERMINGHAM'S
Real Estate Bulletin
FOR AUGUST, 1874.
READ AND PROFIT!
He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in
City Houses, City Lots and Farms,
Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1470 per annum, which can be in-creased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $600 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 27, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $ 2 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 8 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 48 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 34 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbred streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality.

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 28 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth O. F., nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

CANADA STILL AHEAD—Mr. John Rochester, M.P., said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbugs, but a neighbor who had tried Bonnell's and the Canadian Washer, advised so strongly a trial of the Canadian, which he had found to be the best, that I took one and find it was in reality a good Machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer." Price $8.00 each and for sale by A. R. GILES, corner Nicholas and Theodore streets.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes. "Please forward 1 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes —"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfection." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS.

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, those pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully reserved.

PULMONARY DISEASE.—HARBOR GRACE NEWFOUNDLAND, Dec. 9th, 1871.—JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.—Dear Sir: We are receiving orders almost daily from the outports for for your invaluable Syrup of Hypophosites, and the sale is steadily increasing. I do believe it has done more good than any medicine yet discovered in the cure of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and kindred diseases. It is the only medicine we have which cures these diseases by strengthening the nervous system; and as it is also what we call a sound chemical preparation, I predict for it a more extended demand than any other remedy in existence. Yours, very truly, W. H. THOMPSON. 2618

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the ever changing phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive character istics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male) hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp......

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

CLARKE'S

WORLD FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE

Trade Mark—"BLOOD MIXTURE."

The Great Blood Purifier and Restorer

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases and sores of all kinds it is a never-failing and permanent cure.

It cures old sores.
Cures ulcerated sores on the neck.
Cures ulcerated sore legs.
Cures blackheads, or pimples on the face.
Cures scurvy sores.
Cures cancerous ulcers.
Cures blood and skin diseases.
Cures glandular swellings.
Clears the blood from all impure matter,
From whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of testimonials from all parts.

Sold in bottles 2s 3d each, and in cases, containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases, by all chemists and patent medicine vendors throughout the world.

POSTPONEMENT.

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

20,000 CASH GIFTS,

AGGREGATING

$2,500,000

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE

PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs. SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are put forth as possessing the real and properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturers Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkalme, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

The Legend of Jacob's Pillow.

The following version of a popular Jewish legend is by a young Canadian, who would do well to devote himself to still further efforts in this special line of literature. The rendering is most happy, and promises well for any further attempts in the same direction:

In the sea of rabbinical lore,
Is a mystical legend of yore,
Of Jacob who wandered afar.
In anguish of spirit sore pressed
He lay on the desert to rest,
'Neath the light of a tremulous star.

And the moss-covered stones that he saw
Grew still in their wonder and awe,
That the father of Israel's race
Should seek in the gloom of the plain,
Surcease of his anguish and pain,
"To lay himself down in that place."

Then they clamoured in inaudible tones,
In the mystical language of stones,
Each claiming pre-eminent right
To be chosen as Israel's bed,
To pillow the wanderer's head
As he lay in the desert that night.

Each stone to the other laid claim
To the honour and marvellous fame,
As contending they scattered his way;
But the presence of Jacob was there,
Like the sanctified incense of prayer!
And in rapturous silence they lay.

But a marvellous destiny—true
To the grandeur of Israel's Jew
Who invoked the religion of man—
Rewarded the rivalling stones,
In harmony blending their tones
Like the hues of a rainbow's span.

For they merged and mingled in one
In the droop of the glowing sun,
And from all, but a single stone
Was moulded from Israel's bed,
To pillow the wanderer's head
As he lay with his God alone!

And when morn shot her golden beams,
As seraphic as Israel's dreams,
The pillow of mystical story
He knew in the depth of night
Had invoked the angels of light,
To compass the heavens in glory.

An altar to Heaven he raised,
And the God of his fathers he praised,
As he set up the pillow of fame;
And the legend divinely has said,
That thus was the corner stone laid
Of the Temple to Israel's name.

* * * * *

Like the stones—so scattered and riven,
Was thus a heritage given
To a race bearing proudly their pain;
But the fragments in one shall combine
To build up the Faith of all time,
And the Temple of God to regain!

A Great Sea Serpent Story.

The following story about a veritable sea serpent is told by the East Indian newspaper, the Homeward Mail:

"We had left Colombo in the steamer Strathowen, and rounded Galle and were well in the bay, with our course laid for Madras, steaming over a calm and tranquil sea. About an hour before sunset on the 10th of May, we saw on our starboard beam and about two miles off a small schooner lying becalmed. There was nothing in her appearance or position to excite remark, but as we came up with her I lazily examined her with my binocular, and then noticed between us, but nearer her, a long, low swelling lying on the sea, which from its color and shape I took to be a bank of seaweed. As I watched, the mass, hitherto at rest on the quiet sea, was set in motion. It struck the schooner, which visibly reeled, and then righted. Immediately afterwards the masts swayed sideways, and with my glass I could clearly discern the enormous mass and the hull of the schooner coalescing—I can think of no other term. Judging from their exclamations, the other gazers must have witnessed the same appearance. Almost immediately after the collision and coalescence the schooner's mast swayed towards us, lower and lower; the vessel was on her beam ends, lay there a few seconds, and disappeared, the masts righting as she sank, and the main exhibiting a reversed ensign struggling towards its peak. A cry of horror rose from the lookers on, and, as if by instinct, our ship's head was at once turned towards the scene, which was now marked by the forms of those battling for life—the sole survivors of the pretty little schooner which only twenty minutes before floated bravely on the smooth sea. As soon as the poor fellows were able to tell their story, they astounded us with the assertion that their vessel had been submerged by a gigantic cuttle-fish or calamary, the animal which in a smaller form attracts so much attention in the Brighton Aquarium as the octopus. Each narrator had his version of the story, but in the main all the narratives tallied so remarkable as to leave no doubt of the fact. As soon as he was at leisure, I prevailed on the skipper to give me his written account of the disaster, and I have now much pleasure in sending you a copy of his narrative.

"'I was lately the skipper of the 'Pearl' schooner, one hundred and fifty tons, as tight a little craft as ever sailed the seas, with a crew of six men. We were bound from the Mauritius for Rangoon in ballast to return with paddy, and had put in at Galle for water. Three days out we fell becalmed in the bay—lat. 8 50 N., 84 5 E. On the 10th of May about 5 p. m.—eight bells I know had gone, we sighted a two-masted screw on our port quarter, about five or six miles off. Very soon after, as we lay motionless, a great mass rose slowly out of the sea, about half a mile off on our larboard side, and remained spread out, as it were, and stationary. It looked like the back of a huge whale, but it sloped less, and was of a brownish color. Even at that distance it seemed much longer than our craft, and it seemed to be basking in the sun. 'What's that?' I sung out to the mate. 'Blest if I knows; barring its size, color and shape, it might be a whale,' replied Tom Scott, 'and it ain't the sea sarpent,' said one of the crew 'for he's too round for that ere critterr. I went down into the cabin for my rifle, and as I was preparing to fire, Bill Darling, a Newfoundlander, came on deck, and looking at the monster, exclaimed; putting up his hand, "Have a care, there ere is a squid, and will capsize us if you hurt him." Smiling at the idea, I let fly and hit him, and with that he shook; there was a great ripple all around him, and he began to move. "Out with all your axes and knives," shouted Bill, "and cut at any part of him that comes abroad look alive, and Lord help us!' Not aware of the danger, and never having seen or heard of such a monster, I gave no orders and was no use touching the helm or ropes to get out of the way. By this time three of the crew, Bill included, had found axes, and one rusty cutlass, and all were looking over the ship's side at the advancing monster. We could now see a huge oblong mass moving by jerks just under the surface of the water, and an enormous train following the oblong body was at least half the size of our vessel in length and just as thick; the wake or train might have been one hundred feet long. In the time that I have taken to write this the brute struck us, and the ship quivered under the thud; in another moment, monstrous arms like trees seized the vessel and she heeled over; in another second the monster was aboard, squeezed in between the two masts, Bill screaming, "Slash for your lives," but all our slashing was of no avail, for the brute, holding on by his arms, slipped his vast body overboard, and pulled the vessel down with him on her beam-ends; we were thrown into the water at once, and just as I went over I caught sight of one of the crew, either Bill or Tom Fielding, squashed up between the masts and one of those awful arms; for a few seconds our ship lay on its beam ends, then filled and went down; another of the crew must have been sucked down, for you only picked up five; the rest you know. I can't tell who ran up the ensign,

"JAMES FLOYD,
"Late Master schooner Pearl."

Tilton and Moulton both, threaten the public with additional statements this week.

North West Communication.

The following letter has been addressed to the editor of the Globe in connection with the above subject:

Now that every one is interested in the prospects of the Canada Pacific Railway it may not be uninteresting to give something of the views of those who are on the spot, with regard to the proposed route.

At present it is understood that, the Government intend using Rainy Lake, Rainy River, and Lake of the Woods as one of the great water stretches on the Canada Pacific road. At present the water stretch is traversed in the following manner:

At Kettle Falls a side-wheel steamer about one hundred feet long, with a high pressure engine of about one hundred horse power, and capable of steaming at the rate of nine or ten miles an hour, takes on board freight and passengers, runs across Rainy Lake (about 52 miles) and anchors just above the rapids, about ten miles above Fort Francis. At this point both freight and passengers are transferred to small boats, and rowed down the river to Fort Francis' Portage, where they are landed and drawn over a portage about three hundred yards long, and again transferred to the other small boats which are towed down Rainy River by a small boat, passing over the heaviest rapids of the river (the Manitou), and stopping at the head of the Long Sault some forty-two miles west of Fort Francis. Here the same boats are manned by voyageurs and rowed down over the rapids, a distance of about two miles, to Long Sault wharf, when freight and passengers are transhipped to the steamer 'Lake of the Woods,' which carries them to her anchorage near the North-West Angle. The steamer 'Lake of the Woods' is about 125 feet long, and has a high pressure engine capable of driving her at the rate of about twelve miles an hour. Her run consists of about forty miles on Rainy River and seventy miles across Lake of the Woods. It will be seen from this that in the proposed water link in the Canada Pacific road there are several transhipments that will cause serious delay, but these are not the only drawbacks. Rainy River, from Fort Francis to Long Sault, is very swift, as may be readily understood when it is found that the Rainy River tug will take down a good tow of loaded boats in five or six hours, whereas it takes fourteen or fifteen hours to bring back the tug with the empty boats. A good deal of this time (say three or four hours) is employed by a gang of about twelve or fifteen men in towing the empty boats up over the Long Sault, and in towing both the tug and her boats up over the Manitou. The rest of the time is occupied in steaming against the swift current up to Fort Francis. Now these causes of delay must be removed before this fine water stretch can ever become a useful link in this Canada Pacific Railway.

In the first place, and for the present, a dam across the river at the head of Fort Francis Falls that will raise the water three feet, will completely flood the rapids below the present steamboat anchorage so that the Rainy Lake steamer can come down and discharge her cargo on the dock at the portage and steam back into the lake again without the slightest difficulty. This undertaking would cost but little, as as there is a small island in the middle of the river that would form the centre and a considerable portion of the dam, while the connecting links between it and the two banks could be built for a trifling sum. This work would also greatly improve the facilities for travel as the road is now run, and it should be accomplished with the least possible delay. The next thing to be done is to build a light draught, powerful, low pressure steamer with small, broad side wheels, drawn by two small engines, working at right angles, which would impart to them that rapid and steady stroke so necessary for steamers required to make good headway against a swift current. This steamer would, for the present, carry freight and passengers from Fort Francis to the steamer 'Lake of the Woods,' and return the same night; so that passengers going westward would leave Kettle Falls every morning and reach the other side of Lake of the Woods in twenty-four hours, instead of leaving here only three mornings in the week, and taking thirty-six hours to reach the North West Angle, as is the case at present. These improvements in the route should be made at once for the sake of those who travel and ship freight over the road as it stands at present. We shall now suggest other undertakings, having more particularly in view the connection with the P. R. R., but at the same time it will be seen that none of the improvements we have already suggested will fail to be of the utmost importance to the success of that enterprise.

Having the Pacific Railway connection in view, then the next step would be the canaling of Fort Francis Portage. This will require an excavation of about three hundred yards in length and a rise of about seventeen feet to put the steamer into the water above the proposed dam at the head of the falls.

The next thing would be reconstruct the steamer Lake of the Woods, so that she could steam up over the Long Sault and the Manitou Rapids. This could be done by taking out her present engine, and fitting her up with engines and paddle wheels similar to those of the proposed steamer already described. The steamer Rainy Lake could not profitably be reconstructed in the same manner as her model is not suitable for the purpose. The other two steamers, however, would easily perform the daily service from Kettle Falls to the North West Angle or Rat Portage, where by the Fort Francis Canal they would be unable to run through the whole distance without transhipping cargo.

Three hundred yards of canal and a rise of about nine feet would enable the steamers to gain Lake Nemcoan through Bear Portage, and two miles of dredging, and two miles of easy canaling, with a trifling rise would open their way into Lac La Croix, through which they could run to Island Portage, thus adding over sixty miles of navigable water to the route, though of course before the survey is made we cannot say that this last proposed work would save the construction of sixty miles of railway, yet at the same time if only forty miles of railway building could be saved, it would be an important matter. If this addition were made to the water stretch already named, it would necessitate the building of another steamer, as it would take three steamers to perform a daily service between Island Portage and Rat Portage, or the North West Angle, the distance from the first to the last mentioned place being about two hundred and sixty-eight miles.

From the facts we have furnished it will be seen that all that this grand water link in the C. P. R. will cost us is the building of two steamers and the reconstruction of another, three or at most four locks, less than two and a half miles of canal, and two miles of dredging. To this might be added the construction of two or three cheap light-houses on Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, as a few lights would be necessary on those lakes to make a night navigation safe.

In another letter after I have had a little more time to make myself acquainted with it I shall give you my impressions of the Rainy Lake and Rainy River country.

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 2669

The Ottawa Times

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1874.

Hon. D. A. Macdonald, Post Master-General, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon.

Hon. L. H. Holton, the respected member for Chateauguay, arrived in the city yesterday morning by boat, and is the guest of the Premier.

Our attention has been called to the fact that in our issue of the 26th ult., the proceedings taken by the Hon. George Brown in the Court of Common Pleas, Toronto, against the authors of the foul slander which has been circulated against him, appeared under the heading of "Criminal Action against the Nation." Of course the National was meant, as any one could have seen on reading the very first sentence. Nevertheless we readily make the necessary amends, although we feel quite confident that even had the reputation of Mr. Brown's slanderer been less notorious than it is, no one would have for a moment thought of connecting a journal, conducted on such high principles as the Nation, with either inventing or publishing in any shape the shameless libel referred to. The error was one of proof-reading, which we have noticed many of our exchanges have committed, although probably not in this connection, and arose from the awkward similarity of the names.

The Boston correspondent of the St. John Globe says: The leading merchants of that city, notwithstanding the fact that it is the summer season, are still agitating the question of reciprocity. He says the Boston Board of Trade is strongly in favor of such a policy, and its resolutions, from time to time, have set forth the fact that the commerce and trade actually existing between the two countries amount to some $80,000,000 annually, and express the opinion that these mutual transactions could undoubtedly be more than doubled under a treaty permitting unrestricted intercourse. The same correspondent contends that the two countries may be said to be the complement of each other—one has what the other wants—and to keep up the barrier of prejudice, which reserved restrictions have imposed, would be unwise and impolitic to the last degree. He also points out that the harbours of New York, Boston, and Portland, are the only practicable outlets to the St. Lawrence during a great portion of the year, and thinks it is therefore not desirable that restrictive statutes should continue to neutralize the benefits of those national connections.

THE LITTLE MRS.—" PICTURE.

Mr. R. D. Ewing, of Ewing & Co., picture framers, Toronto, recently wrote to the Globe, informing the public that the picture of "little Mrs.—," which has figured so largely in the ribald charges of Mr. Charles Rykert against the Commissioner of Public Works for Ontario, was not purchased by Mr. McKellar at all. Of course the matter was one which would not have occupied ten minutes attention from anybody—the waspish little member for Lincoln excepted—and the simple fact of its being made to do duty in the interests of the Ontario Opposition, only shows their poverty of matter with which to assail the Government, and the poverty of brains, good-breeding, and self-respect, with which the gentlemen of the Opposition are afflicted. The impudence which led Mr. Rykert to explore the private rooms of the Commissioner of Agriculture might not improbably lead him, when in some other place where he had equally little business, to do something more than look at things—especially if they were of any value. We have never heard yet how he came to get into the said room—whether it was by invitation or without it—whether Mr. McKellar was present or whether Mr. Rykert was alone—whether he entered by the door, or whether he got in by the window. If he was invited, and Mr. McKellar was there, Mr. Rykert must be a very undesirable man to invite to one's house. If he went without invitation, he would be a very undesirable person to be allowed to continue at large. However, Mr. Ewing shows that all the bile of the member for Lincoln has been wasted upon Mr. McKellar to no purpose, for the picture was bought by the late Hon. John Sanfield Macdonald and the Hon. Mr. Scott, during the time the one was Premier the other a Speaker of the Legislature of Ontario, and it must appear pretty hard to find one single reason why they should be ashamed of the transaction. The corruptionist organ in Toronto thought it made a great point against Mr. Ewing, and effectually damaged his assertion, when, it pointed out that the pictures were not placed in possession of the Government until the year 1872, whereas the Sandfield-Macdonald administration went out of office in 1871. Mr. Ewing disposes of this special pleading very completely, when he replies that the pictures were bought on the 9th of December, 1871, and all framed and hung and bill rendered by the 27th of January, 1872, or little over a month—not a very long time, he thinks, when it is remembered that there were over thirty gold frames to make to enable them to complete the order. The organ said it was strange there should be a year between the time the goods were ordered and the period of their delivery, to which Mr. Ewing responds that between the 9th or 20th of December, 1871, and 27th of January, 1872, is not twelve months.

He concludes by saying that if Mr. Rykert "insinuates that Mr. McKellar "ordered it or ever had it in his room, "or that it was bought by any one but "Mr. Scott and Mr. Sandfield Macdonald, "he either deliberately or unintentionally "lies; either way he states an untruth."

Comment is unnecessary.

THE HEROES OF TWO SCANDALS.

There is food for reflection in the attitude of the leading Conservative journals on the English speaking side relative to what has now become known and notorious as the Land Swap Scandal. The journals to which we refer will be sufficiently indicated by naming the Montreal Gazette and the Toronto Mail. They have no defence to make of the gross breach of trust which has been brought home to the doors of their party leaders in Quebec; on the contrary, virtuous indignation is beaming from their faces, so to speak, and they would have us understand that they are horrified at the vile thing, corruption. We are glad of it; but we would have more faith in their professions as an evidence of conversion if we could resist the force with which quite recent circumstances press upon us an unhappy contrast. It is only a year ago since the Dominion was agitated with another scandal, one which, to the Conservative journals we have named and to the Conservative interest generally, must be memorable indeed. The Pacific Scandal, they at first refused to believe in at all. Next they became defiant and challenged enquiry in the loudest terms while, it was noticed, they fiercely contended against all such means of enquiry as were likely to prove effectual. The proof came in due time, and when they could no longer deny the fact, they ventured to justify as customary and therefore blameless what before they had acknowledged to be a crime by denying their guilt and reproaching their opponents with infamy for daring to make such grave charges without foundation. Such is in brief the record of the relation of the leading Conservative journals we have named to the act of political high-crime and misdemeanour that brought down upon them the unqualified condemnation of the whole country.

Let us look at their relation to the more recent scandal that has been traced to the leaders of Conservative society and the directors of Conservative policy in the neighboring Province of Quebec. Scarcely had the rumour taken wings when it was accepted as the truth. Liberal journals were outdone by their Conservative rivals in making the startling announcement, accepting it for fact, and repudiating the act and its perpetrators. The crime was very much of the same nature in one case as in the other, excepting that in respect of magnitude, that which our high-toned Conservative contemporaries first denied and then defended, was vastly more astounding than that which they so promptly repudiate. In another respect, too, are they straining at a gnat after having swallowed a camel. The use to which the plunder appertaining to the Pacific Scandal was put, and which afforded to our extra-virtuous contemporaries their strongest reason for defending the whole transaction, was infinitely worse in our estimation than the corresponding feature in the Quebec Scandal. In the latter case, public men, morally blind as they must be who are morally depraved, have put into their own pockets what in the former was used for the purpose of corrupting the country. There are people of course who will jump to the conclusion that those who have prostituted a public trust for personal gain have done so badly that those guilty only of the other offence are heroes in comparison. But to that plea we demur, to this extent, that while both are equally criminal after they have done the wrong of plundering the country, they who then proceed to corrupt the country with the money drawn from its treasury are immeasurably more censurable than those who put that money into their pocket. It is our belief that this view will be sustained by thoughtful people generally, and that the country will give little credit to those who to-day scorn that which a year ago they excused and defended to the best of their ability. Of course the presumption of penitence and conversion naturally asserts itself in such cases, but we are bound to reject it when it is unaccompanied by confession of previous error, and reject it the more contemptuously when we find, as in this case, the position of a year ago and that of to-day offered us as examples of duty faithfully performed, and of consistency in the advocacy of, let us say, Conservative principles. The fact is this, at least we can come to no other conclusion from the evidence before us, that the vigorous blows now being dealt to the incriminated portion of the Ouimet Cabinet by those who were quite recently its staunch friends, and who justified many a bad job at its hands, are prompted by a wholesome fear of that retributive justice that overtook their author last November and that finishes its work in January. They know what the country would do, what it would not be restrained from doing by the interested remonstrances of a corrupt press, and they resolved to do, not what was right, but what was expedient in order that they might fall on their feet when the crash would come. The readiness with which they resolved to stand from under will be understood the better when we call to mind that those who held Sir John Macdonald guiltless after his guilt had been proven by his own evidence, assumed the operators in the Land Swap matter to be guilty and treated them accordingly before formal proof had been effected and heedless of their protestations of innocence. Surely now we are entitled to a recantation of the faith that would yield to no proof a year ago, or its reconciliation with that faith of to-day that wants no proof but is satisfied with precisely such reports as a year ago it scouted with great indignation.

It is apparent to us that the Ouimet Cabinet is fated to go down. The longer it holds on to office, in view of the meeting of the Legislature, the better. Sir John Macdonald brought his party down with him by rallying them to the defence of what was indefensible; and the Conservative party in Quebec will apparently go down in like manner. They will probably hold on to the seals of office as long as they can keep their grasp, and when compelled to relinquish there will be practically none left surviving them. This is their manifest destiny, and the organs of which the Gazette is a type will scarcely escape the visitation by the wearing of the mask of virtuous indignation which they assumed some weeks ago. It is at best a sort of death-bed repentance; even if we take the most favourable view of it, it will not bear the test of genuineness; and assuredly the cause of honest Government can well afford to treat with contempt that sort of conversion that proceeds from anxiety about self preservation.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents will be good enough to furnish to the Editor their real names, otherwise their communications over fictitious signatures cannot be inserted.

The "Non-Educating Nations" and Mr. Goldwin Smith.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—I beg to say that I am entitled to a hearing, although I have to state that I cannot agree with you in your estimate of Mr. Westedlink's indignant protest against a certain statement recently made by Mr. Goldwin Smith. The state of education in Belgium is so well known to the reading public that the only wonder is that Mr. Smith should have ventured to deny that the people of that country are educated. "The Belgians are a Catholic people, and hence, like other Catholic nations, they set no value on knowledge." By talking in this style—and this is the sum and substance of what he says—Mr. Smith offends not only the Belgians, but all other Catholics at the same time. The latter will, of course, continue to enjoy their educational institutions, however stoutly it may be averred that they do not possess them. It is too much the fashion in certain quarters to claim for the "reformation" all the efforts in the cause of knowledge that have been made since the 16th century. Mr. Smith himself, nevertheless, who comes forward as the champion of such views, admits that the modern movement in favor of art and learning was begun in England by such eminent Catholics as Bishop Williams of Wykeham, Thomas Moore and others. He ought to have said, also, that this great revival had its origin in Italy a century before the reformation was thought of, and that by the 16th century, the time of Pope Leo X, it attained its meridian splendour, and extended, notwithstanding the melancholy wars of the reformation, to all the more civilized nations of Europe. This was called the age of Leo X, as the most lettered epoch of ancient Rome was styled the Augustan age. It cannot have been quite unadvised by that Mr. Smith pointed to the Catholic nations as "non-educating." But, in doing so, had he forgotten that it was in the days of Catholic ascendancy, that the great Universities of the European Nations, whether Catholic or Protestant, were established? To the fostering care of the Popes, even, most of our British Universities owe their origin and their success. Oxford and Cambridge, Glasgow, Aberdeen, St. Andrews and, in part, Edinburgh, are the work of their hands. The most Catholic Empire of Austria still cherishes the nine Universities—Vienna, Prague, Pesth, Padua, Pavia, Lanberg, Gratz, Innspruck, Olmutz—which she owes to the zeal and munificence of Catholic times. Belgium, so highly reformed politically of late years, has not put down that celebrated seat of learning, the University of Louvain, nor has "benighted" Spain abolished Salamanca. Judging by the assertions of Mr. Smith, the Catholic nations positively have a horror of knowledge and education. What is the fact? In Rome before the Sardinian occupation, there were many more children under instruction in schools, than in Berlin, which of all the Protestant capitals was the most distinguished for its care in educating.

Rome—Population 158,678
Public Primary Schools 372
Teachers 482
Pupils 14,099
Berlin—Population twice that of Rome.
Public Primary Schools 264

At the University of Rome, there is an average attendance of 660 students. The Papal States with a population of two and a half millions had seven Universities. Prussia, with a population of fourteen millions, has no more. "The statistical fact," says Mr. Laing, in his "Notes of a Traveller," that Rome has above a hundred schools more than Berlin, for a population little more than half that of Berlin, puts to flight a world of humbug. Is it asked what is taught to the people of Rome by all these schools? Precisely what is taught at Berlin; reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, languages, religious doctrine of some sort." Mr. Laing doubts whether Edinburgh ever had as many schools as Rome. It certainly has not. The Scottish capital, nevertheless, vies creditably with Rome and Berlin in laudable efforts to break the bread of knowledge to the poorest of its people. Of this we have sufficient proof in the ragged, or to use the more polite term, industrial schools, which the late Rev. Mr. Guthrie, with the co-operation of the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church and other Catholic gentlemen, succeeded in establishing.

As it is not my object to criticise Mr. Goldwin Smith's address, but simply to show the truth in regard to certain statements which he has made, I need say, no more.

I am, sir,
Very respectfully,
OTTAWENSIS.

Ottawa, Aug. 28th, 1874.

Professor Goldwin Smith and Union of Church and State.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—It is very difficult to understand how a man so intellectually cultivated as Professor Goldwin Smith, could be guilty of the monstrous perversions of reason and common sense which run through that part of his address to the Ontario Teachers' Convention, in which he touches on the evils of Church establishment, especially the evil to education resulting from so unnatural a union as that which these words involve. Without prolonging to undue length this letter, it would be impossible to quote all he says in proof of my assertion. I shall merely adduce a few passages, chiefly for the purpose of placing them in apposition—or opposition—to the views on the same subject of a very different person—one of not inferior mind, but of vastly superior heart. Doctor Cotterill, Bishop of Edinburgh, expressed in an opening speech, delivered 19th May, ult., before a church congress in that city: "I need not remind your readers that hatred of the Church of England is a speciality of this acid Professor. The clear illustration afforded by every remark which he makes on this subject of the utter unsafety of mind as a guide to truth when divorced from the heart, or ruled by morbid feeling, is not without philosophic interest, or devoid of practical value.

"It is difficult," he says, "to understand how any one who has no interest at heart but those of religion and the community at large can think it his duty to uphold a State Church." Then he contrasts the triumphs of early and unestablished, (in proof), with the persecutions and failures of established christianity in later days. "Persecutions, religious wars, exterminations of the Albigenses, Spanish Inquisitions, massacres of St. Bartholomew, penal laws, and oppression of nonconformists, whence did they come but from the alliance of the Church with the State? &c., &c." Whence did they come? From an evil and persecuting spirit. But was this spirit the product of the Union of Church and State alone? Yes, if this Union were the cause of this evil spirit, which cannot be maintained for a moment. This Union found, it did not make man corrupt, and all that can logically be said is that this Union favored the exercise of the pre-existing corruption in the form of persecution. Christianity is but one factor—a great, an immense—an all-pervading factor, it is true—in the work of humanising man—while the lawful parent of every true civilizing art, it is reacted upon, and its work facilitated and hastened by its own offspring. All that can be said is that at those periods to which Professor Smith refers, Christianity had not mastered,—neither has it yet—mastered, the ambitious, overbearing, tyrannical, uncharitable spirit of man, in proof of which I need only refer to the tone, the language and the spirit of the Professor himself, whose mission seems to be that of a disseminator in partibus of free and copious bile of not the healthiest character. I should fear to contradict him sitting in the chair of Torquemada, or of Innocent III. There is no denying that many horrible things were done in those days, as many bad things are in these, said as well as done, in the name of religion; but to charge them to its Union with the State alone is simply ridiculous. Persecution, tyranny, cruelty, intolerance were the characteristics of the ages alluded to, and indeed of all ages; because of man—is a fallen being. It is a pity, it is a bad sign; a sign of the uncharitableness, the bigotry, the innate tyranny so unmeasuredly condemned, that people should, blindly, it is to be hoped, follow the fashion of speaking of the medieval church as wholly and intrinsically corrupt and destitute of any redeeming virtue; of any benign influence in the barbarism of the world.

"Our religion is far more truly national than that of an established church which includes only half the nation and wars upon the other half." Never was so less truth included in so many words. The Church of England warring against half the nation! It is impossible that the writer could be ignorant of the immorality which dictated this astonishing assertion while writing it down. What he means by "our religion" it is impossible to conceive. All that can be said of it, judged by this sentence, is that it is not Christianity. Whatever commotions may agitate the bosom of the Church of England, no sane or truthful person can say that an intolerant spirit toward those who differ from her—nay toward Jews, Turks or infidels is one of her crimes,—no age of Christianity from the Apostolic to the present ever produced a church whose spirit was so mild, or whose charity was so all-embracing.

But it is time that I should ask you to listen for a moment to the Bishop of Edinburgh,—"The English Church, notwithstanding temporary disasters, had passed through all conflicts not only with unbroken, and indeed unimpaired strength, but possessing now in this 19th century a firmer hold than ever on the national life; and only needed wisdom and discretion and a large Catholic spirit in those who served her altars, and those who directed her counsel, in order to make her, by God's blessing, the very joy of the whole earth for the spiritual benefit which she so largely ministered. The peaceful triumphs of the Reformed Church of England were written in the history of the nation's prosperity, and the nations' joy."

Choose between these two learned men—the peripatetic philosopher—who can find no rest in any land for the sole of his foot, this dissatisfied, dyspeptic, changeling, and the Christian Bishop. 'Tis true I wish he were not a Bishop for the sake of my antithesis. Bishops are in these days suspected witnesses—in the estimation of many less credible than even a Goldwin Smith. However, no past era of Christianity was ever half as bad as that in which episcopal testimony to religious truth fails in reliability equally as does that of the Oxford Professor of History fail in historical truth.

CHURCHMAN.

Ottawa, 1st September.

CITY AND VICINITY

LADIES' COLLEGE.—This institution opens this morning.

PERSONAL.—Major Labranche of Montreal, is staying at Daniel's Hotel.

TRUSTEE MEETING.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Public School Trustees, will be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY.—The regular course of studies were resumed in St. Mary's Academy, Wellington Street yesterday.

ESCAPE OF GAS.—There is a horrible stench nightly at the western approach to the Sappers Bridge, owing to the leakage of one of the gas pipes or mains. The company would confer a great boon on the citizens by remedying the evil.

PROBABLE APPOINTMENT.—It is currently reported that Father Duhamel, of St. Eugene, will be nominated Bishop of Ottawa, as successor to the late Bishop Guigues. The Rev. Mr. Duhamel is at present in the city.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND LADIES SCHOOL.—The Church of England, Ladies School opens this morning at No. 200 Wellington Street. Miss Fuller with an efficient staff of assistants is in charge of the institution. All applications for admission must be made to the Lady principal or to the Rev. Mr. Pollard.

A JUDGE OF BRICK.—An evening contemporary in referring to the inspection of the new brick for the Main Sewer, has adjudged the members of the Board of Works incompetent judges in the matter, and concludes by asserting that the City Solicitor will decide the matter in a few days. Ne sutor ultra crepidam.

COMMERCIAL ACADEMY.—The Christian Brothers Commercial Academy under the direction of Brother Andrew opened yesterday under very favorable auspices. The Academy has for its object a thorough commercial education, and for the short time it has been in operation has proved a decided success. For further particulars see advertisement in another column.

ENGINE CHANGES.—The Ottawa Fire Company has concluded since the reception of hose for the John Heney, to hand over the Ottawa engine to the Corporation. In the event of the Queen engine being sold to the Corporation of Buckingham, to which end negotiations are now going on, the Ottawa will probably be given to the Queen Company.

FOOT BALL.—The foot ball match between the Highlanders and Lowlanders takes place to-morrow afternoon on the grounds of the Ottawa Base Ball Club, at 4 o'clock. As a good deal of interest is centered in this undecided contest, there will doubtless, be a large attendance to witness the match. The grounds are situated at the foot of Elgin street.

PIC-NIC.—Another pic-nic, and although the last is not the least important of the festive re-unions that are offered from time to time to the public, will take place to day in Leduc's Gardens Hull, under the auspices of the Sapeurs' Fire Company. A good day's enjoyment is anticipated. Marier's brass and quadrille bands will be in attendance. The Committee are sparing no exertions to make the affair prove a success. The ferry-boat will run till midnight to accommodate such as may attend the pic-nic.

GONE TO BRANTFORD.—Johnny McDowell so long and favorably known in the streets of Ottawa as vendor of the Montreal Witness, left yesterday morning for Brantford, to attend the school in that place for the education of the blind. He will be absent about a year. Johnny by his industry has succeeded in saving a considerable sum of money, and he now feels that his peculiar circumstances are in such a condition as to fully warrant him in giving himself a little better education.

ENFORCING THE FIRE BY-LAW.—The fire trap being erected on Wellington street, immediately in front of the Parliament buildings, was brought to a somewhat sudden termination yesterday, by a stringent enforcement of the Fire By-Law. It would seem that the Chief of Police warned the parties interested last week, but the work was gone on with, despite the mandate of the Chief. Warrants were consequently taken out yesterday, and those engaged on the works arrested, bringing the matter to an issue.

THE GUARDS' BAND.—The Band of the Governor General's Foot Guards will play the following choice programme on Parliament Square this (Wednesday) evening, at 8 p. m. (weather permitting.)

PROGRAMME.

1—Quick March,	The Warriors Return,	Faust.
2—Overture,	Jubel	Weber.
3—Waltz,	Fenella	Tinney.
4—Selection,	Martha	Flotow.
5—Quadrille,	St. Patrick	Laurent.
6—Galop,	Ulanen	Hertel.

The Regimental Quick Step, and National Anthem.

FLAW IN A FINE BUILDING.—The fine wholesale establishment being constructed for Messrs. Garland & Mutchmor on Sparks street is about to be somewhat delayed owing to a mishap to the east wall of the building. The building is built internally of brick and and veneered on the outside with large slabs of Ohio sandstone, and owing to their being entirely separate and perhaps irregularly laid, the brick wall has gone in some six or eight inches, being followed by the stone work. It is quite perceptible to the eye and mars considerably the appearance of the building. The wall is to be taken down to the first floor and rebuilt in a more substantial manner.

REOPENING OF SCHOOLS.—Amongst the many valuable education institutions assuming a full developement in our growing city, the new young ladies academy on Rideau street conducted by the Good Sisters of Charity or Grey Nuns, deservedly holds a high place. It is pleasing therefore to learn that on the reopening of the classes yesterday, the 1st of September, a largely increased number of pupils, some of whom come from distant localities to avail themselves of the excellent system of education and practical training for the duties of life afforded in this excellent institution, were received. The course comprises all the branches of a sound education, and the large addition made to the building at a very heavy cost within the past year or two enables the good Sisters to provide in every way for the health and comfort of the children entrusted to their watchful care and motherly supervision.

ARNPRIOR SHOW.—As will be seen in another column the Annual Exhibition of the Arnprior Union Agricultural, Horticultural and Industrial Association will be held in the Village of Arnprior, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 8th, 9th and 10th days of September. Some $1,500 will be awarded in prizes. In addition to this, two fine silver cups, valued at $50 each, are to be given, one for the best stallion of any age, the other for the best herd of cattle, to be composed of one pure bull and five grade cows. The Railways and Steamboat lines having agreed to a reduced rate of fares, Arnprior will, doubtless, be visited by an immense crowd of people next week. The exertions put forth by the Association have been of such a liberal character as to commend the Show to the patronage of all who evince a regard for the welfare of the agricultural interests of this young country.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—The interesting drama of "Dick the Chevalier" was reproduced yesterday evening for the last time, on which occasion Miss Clara gave new songs to, if possible, greater appreciation than on the previous representation. The dramatis personæ were well filled throughout, particularly Mr. Lindley, who, however, was guilty of a few anachronisms, especially the one in allusion to Sunday trains, which brought a yell from the house. This evening is for the benefit and last appearance but one of this brilliant little star, when she offers a big dramatic feat, viz.: the two popular dramas of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Miss Clara's "Topsy" is a gem of character acting, her vocalization, banjo playing, dancing and nigger business being simply inimitable, according to the encomiums of the Philadelphia press. She has played the part over 300 hundred nights in the principal cities of the United States.

BUSH FIRES.—Yesterday morning about three o'clock the city was enveloped in a dense canopy of smoke, and thick fog, common at this season of the year. It was, however, of very short duration, and about daybreak the atmosphere was comparatively clear and transparent. During the day, the smoke was even more dense than at any time since the fires broke out in the bush, and the citizens, whose duty obliged them to be out of doors, were greatly annoyed by the dust and ashes, blown by the wind into their eyes. Many people are said to be suffering from a mild form of Opthalmia, which is not at all unlikely. There can be little doubt but that the fires are increasing, and it is impossible to say, if rain does not soon fall, where their devastating influences will stop, or what amount of damage will ensue. About dusk last night the glare of the fires in the heavens, North, South, East and West, was witnessed by hundreds of people on the Sappers and Wellington Bridges, where a good view of the conflagration could be obtained. At a late hour last night the weather presented a most unsettled appearance, and not a little apprehension was felt by many, in case the wind arose, that the city would be endangered.

DOMINION RIFLE MATCH.—The Dominion Rifle Association match opens in this city on the 15th of September next, and continues on the following days. The shooting will take place on the Rideau Range. The following is the list of matches and prizes:—In the All Comers' match the prizes are—1st $150, 2nd $75, 3rd $50, 4th $25, and fifteen prizes at $10 each. Total $450. The prizes in the Dominion of Canada match are 1st $200, 2nd $75, 3rd $50, ten prizes at $10 each, ten at $5, gold, silver, and bronze badges, value $100. Total $575. In the battalion match the prizes will be—1st $200, 2nd $100, 3rd $75, 4th $50, 5th $25. Total $450. The next match will be for the McDougall Challenge Cup value $200. The Provincial match prizes are—1st Cup, presented by the merchants of London, England, value $100, 2nd $75, 3rd $50, 4th $25. Total $1,150, of which $150 are given by the Association. The prizes offered in the affiliated match are—1st $150, 2nd $75, 3rd $25, ten next highest scores $10 each. Total $350. The President's prizes are—1st $100, 2nd $75, 3rd $40, 4th $25. Total $250. His Excellency the Governor-General, as intimated last year, also gives three prizes, gold, silver, and bronze medals. To encourage extra precaution in shooting throughout the matches the Association offers three additional prizes for the highest aggregate scores, of a total value of $150. There is every prospect of this being the most successful meeting of the Association.

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1872. Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealer. -1m

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 22, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant,
J. H. W. SCOTT, M. D.

The farmers of Dalton are very busy just now in housing their grain harvest. Crops are unusually good in this township this year—much above an average. The hay has been all well saved, and is also much more than an average crop. Farmers in Hartley are very busy now making hay while the sun shines. Crops of all kinds are going to be very heavy this year. The hay crop is above the average, and the spring crop never looked better. The fall wheat is also good and almost ready for the cradle. The crops are splendid in the Dunsford section. The hay is all in. The crop has been very large—the largest known for years; and it has been saved in excellent condition, the weather having been unusually favourable. Oats are remarkably abundant. Fall wheat is far beyond expectations, and will be a large crop. There is an abundant supply of good hay around Barry's Green this year, the crop this season being one of the best we have been favoured with for years, and the pleasant haying weather for some time past has given the farmers an opportunity of securing an excellent crop in good condition. The fall wheat at present presents quite a speckled appearance, on account of its being winter-killed, and in consequence is ripening very unevenly. It will, however, in general be a good crop. The other grain crops, including barley, oats, and peas, will, from present appearance, yield a large return. This season has been very favourable to the growth of roots.—Lindsay Post.

TORONTO.

The Governor General's Visit.

TORONTO, Aug. 31.

The regatta will take place to-morrow and Wednesday as advertised, but the Governor General will not be present.

The arrival of His Excellency this afternoon was shamefully mismanaged. Instead of the carriage being brought close to the landing place of the steamer 'City of Toronto,' it was stationed on the other side of a large intervening shed. His Excellency and Lady Dufferin were conducted round the shed, followed by all their suite, the district staff and other gentlemen, only to find that some person had ordered the carriage round to the place where it should have been at first. The party were brought back and took their seats without further difficulty. His Excellency is staying at the Queen's Hotel, where the bulk of his baggage was left, owing to the serious illness of Mr. Sherwood, a near relation to Lieutenant-Governor Crawford, preventing the latter entertaining the Vice-Regal party at the Government House.

Hon. George Brown accompanied the Governor General's party from Niagara to Toronto.

MONTREAL.

The Land "Swap" Scandal—City Mortality—Markets.

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.

This morning a fire was discovered in one of the G. P. R. cars, several of which had been left on St. Catharine Street on account of an excavation undermining the track. The damage is very considerable. It is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

It is reported that Mr. Dansereau paid from five to eight thousand dollar early in July to Hon. Mr. Archambault in connection with the Tanneries Land Exchange. It is stated that Solicitor-General Chapleau and Dansereau, part proprietor of the Minerve of Montreal, and the Canadien of Quebec, purchased last month over three arpents of land in a fine location east of Parthenais Street, on the line of the Northern Colonization Railway. The land was purchased for about $2,000. A gratifying rise in the value of property out there is expected after the railway goes through.

The formation of a Joint Stock Company to supply the city with lime, building stone and marble is announced. Quarries are situated near the boundary line, on the Vermont Central line. Kilns have been erected, and operations commenced.

There were 161 interments in the city cemeteries for the week ending the 29th of August.

Mr. Royal's visit to this city and Ottawa is stated to be in connection with the prosecution of Ambroise Lepine and Andre Nault, shortly to be tried for participation in the Scott murder.

The Stock Market here this morning was rather quiet, within most cases, a fractional decline from the extreme prices of yesterday.

Montreal, 195 closing at 194 to 195.
Merchants, 120 closing at 119½ to 120¼.
Telegraph, 206½ closing at 204 to 204½.
Commerce, 136½ to 137.
Sales at the afternoon board.

ST CATHARINES.

New R. C. Convent—Reform Pic-Nic—Drowned.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 31.

Yesterday afternoon while the propeller, City of New York, was lying below Lock No. 1, a young lad named Norman Dodd, a passenger on board, went up the tow-path to bathe, and not being able to swim was drowned. His body was recovered by some boys about an hour afterwards.

Yesterday afternoon His Grace Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, laid the corner stone of a new Convent about to be erected at Thorold. An eloquent sermon on Catholic education was preached by Rev. Father Rice. The St. Patrick's Temperance Society was in attendance.

To-morrow forenoon at eleven o'clock, a meeting of the Lincoln Reform Association will be held in their rooms, when arrangements are to be made for a grand Reform pic-nic.

QUEBEC.

Harbor Items—Miscellaneous.

QUEBEC, Aug. 31.

The funeral of the late Robert Middleton, editor of the Quebec Gazette, took place on Saturday afternoon.

The ferry steamer 'North,' on her way from Finlay Market to Levis, collided with the steamer 'James,' from New Liverpool. The 'North' received no injury, but the 'James' had some stancheons on the starboard started, and top rail split. Also the steamer 'Abyssinian,' on going to her wharf yesterday morning, forged ahead and struck the steamer 'Saguenay' on the port quarter, driving in several of the stancheons, rails, &c., on that side.

Admiral Wellesley's flag ship 'Bellerophon' left Sydney on Friday last for Quebec. The sloop of war 'Argus' awaits her arrival at Father Point.

An inquest was held on Saturday on James French, a native of Ireland, and engaged as seaman on board the ship 'White Crest.' While walking between decks he fell into the hold of the vessel and fractured the base of his skull, from which he died yesterday.

A fine lot of Ayrshire cattle, five beautiful ponies, and a lot of strong working horses, were among the cargo of the s. s. 'Canadian,' which arrived from Liverpool this morning.

HALIFAX.

Aquatics.

HALIFAX, Aug. 31.

The Halifax Rowing Club held a meeting to-night, when it was decided that George Brown accept the challenge of Morris, of Pittsburg, the race to come off on the Kennebecasis, St. John, on Sept. 23rd. The St. John people are willing to give Morris $500 if he rows there, and as he offers to go for that sum the race, will doubtless take place. Brown will go and pay his own expenses.

No correspondence has yet been received from Sadler.

Steamer "Delta" left for Montreal to-night.

KINGSTON.

Abortion Case—Ontario Rifle Association Meeting.

KINGSTON, Sept. 1.

Vicar-General Farrelly preached, on Sunday, a funeral sermon on the late Father Boyle, in St. Mary's Cathedral.

All volunteers' arms and accoutrements in the districts are ordered into store, under penalty.

Dr. Barker, coroner, held an inquest on Monday morning on the body of the infant child of Rebecca Thompson, a patient in the General Hospital, whose death, it appears from evidence, was brought about in consequence of premature birth, produced by instruments used by a young man named Spencer. Miss Thompson's seducer was instructed in their use by a doctor in Picton. Mr. Dousely, the house surgeon of the hospital, testified to having delivered the child, and to the fact that the child was alive at the time of its birth. The child only lived for about twenty minutes. The act was performed by Spencer in the hospital. The following is the verdict of the jury:—"We the Coroner's jury, sworn to determine the cause of the death of an infant, the body of which we have seen, do believe that the death of the infant was caused by premature delivery produced by instruments used by David Spencer on the body of Rebecca Thompson, and that the said instruments were used under instructions from Dr. Nash, of Picton, and we hereby recommend that the Coroner do issue the warrant for the arrest of the parties concerned."

On Sunday afternoon 27 non-commissioned officers and men, of A. Battery, in command of Capt. Holmes, left in the Algerian for Toronto. They are to be employed as markers, and for general purposes, during the competition in connection with the meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association. It is understood that Paymaster Sohchan, Sergeant Major Strachan, and Sergeant Baillie, of the 47th Battalion, and Quartermaster-Sergeant Kincaid and Private Hume, of the 14th P. W. O. Rifles, were to leave for Toronto this p m., to take part in the competition. Major Cotton of A. Battery, is to be executive officer during the meeting.

PAKENHAM.

Fire.

PAKENHAM, Sept. 1.

A fire in Pakenham last night broke out in Mr. Lynch's stable, burning his hotel and outbuildings, with ball alley attached; also, two dwelling houses, grocery and blacksmith's shop, and the water tank of the Prescott and Ottawa Railway. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from a passing locomotive.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

Markets—Personal.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 31.

The Intercolonial Railway Superintendent—Mr. Lewis Carvell, left for Ottawa this morning.

The Minister of Customs and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries leave for Ottawa to-morrow morning.

Flour market firmer, without actual change in prices. Butter scarce and firm, at 21 cents to 25 cents for choice dairy packed.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

The Weather in England.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The weather throughout the country to-day is tempestuous, and on the Coast the gale is very heavy.

The New Anglo-American Cable.

At noon yesterday the "Great Eastern" had paid out 822 nautical miles of the American Company's cable and is going on well, although a hard northeast gale has been blowing for 36 hours.

SPAIN.

Opposition to the Conscription—Rioting in Barcelona.

MADRID, Sept 1.—There has been some rioting in the Province of Barcelona, caused by the opposition to the conscription. In some instances boxes containing the name of those liable to draft were stolen and burned.

UNITED STATES.

Destructive Fire.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—A fire in Lebanon, O, this morning destroyed the principal business block, the Congregational Church, Ross' Hotel, and the Town Hall. The loss is estimated at $65,000 to $70,000; insurance $10,000.

Fire in an Hotel.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 31.—The American House was destroyed by fire to-night to the extent of about $800. During the fire, a ladder sixty feet high, on which were four firemen, broke, and the men were all injured.

Klu Klux Outrages.

NEW YORK, Sept 1.—Specials from Washington report the increase of Klu Klux outrages in Alabama, South Carolina and Louisiana.

Cricket Match.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Montreal Cricket Club and the St. George's Club played a game on the latter's ground at Hoboken to-day. Only one innings was played, resulting in a score of 208 and 60 in favour of the St. Georges' Club.

Suicide of a Convict.

POKEEPSIE, N. Y, Aug. 31.—Robert Lyttle, a convict in Sing Sing Prison, committed suicide on Sunday night by hanging himself.

The Black Hills Expedition—A Rich Country

FORT LINCOLN, DAKOTA, VIA BISMARCK, Sept. 1.—The Black Hills Expedition after completing the exploration of the Black Hills returned to this port yesterday, by way of the Little Missouri River, exploring the valley of the Little Missouri. The greater portion of this stream having never been visited by white men before, the valley contains a large area, rich in valuable soil, and well timbered. The expedition encountered no hostile Indians from its departure from this port. The impression prevails generally that it will be impossible to prevent parties from occupying the country, because they will seek to enter it from every quarter. Gold in unlimited quantities was discovered at various points; also silver and lead, galena and plumbago. There are also mountains of iron and inexhaustable beds of gypsum.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

A Difficulty Settled.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The representatives of the Atlantic Steamship Lines held a final conference at Liverpool to-day, and took steps which put an end to the competition between them. They fixed the rate of steerage passage at £5 5s. on fast and £5 on slow lines, and agreed to carry freight at minimum rates, which are about 50 per cent below those of old arrangements. Three months notice will be required from any line which may wish to withdraw from the agreement.

SPAIN

The War in Spain—Russian Interference—Carlist Reversions of Fortune.

MADRID, Sept. 1.—General Zabala has arrived to confer with the Government.

Russia has sent special agents to the Republican and Carlist generals head-quarters to report on the military positions of the contending parties.

The Carlist generals Trisbany and Mora, were defeated by the Republicans near Zo De Urgel on Sunday last, losing 400 killed and wounded.

The Carlists, having despaired of the capture of Puycerdo, are preparing to burn the town with incendiary projectiles to-night.

BAYONNE, Sept. 1—The Carlists under Alvras have defeated and driven off a column of General Luna's, who was attempting to throw provisions into Vittoria.

UNITED STATES.

The Late Mr. Smith.

NEW YORK, Sept 1—The memorial meeting in honor of the late Mr Smith, was held this afternoon in Booth's Theatre, at which were present many members of the theatrical and literary profession. Mr. Lester Wallack presided.

Decrease in the U. S. Debt.

The decrease in the public debt during the past month is $1,626,760.

New Post Master General.

Marshal Jewell took the oath of office to-day, and entered upon his duties as Postmaster General.

Quick Despatch.

The s. s. 'Schiller' landed mails from Hamburg at the Post Office in this city last night, in less than 11 days, being the quickest service ever performed from that port.

Beecher's Counsel.

Gen. Ben. F. Tracy was to-day retained as Counsel for Rev. H. W. Beecher, in the suit of Tilton.

Balloon Ascension.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 1—Donaldson's large balloon, with six newspaper men aboard, passed over this city in a south easterly direction into New Jersey at 5.15 p. m. The wind was strong from the north west.

The Cotton Crops.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 1.—The following is condensed from the National Cotton Exchange Crop report for August:—In Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee, the crops are generally suffering from drought and the prospects are less favorable than at the same time last year, and though a month ago the crops were generally later, the picking will commence quite as early as last year, the drought causing a premature opening in Alabama, Verginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina. The condition is about as good as at the same time last year in Georgia and Florida. The crops are injured by the drought, the condition being now less favorable than last year. In Missouri the prospects are somewhat unfavorable. Picking will commence from ten to twelve days earlier than last year. In Kansas the condition is better than last year. In Indian Territory the plant is suffering from the drought and picking will commence from ten to twelve days earlier than last year.

The Charges Against Havemoyer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A letter from Gov. Dix to L. & L. Clinton of the 17th August says: "The Governor will appoint a day if desired to hear counsel on the matter of the charges against Mayor Havemeyer, and that if necessary the Governor will appoint some person to take the proof, but the Governor does not propose to take testimony himself and denies to dispose of the case at an early day." It is believed that that the Governor's decision will be rendered this week.

Commercial Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—A proclamation has just been made of a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between the United States and Peru. It is agreed by one of its articles that free ships shall give freedom to goods and that everything shall be deemed free which shall be found on board of vessels belonging to citizens of either contracting parties although whole loading or part thereof should belong to enemies of either, the articles of contraband war being always excepted.

The Turf.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The Mystic Park Races opened with fine weather and a large attendance. The 2:24 race, mile heats, for purse of $5 000, was contested by 'Bodine,' 'Hopeful,' 'Lulu' 'Susie,' 'George,' and 'Castle Boy.' 'Bodine' and 'Hopeful' were the favorites at the start. 'Lulu' took the second heat in 2m. 18¼s. The race was won by 'Bodine' in the 1st, 4th and 5th heats. Time, 2m. 22s., 2m. 18½s., 2m. 23s., 2m. 21½s. and 2m. 24s.

That Balloon.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1—A despatch from Waterford, N. J., says Donaldson's balloon is anchored there for the night.

Launch.

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 1.—The first of the new United States iron sloops of war was launched to-day at Roaches' ship yard.

Indian Warfare.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—A special from Caddo, Indian Territory, says that the Indian Chief Isnoneka, with his band of warriors, had sent word to Gen. Dawson that he desired to surrender and go to Camp Sim. This is regarded as entering the wedge to disarmament of the Indians. Gen. Dawson intends to pursue his march vigorously up the Wicheta and attack the hostile savages.

Hay in the neighbourhood of Carronbrook is a fair average crop. Those who ploughed up their fall wheat in the spring, now regret it, as it is much better than they expected. All the Spring crops are very promising so far. The potato bug is hard at work, but it does not seem quite as bad as other years. Altogether there is every probability of a good average yield of crops this year. The spring crops are looking splendid; they have seldom looked better. A good deal of the fall wheat was ploughed up, but those who let it stand have little reason to regret it, as it has grown wonderfully, and will be nearly equal to a full crop of spring. Hay is pretty well in, and in fine condition. It is a very fair crop. Notwithstanding the ravages of the bug, potatoes are looking pretty well. Turnips and mangolds are doing tolerable thus far. Spring crops in North East Hope township, so far look very well. Fall wheat being "frost-killed" there is not much of it, but what remained untouched will bring an average yield. Although clover crop, and farmers generally are going to have more hay than they had expected. The weather for haying has been fine, and hay as a whole has been well saved. The prospects of an abundant harvest are still as good as ever. The late fall wheat is considerably rusted, and consequently will be somewhat damaged. The potato bug is still committing its ravages, but potatoes will be plentiful for all—Stratford Beacon.

THEY —ARE— DYING —BY— INCHES!

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatoro Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 18th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
81 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

PAIN-KILLER

THE GREAT

Internal and External Remedy,

TAKEN INTERNALLY it relieves INSTANTLY the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY it is the best LINIMENT in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS. 2605

Real Estate Bulletin

FOR AUGUST, 1874.

READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1470 per annum, which can be increased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $.00 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 2?, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $ 2 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 48 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lot 34 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbred streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality.

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 28 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa. Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 18 in the ninth C. F. nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa, front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

CANADA STILL AHEAD.—Mr. John Rochester, M. P., said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbugs, but a neighbor who had tried Bonnar's and the Canadian Washer, advised me strongly a trial of the Canadian, which he had found to be the best, that I took one and that it was in reality a good Machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer." Price $3.00 each and for sale by A. R. GILES, corner Nicholas and Theodore streets. June 11th. 2613.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold!

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Ione, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes —"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS.

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, those pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully reserved.

For full particulars, obtain free, of the agent a pamphlet, or refer to advertisement.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills return mail.

PULMONARY DISEASE.—HARBOR GRACE NEWFOUNDLAND, Dec. 9th, 1871.—JAMES L. FELLOWS, Esq.—Dear Sir: We are receiving orders almost daily from the outports for for your invaluable Syrup of Hypophosites, and the sale is steadily increasing. I do believe it has done more good than any medicine yet discovered in the cure of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and kindred diseases. It is the only medicine we have which cures these diseases by strengthening the nervous system; and as it is also what we call a sound chemical preparation, I predict for it a more extended demand than any other remedy in existence. Yours, very truly, W. H. [illegible] 2613

VINEGAR BITTERS PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL DR WALKER'S CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

In the County Court of the County of Carleton.

On Friday, the eleventh day of September next, the undersigned will apply to the Judge of the said Court for a discharge under the said Act.

Dated at Ottawa, the 5th August, A. D. 1874.

REUBEN LAWRENCE, JR.,
By Taillon & Chrysler, his Attorneys ad litem.

Ordnance Lands Sale,

TORONTO.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on TUESDAY the 8th day of September next, at Noon, will be sold at Toronto, by Mr. Orin Wardell, Auctioneer, the annual Leases of the Reserves on Lake Erie, at Pointe Pelée, containing about 4,200 acres, Rondeau, containing about 500 acres, and Turkey Point, containing about 592 acres, respectively, to be employed for the purpose of shooting and fishing, for the proper preservation of the game and the protection of the timber thereon.

These Leases to endure for a term of 21 years each, with power to the Department to resume possession, at any time, on giving one month's notice.

On condition, that the just rights of all squatters and Indians shall be respected, and reserving—"all rights of fishery, or use and occupation of the shores in connection therewith, under authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries."

The rent to be paid to this Department, semi-annually in advance, and good and sufficient security to be tendered, at the sale, for payment. If insufficient, the sale to be renewed at the time and place of sale.

Further conditions, if considered necessary, will be declared at the time of sale.

Lessees to accept boundaries and quantities as shown on the Ordnance plans.

By Order,
E. A. MEREDITH,
Deputy of the Minister of The Interior.
WILLIAM F. COFFIN,
Commissioner of Ordnance and Admiralty Lands.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

LEA & PERRINS
CELEBRATED
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE,
DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS
TO BE
THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.

CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD.

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to

ASK FOR LEA AND PERRINS' SAUCE,

and to see that their names are upon the wrapper labels, stopper, and bottle.

Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Venders of such, or any other immitations by which their right may be infringed.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.
LAST CHANCE FOR
An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

Caution.
GENUINE PANCREATIN
PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs. SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of these which are put forth as possessing the real and proper properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either worthless compounds, ointments or powders, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to seriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report on a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Bitter Almond or Prussic Acid. It was slightly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which acting upon the fat, produced the saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being pure Pancreatic juice, has the delicate appearance and consistency of cream, is palatable and readily taken.

FACTORY.
RIDEAU STREET, OTTAWA.

W. Stockdale & Co.
PROPRIETORS.

At this establishment will be found on hand, or made to order the latest and most approved styles of

Coaches, Carriages, Omnibuses, ROCKAWAYS, BUGGIES AND SLEIGHS

Which in point of finish and durability are not surpassed in any market.

☞ All work warranted for one year, and all kinds of repairing carefully and promptly done.

A very large amount of new and improved machinery has lately been added, and as the whole is driven by steam power (the only establishment so supplied in this section of country), we are in a position to produce work more promptly and cheaper than any one else.

The proprietors are practical men and give personal supervision to all work.

The New President of the Wesleyan Conference.

[Liverpool Leader.]

There are many well-educated, wise and eloquent preachers in the Wesleyan Methodist Conference, now sitting at Camborne, Cornwall; but during many years past no member of that body had had so extensive and well founded a reputation for scholarly, intelligent, convincing, highly-wrought rhetorical power as that of the Rev. William Morley Punshon, who on Wednesday last was elected President of that body. Methodism has always possessed a fair proportion of remarkable orators and well read students, but with the spread of education and refinement, the demand for these has increased. The Methodist standard of excellence has increased with it, so that in the present day this body of worshippers comprises an unsurpassed phalanx of pulpit orators capable of influencing their hearers on the highest of all subjects. To be in their van, therefore, is a great distinction. Such is Mr. Punshon's among Arthur, Perks, Garret, Geden, MacAulay, Stephenson, Coley, Osborne, Hall, Wiseman, Prest, Walton, and a score of others less known in Liverpool. He is not merely their equal—he is admittedly their superior, and during the last twenty years has by universal consent stood forth the first of Wesleyan Methodist preachers.

Mr. Punshon who is now fifty years old, had the [in Methodism] unusual advantage of being of good parentage, and enjoyed in early life those advantages of education and society which are valued everywhere, but by the polish and dignity they impart are peculiarly useful to men who aspire to lead their fellows. Unlike many other able men who come to the front, he had not to laboriously gather classical knowledge or painfully learn the usages of polite society after his beard had grown. He thus started under favourable conditions. When, declining a university career, he became a Methodist local preacher and a candidate for the ministry, most of the usual trials and preparations were mere child's play to him. He entered the ministry with ease, at once was appointed to a first-class circuit and has ever since been recognised as a brilliant star in his firmament, not only as an orator, but also as a legislator and organizer, so that more than twenty years ago, though he had not been heard in Liverpool, local Wesleyans were eagerly discussing his merits, and there was intense anxiety to hear him preach.

This position has been achieved without any advantages of appearance or voice. Outwardly this famous preacher is uninviting. His physique is coarse and heavy, his countenance is dull, his voice has little compass and is nasal, although strong, penetrating, and judiciously used. His small eyes, however, are bright; his broad chest and strong frame enable him to roll forth immensely long sentences, and to speak without exhaustion for an hour and a half day after day. An air of dignity and conscious power pervades him, and, even were his name unfamiliar, a practised critic of men would at once recognize in him one who stands head and shoulders above the multitude.

Mr. Punshon's eloquence is rapid and vehement, varied by use of almost every rhetorical device, and brilliant by what seems at first profuse use of rhetorical embellishment, but when examined proves to be concise, logical, and not weighted with unless adjectives or repetitions. His style, beyond that of any living orator, is trumpet-like, and suggests a combination of Demosthenes and Cicero. His sentences, sometimes of great length, generally work up to a climax, nor is any address of his free from this peculiarity; but at other times he flings forth a flower of brief, pregnant aphorisms or startling epigrammatic questions, which tell with great logical force. Without being fond of anecdotes or allusions to ephemeral occurrences, he sometimes introduces these neatly. He is vehement in apostrophe, in exhortation, and in argumentitive appeal. He was formerly fond of quoting from peculiar poems. "Festus" especially. So various are his rhetorical resources that when he commences no one can foretell how his subject will be treated. His main and seldom absent characteristic, however, is vehement imaginative application to individuals of great and well established general truths. This pervades his sermons, lectures, speeches and efforts in debate; yet amidst the wild rush of what seems an unrestrained torrent, his self-control is perfect, and thanks to a systematic memory of extraordinary power he prepares all his addresses with such completeness that he has been known to speak for two hours with only three or four insignificant deviations from a manuscript which a hearer held in his hand.

Among Wesleyans differences of theological belief are so faintly marked that their preachers scarcely can be divided into sections; yet there are differences, and Mr. Punshon, both from disposition and circumstances, is a "Broad Methodist."

The Timber Supply.

An estimate of the timber supply, differing from that of Mr. Little, has been published in an American journal. A Canadian writer had estimated the whole amount of standing timber in Canada and the United States at only 243,440,000,000 feet, of which Canada has 75,000,000,000, and the quantities of yellow pine in the Southern States were distributed as follows: Virginia, 150,000,000; North Carolina, 1,600,000,000; South Carolina, 90,000,000; Georgia, 1,500,000,000; and Florida, 1,700,000,000. Mr. Risley claims, we believe rightly, to be possessed of the most accurate information concerning the Southren supply, and his figures are more encouraging. He remarks: "There is enough to supply the world's demands for years to come," and adds the following details: "Virginia has been greatly over-estimated, and so far from having 150,000,000 feet of yellow pine, could not produce 5,000,000. North Carolina cannot furnish 50,000,000 cubic ft.; but S. Carolina possesses 2,543,765,000 of good merchantable yellow pine, squaring ten inches and upwards, clear of sap. Georgia is credited with 3,500,000,000 feet, notwithstanding the great amounts exported; and Florida with 3,000,000,000, to which Alabama and Mississippi add 2,500,000,000." Mr. Risley estimates 11,593,765 feet of yellow pine where the Montrealer had placed only 5,040,000, and he states that this quantity is contained on about 12,000,000 acres of land, which is becoming every year more accessible by means of railways. This question is of the greatest importance to ourselves, especially in its bearings upon the proposed Reciprocity Treaty, and the consequences of free competition with the lumber trade of the States.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealer. -1m

The Qu'Appelle.

There is a tradition among the Indians concerning the Qu'Appelle: A solitary Indian was coming down the river in his canoe many summers ago, when one day he heard a loud voice calling to him; he stopped and listened, and again heard the same voice as before. He shouted in reply, but there was no answer. He searched everywhere, but could not find the tracks of any one. From that time forth it was called the "Who Calls River."

The Qu'Appelle flows into the Assiniboine, distant from this city about two hundred and twenty miles. The great pow-wow will probably take place at the mouth of the Qu'Appelle. In Fleming's Itinerary the following distances are given: Fort Garry to White Horse Plains, 23 miles; thence to Rat Creek Camp, 37 miles; thence to Three Creeks, 24; thence to Camp Assiniboine, 40; thence to Salt Lake Camp, 41; thence to Qu'Appelle, 45, making a total of 220 miles.

The Qu'Appelle River and valley have a remarkable peculiarity. The river is 270 miles long, course nearly due east and west, and at one time it united the South Branch of the Saskatchewan with the Assiniboine River. The valley is from a mile to a mile and a half wide, and from 110 to 320 feet deep; it is a gigantic canal which has been excavated in ages long since passed by the hand of nature. Since then the South Branch has made a new outlet, and, instead of continuing eastward its general course thus far, it flows northerly 250 miles and unites with the North Branch at the Grand Forks, from which it proceeds in a combined stream easterly to Lake Winnipeg. The valley contains two streams, which take their origin in some small lakes at the highest part, distant but twelve miles from the South Branch of the Elbow; from this the Qu'Appelle, or Calling River, runs easterly to the Assiniboine, and the short stream "The River that Turns," flows to the Elbow. The elevation of the highest part of the valley above the level water in the Saskatchewan is but 84 feet, and 73 to 78 at Spring floods; at but twelve miles distant from this there is a gradual descent of 13 inches per mile to the Assiniboine.

Prof. Hind, who surveyed this thoroughly, says that it is practicable to turn a part or the whole of the water of the South Branch through by this valley and thus make an unbroken water communication to the foot of the Rocky Mountains, which would be at least 400 miles shorter than that at present employed, and would be open less than a month earlier in spring, while passing through a splendid agricultural district the whole way, and would avoid the rapids on the other route at which portages have to be made. He says that there is one place where a dam could be built across the South Branch sufficiently high to throw the water into the old channel or a cut might be made that would greatly diminish the height required. The water has flowed naturally by this route within the memory of the Indians and hence the reason for the name of the short stream, "The River That Turns," as it has been known to flow into the South Branch, and also to convey the waters of this stream into the Assiniboine.—The Manitoban Free Press.

Of course we are not so weak-minded or so ignorant of everyday occurrences as to be surprised at certain incidents which have lately varied the monotony of life in a Milwaukee boarding house, and which, a few years ago, we might have looked upon with suspicion. In these days of mesmerism, spiritualism and all the other isms by which the old fashioned laws of attraction and of natural forces are ignored and superseded, there is, of course, nothing extraordinary in "an egg coming flying out of an empty pantry, describing a curve in such a way that no human hand could ever have thrown it." That "a pan of beans went off on a skating trip, and a current pie took flight," need not surprise us; but it must be confessed that Mrs. Gidding's residence seems hardly suitable for quiet-seeking lodgers. Hearing of something having occurred, several neighbors came in, and this is what they saw:—"Whilst they were sitting there, a second pie that Mrs. Giddings had made and set on the table exploded, scattering the top crust and fruit all over the room; several dishes came flying out of the pantry, sausages and eggs and pieces of bread were thrown about the floor, and the stove furniture got a shaking up. The alarm spread, and George W. Allan became a spectator. The cover-lifter, whilst he was looking at it came flying towards him, and struck him a smart blow on the leg. Dr. Mercham, a respectable practitioner, who was watching the girl Mary, who had been set about sweeping away the debris, when a dish came out of the pantry opposite which he was standing. The dish was, the instant before, on a shelf directly in front of the doctor, and no body could have touched it without his seeing the action. Mrs. Mead had, in the meantime, gone into her house, and was looking over the fence into Giddings' yard, when a stick of wood came flying towards her, followed by a slop-pail, and a flower pot that the moment before she had seen firmly imbedded in the top of the earth. The thing, however, that does surprise us is, that no attempt seems to have been as yet made to utilise the power which the girl Speigler seems to exercise over inanimate nature, and especially over domestic utensils—for it was proved that it was only in her presence that they executed these eccentric freaks. Here is a latent power that is going to waste for want of proper direction being given to it, and which, in these days of insufficient and incapable domestic service might be of incalculable advantage. If Miss Speigler would cultivate her powers of "attraction and repulsion," she could doubtless induce the stove cover-lifter to do something more useful or innocent than breaking a gentleman's shins; while fruit pies could be taught not to explode like a haggis, and eggs, if they must persist in describing eccentric and superhuman curves, might be induced to "scramble" themselves, and thus combine use to others with excitement to themselves. What immense facilities Miss Speigler has for running a hotel! At her bidding tables would be laid, dinners would cook themselves, chairs would dance back to their places, and perhaps—but this may be doubted—mattresses would turn themselves. Amphion, at whose strains—

> This gouty oak began to move
> And flounder into hornpipes, is 'knocked higher than a kite' by the manifestations of this domestic 'eril,' which, if not utilised, at least ought to be placed under some control, or its possessor interred in Utah or the Lava Beds; because, although we may not all wish to look a stove in the face or to peer over our fence, yet we ought to be able, in a free country, to do so without having our shins broken in the one case, or in the other having to dodge between a stick of wood, a slop-pail, and a flower-pot.

The Oswego Times is accountable for the following story: "If this isn't thrift, then we repudiate the dictionary as a delusion and a snare! Three of the commissioners to apportion the contributions of the public in aid of the Mill River sufferers apportioned $100 to a man who had lost his all, and then retained $73 of it in settlement of an old account that two of the commissioner held against him, and they allowed one of their number $35 for a $15 suit of clothes which he had furnished to another destitute victim of the disaster. But there wasn't anything mean about these commissioners. They allowed and paid out of their female neighbors $100 for a week's board of half a dozen of the sufferers. This is the kind of Mill River dam charity commissioners they have in Massachusetts."

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1874.

Hon. D. A. Macdonald left town yesterday afternoon for Cornwall, whither he was subpœnaed as a witness in the matter of the Cornwall controverted election trials.

The following election cases have been fixed for trial on the following date:—East Toronto, 26th Sept; North Leeds and Grenville, Nov. 10th, Cardwell, Oct. 15th; North Victoria, 4th Sept.; and South Norfolk, 3rd November.

The Hon. Geo. A. Walkem, Attorney General and Premier of British Columbia, now in England, has been placed on the General and Special Committees of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, as a compliment to the well known artistic talents, &c., of that gentleman.

The Kingston News says it is stated that the Hon. James Cockburn, late Speaker of the House of Commons, has been selected by the Conservatives of Ottawa as their candidate for the representation of the city in the Local Legislature at the coming general election. The Reform Association of Ottawa, we hear, are also buckling on their armour, and will be ready in due time with a strong card.

Private advices received from Montreal yesterday indicate that the Ministry will not resign, but will meet the House and take their chances. The Premier is said to feel inclined to take this course; Mr. Chapleau is similarly inclined, and it is also said that Mr. Robertson thinks it probably the best thing to do. We have already expressed the opinion that this would be how the thing would go, and that the final end will be shipwreck.

A telegram was received yesterday from the North West Expeditionary Force, dated Old Wives' Creek, August 12th, reporting that the Force was then encamped there, about 480 miles from Dufferin. The horses were in very poor condition from insufficient pasture, bad water, and hard work; but the health of the men was very good. There had been a fight between some Blackfeet Indians and the Buffalo hunters. The Indians had been instigated, so the hunters reported, to make the attack by the American outlaws. The hunters state that the Indians number 500, and that they had been strengthening their fort at Bow River all the spring.

Referring to the Globe's threat to publish the names of those teachers who voted for Dr. Sangster in the recent election for the Council of Public Instruction, an irate correspondent of the London Herald, telegraphing from Toronto, wildly exclaimed: "If the ballot is to be violated in this way, it is better to be without it." Innocent correspondent! It must have been news to the authors of the Act which gave to teachers a vote, and to the public generally, that the election was conducted by ballot. We in our ignorance supposed that there was little ballot about an election where every elector attached his full name and address to his voting paper, otherwise his vote was not good. But it would appear one has always something to learn.

The London Empire has the following interesting paragraph anent the Agricultural Labourer's strike, and its effect upon the tide of emigration:—"The defeat of the Unionists is a fact now beyond dispute. This struggle is likely to benefit our colonies very considerably. Machines have turned out men, and the ousted labourers may profitably employ their energies on the virgin soil of our Empire beyond the sea. Canada is specially exerting herself to secure them. Canadians are among the men, describing the beauties of the happy Arcadia across the Atlantic. Necessity if not inclination is likely to drive the labourers over. The vacation promises to be a busy time for Mr. E. Jenkins."

The New York Tribune of the 22nd says:—"It appears from the letter of our London correspondent that Sir Edward Thornton will continue to represent the British Government at Washington. Since he was accredited in 1868 he has been charged with various difficult negotiations, and has managed them with great tact, ability and courtesy." And yet Sir Edward Thornton was one of the two plenipotentiaries appointed by Her Majesty's Imperial Government to negociate the Reciprocity Treaty, and the London Standard and the Tory journals of Canada attack that negociation as one calculated to bring about results which would render the negociator a very undesirable man to occupy his present position. We leave Mr. Disraeli to account to the Standard and its brother grumblers on both sides of the Atlantic for the character of the appointment, and why he should thus stamp with high official approval such a terribly unjust and disloyal transaction as the proposed Reciprocity Convention.

The London Empire, [illegible] colonial organ, notes that Mr. W[illegible] arrived in the Imperial Capital [illegible] "protest." It points out, however, that a very important document of another nature has also arrived, but without a Colonial Cabinet Minister to carry it—that, in fact, the Province of British Columbia, or a party in the province, has sent a petition to the Colonial Office praying that Mr. Walkem should not be listened to, or something very much like it. This the Empire looks upon as an unfortunate augury of the success of the self-imposed mission of the Columbian Prime Minister, and adds:—"Mr. Walkem will be able to point out to the Earl of Carnarvon that the petition is from the Mainland party in British Columbia, while he speaks more particularly for Vancouver's Island. Still the position is an awkward one. Mr. Walkem calls upon the Earl with a British Columbian grievance, and the Earl meets Mr. Walkem with a British Columbian petition, in which the grievance is represented to be in the true interests of the province."

The Canadian News, a London journal by no means noted for the favour with which it regards the present Government of Canada, gives a synopsis of the "protest" which Mr. Walkem has been carrying to the "foot of the Throne," and comments upon the purpose of his visit in the following expressive language:—"The Dominion has not completed the surveys nor the explorations which are required to make this railway. Well, there are, thank goodness, a few men old enough to remember some of the railways in the world that were begun before the necessary surveys and explorations were made, and wise enough to act upon the bitter experience which such unwisdom entailed. Mr. Mackenzie is one of these men. He refuses to burden the Dominion with the miseries of debt, the extent of which cannot be forseen. He refuses to trust the prosperity and well-being of our greatest Anglo-Saxon Colony to the tender mercies of money-mongers and contractors. He refuses to listen to the homicidal shrieks for its bond which some of the people of British Columbia set up, and there will come a time when the Premier of the Dominion will be lauded for his courage, his foresight and firmness by the very men who now deride and flout him."

REFORMED CRIMINALS.

If there is anything in this world for which the public ought to be more thankful than another, it is to see an old thief preaching morality and obedience to the law. But somehow or another men are very sceptical about the thoroughness of the pretended reformation of gentry of this class, and we must admit that if scepticism of that nature be a human frailty, we are somewhat afflicted with it. Of course we rejoice at the prospect of any man, or any class of men, who have been notoriously or even slightly addicted to any particular vice, forsaking the tombs where they have been accustomed to wander, throwing aside the rags of shame in which they were habilitated, and sitting among honest men, "clothed and in their right mind;" but we are also forcibly reminded by a passage in Scripture that there is just the possibility of the devil coming back again to these reformed criminals, finding their houses swept and garnished, and the last state of such men becoming worse than the first. We have more than once called attention to the intemperate zeal of such papers as the Montreal Gazette in connection with the recent developments involving the Quebec Government. Now there is another turn of the wheel in the same direction, and the Tory press are one and all howling themselves hoarse over the result of the Essex election trial—raising the standard of public morality, as some of them call it. Well, it is a treat, and no mistake, to find the Tories standing up for public morality, and decrying bribery and corruption. Was it wrong for Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues to solicit and accept $300,000 from Sir Hugh Allan, who expected a fat contract at their hands, and spent that money in corrupting the electors? Will the Tories please answer the question. Of course they could give but one reply and be consistent. They dare not say that it was wrong at any rate, for they would then be swallowing assertions they have repeated thousands of times within the past twelve months. On the contrary, we have the sworn statement of their "chieftain," as given before his own Royal Commission, that to spend such sums of money in order to gain elections was quite a recognized custom both in Canada and in the Old Country. 'Tis a very good joke indeed to find this same party and its organs holding up their hands in pious horror because a member of Parliament elected to support the Liberal Government and party has been unseated for the corrupt transactions of some of his supporters. Their own record during the time they were in a majority in Parliament—for they have seldom if ever been in a majority in the country—was certainly anything but a clean one; but they took good care that no election court which had the smallest claim to competence should ever have the opportunity of making them known to the world. But our Tory friends should not halloo before they are out of the wood; the Kingston protest is not yet disposed of.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents will be good enough to furnish to the Editor their real names, otherwise their communications over fictitious signatures cannot be inserted.

The Dorchester Street Burial Ground, Montreal.

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—As you are doubtless aware a good deal of newspaper currency has recently been given to the fact that that the City Corporation of Montreal had decided to convert the above old burial ground into a public square. Much indignation is naturally felt and expressed by those having relatives and friends buried there, and a meeting was called, having for its aim the preventing of the intended desecration of the place. At this meeting the entire case, dating from May, 1871, when the Corporation first moved in the matter, was fully gone into, and an elaborate opinion of Mr. Edward Carter, Q. C., was read to the effect, that that the action of the council was illegal. Steps were there taken to initiate a fund to defray the expenses of contesting the point in a court of law. The corporation having begun the opening of a road through the grounds, certain of those having lots there, have been compelled to remove the remains of their dead; one gentleman who sends me a printed slip of the proceedings of the meeting and the opinion of counsel having removed his to the Cataraqui Cemetery, near Kingston. As there may be directly interested parties in Ottawa permit me to state for their information that the printed copy of the proceedings, &c., including Mr. Carter's opinion, can be seen at the Book Store of Mr. Perry, at the Post Office, in this city, who has kindly given it a conspicuous place.

Yours truly,
S.

Ottawa, Sept 1, 1874

CITY AND VICINITY

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The Board of School Trustees meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the City Hall.

COMMUNION SERVICE.—The regular quarterly Communion Service of St. Andrew's Church will take place next Sabbath. The preparatory service will be held as usual to-morrow (Friday) evening at 7 o clock.

PRESBYTERY MEETING.—The Ottawa Presbytery in connection with the Church of Scotland, will meet in St. Andrew's Church, in this city on Tuesday evening next. Business of considerable importance has to be transacted. Among other items of work the new remit on Union will doubtless come up for consideration.

MILLS CLOSED.—The mills of Messrs. Hibbard and Dickson, of Arnprior, were closed on Saturday last, throwing a large number of men out of employment. This establishment, like many others in the Valley of the Ottawa, has its lumber yard stocked with stuff ready for sale, but owing to their being little or no demand in the market there is no exportation of lumber.

FIX THE APPROACHES.—A sum of money was voted some time ago by the City Corporation, and instruction given to the Board of Works to fix the approaches to the St. Patrick's street bridge; but no heed has apparently been given to the order. It is simply disgraceful that this work should be neglected especially when it is taken into consideration that it is the principal avenue to the last resting place of the dead.

RETURN OF HIS EXCELLENCY.—His Excellency the Governor General and suite will arrive home on Monday evening next. On the occasion of their return the Foot Guards will furnish a guard of honour, consisting of one field officer, one captain, two subalterns, four sergeants, four corporals, and one hundred men, all of whom will muster at the Armory at six o'clock and escort the Vice-Regal party to Rideau Hall. Both the brass and fife and drum bands will be in attendance.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon a man named Watson, employed in preparing the timber for the Hose Tower on the George Street Fire Station, cut himself severely with an adze which he was handling, inflicting a deep incised wound on the upper surface of the left foot. The blood flowed profusely for several minutes, but the application of a few stripes of adhesive plaster and a bandage sufficed to stop the hemmorhage. The man will not be incapacitated from attending to his daily avocations.

PERSONAL.—As will be seen by our despatch, from Toronto, the examination of first class teachers has been concluded. Three Ottawa men have succeeded in obtaining First Class, Grade A. Certificates. Mr. Smith Principal of the Central School East; Mr. Parlow, Principal of the Central School West and Mr. Munro, teacher in the Central School East. The first named gentleman heads the list having secured the large number of 2,064 points. We congratulate all of them on their success and the Board of Public School Trustees on having such a number of talented men in their employment

LACK OF DRAINAGE.—The east end of Theodore street is sadly in need of drainage. Typhoid fever of a malignant type rages in the locality and medical men attribute its prevalence to the want of sewerage. All spring and well on into the summer season the greater part of said street was regular frog pond. This is a disagreeable state of things and requires the immediate attention of the Board of Works and Board of Health. The drainage of the locality can be easily accomplished by making the gully at the east end of the street an outlet for the drain.

GOOD NEWS FOR FARMERS.—It would appear, that as far as reaping machines are concerned, the long looked for one has come at last. An American gentleman is at present exhibiting a labor saving machine throughout the country, which is guaranteed and capable of reaping, tying and binding its own sheaves, the latter being an announcement, which will no doubt astonish farmers. The machine will reap and tie 1½ acres per hour or 15 acres per day. The agent of the manufacturers has already given exhibitions at Bells Corner, Goulbourne, and other points throughout the County, and everywhere the greatest satisfaction has been expressed by the farmers. There are only about five machines of this particular make at present in operation on the continent.

RETURNED.—The citizens at large will be pleased to learn that Mr. E. J. O'Neill, Superintendent of the Dominion Police, accompanied by his wife, has returned to Ottawa, after an extended tour in Ireland, Mr. O'Neill's native land. He and Mrs. O'Neill came out by the 'Austrian' and are looking well after their trip to the "dear little spot." Mr. O'Neill arrived last night by the 7:20 train of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway, and brings with him a number of mementoes of the "ould sod," including, a quantity of native heather from the County of Wicklow, and some from different parts in Scotland. He has also specimens of holly and ivy, mistletoe and furze, &c He imports a black bird which has been taught to whistle "St. Patrick's Day," and an Irish lark which sings "Garryowen." Mr. O'Neill also brought with him a supply of the real "ould Irish thorn stick," but unfortunately they were stolen from him on board ship. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill will no doubt be rejoiced to know of their safe return to Ottawa.

FITTING TESTIMONIAL.—We observe from a late issue of the Belfast News Letter that the Rev Henry McMeekin, M. A., of this city, has been voted by the Board of Mission of the Irish Presbyterian Church, the full sum required for passages and outfit from Belfast to this country for himself and family. The Board at its previous meeting unanimously voted him a salary of £100 stg. per annum for four years as missionary, a grant quite unprecedented to missionaries coming out to Canada. This testimony to Mr. McMeekin's established reputation as a minister is enhanced by the fact that the above grants were made since his arrival here, he having come out in time to fulfil his appointment as delegate of the General Assembly to the American Presbyterian Church. At the written request of forty heads of families, he is at present preaching in Rochesterville, where the Presbyterians of that part of the city have resolved, by the help of the Ottawa Presbytery, to organize a Mission Station under its care.

OBITUARY.—Mr. Robert Mathews, of Sandy Hill, has again been sorely afflicted in the loss of an only daughter at the age of 18 years and a few months. About a week ago he was bereaved of his eldest son, a smart intelligent youth of nearly 17 years. Typhoid fever carried both to an early grave. His wife and only surviving son are also down with the disease, and there is no knowing what their fate may be. Mr. Mathews in his lamentable affliction has the sympathy of the entire neighborhood, throughout which the members of the family were highly respected. The demise of two members of the household has cast a gloom over the community. A large and respectable cortege followed the remains of the deceased daughter to Beechwood Cemetery yesterday. She was an amiable and accomplished young lady, and somewhat noted for beauty of person. At school she was the revered companion of her schoolmates, and in the domestic circle was the joy of her parents. It is to be hoped Providence may stay the hand of affliction from further loss, and that health may again be restored into the bosom of a once happy family.

THE BAND.—The Guards' Band played as usual on Parliament Square last night. A large number turned out to enjoy the pleasant promenade, which this open air concert as a rule affords every week.

NEW ROMAN CATHOLIC PALACE.—It is reported that the residence of the late Mr. Spragge on the Richmond Road, is about to be purchased as a palace for the Roman Catholic Bishop, about to be appointed for the Ottawa Diocese.

A RUMOUR.—It is rumoured that Mr. Patrick O'Meara will be appointed to the position of House-keeper in the Parliament Buildings, in the place of Mr. Skinner, deceased. If the report is true, the appointment will give general satisfaction.

FIRE IN OGDENSBURGH.—A fire broke out yesterday afternoon in a Planing Mill in the "Burg." The fire for some time assumed considerable proportions, but at the time our informant left, the fire was under control. It is not known what damage was done.

RETURNING HOME.—Those of our citizens who have been sojourning for some time at the seaside are fast returning home. Each train and steamer brings its complement of passengers. By Saturday nearly all will have returned from both the Seaside and Mineral Springs.

THE LATE JOSEPH MILLS.—The Unity Protestant Benefit Society attended the funeral of the late Joseph Mills in a body yesterday. The Chaudiere Fire Company, of which the deceased was a member for several years, also turned out in full strength. He was interred in the Hull Cemetery.

FOOT BALL MATCH.—The foot ball match between the Highlanders and Lowlanders will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock sharp on the grounds of the Ottawa Base Ball Club. There will be no admission to the grounds to witness this game, as it is a continuation of the sports which should have been concluded at the Scottish Gathering on the 15th of August last.

GONE TO THE SPRINGS.—Mr. Sowdon, City Engineer, having obtained three weeks leave of absence, starts this morning for the Caledonia Springs. He is to be accompanied by Mr. Fleck. They will doubtless have a good time, more especially as the crowd down there is thinning out. As both are men of considerable dimensions, the making of more room will be highly appreciated.

SAPEUR'S PIC-NIC.—The Sapeur's pic-nic took place yesterday and was a great success. The day was warm and the shady retreat afforded by Leduc's garden was greatly enjoyed. Marrier's brass and string bands were in attendance, and the dancing was kept up with spirit until a late hour, when the party separated well pleased with the festivities of the day. The Managers have reason to feel proud of the result attending their annual pic-nic

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—One of those engaged in the Russel House laundry passed a cat through the mangel yesterday. It was pretty well flattened out, but true to its feline propensity of tenacity of life, survived the operation. This cruel conduct may be justified on the plea of making a scientific experiment, but doubtless a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would look at it in a different light.

RIFLE MATCH.—The fourth annual prize meeting of the Rifle Association of the Ottawa Brigade of Garrison Artillery, will take place at the Rideau Rifle Range on Monday next, the 7th of September, and the two following days. Six hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded. There will be a Brigade Match, Association Match, All Comers' Match, Nursery Stakes, and Consolation Match. This meeting will no doubt be well attended, and being immediately previous to the Dominion Match, will be a good means of practice for intending competitors.

BUSH FIRES.—The fires in the bush rage without any signs of abatement. Yesterday the city was filled with dense volumes of smoke and ashes, which were very trying to the lungs of those subject to pulmonary complaints. There is every reason to believe that the fires are increasing in magnitude, and nothing but a heavy downfall of rain will check their devastating progress. The farmers in some sections of the country are completely worn out with watching and fighting the fires, and our reporter was informed last night, that one well-known gentleman, whose place of residence is only a few miles from the city, in the direction of the Montreal Road, had removed all his household effects to the city for safety.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Last evening, two dramas, more than ordinarily attractive, viz.: "Uncle Tom's Cabin and Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," with Miss Clara in the principal role were offered. The temperance drama was specially well played. The earnestness of Mary Morgan was admirably displayed, and the intense amount of pathos showed in her singing of a threadbare song "Father, Dear Father Come Home," made it appear a new song. Her Topsy was universally funny and her singing of the negro absurdities, incidental to the part, was received with shouts, in particular her banjo eccentricities. To-night is for the benefit of Harry Lindley, when a grand double bill is offered, viz.: "Colleen Bawn," with Miss Clara as the Colleen and Harry Lindley as Miles, a duett by Miss Clara and Harry Lindley, banjo solos, and a farce dramatic, pabulum enough for the most fastidious. This is the last opportunity our Ottawa public will have of witnessing Miss Clara. The company play in Aylmer to-morrow evening.

OVER-CROWDING STREET CARS.—For some time past the Street cars, particularly in the evening, have been during every trip filled to suffocation. There seems to be a lack of regulation as to how many or who shall ride in the cars. Persons just recovering from infectious diseases have been noticed in them, a fact that is a source of irritation and annoyance to the public. In most cities a conductor, in addition to the driver, is attached to the car; the introduction of which principle would prove a boom to this city. The greatest source of annoyance, however, is the overcrowding of the cars. In all cities any car is not allowed to take more passengers than can be accommodated, and this is right, as an exchange for the privilege afforded such chartered companies a reasonable accommodation should be insisted upon. The only remedy for this grievance in Ottawa would be the putting on of double the number of cars and the making more frequent trips,—a change warranted by the amount of business done by the Company. There is but little doubt that these suggested improvements would add to the prosperity of the enterprise, and at the same time confer an inestimable blessing on a suffering community.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. THE BROWN SCANDAL.

Proceedings in Court.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

TORONTO, Sept. 1.

COMMON PLEAS.

Present:—Chief Justice Hagarty, Mr. Justice Gwynne and Mr. Justice Galt.

The Queen v. Thompson et al—Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron, Q. C., with him Mr. J. D. Edgar, moved absolute a rule nisi for leave to file a criminal information against Messrs. Thompson & Smallpiece, editors and proprietors of The National newspaper. The rule was taken out on the following affidavit and three others proving publication of the libels:

I, George Brown, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, Esquire, make oath and say as follows:—1. I have read an article which was published in the National newspaper, in Toronto aforesaid, on the sixteenth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and seventy four, in the following language.—"When the Opposition Quartette open fire again on the Ontario Ministry respecting abuses which prevail in Government institutions, Rykert or Lauder should take the opportunity of enquiring whether it was ever intended that the Model Farm should become a refuge for George Brown's cast-off illicit connections. There is a boy there—a boy about fifteen years old—a tall, slim, lanky, obstinate, pig-headed youth, with very large feet and a noticeable Scotch accent, although he was born in Canada. He answers to the name of George, and never had a father—that is, not a legal father. He may have a moral, or rather an immoral, claim on the Globe proprietor, but he certainly has none on the country. It is too bad that institutions should be asylums for the illegitimate progeny of Brown and others of like proclivities."

2. I am the person referred to in said article as 'George Brown,' and as 'The Globe propritor,' and as 'Brown.'

3. The Model Farm referred to in said article is the Model Farm and Agricultural College of the Province of Ontario, established near the town of Guelph, in the said Province.

4. I say that the said article in the said National newspaper of the 16th day of, July last, and the statements, charges and imputations incontinence and immorality therein contained against me are utterly false, malicious, and without the slightest foundation in fact, and are intended to prejudice and injure me.

5. That Thomas Philips Thompson and Henry Edward Smallpiece are, and were on the said sixteenth day of July, A.D., 1874, proprietors and publishers of the said National newspaper, and the said article hereinbefore set out and referred to was printed and published by them, and is the same article which is contained in the said newspaper attached to the affidavit of Charles Lysander Roberts, filed on this application.

6 I further say that the statements in the said article contained, in reference to the said boy mentioned therein, charging that he may have a moral or rather an immoral claim on the Globe proprietor, (meaning thereby me, the said George Brown,) and that the said boy is my illegitimate progeny, is false, malicious, and utterly without any foundation in fact, is calculated to injure and prejudice me, and, in my belief, has been maliciously published by the said Thompson and Smallpiece with that intent and design.

(Signed,) GEO. BROWN.

Sworn, etc.

I, George Brown, of the city of Toronto, in the county of York, Esquire, make oath and say as follows:—

1. I have read an article which was published in the National newspaper in Toronto aforesaid, on the 6th day of August, inst., A.D. 1874, in the following language:—'On the 16th of July, three weeks since, we plainly stated that Mr Brown had, previous to his marriage, kept a mistress, and that a son, the illicit offspring of that connection, was then an inmate of the Model Farm near Guelph.'

2. I am the person referred to in said article as "Mr. Brown," and the "Model Farm near Guelph" referred to in said article is the Model Farm and Agricultural College of the Province of Ontario, established near the town of Guelph, in the said Province.

3. I say that the said article in the said National newspaper, and the statements, charges, and imputations of incontinence and immorality therein contained against me are utterly false, malicious, and without the slightest foundation in fact, and are intended to prejudice and injure me.

4. That Thomas Philips Thompson and Henry Edward Smallpiece are, and were on the said 6th day of the present month of August, proprietors and publishers of the said National newspaper, and the said article hereinbefore set out and referred to was printed and published by them, and is the same article which is contained in the said newspaper attached to the affidavit of Alfred Houel, filed on this application.

I further say that the statement in the said article contained that I had previous to my marriage kept a mistress, and that a son, the illicit offspring of that connection, was then an inmate of the Model Farm, near Guelph, is false and malicious, and utterly without any foundation in fact, is calculated to injure and prejudice me, and in my belief has been maliciously published by the said Thompson and Smallpiece with that intent and design.

(Signed), GEO. BROWN.

Sworn, etc.

I, George Brown, of the city of Toronto, in the County of York, Esquire, make oath and say as follows;—

1. I have read an article which was published in the National newspaper in Toronto aforesaid, on the 20th day of the month of August inst., A.D. 1874, in the following words.—"Three thousand dollars was the figure paid by the Hon. George Brown as 'hush money' to the friends of the girl he seduced in Bothwell in order to have the thing kept quiet, and all in vain, for after a long career of disgraceful rascality and hypocrisy this sanctimonious scoundrel stands at length unmasked."

2. I am the person referred to in said article as "the Hon. George Brown" and Bothwell therein referred to is a town of that name in the Province of Ontario.

3 I say that the said article in the said National newspaper, and the statements, charges, and imputations of incontinence and immorality therein contained against me, as well as the charge that I paid a sum of money for the purpose therein stated, are and each of them, is utterly false, malicious, and without the slighest foundation in fact, and are intended to prejudice and injure me.

4. Thomas Phillips Thompson and Henry Edward Smallpiece are and were on the said 20th day of the month of August, inst., A D. 1874 proprietors and publishers of the said National newspaper, and the said article hereinbefore set out and referred to was printed and published by them, and is the same article which is contained in the said newspaper attached to the affidavit of Trevelyan Ridout, filed on this application.

5. I further say that the statement in the said article contained, that I paid $3,000 to the friends of the girl I am alleged to have seduced in Bothwell, in order to have the thing kept quiet, is false and malicious in every particular, is utterly without any foundation in fact, is calculated to injure and prejudice me, and, in my belief, has been maliciously published by the said Thompson and Smallpiece with that intent and design.

(Signed,) GEO. BROWN.

Sworn, etc.

Mr. M. C. Cameron, Q. C., with Mr. Harrison, Q. C., showed cause.

Mr. M. C. Cameron said if this George Brown was the prominent politician, he was surprised to find him seeking redress in this way and instituting a charge against any one for a libel.

The Chief Justice—Do you mean that the status of a man has anything to do with it?

Mr. Cameron replied that he did think so.

Chief Justice—Have you read the case of Norwood vs. Plimsoll, which was published some months ago?

Mr. Cameron replied that he had not, and resumed by reading the second affidavit of Mr. Brown given above, and which he (Mr. C.) pointed out had not the newspaper attached containing the matter complained of, the newspaper in question having been attached to the affidavit of Mr. Houel, who proved the publication. There was however, no sufficient reference in the affidavit of Mr. Brown to the newspaper, and this was material, as he must in terms contradict the statements in it. Mr. Brown's affidavit only referred to the paper attached to Houel's affidavit 'filed on this application.' It was sworn on the 22nd, and the application was not made till the 24th, therefore it could not be filed on the application, and the newspaper could not be referred to. There was not material sufficient to sustain the application for this criminal information. He cited the case of the Queen v. Baldwin, 8 Ad. & E. 168, where a rule nisi was obtained against the Mayor of Litchfield in a similar action, but then there was evidence given of the printing of the paper. There is evidence of a paper published by Thompson and Smallpiece, but nothing to connect that issue with the libel

Gwynne, J.—Suppose you leave out the word 'filed?'

Mr. M. C. Cameron replied, then there would be no evidence to connect the paper with Mr. Brown.

Chief Justice—'Filed on this application' must mean, 'which I am going to use on the application.'

Mr. M. C. Cameron said he supposed the gentleman who drew up the affidavit meant that, but he did not say so.

Chief Justice—The objection does not commend itself to my reason; but if there is authority for your contention, I must follow it.

Mr. J. H. Cameron observed that in the case cited the word publication was omitted. In Cole on Libel it is so stated.

Mr. M. C. Cameron, speaking to the question of publication, cited the Queen v. Woolmer, 12 Ad. and E., 422, and continued in regard to Houel's affidavit, which he read. It was essential that the affidavit which complains of libel should be identified. Mr. Brown in his affidavit does not identify it, he does not refer to it by date. It might be that the affidavit of Houel was not made when Mr. Brown's was, though it bears date the same day. C. L Roberts only speaks of his having a 'copy' of the paper,—'the annexed copy of the National' There was no such thing as a copy of the newspaper. Mr. Brown refers to other affidavits, in the same way referring to the paper attached to these affidavits. Now, he understood it was an accepted rule that the Court would not interfere in this way unless where the libel would work very considerable mischief.

Galt J., said an information had been granted in cases of less pronounced character than this.

Mr. M. C. Cameron proceeded to say that oddly enough one of these Nationals contained a letter from Mr. Brown denying the truth of the statements comprising the alleged libel, and which letter contained the phrase that these had appeared in an "obscure" paper, which was itself libelious, as damaging to the parties in characterising their paper as 'obscure.' But the National had given this denial over Mr. Brown's own signature. He observed that Mr. Brown had often complained that redress by criminal information should be sought by parties seeking relief from libellous communications.

Mr. Harrison, Q. C., followed, and remarked that modern practice did not favour this sort of action. There were other methods of the persons purging themselves of disgrace besides this, and if the court in cases of private persons granted this remedy, he did not know where it might end. There was no reason for the continuance of such a practice. He had found an English case in which it was laid down that this style of action should not be allowed, unless where the dignity of the person claiming it was somewhat conspicuous. He submitted there was no such claim here, as they knew nothing of Mr. Brown, except that he was the publisher of a newspaper. And it would be observed from the affidavits of the defendants that even in this regard he was not the sort of person to ask for such redress.

The Chief Justice remarked that they would dispose of the question without regard to person, either of the counsel or the parties.

Mr. Harrison concurred in this view. The cases cited by Mr. Cameron had been followed in Queen v. Strange, L. R., 6 C.P. 352. The affidavit of Thompson & Smallpiece showed that the statement was made in good faith and in the interests of the public. Mr. H. here read the following affidavit:—

Thomas Phillip Thompson and Henry Edward Smallpiece, both of the city of Toronto, in the county of York, printers, make affidavit and say:—

1. We are the persons named in a rule nisi granted by this Honourable Court on the 24th day of August, inst, calling upon us to show cause why an information should not be instituted against us for printing and publishing certain alleged libels upon George Brown in the said rule named.

2. We say that we received information of the matters, stated in the said alleged libels, from persons whom we believed at the time, and still believe, to be reliable and trustworthy, and had no personal knowledge of the said matters.

"3. That the Toronto Globe newspaper, which is controlled by the said George Brown, for some time before and during the times at which the alleged libels were published, published a number of articles violently attacking the private and moral character of one Dr. J. H. Sangster, a candidate for a public office, and articles upon that subject were continually appearing in the said newspaper.

4. The said George Brown is an active politician, and uses the paper he controls to attack the personal and private character of persons politically opposed to him, and having attacked the said Dr. Sangster on a subject akin to the matter alleged to be libellous, and, believing the truth of the statements made to us, we made use of the information so given to us with a view of counteracting the attacks made in the said newspaper upon the said Sangster.

"5. We say that we published the information given to us aforesaid without the least malice and verily believing it to be true, and we still belive it to be substantially true.

"Sworn 31st August, 1874."

Mr. Harrison repeated that it seemed that they believed the information they received to be true and that its publication was in good faith.

The Chief Justice asked how far Mr. Harrison would press the argument of belief, and referred to Lord Wilton's case, where belief was not allowed to excuse the publisher.

Mr. Harrison said that the cases seemed to establish that a criminal information would not be granted unless the parties had been actuated by malice; that the oath of the defendants that they were not actuated by malice was enough, and that an apology even was not required, and the complainant should be left to the usual remedy. He cited exparte Smith, 21 L. J., N. S. 294; Q. B. Cole on Libel, 60, 61, 63. The defendants acted in a supposed right and in the public interest.

Galt, J., said that there was no public interest at stake here.

Mr. Harrison said these defendants, having a public organ, had a right to publish what they supposed was in the public interest.

Galt, J., asked if they had a right to publish a pack of lies, and then shield themselves by saying it was in the public interest?

Mr. Harrison was speaking of the purpose evidently in view of the National of defending Sangster, when he was interrupted by the Court, saying the articles had no reference to Sangster. Mr. Harrison cited Rex. v. Parkinson, 3 B. and Al. 66. If the Globe might be referred to the Court could see the bearing of the reference to Dr. Sangster.

The Court said they had no more to do with Sangster in this case than with the Mikado of Japan.

Judge Gwynne said the argument seemed to be because B. slanders Dr. S., you, as friends of Dr. S. may slander B.

Mr. Harrison said he did not intend to claim a set off. He referred to Kelly v. Sherlock, L. R., I Q B, 686, 693. The remedy ought only to be allowed in extraordinary cases.

The Chief Justice said he was of opinion that in modern times it was more like an ordinary motion than an extraordinary one. Many years ago informations were odious through the abuse of them by the Government. It was different now.

Mr. J. H. Cameron, Q.C., said he did not expect his learned friends to take all the technical objections they had taken. He referred to the nature of the statements in the printed libel, and observed that these charges were not of a general but of a specific character, without which there should not be the slightest doubt when put in publication. Mr. Brown had positively sworn and denied the specific charges. He had no desire to read them, but they were of such a character as no one in Mr. Brown's position would allow to remain without denial. It had even been made a matter of rejoicing by the parties who preferred them. The libels were of a character that no one in Mr. Brown's position would like to have made of him. As to the objection that the paper was not identified, Mr. Brown swears that the paper was published by Thompson & Smallpiece. He refers to the affidavits of Roberts and Houel. It was not only hypercritical but super-hypercritical, to advance the arguments that it had been offered on this point. The papers were drawn up in accordance with the rules laid down in the works of practice, such as Cole, &c. At the request of the Court, Mr. Cameron here read the third libel. Hardly any more atrocious libel could be conceived against a man in his domestic relations Mr. M. C. Cameron said that this remedy was not used against private individuals, but Norwood vs Plimsoll was an authority to the contrary. It has in fact been pointed out as the proper remedy for the last 25 years in the case of newspaper libels This has not been controverted by any judge, but has been sustained It is a remedy in the discretion of the Court and we require it here. There is nothing in the objections taken in the affidavit in reply to prevent its issue. Only two cases of those cited bear on the application, and they are mentioned in Cole p. 55. In the Queen vs. Baldwin, publication was not shown. But the new law of libel passed last session put the defendants even in a worse position. They are in the position of pleading, and they cannot give evidence of justification unless they plead that the publication was for the the public good. Now, too, prima facie evidence of publication is sufficient. But we have not rested there. In the affidavit in answer they make a case of set-off of Dr. Sangster. They don't say that it is for the public good that Mr. Brown should be attacked.

Chief Justice Hagarty said the argument about Dr. Sangster could not be seriously entertained.

Mr. Cameron continued. Mr. Brown has been foully slandered, and they do not give us the name of the person who gave the information, nor the nature of their evidence to support the charges. They leave us with the slander charged against us, and not only that, but they continue their libellous course after the rule nisi has been issued. I put in an affidavit with a copy of the National attached, showing this. They say in this libel they are prepared to prove the charges. There should be no hesitation in granting the rule. Mr. Brown has specifically denied the charges Where they were so specific the name could easily be given; instead of doing this, instead of apology or regret, they reiterate their charge. Instead of throwing themselves on the Court and our own position, they tell us we libelled some one else. There never was a case in which a Court was called on more fairly to grant the remedy sought.

Mr. M. C. Cameron took an objection that the rule nisi was drawn up on the application of Mr. J. H. Cameron as of counsel for the Crown, and it should be for Mr. Brown.

Chief Justice Hagarty said they would amend that.

Mr. M. C. Cameron objected strenuously, but the amendment was allowed,

The Court reserved judgment.

DIED

Immigration—Stabbing Case—A Good Bint—Regatta—Examinations.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.

During the past month there arrived in the city 1,015 immigrants; of this number 255 went through to the States.

Rev. Horrocks Cocks still lies in a very precarious condition, at the Walker Hotel, from the result of internal injuries received in a fall down stairs.

Last night a quarrel occurred between some men on board the Hamilton yacht, Wanderer. Capt. Steinson, of the yacht Brunnette, interfered to see what the matter was, when a man named Wm. Hamilton stabbed him in the forehead with a knife. The man was arrested and taken to No. 1 station.

In the course of the Governor General's speech at the Rifle Association luncheon yesterday, he threw out a suggestion that in future the Wimbledon team should be composed of the best shots in the Dominion, no matter from what Province, and not as at present, a certain number of best shots from each Province. The Globe commenting on this says the idea is good, and should also hold for the selection of Cabinet Ministers, who should be the best men to govern the country, irrespective of what Province they come from.

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club Regatta was fairly successful yesterday, but creates very little general interest. The club had earned itself the reputation of being the resort of 'snobs,' and the people do not care for its sport. Prince of Wales cup won by Oriole in 4h. 37min 8sec., and Brunette, of Hamilton, came in second, winning the Governor General's medal, in 4h. 9min. 55sec. Course 22 miles. Two more races take place to-day.

The examination of the papers of first class teachers has been concluded. The result is as follows:—1st Class Grade A., Messrs Smirl, Carson, Fletcher, Parlow, Orr and Munro. 1st B., Messrs. McArdle, Letch, Gordon and Barnes. 1st C., Messrs. Hobson, Hammill, Cook and Clark.

The minimum for 1st A. were 1,837 points, for 1st B. 1,601 points, for 1st C. 1,365 points.

Mr Smirl, of Ottawa, who stands highest on the list passed a good examination having attained 2,064 points.

Young Delinquents.

RENFREW, Sept 2

Wm. Campbell, Jas. Campbell, Michael James Roddy, Peter Roddy, and Alexander McIntosh, boys from fourteen to eighteen years of age, sons of farmers, living near the line of the Canada Central Railway Company's line, between Sand Point and Renfrew, were charged at the Town Hall, Renfrew, before William Jameson and John Smith on Monday, August 31st, with throwing stones at the cars of the Company on Saturday night, the 29th August, by which a window was broken, to the great dismay of the passengers. After hearing the evidence four of the prisoners were discharged, and the other, Alex McIntosh, was committed for trial. He will be admitted to bail this afternoon.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Telegraphic Changes.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Government Telegraph authorities have agreed to lease a wire to direct the Cable Company for the transmission of business to the cable terminus, with the privilege of operating it by the Company's lines.

SPAIN

Another Carlist Repulse.

MADRID, Sept. 2.—Additional attacks have been made upon Puycerdo by the Carlists who were repulsed with great loss.

UNITED STATES.

Fire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—A fire this morning at No. 196 Church Street, occupied by Rosenberg & Meyer, woollen stock merchants, damaged $6,000 worth of stock; J. M. Marchell, loss $4 000; Hass' stock damaged by water, $3,000 worth.

Steamship Arrivals.

The steamships 'Hammonia' from Hamburg and 'Columbus,' from Havana, have arrived.

An Explanation.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1—Despatches received by State Senator Twitchell, brother of one of the persons killed in Conchatta State, explicitly say that the only cause of the occurrence was the White League movement to run out of the State or kill white Republican leaders. In the Parish of Red River, which by the returns from the event were loyally Republican at the last election.

The Perils of the Deep.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 2—Captain Sumner of the steamship 'Indiana,' reports speaking the English ship 'White Rose,' from Quebec, for Liverpool, lumber laden, on the 25th ult., in lat. 46 25 N., long. 45 45 W. She was partially dismantled, having lost her fore and main topmast and jibboom in a squall on the previous night, killing two men. The 'Indiana' supplied her with provisions. Portions of the crew wanted to be taken off, and were in a mutinous state. The ship was in good trim when last seen.

Massacre by Indians.

TOPEKA, Kansas, Sept. 1.—A party of six surgeons from Lawrence, Kansas, were massacred by Indians on Wednesday last near Lone Tree, forty miles south west of Fort Dodge.

The Grain Trade New—Organization.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—It is reported that a large combination of bankers, grain dealers, railway men, has recently been formed for the transportation of grain from the west and for protecting the sales of wheat in London on commission. The main offices of the company is to be in New York with branches in Chicago, St. Louis and other western cities.

The Coming Elections.

RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 2—The returns indicate that there will be but a slight falling off from the Republican majorities of 1872, out of the State ticket.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Naval Intelligence.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The United States man-of-war 'Franklin' has sailed from Spezzia for Nice.

Resignation.

The Marquis of Ripon has resigned the position of Grand Master of the Order of Free Masons, and will be succeeded ad interim by the Prince of Wales.

Exodus of Mormons.

The S. S. 'Wyoming,' which sailed to-day from Liverpool for N. Y., took out 400 Mormons, half of whom are from the British Isles.

ITALY.

Volcanic Eruption.

SYRACUSE, Sicily, Sept. 2.—The eruption of Etna shows no signs of abatement. The habitants are fleeing from the villages at the foot of the mountain, but it is thought no harm will be done as the direction taken by the Lava streams is remote from the cultivated parts of the mountain.

FRANCE.

Released.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The Civil Guards over Bazaine who were arrested at St. Marguerite on a charge of conniving at his escape, have been released.

BELGIUM.

Fatal Coal Mine Explosion.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 2.—An explosion occurred in a coal mine at Dour to-day. It is feared that few of the miners, who were at work at the time can be saved.

GERMANY.

The Anniversary of the Surrender of Sedan.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—To-day was observed throughout Germany as a holiday, being the anniversary of the surrender of Sedan. The Emperor William received the Guards in the evening. His Majesty will give a banquet at which the Prince of Wales, the Ambassadors and other dignitaries will be present. The day was celebrated with great enthusiasm everywhere.

UNITED STATES.

White League Outrages.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A Times special from New Orleans represents the killing of Deputy Postmaster Twitchell, U. S. Commissioner Howell, Supervisor of Registration Derves, Sheriff Edgerton, Justice Willis, and Supervisor Howard of Red River parish, Louisiana, as a cold blooded and treacherous murder committed by a band of White Leagues. It publishes a despatch from Governor Kellogg to Attorney General Williams, of which the following is the material portion: The parish officers and others who surrendered to the White League were being taken to Shreveport by a number of white men. While en route they were shot in cold blood. There were six white Republicans, all but two northern men and several coloured men murdered in this affair. Predatory bands of armed men are scouring several of the Republican parishes in that portion of the state, driving out the Republicans and intimidating the coloured men.

Gov. Dix's Decision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Governor Dix it is said will render his decision in Mayor Havemeyer's case, declining to remove him from office, though perhaps censuring some of his official acts.

Obit.

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 2.—Brevet Major General John G. Foster, of the United States army, died here this morning. The funeral will take place on Saturday with military honors.

Tonnage Dues.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The Attorney General has rendered a decision that the revised statements do not materially change the rule existing previous to their passage relating to the collection of tonnage tax on American and foreign vessels in parts of the the United States. He is of the opinion that the law requires the payment of the tax once within one year by every vessel entering from any foreign part; vessels from or to Mexico, the Sandwich Island, the Society Islands, British Provinces, North America, &c, which heretofore paid tax under different ruling, are embraced in the rule as above stated.

The Turf.

BOSTON, Sept 2—At Mystic Park races to-day a special purse of $2 500 was offered to 'Goldsmith Maid' to beat her own record of 2:14¼ she to have three trials. The 'Maid' appeared between the heats of the second race and made the first heat in 2:19½ going easily all the way around, accompanied by a runner attached to a buggy, and driven by James Golden. The second trial was made under most favorable auspices. The track had been scraped close into the poll; there was absolutely no wind. Budd nodded forward the first time he came down. The 'Maid' trotted the first quarter in 33½, and the half mile in 1:06½, lifting her head once just before she reached there. The last half mile was trotted without the least show of break, and she made her best recorded time in 2:14, amid the cheers of the assembled thousands.

Cabinet News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The only Cabinet officers now in Washington are Secretaries Fish and Bristow, and Postmaster-General Jewell. Secretary Belknap is expected to return to-morrow. Mr. Fish has not been absent more than a week altogether during the summer.

War Regulations.

The Secretary of War has directed that hereafter no officer of the army be detailed at a College or University, under section 26 of the Act, July 8th, 1866, for a longer period than three years, and that the limit thus fixed be applied to officers detailed as will be relieved at the expiration of three years from the date of detail.

Gold Coinage.

The gold coinage at San Fransisco during the month of August amounted $4,120,000, and silver to $191,000 in trade dollars and $9 000 in susidiary silver coin. The coinage for the corresponding month of 1873 was about $2 000,000 in gold and $1,110,000 in trade dollars.

The Drought.

The Collector of Customs, at Epaso, Texas, in a letter to the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, dated Aug. 18th, says:—We have not had a drop of rain in this vicinity for 365 days. Everything is scorching hot and burning up. Many of the cattle have died of starvation.

Suspected Murderer Arrested.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A detective has arrested Lowbesta Pasfalli, an Italian, suspected of being implicated in the murder of Lorini. Immediately after, the murderer, Pasfalli left his lodgings in Brooklyn for Elmira.

Base Ball.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2—The tenth and last game far the championship between the Chicago and Baltimore Clubs, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of five to one.

Steamship Arrival.

NEW YORK, Sept 2—Arrived steamship 'Teutonia' from Hamburg.

An Explanation.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 2.—At a meeting of the Board of Trade of Columbia held this evening, resolutions were passed denouncing the attempt of certain parties, and particularly of John J. Patterson, to create a false impression as to the relations which exist between the whites and colored people of this state. They declare emphatically that there are no signs of any danger of collision between them; that these reports and attempts are disastrous to the prosperity of the people, and that whatever appearance of trouble may have existed, was due and directly traceable to the colored men acting on the advice and suggestion of bad white men. They ask the material authorities to cause an investigation to be made at Washington

POLICE COURT.—There were seven cases for hearing yesterday morning. One individual arrested for being drunk was set at liberty. Two men named Brownlee charged with disorderly conduct, were fined $5 and costs. Joseph Demers for disorderly conduct on the public streets on Sunday, was fined $2 and costs. Several unimportant cases were remanded. A saloon keeper was fined $20 and costs for selling liquor in prohibited hours. Another case of a similar nature was remanded. Mr. T. Rajotte was charged with erecting a wooden building on Wellington street. The case was put off until to-day to allow the defendent to comply with the city By-law. The alleged New Edinburgh burglars, Green and Riley, were remanded until Saturday morning.

The Gift Concert of the Masonic Relief Association of Norfolk, Postponed.

Our readers will see from an advertisement in another column that the Grand Gift Concert, which was to have been given by the Masonic Relief Association of Norfolk, Va., on the 3rd of September, has been postponed until Thursday, the 19th of November.

As the Directors remark in their card, there are many persons who desire and intend to invest in this enterprise, but have been deterred from so doing by the belief that a postponement would take place, and they were unwilling to purchase tickets until they felt assured that a day had been fixed when the drawing would positively take place. In consequence of this impression, the sale of tickets—while largely in excess of the number sold previous to the postponement of the first Gift Concert given by the Association—has not been to such an extent as to enable the Directors to make a satisfactory distribution of prizes or to accomplish the object of the Concert proposed to be given. It is therefore the interest of all concerned that the drawing be referred until the day designated in the announcement; and we doubt not that the action of the Directors will meet with the hearty approval of their patrons and that the result will prove satisfactory to them

THE LAST GRAND GIFT CONCERT IN AID OF THE MASONIC RELIEF ASSOCIATION OF NORFOLK POSTPONED.—TO THE PUBLIC.

In selecting the 3d day of September as the date upon which to have their last Gift Concert, the Directors of the Masonic Relief Association were influenced by the belief that there would be a sufficient length of time between the publication of the scheme and the above mentioned date to enable them to dispose of such a number of tickets as to ensure a full drawing and an avoidance of scaling the prizes. While the enterprise has been liberally patronized by a large number of purchasers of tickets in every section of the United States and the British Provinces, yet the impression seems to have prevailed with many who were willing to aid in the work of completing the Masonic Temple in this city, by investing in this scheme, that the Concert would be postponed, and as a consequence they have declined to purchase tickets until an announcement should be made that a day had been fixed upon when the drawing would positively take place. The Directors, being assured that their patrons will be satisfied with the reasons actuating them in making a postponement, have selected

THURSDAY, THE 19TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, as the time to hold their Second Grand Gift Concert and Drawing, and they hope that orders for tickets will be sent immediately by all who desire to obtain one or more of the valuable Cash Prizes which they offer. The public may be confident that the same fairness and honesty which characterized their first drawing will be observed in this.

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B, July 22, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant.

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pustules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatoro Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 18th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds. I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

BERMINGHAM'S

Real Estate Bulletin

FOR AUGUST, 1874.

READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1470 per annum, which can be in-creased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by
J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $600 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by
J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 27, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by
J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $ 2 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by
J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 48 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 34 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbrod streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by
J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if [illegible] the buyer can have that [illegible] alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by
J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by
J. BERMINGHAM

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 28 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa. Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by
J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth O. F., nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa, front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to
J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by
J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by
J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by
J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

CANADA STILL AHEAD

Mr. John Rochester, M.P., said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbugs, but a neighbor who had tried Dannell's and the Canadian Washer, advised me strongly to a trial of the Canadian, which he had found to be the best, that I took one and that it was in reality a good machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer."

Price $3.00 each and for sale by A. R. GILES, corner Nicholas and Theodore streets.

June 11th. 2614.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS.

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully reserved.

For full particulars, obtain free, of the agent a pamphlet, or refer to advertisement.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills return mail.

PULMONARY DISEASE.—HARBOR GRACE NEWFOUNDLAND, Dec. 9th, 1871.—JAMES L. FELLOWS, Esq.—Dear Sir: We are receiving orders almost daily from the outports for for your invaluable Syrup of Hypophosites, and the sale is steadily increasing. I do believe it has done more good than any medicine yet discovered in the cure of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and kindred diseases. It is the only medicine we have which cures these diseases by strengthening the nervous system; and as it is also what we call a sound chemical preparation, I predict for it a more extended demand than any other remedy in existence. Yours, very truly, W. H. THOMPSON. 2618

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ordnance Lands Sale,

TORONTO.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on TUESDAY the 8th day of September next, at Noon, will be sold at Toronto, by Mr. Orin Wardell, Auctioneer, the annual Leases of the Reserves on Lake Erie, at Pointe Pelée, containing about 4,200 acres, Rondeau, containing about 500 acres, and Turkey Point, containing about 592 acres, respectively, to be employed for the purpose of shooting and fishing, for the proper preservation of the game and the protection of the timber thereon.

These Leases to endure for a term of 21 years each, with power to the Department to resume possession, at any time, on giving one month's notice.

On condition, that the just rights of all squatters and Indians shall be respected, and reserving—"all rights of fishery, or use and occupation of the shores in connection therewith, under authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries."

The rent to be paid to this Department, semi-annually in advance, and good and sufficient security to be tendered, at the sale, for payment. If insufficient, the sale to be renewed at the time and place of sale.

Further conditions, if considered necessary, will be declared at the time of sale.

Lessees to accept boundaries and quantities as shown on the Ordnance plans.

By Order,
E. A. MEREDITH,
Deputy of the Minister of The Interior.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Senior Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS,

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, LL.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

POSTPONEMENT.

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management.

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength,—Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are put forth as possessing the rare and proper ties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either superstitious compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the label on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturers, Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was favored with Bitter Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

WATCH AND CLOCK MAKER, GOLDSMITH, SILVERSMITH, AND ARTISTIC METAL WORKER.

Prize Medalist of the London, Dublin and Paris Exhibitions.

Maker to the Chronograph, by which the Derby and all other Races and great events of the day are timed.

Manufactory and City House—58 and 60 Ludgate Hill.

West End Establishment—25 Old Bond Street, and 99 Westbourne Grove, London.

MERCHANTS, SHIPPERS and WHOLESALE BUYERS are specially invited, before sending their orders elsewhere, to obtain from the manufactory the Illustrated Catalogue of Watches, Clocks, Chains, Jewellery and Electro-plate, which are sent post free, as not only are the discounts liberal, but a selection can be made from the largest stock in the world.

Orders can be sent direct to the Steam Factory, Ludgate Hill, or through merchants or agents in England.

WATCHES
Of all kinds, from 2 to 200 Guineas.
Lever, Vertical, Horizontal, Duplex, Chronometer, Chronograph, Keyless, Centre Seconds Repeaters, Indian, &c.

CLOCKS
Of all kinds, from 1 to 1000 Gns.
Church, Turret, Carriage, Chime, Dining and Drawing room, Hall, Shop, Library, &c.

English Ormolu Clocks, designed by English artists, and manufactured by J. W. Benson, exceed in beauty those manufactured abroad. They can only be obtained at the establishment.

FINE ART BRONZES AND CLOCK ORNAMENTS, of the newest designs from Continental makers of the highest reputation, at moderate prices.

Artistic Gold Jewellery, of the richest and most exquisite designs, with Monograms, Crests and Devices, Enamelled in Colours, after designs by the most accomplished artists in the precious Metals, Brooches, Bracelets, Necklets, Lockets, Rings, and all kinds of Jewellery as worn by members of the Court, and other distinguished personages.

Presentation Plate.—Testimonials of all sorts, Racing Cups, and Jewelled and other Boxes, as provided by Mr. Benson for the Corporation of London and other public bodies to enclose documents conveying the Freedom of the City to the Prince of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh, &c., &c.

Silver and Electro-plate in the most recent fashions, and of the most durable make. In Electro-plate it is necessary to secure solid materials and a sufficient coating of silver to resist daily wear and tear satisfactorily. Benson's is really cheap at any price, not worth buying.

Watches and Clocks repaired by skilled workmen. Old Silver, Jewellery, Watches, &c. exchanged. Merchants, Shippers and Clubs supplied.

Watches, Clocks, Jewellery and Plate sent to all parts of the world.

Theodore Tilton—His Career.

A sketch of Mr. Tilton's life appears in the Brooklyn Union. Dr. McDonald, the Medical Superintendent of the Insane Asylum at Flatbush, had mentioned to a reporter the fact that Mr. Tilton's brother had died in that institution several years ago. This led to enquiries of one who had known Mr. Tilton from boyhood and the following story, in which the insanity of the brother is fully corroborated, was told:—

"Theodore Tilton was born forty-two years ago in Greenwich-street, New York. His father was engaged in the shoe trade, and had the respect of a large connection. Father and mother were known as ardent Baptists; most strict in all the observances of their Church. Reared in such tutilage it was no wonder that Theodore Tilton started out early in life with a highly spiritualised nature, strongly pronounced opinions on church matters, and a desire to identify himself with what were known at the time as the growing reforms of the age, a desire which grew out of a disposition which, though dogmatic enough, had a tendency to be more plainly, to become visionary—a curious complication which, when added to a strong animal and a great force of will, made up an individual who in the ordinary course of events, was bound to startle society some day or other. Such was young Tilton when the Free Academy of New York found him entered on its roll book as a student. Here he could confessedly have taken any quantity of medals and prizes, but he had scarcely left his father's house when his strange eccentric nature began to show itself and foreshadow a stormy career when the school boy had ended. His convictions were opposed to the competitive system in the school—'it engendered petty jealousies and bickerings,' which were unworthy of the high and mighty coming men; he wouldn't run for a prize and though facile princeps in his class he never had a medal. He remained at the Free College but a comparatively short time, in which he received all the education he ever got, and tossed himself out into the world with nothing to back him, and true to his instincts, into the most stormy whirlpool of life's sea—a newspaper office. But before leaving school he had made two friendships which exercised a wonderful influence on his after life. There were two boys in the same class with Tilton at the Free College with whom he was more intimate and more in sympathy than with all the others, from whom he rather stood aloof. One of these boys was a russett-haired, good natured, robust little fellow, whose appearance was in strong contrast to his dreamy looking classmate, who was accustomed with true school boy 'bumptiousness' to write out high sounding name in full—Francis De Pau Moulton. The other was a boy named 'Joe' Richards, who lived with his widowed mother in a cottage on Livingston street, Brooklyn owned by Judge Morse, where she received select boarders. Young Tilton had often crossed over the ferry to Brooklyn with 'Joe' Richards in the old schoolboy days and had been introduced to his mother and a bright-eyed little sister, Elizabeth, just about Tilton's own age, and just as inclined to be ideal as himself.

"When the school door of the Academy closed behind Tilton he saw in journalism the only field for a full expression of his pronounced opinions to any kind of an audience, and he found his way to the Observer office, where he was accepted for anything he could. He soon discovered means to show a brilliant imagination, wrote acceptable poetry, and was ready with pen and tongue, and everybody round the office said Theodore Tilton would one day make his mark. Meantime he had found work to do as an occasional reporter and everything went well with the young journalist. He had mastered the mysteries of stenography, and by and by came to be considered one of the best shorthand writers around the newspaper office, where he had many friends and still more admirers. The visits to the cottage at Livingston street continued. A warm affection gradually grew up between the young journalist and Elizabeth. Tilton had identified himself with Plymouth Church and Elizabeth had attended the Sunday School regularly. When Tilton was twenty years of age he asked her to unite her fortunes with his, and he got the expected answer. 'Yes, that they would journey through the ups and downs of life together.'

"Theodore had a warm friend, a reporter, and he asked Maverick to 'stand up with him.' The marriage took place in a short time after Elizabeth's consent was obtained, and they started out blithely to house-keeping, bound up in each other for all time to come as young couples will until the world ends. Mrs. Richard's, Elizabeth's mother, had married Judge Morse, and for a time the families lived separately. But one year after the young people had plighted their troth there came about an unpleasant disagreement in the Observer office on the Slavery question, which unfortunately led to Theodore Tilton's dismissal from the establishment. He was afloat in the world with a young wife on his hands, and no adequate means to support her just then. Tilton had become the Superintendent of the Sunday School of Plymouth Church, and in his welfare and that of his young wife both pastor and people took a decided interest. In the year 1855, the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher used his influence to have Tilton employed on the staff of the Independent of which paper Mr. Beecher was then editor.

"Then began a controversy between Mr. Beecher and Mr. Tilton, which attracted general attention to the latter. Mr. Tilton took the ground that as a consistent Anti Slavery man Mr. Beecher could not support the American Board. Mr. Beecher defended his position, and Mr. Tilton assailed it before crowded audiences, who were attracted by discussion. Mr. Beecher was tender and conciliatory. Mr. Tilton was fierce, almost denunciatory. One of the latter's speeches was reported in the Independent, and from that moment he became one of the most anti-slavery orators of the day, and a favorite speaker at all public meetings. It brought him into the lecturing business, in which he achieved for a time a marked success. At this time the Rev. Dr. Ormiston of Canada, writing to Theodore Tilton, said that he once saw him on a visit to this country in Plymouth Church, and though he was then a mere stripling, he spoke in answer to Mr. Beecher with an eloquence and fire and depth of thought that was actually electrifying. The Dr. never had heard anything like it in all his life before. Theodore Tilton has in his possession letters written by Mr. Beecher to him on lecture tours in the West at that time, in which he addresses him as the 'God-given,' from his name Theodore, which is made up of two Greek words, signifying 'God and gift.' When Mr. Beecher went to Europe, Mr. Tilton was left in charge of the Independent. On the withdrawal of Mr. Beecher from the editorship of the paper, without any formal introduction, Mr. Tilton was continued in the position of sole editor of the paper, and was left to conduct it as he pleased. Henry C. Bowen also made him editor of the Union, and he held both positions until his quarrel with the former.

"Meantime Theodore Tilton and his young wife went back to live at Judge Morse's house in Livingstone street, and here was celebrated with great eclat their tin wedding. Numerous friends gathered round them, and the world outside said that the path of the young couple through life was strewn with roses. By-and-by Judge Morse gave the house in Livingstone street to his stepdaughter and her husband. Meantime Mr. Tilton had kept up his intimate friendship with Mr. Moulten, his old schoolfellow, who had just joined the warehouse firm of Woodruff, Robinson & Co., in business, and in turn married the niece of Mr. Robinson. The families were intimate, and Theodore Til- Mr. Moulten to Mr. Beecher, who, too, conceived a warm regard for his friend's friend. Mr. Tilton's brother became idiotic from scarlet fever; the sister was a highly accomplished lady, a thorough musician, and sang for many years the alto score in the choir of St. Peter's Church, State street, in that city. She still resides in Brooklyn, and is esteemed for her amiable qualities by a large circle of friends. During one of Mr Tilton's lecturing tours West the idiot brother became violent, so violent that Mrs. Tilton, without the knowledge of her husband, removed him from the cottage. Under the pretence of taking a carriage ride, she induced him to go out with her alone. Once in the carriage, they were driven rapidly to the County Insane Asylum at Flatbush, where she left him in charge of the attendants. Finding himself immured, the lunatic lost all restraint. He bame perfectly wild at times, and it was necessary to put him frequently in that garment known to keepers in lunatic asylums as a straight jacket. Mrs. Tilton visited him frequently in her husband's absence, and was the only one of the family he would allow to approach him. He lingered for a time, and died two years ago in the asylum, but was buried from Mr. Tilton's residence in Livingstone street. The latter's father and mother are still alive and reside in comfortable circumstances at Keyport, N. J.

"His friends assert that no blight ever fell across his life until his wife's alleged infidelity with Mr. Beecher; that drove him to free lovers," and that the pernicious doctrines of the latter ruined him. At all events, it is certain that the alleged date of his wife's confession found him a thriving and eminently successful man; that he never saw Mrs. Woodhull until she printed the story of a horrible Brooklyn scandal, and that he has since seemed utterly reckless of his social standing. Mr. Tilton's friends repel the insinuation that he is insane, and those acquainted with the family say that it is ridiculous to suppose that there is any taint of hereditary insanity because his brother died in a lunatic asylum.

Emigration and the Agricultural Labourers.

(From the Pall Mall Gazette)

The season which has so long been looked forward to by the labourers in the Eastern Counties as the deciding moment of their struggle with the farmers has arrived. The agreements for 'harvesting' have been made, or are in course of making, but the masters have not been forced, to come hat in hand to the men whom they have locked out. On the contrary, they seem to have no difficulty in getting the work contracted for by men who are described as quite equal in physical strength to the regular labourers. This is a fact of terrible significance to the locked-out men. It means that the money to which they have been looking to supplement the union allowance will not be forthcoming. They have expected to be employed during the harvest without any questions being asked them as to their union tickets, and the anticipated pay has mostly been discounted in goods at the village shop. This source of subsistence will now be closed to them. No harvesting is equivalent to unpaid debts, and unpaid debts are equivalent to no credit. Consequently the conditions of the contest will be harder in the future than they have been in the past. It is probable that the labourers will now draw another discouraging inference from the loss of the harvest money. They will be inclined to argue that if the farmers can do without unionists at harvest time, they can do without them always. As regards labour, the measure of the need for the next few weeks is the measure of the greatest need for the year. If the farmers can find enough hands to serve their purpose when work is most pressing, surely they can find enough when work is slack. It is not clear that this reasoning is altogether accurate, since at harvest time labour offers itself in exceptional abundance, and is paid at an exceptionally high rate. August is in many trades rather a slack time, and men who are employed in other ways during the rest of the year use what, but for harvesting, would be almost a holiday in working for the farmers. Again, strong and industrious men can earn really high wages at harvest time, and for these few weeks agricultural labor has a money attraction for them which it would not possess at any other season. The locked out labourers are not likely to make deductions of this kind, and the certain loss of the means of paying their debts, together with the apparent demonstration that the farmers can do without their aid, will have a very discouraging effect upon them.

Just at this moment there comes upon them in addition the resolution passed the other day by the executive committee of the National Agricultural Labourers' Union. Considering that the committee are but the delegates of a body which includes among its members the very men addressed, the language of the resolution is somewhat dictatorial. It declares that 'in the face of the harsh and prolonged lock-out of the farm labourers in the Eastern Counties, this committee cannot feel justified in supporting them in enforced idleness indefinitely.' They resolve therefore 'to place migration and emigration at the disposal of the labourers, or the alternative of depending on their own resources' It is possible that this apparently harsh conclusion is the result of previous unsatisfactory negotiations which have not been made public. The committee of the union may have been urging the labourers to migrate or emigrate without much effect, and they may at length have been forced to say plainly that the power of choosing between these two alternatives is all that they have to give them. In that case the wording of the resolution is less unjustifiable than it seems; but, on the other hand, the determination of the locked-out labourers may prove less strong than has been supposed. It has long been evident that the strength of the union movement mainly depends upon the clearness with which the labourers appreciate the conditions of the struggle. From the moment that the farmers made up their minds not to give in, everything turned upon their ability to supply the place of the locked-out men. If they succeeded in this, the only course for the unions to take was to resolve themselves into emigration societies, and by degrees so diminish the supply of labour as to force the farmers to raise their terms. This is so elementary a doctrine that it is difficult to suppose that the union leaders could at any time have been ignorant of it. But it does not follow that the rank and file of the labourers were equally alive to it, or that the leaders thought it expedient in the first instance to impress it upon them. If this resolution is the first intimation the locked-out labourers have had that they must choose between leaving their homes and leaving the union—for 'the alternative of depending on their own resources' is of course equivalent to leaving the union—the union leaders are greatly to blame. If, as we think more probable, they have only been driven into saying openly what they have for some time back been saying privately, it shows that the hold of the union on the men is now for the first time to be put to the test.

We have no sympathy with those who exultingly heap up evidence that the prospects of a labourer in Canada or Australia or the United States are no brighter than they are at home. If this were so, the most obvious—it may almost be said the only obvious—road towards an improvement of the labourer's condition would be closed, and we should have to face a difficult and dangerous problem. But it is of great importance that the facts about emigration should be accurately ascertained and the alleged failures of emigrants thoroughly sifted. To begin news, and a very little carelessness or miscalculation may lead to consequences which are disastrous alike to those who suffer from them and to the movement which is discredited by them. There are a good many stories floating about which are designed to show that work is very slack in some countries and very uncertain everywhere, and that the labourers who have gone look back with regret to the happier life they have left behind. Single experiences go for little either way, and such melancholy narratives as that which appeared a day or two ago in the Times are no more to be taken as a sample of what life in America is really like, than the glowing pictures of rural happiness which make the text or give warmth to the peroration of an emigration agent's address. More attention is to be paid to such letters as that which lately appeared in the Kilkenny Journal. In this letter Mr. Walsh, one of the Jesuit fathers in New York, says that in every large city in the Union thousands of able-bodied men are standing idle and starving; that no roads or canals are being made; that the farmers raise only as much as suffices for domestic consumption, and employ no hands; that even female servants are looking in vain for places; that all this is but the beginning of evils, and that the United States are 'likely to undergo a phase of misery the like of which no tongue can tell.' It must be admitted that this discription sounds a little overcharged, even after every allowance has been made for the extravagance, the failures, and the strikes to which Mr. Walsh attributes this extraordinary state of things. Americans, as we know, are fond of magnifying their disasters as well as their successes, and Mr. Walsh may have caught the tone of his adopted countrymen. Some deduction, too, must be made for the natural desire of a Roman Catholic priest not to increase the numbers of an Irish community which has already outstripped the ability of the ecclesiastical authorities to provide it with clergy and churches, and some for that curious tendency of Irish emigrants to remain congregated in great cities instead of spreading themselves over the country districts. Still, after all this has been taken into account, the warning is one that deserves consideration, and we submit to the leaders of the labourers' unions that they ought not to content themselves with simply preaching emigration as a universal remedy. They have the means, no doubt, of procuring precise and detailed statements of the state of the labor market in many countries. They know and can say what wages are offered, what kind of work is wanted, whether hirings are permanent or temporary, whether men can find employment all the year or only in certain parts of it. It would be well that they should publish well authenticated information on these points for the benefit of the laborers generally, and it is still more to be desired that the actual emigrants should have this general information reduced to practical and particular shape, and should go out not merely to this or that country, but to this or that particular engagement. Now that the promotion of emigration has become the main work of the unions, their leaders are necessarily saddled with new duties and new responsibilities.

SCHOOL DISEASES.—It is a serious question whether we are not getting what is called education at too exorbitant a price, when the health and usefulness of eyes are impaired or sacrificed. And the mischief that is done to eyes in schools and colleges may safely be taken as an indication of the damage that is inflicted upon other parts of the body. Objectors may, perhaps, say that the appalling statistics obtained by the foreign observers could not be gathered in American schools and colleges. I believe that they might, and I found my belief upon twenty years' work among just the classes of subjects tabulated by Bohn and the other Continental observers. I believe that our system of education, if, indeed, we may be said to have a system, is one of the most damaging in its effect upon the growing bodies of scholars of any in the world. Let any one familiar with hygiene take the pains, as I have, to enquire carefully into the physical effects of the curricula of our leading schools and colleges, and he will be compelled to confess that there is the greatest cause for reform. The attention which is paid to gymnastic exercises and other methods of physical culture does not correct the evils. It often happens that those who really need physical exercise most do not get it, or that the exercise is excessive and does harm to those who engage in it. What we need in our school and college curricula is a diminution of the hours of labor. The working hours too often extend from eight or nine in the morning to ten or eleven at night. The strain thus put upon growing bodies is too great. Some method should be devised by which much that now involves a persistent use of the eyes in confined and unnatural postures of the body, could be accomplished through the use of models or photographs, or the blackboard. Much that is now attempted to be taught by badly printed books might be taught orally or by some form of object lessons. Even if such radical changes could not be accomplished, much might be done towards lessening the evil effects of our present method by shortening the hours devoted to study, by correcting defects in the architecture of class and study rooms, by improving the ventilation, heating and lighting of school houses, and by diffusing information among the parents of scholars, so that there may be less in the home life that is prejudicial to health. And just here we touch the very fountain of the evil. Our schools cannot be much, if any, above the intelligence of their patrons. I do not blame the teachers for the evils in our systems of education. I blame boards of trustees and other school and college boards for not applying the principles that have already been worked out by scientific men. If architects and boards of managers of schools and colleges would apply in the construction and conduct of their institutions of learning even a few of the principles that sanitarians all agree upon, we would at once see a reduction in those forms of disease which are traceable to their present neglect.—C R Agnew, M D. Sanitarian for September.

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 21, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1874.

Hon. Messrs. Smith and Burpee returned from the Lower Provinces yesterday.

Hon. George Brown arrived in the City yesterday, and is the guest of the Premier.

Mr. Alfred Patrick, Clerk of the House of Commons, who with his family has been touring it in the West for some time, arrived in the city yesterday morning.

Rev. Dr. Ormiston, of Brooklyn, New York, the celebrated Presbyterian divine, is in the City, and stopping at the Russell House. Mr. James McLaren, of Buckingham, is also at the Russell.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held this evening to again consider the tenders for the proposed new City Hall. It is to be hoped bogus tenders will be discarded, and that honesty will prevail within the precincts of the City Legislature.

His Lordship Chief Justice Wood has given judgment in the controverted election trial at Marquette, Manitoba, declaring Mr. Robert Cunningham, the late member for that County, unseated, and seating Mr. Joseph Ryan, Mr. Cunningham's opponent in the contest at the general election. Mr. Ryan is a native Canadian, having been born at Penetanguishene, Ontario, in 1847, and is now about 27 years of age. He studied at Regiopolis College, where he received his gown for the priesthood, under Bishop Horan. He, however, abandoned the gown, and became a schoolmaster at Guelph, which position he abandoned to study law. His first patron was Mr.—now Judge—Burroughs, of Kingston, his course being finished with Mr. Britton, of the same place. For some years he wrote for the Reform papers, on which account, it is said, he was put back a year when he applied for admission to practice, the reason assigned, however, being altogether of a different nature. Mr. Ryan married a young lady of Kingston; is an excellent speaker, and has, we may say, been a Reformer all his life. He was one of those who were instrumental in bringing to light frauds on the part of a former Treasurer of the County of Frontenac, about five years ago. Mr. Ryan has been about two years in Manitoba, where he has achieved an honourable position at the Bar. He is, we understand, a nephew of Mr. B. Clement, in St. Antoine street, Montreal, and is also connected with the Gravels and Larivieres of that city, his family upon the one side being French Canadian.

RAILWAY EXTENSION.

In a progressive age like the one in which we live, one cannot help admiring the status given to trade and commerce through scientific agency. The invention of steam by Watt has so circumvented the means of transportation of mercantile effects as almost to astonish scientists themselves. The ingenuity of men in successive years has led to such marvellous results on both land and water, as to confer a boon on the commercial community that cannot be too highly valued. These signs of progress are not peculiar to any one nation or people, but manifest themselves to a greater or less degree throughout the world. In fact this mania—if we may be allowed to term it such—for submitting transit labor to steam power has become epidemic, and the contagion has spread within the confines of our own Dominion. Our seaport towns, if visited, reveal this fact; in the magnificent steamships that come teeming into their harbors, loaded with produce from all quarters of the globe. The internal lakes and rivers of this vast domain amply reflect the fact, in the numberless steamers that ply their waters, and in the development of the commercial interests of the country. Apart from these considerations as to the use of steam power on water, we might direct the attention of the reader to another and, perhaps, in the interest of commercial men, after all a more important means of transit—the railway enterprises that are fast attaining gigantic proportions in this rising young country. The great prosperity that has attended Canada during the past fifteen or twenty years is attributable in the main to the many Railway projects that have from time to time been fostered and encouraged, not only by the State, but by the different municipalities throughout the country. Experience has shown that Railway enterprises under almost any circumstances are not only a safe investment for capitalists, but that through their instrumentality all places through which they pass are immensely benefitted. It is therefore a great oversight on the part of municipalities to neglect encouraging and giving such pecuniary assistance to any railway project with which their own progress is closely identified. True, by gross mismanagement capitalists may not receive that return from their investment, in stock which they ought; but this is a matter altogether in the hands of the Stockholders themselves, and is not due to any want of success in the enterprise itself; for at this moment there is not a railway in the Dominion that is not a paying institution. Even admitting for the sake of argument that railway enterprises are not remunerative, none will deny that their construction has had a tendency to open up and develop the commercial, industrial, and agricultural interests of any locality through which they chance to pass. The Grand Trunk Railway has done much for the development of this country, although perhaps up to within a few years the enterprise has been kept afloat at a sacrifice to the promoters. The Great Western has also done much to promote the growth and prosperity of the Western Peninsula of Ontario. The minor lines which project from Hamilton and Toronto in innumerable arteries in every direction are also doing much towards enriching all who enjoy the benefit of the facilities they offer. What were formerly but small villages in the West have during the last decade become large towns, and some have even attained the proportions of cities, all due to the encouragement they have given to these various railway enterprises. To come nearer home, we find in our own little experience in railway matters, that success has ever attended us by their introduction here. The construction of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway has done much to promote the prosperity of the City of Ottawa, and the completion recently of the Canada Central has also given a fresh impulse to the commercial interest of this city. While speaking of this line, it might not be amiss to advert to the fact that there is considerable danger in our citizens remaining in a state of apathy while other railway enterprises are threatening to tap the trade of the Upper Ottawa, which has been such a source of wealth to our mercantile men for years. It will be in the remembrance of many of our citizens how that trade was affected previous to the construction of the Canada Central, as nearly two-thirds of the traffic was diverted by the Brockville and Ottawa Road to the St. Lawrence. This has in a great measure been restored by the construction of the Canada Central to Carleton Place and its further extension since to Renfrew. This, however, is not sufficient yet, for the Kingston and Pembroke Railway is being pushed on vigorously, aided literally by the city of Kingston and the intervening municipalities. Already sixteen miles of the road from Kingston to Harrowsmith have been opened for traffic; evincing the determination of the people of the old "Limestone City" to push the work to a successful issue. Now, to counteract the effect of this project, which will inevitably tap the trade of the lumber regions, it becomes absolutely necessary in the interests of Ottawa to push the Canada Central from its present terminus to Pembroke. Should the Company not be in a position financially to undertake the construction of this short line of road, then it behoves both Montreal and Ottawa, as well as the intervening municipalities, to come to their rescue and assist in the completion of so desirable a work. There is yet another feature connected with this subject of which little or nothing is known by our citizens, and which when known will to them become a subject of further alarm. A gentleman just arrived from Toronto happened to be in conversation with some of those interested in the Toronto and Nipissing Railway the other day, and he learned that active steps were already being taken to extend that line from its present terminus at Bracebridge to Mattawa on the Ottawa River. Should this scheme be carried out,—and we have every reason to believe it will, for Mr. Laidlaw is a man who, when he once lays his hand to the plough never looks back, and will see the undertaking through at all hazards—it would give to Toronto at once the trade of the lumber districts, which of itself would remunerate the road. Another reason which might be assigned why this line is likely to be pushed forward, is that as Mattawa is to be the eastern terminus of the Pacific Railway, the Directors of the Toronto and Nipissing Company very naturally desire to be favorably located, in order to enable them to tap the trans-continental trade in the interest of Toronto. These are weighty reasons why the people of Ottawa should arouse to a sense of their duty in a matter of such vital import to their future commercial prosperity. The city ought at once to give a bonus of $100,000 towards the extension to Pembroke, and we are confident that in that event the Company would raise the means necessary to counteract the Toronto scheme by extending the road to Mattawa in due time. This once done, and the Ottawa and Coteau road, to which a bonus has already been given, completed, the safety of the commercial interests of this city, would be assured, at least for many years to come. Should this note of warning be passed over unheeded, the citizens of Ottawa will soon find that the present progress of their city will subside, and its future prospects will be forever blighted. The question is one which should at once be taken hold of by our civic authorities, and such action taken as, in the interest of the city, may be deemed advisable. Fortune has smiled rather complacently upon us in this past, but it would be committing felo de se to thus repose in the sunshine of prosperity heedless of the misfortunes that stare us in the face in the not far distant future. Let us buckle on our armour, therefore, and at once aid such enterprises—be they commercial or industrial—as will tend to the future prosperity of the political metropolis of the Dominion of Canada.

The Public Records.

Canada may assume the title of the most historical colony of England. Sprung mainly from two European nations, each differing from the other in race, manners and customs; involved, as she has consequently been, in European wars, and having suffered, because of her loyalty, the hostility of the Americans; having been brought into contact with the aboriginal races and having won their confidence and secured their friendship, even if she has not been able to prolong their existence—such a country has a history with which none of the other offshoots of our great Empire can compete, and with the details of which all Canadians, young and old, should feel a pride in making themselves acquainted. A few years ago the Government made a move toward preserving and classifying the records and documents that had accumulated, and had mostly been treated with neglect, during the past two hundred years; and we are glad to learn that the present Administration has confirmed Mr. Henry J. Morgan in the appointment of Keeper of the Records in connection with the Department of the Secretary of State. Mr. Morgan, who has done something towards turning public attention to our neglected State Papers, will find plenty of work before him, especially if, as we trust is the case, the vast mass of documents which have for years lain uncared for in the old government vault in Montreal are to be brought to Ottawa and placed under his charge. While devoting attention to the history of the old Province of Canada, we hope that the Keeper of the Records will not overlook the interesting field of research open to him in the archieves of Nova Scotia. Despite the attention lately given to the subject by many writers, and the compilation made by Dr. Aikins and published by the Government of Nova Scotia, the history of Acadia is but very imperfectly known, and there are probably papers at Halifax, in London and in Boston, that would throw much light upon it. The history of New Brunswick, as a separate Province, of course only dates from 1784; but even there the records are not without interest. The Boundary Question and the 'Aroostook War' are peculiarly connected with that Province. The despatches to and from the Governors of the Province from its formation nearly up to date of Confederation were collected, tabulated and bound up; but owing to a mistaken zeal for official etiquette, were sent to Downing Street instead of to Ottawa; but they might easily be recovered, and added to that which will, we trust, under Mr. Morgan's directorship, develop into a Record office worthy of its national character.

CITY AND VICINITY

PERSONAL.—Mr. John Kidd of Ottawa is registered at the Globe office in London, England.

MURRAY'S CIRCUS.—Murray's circus will make its entry into the Capital this morning. From the reputation this show has, it will doubtless draw good houses in the city.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—There was no meeting of the Board of Public School Trustees last night owing to the want of a quorum. The following members were all that were present Messrs. Lesueur, Taylor, Barber and Kirby.

IMPORTATIONS.—The following is a list of importations for Ottawa per ss. 'Austrian:' Garland, Mutchmor & Co, 2 bales, 12 cases; T. Hunton, Son & Larmonth, 1 case; Fingland & Draper, 2 cases; S. M. Holbrook, 2 bales.

SMASH UP.—A waggon belonging to the European circus at present travelling through Canada, came to grief yesterday afternoon at the corner of Bank and Wellington streets, caused by the breaking of a wheel.

BASE BALL.—The "Clunsey's" of Marley, New York, at one time the champion club of St. Lawrence County, N. Y., purpose visiting this city the latter part of next week to engage in a game with the "Ottawas" when the best contested game of the season may be expected.

ENGLISH MAIL.—An English mail will close at the City Post Office to-day at 12:05 o'clock, noon, destined for the steamship 'Scandinavian' which leaves Quebec for Liverpool to-morrow. A supplementary bag will close at 1:25 p. m. for the same destination.

OBITUARY.—It is with regret we learn of the death of Mr. Geo. Stacey an old resident of this city and formerly of Buckingham village. He was latterly employed as book-keeper in the wholesale establishment of Dufresne & McGarity. Being a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, there will doubtless be a large funeral of that body.

RAILWAY GUIDE.—The International Railway and Steam Navigation Guide has come to hand, replete as usual with all the necessary information on steamboat and railway matters. It is published by C. R. Chisholm and Brothers, of Montreal, and is a work of so invaluable a character, that it should be in the possession of any person requiring to travel.

MAN-TRAP.—The attention of the City Engineer is called to a broken plank on the sidewalk, north side of George street, near the corner of Sussex street. The substitution of a new plank would preclude the possibility of an accident occurring, which surely will happen if the necessary repairs are not effected.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—The Treasurer of the County of Carleton Protestant Hospital, begs to acknowledge the receipt of $200 from Wm. Rea, Treasurer of Masonic moonlight excursion committee; being surplus, after paying all expenses arising from excursion which took place on the 27th of August. Alexander Workman, Treasurer.

NEARLY A FIRE.—Shortly after noon yesterday the chimney of the back kitchen of a house on Besserer street, near to the corner of Cumberland street, and owned by Mr. James Robinson, took fire and for a time created the greatest consternation among the inmates, and the neighbours occupying the surrounding dwellings. Word was hastily taken to the George Street Fire Station, and quickly the reels and the "Conqueror" were ready for action. The services of the steamer or brigade were not, however, required as a number of people kindly set to work and put out the fire, before it had time to spread to the roof of the building. There is no question but that only for the prompt measures taken, a serious conflagration would have ensued.

ARRIVALS AT THE RUSSELL HOUSE.—W H Supple, P McGregor, Pembroke; H C Ray, N Y; H E Murray and wife, Dr Baker Edwards, Mr and Mrs Austin, C O Fillion, F Garrett, T D Phillips, C R Adams, Montreal; Ed Horne, London, England; J S Burnell, do; John Townsend, jr, Mr and Mrs Baker, J L Chapman, Dr. Omisten and Sons, N Y; W M Bowman, Chicago; J G McDonald and wife, Glen's Falls; Thos J Mayall and wife, Miss Mayall, Boston; John Osborne, Arnprior; Hon I Burpee, St John, N B; Dr A H Paquette, Berthier; C Wilkie, Quebec; W H Sawyer and wife, Watertown; W J Sorkett, Saratoga Springs; Jas MacLaren, Buckingham; Chas J Jones, P Hope, J P Ross, Watertown, N Y; Hon A Smith, Dorchester; J R Fleming, Aylmer.

CONGREGATION DE NOTRE DAME.—This fine establishment for the education of young ladies will open on Tuesday next, the 8th of September. Since the advent to the city of the Sisters of this institution, they have achieved a success almost unexpected in their literary mission. In fact so encouraged have they been that they have this season added a new, large and commodious wing to their institution on Gloucester Street. The design is very chaste, and is but a carrying out of the original plan. A similar wing has yet to be added to the west side ere the entire block is finally completed. When finished it will without doubt be one of the largest and most commodious educational establishments in the Dominion of Canada. At present it will suffice to briefly refer to that portion of the edifice now fast approaching completion. The basement is very commodious and is ten feet in height. It is intended to be set apart for a dining hall and calisthenic room, both, for the use of the young ladies in attendance at the institution. On the ground floor there is to be one large room, the dimensions of which will be 80 x 120 feet, set aside for an examination hall. The height to the ceiling is fifteen feet. This commodious room will obviate the usual crowding at examinations of the Institute. The second floor is intended for a Chapel and will be tastefully fitted up for that purpose. The dimensions of this flat are the same as that of the one underneath. The third flat is to be subdivided into study and class rooms for the use of the scholars which will greatly facilitate the work of the establishment. A somewhat novel idea presents itself here, in the construction of a projecting gallery around the entire wing, to which the pupils will have access from their study and class rooms. This seems a capital idea and cannot prove otherwise than an incentive to study. The view too from this point is one of the finest to be had in the city. A birds eye view of the place is obtainable, taking in all the prominent places around the city. The upper flat is constructed on the Mansard principle, and is to be set apart for a dormitory and private sleeping apartments for the young ladies. The lady Superior evinces much interest in her good work, and to her we must express our gratitude for the kind manner in which she detailed to us the character of the proposed improvements. An advertisement setting forth the work, terms, &c., will appear to-morrow, but persons desiring fuller particulars had better apply to the Lady Superior for a prospectus.

THE FOOT BALL MATCH.

Highlanders vs. Lowlanders.

The foot ball match, so long talked of, has at last been decided. It took place in the Base Ball ground, at the foot of Elgin street yesterday, at four o'clock, and was largely attended, owing to the excitement consequent upon the game. The games were hotly contested, and keen play was evinced on both sides. The following are the names of the players and the captains:—

Highlanders—D. C. Robertson, captain; Ronald McDonald, Angus Cameron, J. P. Robertson, Roderick McDonald, Alex. Reid, Donald Robertson, John McDonald, Kenneth Morrison, J. Quigley, Duncan McTavish, James McDiarmid.

Lowlanders—G. Macfarlane, captain; H C. Porter, J. B. Trail, Alex. Taylor, Wm. Conners, John Adam, Alfred Duffus, James Adam, Thomas Russell, D. Bell, P. Fraser, Thomas Blyth.

The first game lasted three-quarters of an hour and was won by the Highlanders, John McDonald carrying the ball triumphantly through the goal.

The second game had to be played in fifteen minutes, as that was all that remained of the hour, the time allowed for the match. In less time than that however the Lowlanders managed to secure the game, Thos. Blyth carrying it through the goal very successfully.

A third game was started and was continued for several minutes, when time was called. Each side having received a game, the next difficulty that presented itself was which should be declared the winning side. The umpires and referee accordingly ascertained the number of rouges made by both sides, and finding that the Lowlanders had 9 and the Highlanders 5 decided the former the winners of the belt by four rouges. The playing was conducted very amicably on the part of the players, although knock-downs in any quantity were witnessed on the field. The spectators enjoyed the game immensely. The excitement throughout the match was intense, and as one side or the other took a game the cheering was tremendous by their respective friends. Mr. E H. Benjamin was umpire for the Lowlanders and Mr. H. Cussans for the Highlanders. Mr. J. H. P. Gibson acted as referee. All of these parties did the duty assigned them to the satisfaction of all concerned. At the conclusion of the match, Dr. Grant, President of the Society presented the champion belt, so generously given by Mr. E. C. Baker to Mr. Macfarlane the successful captain, making at the same time a short but appropriate speech. Three cheers were given for the President, three for the respective sides and three more for the Queen, when all separated evidently well pleased with the afternoon sport.

Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

The arrangements for the "Canadian Wimbledon" meeting, at Ottawa, commencing on the 15th instant, are now complete, and the proceedings will be conducted under the direction of the following staff:

Executive Committee of Council—Lieut. Col Brunel, Lieut. Col. Chamberlin, C. M. G., Lieut. Col. Forrest, Lieut. Col. Ross, G. G. Foot Guards, Lieut. Col. Macpherson, Lieut. Col. Stuart, Ottawa; Lieut. Col. Jackson, D. A. G. Militia, Brockville; Lieut Col. Fletcher, C. M. G., D. A. G. Militia, Montreal; Lieut. Col. Beer, 74th Battalion, Sussex, N. B.; Lieut. Col. Worsley, Brigade Major, Montreal; Major Macdonald, Captain Tilton, G. G. Foot Guards, W. McKay Wright, Esq., M. P., Ottawa Field Battery Artillery, Ottawa.

Secretary—Lieut.-Col. Stuart.

Local Executive Committee—Lieut.-Col. Brunel, Chairman; Lieut.-Col. Ross, G. G. Foot Guards; Lieut.-Col. Worsley, Brigade Major.

Chief Executive Officer and Commandant of Camp—Lieut.-Col Jackson, D.A.G. No. 4, Military District.

Chief of Statistical Department—Lieut.-Col. Bacon, Brigade Major.

Chief of Range Department—Major White, Governor-General's Foot Guards.

Range Officers—Major Macdonald, Militia Staff; Major Cotton, "A" Battery; Major Mattice, Brigade Major; Major Egleson, O. B. Garrison Artillery.

Camp Quartermaster—Captain Grant, Governor-General's Foot Guards.

Surgeon—E. C. Malloch, M.D.

Chief of Police.

Armourer—Mr. H. Cawdron.

The following prizes will be competed for, viz.:—

1 All-comers match, total value	$ 450 00
2 Dominion of Canada match	575 00
3 Battalion match	450 00
4 McDougall Challenge Cup	200 00
5 Provincial match	1150 00
6 Affiliated Association match	350 00
7 The President's prize	250 00
8 The J. H. Steward (of London) prizes	41 00
9 The Governor General's prizes (gold, silver and bronze medals)
10 Highest aggregate scores, value	150 00

Their Excellencies the Governor General and the Countess of Dufferin have graciously intimated their intention of being present at the opening proceedings on the 15th instant, on which occasion the President of the Association is to entertain their Excellencies and a distinguished party at the Rideau Rifle Ranges.

A large number of competitors from the different Provinces are expected to attend the competition this year, which promises to be the most successful meeting of any yet held at the capital.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, Esq., P. M.

THURSDAY, Sept. 3.

Lyman Smith was charged by one Hyde with breaking down his fence. The case was dismissed.

Patrick Duffy, arraigned for drunkenness, was fined $5 and costs or two weeks in gaol.

Mary Payette, charged with keeping a house of ill fame on Sherwood street, Chaudiere, was remanded.

Two men named Hughes and Askley were charged with assaulting one Francis Lenihan. The case was adjourned till this morning.

The liquor case against Grace Baldwin was again brought up, but she was discharged, as the charge could not be sustained.

Timothy Rajotte was given one week to take down the fire-trap on Wellington street.

Thos. Durocher, charged with stealing some cabbage, was sent down for a month at hard labor.

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1872. Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 3659

RECIPROCITY AND SHIP-BUILDING.

A Nova Scotian Predicts Good Results from the Canadian Reciprocity Treaty.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Tribune.

SIR,—Iron steamers that will not sink money are not found in the American mercantile marine — nor wooden ones either, but the proposed reciprocity with Canada will enable us to change all that. Canadian ship timber, through the jealousy of British ship-builders, finding expression in the code of British Lloyds, has long been held at shamefully unfair estimates. Take for one example, Canadian black birch. It has long been proved superior to British oak—much vaulted—both in strength and durability; but, where a British oak ship classes on the books of Lloyds Society for twelve years, a black birch bottom, if Canadian built, classes for only four. But if the raw stuff be imported by a British builder, and then used in the construction of a ship, it will be assigned a period, varying, according to structural function, from eight to fourteen years. This inconsistency in the rules of that famous society is due to the influence of the British iron interest. It is designed to increase the colonial demand for iron. For notwithstanding the numerous disqualificatory enactments of the British Lloyds against 'North American ship timber,' composite vessels built in the Dominion will class relatively higher than British built wooden ships. For it was supposed by Lloyds committee where they made those rules, that the Canadian builder must import his iron 'frames,' ready moulded from Great Britain whenever he purposes constructing a ship on the 'composite' principle.

Composite vessels are much better than either wood or iron tonnage. They combine all the good qualities of both, while avoiding the disabilities of either. For example, the iron frames allow the ship to be built in water-tight compartments, which cannot be successfully accomplished with a vessel wholly of wood. On the other hand, the wood planking permits the composite bottom to be metalled, and thus avoid the great difficulty besetting the wholly iron structure, viz., fouling. Nevertheless, no composite vessels are built in the Dominion, because of the difficulties and expenses attending tran-shipment of frames across the Atlantic; and this, too, notwithstanding the fact that such tonnage, even when planked with the much-vituperated black birch, will be classed at British Lloyds A 1 for fourteen years, or equal to the highest rated timber known, to wit, East Indian teak.

American iron is twelve per cent, stronger and tougher than British. This is to say, the Canadian builder who may undertake the construction of a composite ship, will have just 12 per cent. the less iron to pay for, while his ship will be also 12 per cent lighter, and therefore, exteris paribus, of 12 per cent higher-carrying capacity if he choose to employ American iron instead of British. Cost of the coast wise transhipment is also trifling compared to the trans-atlantic. And the Dominion tariff frees everything to ships, making no discrimination against American or foreign iron, or other metals, in no matter what from (save only iron windlasses, which are subject to 16 2-3 per cent ad valorem) provided it be declared for ships' use. This is the existing condition of things. Add to it the reciprocity which permits American citizens to buy, and register at home, Canadian built foreign going tonnage, and the American flag will be rapidly restored to its wonted position on the highway of nations, borne, too, by that class of vessels which will most nearly approximate the ideally perfect ship, until copper becomes so cheapened that she may be realised in that material.

When the reciprocity treaty goes into effect, the American ship owner can have frames rolled at home, according to whatever model he purposes, and send them to be set up in a Canadian yard. His ship will there be built under British Lloyds' inspection (or French or American can if, he chooses, or all combined), and will class upon the books of the London Society—the rules of which specify only best iron, having omitted prescriptions of a national character—for from 14 to 17 years—an advantage not to be denied, since the London Society is the great ruling, central, underwriting market of the world. When ready for sea he will have saved also 40 per cent. of his labor bill, as compared with the cost of building her at home. She will be launched under the Stars and Stripes, and enrolled on the home registry, thus contributing to swell that terribly shrunken list to its former importance. Could anything more be desired.—Hantsport, Nova Scotia, July 24th, 1874.

The Meeting of Protectionists.

[From the Summerside (P. E. I.) Progress.]

The manufacturers of the Dominion, or rather some of the manufactures of the Dominion, held a meeting in Hamilton a few days ago, to consider the Reciprocity Treaty. The meeting was not a very large one, nor were the discussions of the manufacturers very edifying. Each class considered the Treaty not as it would affect the whole Dominion, but as it would bear upon its particular interest. The shoemaker thought only about the welfare of the shoemaker, the cotton spinners and weavers looked only to what, in their estimation, they would gain or lose by the operation of the Treaty, and so on of others. The good of the commonwealth was what the assembled manufacturers did not seem to think of. Now this seems to us a rather narrow view to take. The object of all legislation, it appears to us, is to do the greatest good to the greatest numbers. More of the protectionist speakers attempted to show that the Treaty would work injuriously to the great bulk of people inhabiting this Dominion. The utmost that any of them attempted was to show that, in his opinion, it would do some harm to the very small fraction of them which he represented. And it is just as likely as not that even in this he was very greatly mistaken. It is really astonishing what blunders really clever people have made in matters of trade and commerce. Self interest in these matters is not by any means keen sighted. Shrewd men who really wished to further both their own interests and the interests of their country, have made the strongest blunders with respect to the best trade policy to be pursued. A very clever man who lived a long time ago, one Adam Smith, must have had the Hamilton meeting in his eye when he wrote the following sentences which appear really prophetic:

"Merchants and master manufacturers are, in this order, the two classes of people who commonly employ the largest capital, and who by their wealth draw to themselves the greatest share of public consideration. As during their whole lives they are engaged in plans and projects, they have frequently more acuteness of understanding than the greater part of country gentlemen. As their thoughts, however, are commonly exercised, rather about the interest of their own particular branch of business than about that of society, their judgment, even given with their greatest candor (which it has not been upon every occasion) is much more to be depended upon, with regard to the former of those two objects, than with regard to the latter. Their superiority over the country gentlemen is not so much in their knowledge of the public interest as in their having a better knowledge of their own interest than he has of it. It is by this superior knowledge of their own interest that they have frequently imposed upon his generosity and persuaded him to give up both his own interest and that of the public from a very simple but honest conviction that their interest and not his was the interest of the public."

The "country gentlemen" have learned a few lessons since Adam Smith's day, and chiefly from him too. They are therefore not so easily imposed upon by the special pleading of master manufacturers as they were in the great political economist's day. They have a pretty good idea of what the interests of the public are, and they know by experience that the liberal trade policy which is good for them is also good for the manufacturer. It would hardly do for the joiners, the blacksmiths and the shoemakers of Summerside to insist upon the repeal of a law which proved beneficial to five-sixths of their fellow townsmen merely because they feared that it would in its operation be prejudicial to their interests. The townsfolk would naturally tell these tradesmen not to cry out before they were hurt. This, it seems to us, is the case with some of the Canadian manufacturers. They tacitly admit that the treaty with all its faults will prove beneficial to the great majority of Canadians; but they are raising a tremendous howl because they fancy it will have the effect of lessening their gains. The chances are ten to one that their alarm is without the slightest foundation. If protection is such a very fine thing why do not the Dominion farmers claim to be protected? If it is for the interest of the country that the people should wear dear boots and dear coats, is it not as greatly their interest that they should eat dear bread and dear potatoes? What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. But every one laughs at the idea of protecting the farmer. Is it not quite as ridiculous and quite as unjust to protect manufacturers? If the people of this Dominion wish to foster infant manufactures for a national purpose and are willing to pay more for home manufactured articles than they are really worth, in order to do this let them do so with their eyes open. If the manufacturers cannot get along without aid from the state, let them say so. It will then be for the people to determine whether the good to be gained is worth the price they are asked for it. But it is time that protection was stripped of its disguise. In this case it means neither more nor less than cobbling a few industries at the expense of all the others. Is it worth while to do this? Some of the papers tell us that the Hamilton Manufacturer's meeting was a fizzle and others say it was just the reverse. It is difficult to tell whether it was or not.

A Living Automaton.

[From the Galignani's Messenger.]

A curious patient is just now an inmate of Dr. Mesnet's ward at the Hospital St. Antoine. His profession was that of a singer at the cafes chantants. During the war of 1870-71 he was hit above the left ear by a musket bullet, which carried off about two and-a-half inches of the parietal bone, and laid bare the brain on the left side. This led to a temporary paralysis of the members of the opposite side, as is always the case. But he was eventually cured of this, while the tremendous wound on the skull began to heal, so that after a time he could resume his professional duties at the cafes to the satisfaction of the public. Suddenly, however, he was seized with nervous symptoms, lasting from 24 to 48 hours, and of such an extraordinary nature that it was considered safe to take him to the hospital. His malady is easier to illustrate by examples than to define. When he is in his fit he has no sensitiveness of his own, and will bear physical pain without being aware of it; but his will may be influenced by contact with exterior objects. Set him on his feet, and as soon as they touch the ground they awaken in him the desire of walking. He then marches straight on quite steadily, with fixed eyes, without saying a word or knowing what is going on about him. If he meets with an obstacle on his way he will touch it and try to make out by feeling what it is, and then attempt to get out of the way. If several persons join hands and form a ring around him, he will try to find an opportunity by repeatedly crossing over from one side to the other, and this without betraying the slightest consciousness of impatience. Put a pen into his hand, this will instantly awaken in him a desire of writing; he will fumble about for ink and paper, and if these be placed before him he will write a very sensible business letter; but when the fits are over, he will recollect nothing at all about it. Give him some cigarette paper, and he will instantly take out his tobacco bag, roll a cigarette very cleverly, and light it with a match from his own box. Put them out one after another he will try from first to last to get a light, and put up in the end with his ill-success. But ignite a match yourself, and give it to him, he will not use it, and let it burn between his fingers. Fill his tobacco bag with anything, no matter what—shavings, cotton, lint, hay, etc., he will roll his cigarette just the same, light and smoke it without perceiving the hoax. But, better still, put a pair of gloves into his hands and he will put them on at once; this, reminding him of his profession, will make him look for his music. A roll of paper is then given to him, upon which he assumes the attitude of a singer before the public, and warbles some pieces of his repertoire. If you place yourself before him he will feel about on your person, and meeting with your watch, he will transfer it from your pocket to his own; but on the other hand, he will allow you, without any resistance or impatience whatever, to take it back again.

Canada may assume the title of the most historical colony of England. Sprung mainly from two European nations, each differing from the other in race, manners and customs; involved as she has consequently been, in European wars, and having suffered, because of her loyalty, the hostility of the Americans; having been brought into contact with the aboriginal races and having won their confidence and secured their friendship, even if she has not been able to prolong their existence—such a country has a history with which none of their offshoots of our great Empire can compete, and with the details of which all Canadians, young and old, should feel a pride in making themselves acquainted. A few years ago the Government made a move towards preserving and classifying the records and documents that had accumulated, and had mostly been treated with neglect, during the past two years; and we are glad to learn that the present Administration has confirmed Mr. Henry J. Morgan in the appointment of Keeper of the Records in connection with the Department of the Secretary of State. Mr. Morgan, who has done something towards turning public attention to our neglected State Papers, will find plenty of work before him, especially if as we trust is the case, the vast mass of documents which have for years laid uncared for in some vaults in Montreal are to be brought to Ottawa and placed under his charge. While devoting attention to the history of the old Province of Canada, we hope that the Keeper of the Records will not overlook the interesting field of research open to him in the archives of Nova Scotia. Despite the attention lately given to the subject by many writers, and the compilation made by Dr. Aikins and published by the Government of Nova Scotia, the history of Acadia is but very imperfectly known, and there are probably papers at Halifax, in London, and in Boston, that would throw much light upon it. The history of New Brunswick, as a separate Province, of course only dates from 1874; but even there the records are not without interest. The Boundary Question and the "Aroostook War" are peculiarly connected with that Province. The despatches to and from the Governors of the Province from its formation nearly up to the date of Confederation were collected, tabulated and bound up; but owing to a mistaken zeal for official etiquette, were sent to Downing Street instead of to Ottawa; but they might easily be recovered, and added to that which will, we trust, under Mr. Morgan's directorship, develop into a Record office worthy of its national character.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealer. 1m

Bishop Cheney—The Local Ministry—G. T. R. Rifle Association—Suit Against the 'Witness.'

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.

The Gazette of this morning 'pokes fun' at Bishop Cheney and the Reformed Episcopal Church, and concludes by telling the Rev. gentleman that he has no business in Canada.

The rumored resignation of the Ouimet-Chapleau Ministry lacks confirmation yet. It is understood that a meeting of the Local Cabinet will be held on Friday afternoon, when a decision as to the course to be taken by the Government will be reached.

The Grand Trunk Rifle Association of Montreal holds its annual match at Point St. Charles next Saturday. Seventy-one prizes, to the value of $557, are to be offered; among them a prize champion cup, valued at $200, presented by Mr. Brydges.

The Allan s. s. 'Canadian' which arrived in port this morning had on board several head of stock from Scotland. Mr. Laurie, of Scarboro', brought out several very handsome animals.

Mr. Francis Derome, prothonotary at Rimouski, has entered a suit in the Superior Court to recover $25,000 in damages from the proprietors of the Daily Witness, alleged to have been suffered owing to an article published last year. The intention of the article is said to have been to destroy the plaintiff's chances of elevation to the Bench, a rumor being current that he would be appointed a Judge.

Dr Schultz, M. P. for Lisgar, Manitoba, arrived at the St. Lawrence Hall yesterday. He corroborates the reports previously received from Manitoba concerning the ravages of the grasshoppers. About one-fifth of the area of the crops is destroyed, but he says the parts untouched will average twenty bushels to the acre. The grasshoppers have all left.

New Uniforms—The Bishop of Saskatchewan—The Drought.

LONDON, Sept. 2.

The musicians of the 7th Battalion band have received new uniforms.

The Right Rev. Dr. John McLean, the newly-appointed Bishop of Saskatchewan, and his family arrived in this city last night on his return to his diocese after an absence of sixteen months. His Lordship was ordained at Lambeth on the 3rd of May by the Archbishop of Canterbury by Royal mandates or license. He has succeeded in raising £40,000 for the purpose of establishing his Diocesan Mission, £30,000 of which is for the endowment of the Bishopric. Bishop McLean looks hale and hearty. He will return to England again in two or three years.

The drought is proving very destructive in this section of the country. The pasturage is dried up, and the cattle are suffering badly for want of grass and water. The root crops are expected to fall very short.

HALIFAX.

Fatal Colliery Accident — Barque Launched—Western Counties Railway — The American Cricketers—Express Office Thefts.

HALIFAX, Sept. 3.

William Stewart, a miner, was killed by the fall of some coal at Black Diamond Colliery, Westville, on Saturday.

The laying of the rails on the Yarmouth end of the Western Counties Railway commenced to-day.

The Canadian cricketers left by the 'Falmouth' for Portland yesterday afternoon.

Robberies have been committed for some time of small parcels from Fishwick's Express Office, and the police have succeeded in capturing the thief, who lived in the same building.

KINGSTON.

The Abortion Case—Railway Progress—The Police.

KINGSTON, Sept. 2.

The procedure in the abortion case has so far been rapid. To-day the prisoners, Dr. Nash and David Spencer, arrived from Picton in charge of Sergt. McAuley, accompanied by a number of the friends of both prisoners, Spencer, as well as the doctor, being well connected and of wealthy families. The prisoners were brought before Coroner Barker, who committed Spencer for trial on a charge of murder of the infant child, and Nash for an attempt to commit abortion. Mr. O'Reilly applied to Judge Burrowes for bail for the prisoners, and it will probably be granted in Nash's case, but not in that of Spencer. The girl, Rebecca Thomson, will be kept in close custody or required to give bail for her appearance as a witness.

Vessels have been discharging large quantities of iron for the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, which is ironed as far as Verona, and on which there are now more active operations than ever.

The city police, whose smallness of number gives them heavy duty, are asking for an increase of pay. Other corporation officers are also anxious for a raise.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Meeting of Manufacturers—Guests of the Lieut. Governor.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 3.

A meeting of the manufacturers is being held this evening in the Academy of Music, the object being to discuss important questions concerning the manufacturing industries of the Province, and to form an Association which will be to manufacturers what the Board of Trade is to merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandford Fleming, and Dr. Wiggins, late Principal of the Blind Institute, Brantford, Ont., are guests of Lieut. Governor Tilley at Fredericton.

CORNWALL.

Controverted Election Case.

CORNWALL, September 3.

The Cornwall controverted election trial commenced this afternoon before Chancellor Spragge. Several witnesses were examined, all of whom had paid away more or less money, but up to the adjournment at 6.30 p.m. no evidence whatever had been obtained of the agency, nor is it thought probable that the expenditure of money, directly or indirectly, can be traced to the sitting member.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Diplomatic News.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Morning Post says, Senor Rascon the Spanish Minister at Berlin delivered his credentials to the Emperor William yesterday. The newly accredited Minister of Spain at London Brussels, and the Hague will also present their credentials in a few days.

FRANCE.

The English Pilgrims.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—The English Pilgrims arrived at Pontigny to-day. The party numbers 313 and includes Arch Bishop Manning, the Earl of Gainsborough and other members of the nobility.

Bazaine's Escape.

The trial of Colonel Villette and other alleged accomplices in Bazaine's escape will begin on the 14th of September.

UNITED STATES.

River Steamer Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Long Branch River Steamer 'Belle,' was burned to the water's edge to-night.

Indignation Meeting.

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—A colored indignation meeting was held to-night. The speakers believed that there had been shown altogether too much leniency to the ex-rebels and that the old slave holding power was still struggling for the supremacy. They called upon the President to take prompt measures for the suppression of the present state of affairs, and if he had not power to do that to convene an extra Session of Congress. Resolutions expressive of these sentiments were passed.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES.

UNITED STATES

Decrease of German Immigration.

The German Emigrant Society has reported that 31,779 Germans have arrived at this port since January 1st last, the number for the first eight months of 1873 being 73,733, showing a falling off this year of more than 50 per cent.

The Charges against Havemeyer.

Mayor Havemeyer received a communication from Gov. Dix yesterday, but he declined to say what it was. It is reported that the Governor will hear the counsel on the charges against the Mayor on Tuesday next.

A Valuable Discovery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A rich vein of hematite iron was discovered at the corner of Washington and North Moore Streets in this city yesterday while excavating for the foundation of a new building. It is said to be the first mineral of any kind found in the soil of Manhattan Island.

Arrival of Mennonites.

One hundred and one Mennonites arrived here yesterday, and will leave to-day for Dakota.

Arrest of a Female Thief.

Mrs. Jennie Hill who had stolen some $2,000 worth of jewellery and other valuables from tents at the camp meeting at Ocean Grove, was arrested yesterday at Bergen.

Base Ball Match.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3.—A scratch game of Base Ball yesterday between the "Red Stockings" and Staten Islander's "Red Stockings," was won by the former by a score of 12 to 4.

The Difficulties in the South.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A consultation was held at the War Department to-day between the Attorney-General, Secretary Belknap and Secretary Bristow, with reference to the condition of affairs in the South. Senator Chandler was in attendance. What the results of the meeting are cannot be definitely ascertained, but it is intimated by excellent authority that immediate official action of an important character will be taken.

Public Rumours.

It is believed that the President will soon return to Washington for a brief period, when all the members of the Cabinet will be in the city, and the first Cabinet meeting since the adjournment of Congress, will be held.

The Southern Troubles—Letter from the President.

WASHINGTON, September 3.—The following letter was received here to-day:—

LONG BRANCH, September 2, 1874.

Gen. W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War.

The recent atrocities in the South, particularly in Louisiana, Alabama, and South Carolina, show a disregard for the law and personal protection that ought not to be tolerated by any civilised government. It looks as if, unless speedily checked, matters must become worse, until life and property there will receive no protection from the local authorities. Until such authority becomes powerless under such circumstances, it is the duty of the government to give all aid for the protection of life and civil rights legally authorised. To this end I wish you would consult with the Attorney General who is well informed as to the outrages already committed, and the localities where the greatest danger lies, and so order troops as to be available in case of necessity. All proceedings for the protection of the South will be under the Law Department of the Government, and will be directed by the Attorney General, in accordance with provisions of the Enforcement Acts; no instructions need therefore be given to the troops ordered into the Southern States, except as they may be transmitted from time to time on advice from the Attorney General, or as circumstances may determine hereafter.

(Signed,)
U. S. GRANT.

The Black Hills Expedition.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. — Lieut-General Sheridan to-day sent the following order by telegraph to Brigadier General Alfred H. Terry at St. Paul, Minn: Should companies now organizing at Sioux City and Yankton, trespass on the Sioux Indian reservation, you are hereby directed to use the force at your command, to burn their waggon trains, destroy their outfit and arrest the leaders, and confine them at the nearest military post in the Indian country. Should they succeed in reaching the interior you are directed to send such a force of cavalry in pursuit as will accomplish the purposes above named. Should Congress open up the country for settlement, by extinguishing the treaty rights of the Indians, the undersigned will give a cordial support to the settlement of the Black Hills. A duplicate copy of these instructions has been sent to the General commanding Department of the Platte.

(Signed,) P. H. SHERIDAN,
Lt. General.

War of Races—Proclamation by the Attorney General.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—As the result of the conference held at the War Department to-day, the following was issued this afternoon:—

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.

SIR,—Outrages of various descriptions and in some cases atrocious murders have been committed in a your district by bodies of armed men sometimes in disguise, and with a view it is believed of overawing and intimidating peaceable and law abiding citizens and depriving them of rights guaranteed them by the constitution and laws of the United States, your attention is directed to an Act of Congress passed April 9th, 1866, entitled "An Act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and to furnish means for their vindication;" and to another passed on the 20th of April, 1871, entitled "An Act to enforce the provisions of the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the "United States, and for other purposes; also to one passed May 30th 1870, entitled "An Act to enforce the right of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States of this Union, and for other purposes;" which, with their amendments, make these deeds of violence and blood offences within the jurisdiction of the general government. I consider it my duty in view of the circumstances to instruct you to proceed with all possible energy and despatch to detect, expose, arrest and punish the perpetrators of these crimes, and to that end you are to spare no effort or necessary expense. Troops of the U. S. Government will be stationed at different and convenient points in your district for the purposes of giving you all needful aid in the discharge of your official duties. You understand, of course, that no interference whatever is hereby intended with any particular party faction not in violation of the law, but protection to all classes of citizens, white and colored, in the free exercise of the elective franchise and enjoyment of other rights and privileges to which they are entitled under the constitution and laws as citizens of the United States. Instructions are issued by the authority of the President, with the concurrence of the Secretary of War.

Very respectfully,
GEO. H. WILLIAMS,
Atty. General.

The above is addressed to the U. S. Marshals and attorneys and is prepared with the approval and endorsement of the President to whom the substantial points were submitted during the the recent visit of the Attorney General to Long Branch.

Moulton and Tilton's Statements.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—It is now said that the statements of Moulton and Tilton will not be published till next week. The general public seem to have in a great measure dropped the subject.

Yellow Jack.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 3.—The brig 'Castilia,' from Havana, which came in sight of the station at Cape Henry on Thursday afternoon, reported that the captain and several of the crew had died of yellow fever. Nearly all the remainder of the crew were prostrated with the disease.

At the Caledonian celebration to-day prizes were won by J. A. Fullerton, of Montreal, who took third place for the standing jump, and J. A. Harvey, of Montreal, first place for the 100 yards race.

The Conshatta Affair.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 3.—Governor Kellogg has issued a proclamation, placing a reward of $5,000 ahead on all persons implicated in the Conshatta affair, and accompanying his proclamation by a statement.

CUBA.

Business Dull.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A letter from Havana, dated August 29th, says: Business of every description is very unsettled. Scarcely anything is doing owing to the extreme fluctuations of gold.

DYING
—BY—INCHES!

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pustules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis, &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acrimonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedent the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.
MONTREAL, 15th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathise with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

NORTHRUP & LYMAN,
Agents for the Province of Ontario,
Scott street, Toronto,
Or to DEVINS & BOLTON,

Price $1 per bottle. Large Bottles $2.

PAIN-KILLER

THE GREAT

Internal and External Remedy.

TAKEN INTERNALLY it relieves INSTANTLY the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY it is the best LINIMENT in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

Price, 25 Cents per Bottle.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may be thus afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS. 2356

BERMINGHAM'S
Real Estate Bulletin
FOR AUGUST, 1874.
READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1470 per annum, which can be in-creased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having seven airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $400 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

West half of lot 2, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $ 2 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 45 North Biddy, 41 and 48 south Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 34 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbrod streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality.

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now being erected across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stable, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 23 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth [illegible] nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D. P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 Pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

LEA & PERRINS
CELEBRATED
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE,
DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS
TO BE
THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.

CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to

ASK FOR LEA AND PERRINS' SAUCE,
and to see that their names are upon the wrapper, labels, stopper, and bottle.

Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.

Wholesale and for Export by the Proprietors Worcester; Crosse and Blackwell, London, &c. &c. and by Grocers and Oilmen universally.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes spendidly now.' H. Cole, of Iona, writes. "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q, write—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY! so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the ever changing phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollections of a Busy Life," by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S OIL so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest prices.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.......

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE

PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis and Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them set forth as possessing the real properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to materially affect the reputation which the genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essential Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate creamy appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

GENERAL NEWS.

SCOTCH AND IRISH PEERAGES.—The Select Committee of the House of Lords which was appointed to consider the representative peerages of Ireland and Scotland has issued its report. The Committee do not go so far as to recommend 'any sudden or artificial methods' for merging the peerages of Scotland and Ireland in that of the United Kingdom, but 'are strongly of opinion that such ultimate merging ought to be kept in view on all proper occasions by the advisers of the Crown.' Their present recommendations are that the number of Scottish representative peers should be raised from sixteen to twenty-one, so as to restore the proportional representation of Scotland in the two Houses of Parliament to the level that was settled by the Act of Union; that Scottish peers who are not representative peers should not be debarred from sitting in the House of Commons; a concession which three members of the Committee—the Duke of Buccleuch, Lord Saltoun, and Lord Elphinstone—reject, both on the ground that it would be an abandonment of 'their just claim to the removal of their disability to sit hereditarily in the House of Lords,' and also because, as they allege, the peers of Scotland have never been excluded from the House of Commons by law, but by the operation of the Act of Union which made them 'peers of Great Britain.' With respect to the Irish peerage, the Committee recommend the renunciation of the Queen's prerogative of creating new peers of Ireland; the addition of four to the number of the representative peers, in place of the four 'Lords Spiritual' who were excluded from the Upper House by the Irish Church Act; and that Irish peers should be allowed to sit in the House of Commons are representatives of Irish as well as of English and Scotch constituencies.

NOVEL POCKET PICKING.—A respectable person was arrested the other day in Paris on the charge of picking a pocket under circumstances which must command the sympathy of the most rigid moralist. He was returning home from a social gathering when the natural convulsion to which Lord Dundreary used to be so subject overtook him, and he sneezed in the most uncompromising manner. This usually satisfactory operation is not, however, entirely so to a civilized person unless he can command the assistance of a pocket handkerchief. The subject of this crisis, therefore, felt wildly in his pockets for the desired article, but his faithful companion had disappeared. Suddenly an emotion of joy, such as that which a shipwrecked sailor espies a distant sail, lighted up his tearful eye. He saw depending from the pocket of a friend walking a few paces in advance of him a red silk handkerchief, large, soft, and lustrous. A few seconds more and he had buried his still quivering and wistful nose in those delicious folds, when the hand of a police agent was laid on his shoulder, and the owner of the handkerchief turned round, revealing the countenance of a complete stranger. The pickpocket malgre lui was about to be led off to the station, when certain papers found on his person established his respectability so conclusively that he was suffered to go home, duly provided with a pocket handkerchief obligingly lent him by a police officer.

PARLIAMENTARY ETIQUETTE.—The inconvenience of commenting in one House of Parliament on proceedings in the other was pointed out by Mr Gladstone the other day, and Sir William Harcourt, who must have the credit of reintroducing the practice, cannot feel very comfortable under Lord Salisbury's explicit repudiation of the language attributed to him. We cannot help agreeing with Lord Salisbury that when the House of Commons spent two hours in discussing his alleged use of the phrase "blustering majority" in reference to those members of the Lower House who supported the Public Worship Bill, it was a waste of time and temper and fine words, and if such subjects of debate are to be entertained it will certainly be necessary, as Lord Salisbury has suggested, to distribute authentic reports of parliamentary proceedings among the members "in order that they may know what they are talking about." Neither Sir William Harcourt, when he assailed Lord Salisbury for the use of words he did not use, nor Mr. Disraeli, when he explained those words away as the playful sallies of "a great master of gibes and flouts and jeers," could have known "what they were talking about." It is satisfactory to be assured that Lord Salisbury did not talk of a "blustering majority" at all, and when he spoke of "bluster," applied it to the arguments of some peer whom he did not name. The Lord Chancellor accepted with remarkable meekness the responsibility of having provoked the rebuke, but was assured by Lord Salisbury that he was not meant. We may be content to leave it unsettled who blustered in the House of Lords, since the wounded honour of the House of Commons, which Sir William Harcourt was in such haste to vindicate, is found to have escaped uninjured after all from the "man who does not measure his phrases."

AN INGENIOUS INSURANCE EXPERIMENT.—A burned-out grocer in Constantinople has lately, according to the Levant Herald, tried an ingenious experiment upon the local agent of one of the insurance companies. Having grave doubts as to the cause of the fire, the agent declined to pay the insurance, and the grocer made an ostensible sale of his policy to two Croats. The latter blockaded the office of the insurance agent, and more Croatico threatened his life if he would not pay, which, however, he resolutely declined to do. On the 21st ult. the insurance agent expected a visit from the two Croats, and police detectives were concealed in his office. The Croats appeared in due course, and notified to the agent that unless the insurance was paid by the following Sunday he had better make his will and other final arrangements, as they would have no alternative but to put an end to him. No sooner had the Croats made this painful intimation to the insurance agent than the police nimbly emerged from their hiding place, seized the two Croats, and with the assistance of an escort of zaptiehs conveyed the unfortunate men in custody to the Pera police office. In the meantime, two other Croats have fallen into trouble by attempting to rob a large fruit garden at Buyukdere, the owner of which has recently bought a fine mastiff for the sum of £70. This faithful animal has proved himself quite worth the money, for when the Croats appeared in the garden he immediately disabled one by a succession of bites on the legs. He then seized the other Croat, and although his captive plunged a knife into him the mastiff held the Croat firmly until the police came upon the scene and marched both the thieves off to prison. The mastiff was not stabbed in a vital part, and is by latest accounts "doing nicely."

THE FIRST DOUBLE CHRISTIAN NAME.—There must be something about the town of Tamworth, suggesting as it does, the names of Marmion on the one hand and Peel on the other, which confuses the mind as to the intermediate seventeenth century. The writer of 'Table Talk' in the Guardian asks 'What is the earliest example of a double Christian name in England?' and says that one sent him by the Vicar of Tamworth is the earliest he has seen. This is Robert, son of Thomas Dooley Pyp, baptised in 1680. This does not tell us when Thomas Dooley himself was born, but it is not likely to have been so early as 1621. That was the year of the birth of a much more famous bearer of a double Christian name, Anthony Ashley Cooper, afterwards the first Earl of Shaftesbury. It would be rash to say that he was absolutely the first private Englishman who bore two Christian names, but it is certain that the double name was at least very rare in his time, and that it was often noticed as something strange in his case. To most men's minds Anthony Ashley would have suggested himself on such a point sooner than Thomas Dooley. But it is queerer still when the table-talker goes on to say: 'The register of Tamworth church also contains the following entry: "2 Nov. 1647, buried the body of George Fox, an enemy pirate." Was this the Quaker?' It is really strange that there should be a man who fancies himself able to teach the public about that matter, who has wholly forgotten Macaulay's account of George Fox and of his burial, not at Tamworth but near Bunhill-fields, not in 1647 but in 1691. The year 1647 was the year, not when George Fox died, but when he began his ministry, if ministry be the right word for one who despised ministrations of every kind, established and nonconformist alike.

AN ATTENTIVE GHOST.—It seems that a widow named Mrs. Green, living at Springfield, Kentucky, has for some time past been pestered by the attentions of a ghost, who, with singular bad taste, commenced this system of annoyance only three months after the death of her husband. It is, however, only fair on the part of the ghost to state that he appears to be really deeply smitten with Mrs. Green and to suffer much mental anguish, for, besides emitting singular and disagreeable sounds all night, he rumbles about the house all day, making a noise like that of a horse rolling on the floor or pawing violently on the carpet. He has several times appeared to the bereaved lady and her friends, and appears to be a [illegible]-sized ghost, wearing slippers, and half hidden in a white gauzy cloud. On the 30th of June, however, the conduct of this enamoured ghost led to a most mysterious and "crowning development"—namely, the ghost of Mr. Green, who justly incensed at the attentions paid by his brother ghost to his widow, suddenly made his appearance. Mrs. Green was at the time in the cellar, when she saw the late Mr. Green, or, to speak more correctly, half of the deceased gentleman, for only his lower limbs and feet were visible (easily recognizable by the peculiar cut of his trousers) and a cold hand was laid upon her shoulder. "In the name of goodness, Dick," exclaimed Mrs. Green, "what do you want?" Thus addressed, Mr. Green's ghost became very communicative, expressing his intention at once and decidedly to put a stop to the other ghost's proceedings. He also sent a few messages on business matters to his friends and vanished, repeating the word 'friend' three times. Since then Mrs. Green has heard such frightful knockings and groanings that there can be little doubt that Mr. Green's ghost is constantly punching the other ghost's head.

AN IRISH MURDER EPIDEMIC.—An epidemic of murder appears to have broken out in a limited part of the south of Ireland, a district only fifteen miles square. Three most atrocious crimes of the kind following one another in quick succession within the narrow area referred, to have alarmed the people living on the borders of Cork and Waterford. The victims belonged in all cases to the peasant class—small farmers or day labourers—and were old men or helpless women residing in lonely cottages where no alarm was possible and no help within reach. What is remarkable is that no trace can be discovered in these crimes of agrarian animosity or personal feuds. The police attributed them all to greed for gain; and suspicion has fallen on the tribe of roving tramps who have always been encouraged in Ireland by the popular tenderness for mendicancy. It is stated, moreover, that the character of this class has deteriorated by the admixture among them of men who have tried life in the United States, and, failing through laziness or shiftlessness, have come back with an increase in both their aptitude for low cunning and their readiness to resort to violence. It may be also that the unfortunate lenity of Irish juries towards crimes against the person has something to do with the recklessness of Irish criminals. A peculiarly savage murder, also for the sake of plunder, which was committed some time ago at Limerick, has up to the present time escaped unpunished. At the Limerick assizes in the spring the jury disagreed; and though the venue was changed to Cork, where the case was heard again last week, it seems only too probable that there also a failure of justice will happen.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—A sad carriage accident occurred the other day in California on the Geyser and Calistoga road to a six-horse passenger waggon, driven by a man named Foss, described by the Californian papers as "the famous dare-devil stage driver of California." It seems from the account given by the Napa-Californian Register that on the 29th of June Foss was driving his waggon, with three or four gentlemen, a lady and four children, as passengers, in his usual "dare-devil" style, when somehow it "capsized, dragged along, tearing off every seat." The four leaders then became detached and ran away, the waggon was left "bottom upwards," the lady was found with her children all bruised and her skull fractured; the four gentlemen have not since been heard of, but "it is likely that they being all men were able to jump clear of the wreck," and the "dare-devil" driver himself was discovered "against a fence senseless and raving, being injured internally." Further interesting information with regard to the casualty is given by another Californian paper, the Oakland Transcript, which states that one of the lady's children has had its shoulder dislocated, and another its leg broken. Foss, it is stated, "is pretty badly bunged up," "the coach is a perfect wreck," and what became of the horses no one by latest accounts was able to say. Altogether the "dare-devil driver of California" seems to have demolished himself, his waggon, his horses, and his passengers, and to have added fresh laurels to those which already encircled his brow.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10 1872 Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favorite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 2659

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1874

The Hon. Edward Blake arrived in the city yesterday, and is the guest of the Premier.

The Rev. Dr. Reid, of New York, who was elected Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church by the Conference now sitting at Napanee, has declined the honour, and Dr. Carman, President of Albert College, is now tendered the office. He had already been a candidate.

A telegram from Rome announces that the Rev. Father Duhamel, of St. Eugene parish, has been appointed Bishop of the Diocese of Ottawa, and that the Rev. Father Racine, of Quebec, has been appointed Bishop of Sherbrooke.

On Thursday Chief Justice Hagarty delivered judgment in the case of the Queen vs. Thompson & Smallpiece, for slandering the reputation of the Hon. George Brown, granting the rule absolute moved for by the Hon. John Hillyard Cameron. The case will in all probability come up for trial at the first assizes. We give the proceedings, as reported in the Globe, in full in another column.

The Canadian Germans, and many friends from Buffalo and other neighbouring portions of the United States, have been holding a grand choral festival, or gesangfest, at Waterloo, Ontario, for three days, beginning on Tuesday. The demonstration was a grand success, the programme consisting of patriotic speeches and songs, some of the former in English, national instrumental [illegible] bon-bon, and lager. The festival was brought to a close on Thursday amid great eclat.

The Reform Conventions of several western counties have within the last few days met and selected their candidates for the forthcoming Ontario general election. The nomination for East Middlesex was made at London, on Thursday. The names of Messrs. A. M. Ross, James Armstrong, James Evans, W. H. Niles, C. D. Holmes, H. Anderson, V. Cronyn, W. Rock, and D. [illegible] were submitted to the convention, and [illegible] ballot had been taken, a majority was polled for Mr. Evans whose nomination was made unanimous, all present expressing themselves determined to do their utmost to secure his return. On the same day the Brockville Reform Convention met, when the unanimous nomination of the party was offered to the Hon. C. F. Fraser, who, however, declined it, preferring to remain connected with his present constituency. Several gentlemen were then nominated, all of whom retired except Mr. David Wylie, of the Brockville Recorder, and Col. W. H. Cole. On a ballot being taken, the latter received a majority of votes, and was then unanimously selected as the party candidate. At Chatham, the nomination for the County of Kent also came off on Thursday, when the Hon. Archibald McKellar was unanimously and amid great eclat tendered the party nomination, and the convention adjourned for a month to await his reply. There is said be no doubt of his election should he see fit to accept. In fact there appears to be great enthusiasm and unanimity among the friends of the Local Government in the West, where they are not unlikely to make a clean sweep. The Reformers of the eastern section of Ontario are, we hear, also bestirring themselves, and will have their men in the field—and good men too—at an early day.

"GRANT AND DUFFERIN."

The above heading is not ours; we copy it, as we do a characteristic and able article which appears in another column, from the New York World. The subject of which it treats is scarcely indicated by the title, however. It is much less a comparison of the heads of the Executive of Canada and the United States personally, or the manner in which each of them performs his important duties—although to some extent it does make such a comparison, and that altogether in favour of our Governor General—than it is an estimate of the policy pursued by Canada towards the dusky aborigines of America and that adopted by the United States. The expression of opinion contained in this article, coming from the quarter it does, and coming at a time when the Indians and the troops of the United States are engaged in a murderous war, is of very great significance. Of course it comes from a journal which is, consistently we are constrained to believe, opposed to the present regime at Washington; but, clothed as they are in temperate language and free from anything akin to venom or recrimination, the truths which are stated with so much candour are none the less true. As the whole world is painfully aware, there has never been perfect peace, because there never has been perfect confidence on the one hand nor perfect good faith on the other, between the "Great Father" of the Union and the dusky children of the American forest. The policy of extermination has been too apparent in every act of the United States Government towards the unfortunate original possessors of the soil of this continent, and the perfidy which is bred of avarice and innate rascality only too characteristic of those acts of their Indian agents. Well and truly does the World remark that the ink is scarcely dry upon the Larimie Treaty, where the United States, by some of their most eminent citizens, pledged their faith, after due deliberation, that the Black Hills should not be invaded; and yet the columns of the American newspapers teem daily with details of a warlike expedition to that same Indian reserve with a view to silence as many as possible of the poor Indians in death, and thus leave their compatriots with an undying hatred of the white man, and a desperate desire for that revenge which only his blood could afford. Of course it would be unfair to lay the whole blame immediately upon the Government of the United States. The Indians have in the present instance been more of less the cause of their own miseries. But they have been goaded to rebellion, defiance, and the shedding of white men's blood, by acts which from no single point of view can be defended. Canada may well be proud of the tribute which is paid to her Indian policy—to its fairness, its justness, and its humanity, and she may be just as proud that she has a Governor who is capable of putting her sentiments before the world in such noble and patriotic words. But we have something equally gratifying with which to console ourselves in these days, and that is the perfect good faith and peaceful relations which exist between us as a people and our Indian population from one end of the Dominion to the other. Were the case otherwise, we might be inclined to sympathize with the people of the States, and ready to believe that the fault lay with the savage and not with the cultivated Christian; but the result of what Lord Dufferin ably terms the "policy of good faith and common sense" has been so satisfactory in our own case—has ever been so successful with tribes who, while on the other side of the line, were everlastingly on the war path—that the conclusion is forced upon us that our white brethren to the south of us have been models neither of probity, honour, nor honesty, and their conduct scarcely creditable to humanity or Christianity.

RAILWAYS IN MANITOBA.

The Manitoba newspapers are agitating the subject of local railway construction in that Province by local companies. They contend that the simple construction of lines of railway would bring people into the country, that the value of land would be enhanced, and commerce would receive an increased impetus. They express themselves confident that if local roads were built and the country opened up, connection with the eastern railway systems would be ensured all the earlier, because there would be the prospect of some return to the Dominion for its outlay, these local railways being certain, acting as feeders to the main artery, to bring considerable traffic towards the East in the way of exports. Winnipeg is looked upon as the great future railway centre of the North West, its geographical position and the agricultural fertility of the country surrounding it, giving ground for the prediction. The Nor' Wester, a paper by no means friendly to the Government, writing on this subject, considers the building of the Pembina branch of the Pacific Railway as a matter of the utmost importance to the city of Winnipeg, and it calls the attention of capitalists to the fact, predicting at the same time that Winnipeg will soon be the largest city west of Chicago.

The same journal also speaks very favorably of the proposed water and rail route from Winnipeg to Lake Superior, and assures us that the traffic which it would give rise to and which would pass over it, would be sufficiently large to at no distant day justify the Government in making a complete railway connection between the two points referred to. It shows how greatly the facilities for transportation would thus be increased, and the saving which would take place by the diminution of the labour of transhipment. In the meantime, the Nor' Wester is gratified that the prospect of direct and speedy communication with Lake Superior is so near, as there is the probability that there will soon be a large grain exportation from the province, and it will also increase the facilities for conducting in a more comfortable and satisfactory, as well as a quicker and cheaper manner the large and increasing emigration and freight traffic now passing over the Dawson Route. The number of emigrants and the amount of freight transported over this road during the present season was quite beyond the most ardent expectations of any one, and had never been anticipated. The Nor' Wester looks with hope to the not far distant time when the exportations of Manitoba can be elevated into vessels on reaching Lake Superior, and arrive at the seaboard without the necessity of transhipment. It even thinks it more than probable that their surplus grain will soon be shipped from Lake Superior direct for Europe. The whole article shows how satisfactory is the proposed railway and canal policy of the Government to the people as well of the North West as of the older Provinces, and is a complete reply to the assertions of our carping Tory contemporaries in the East to the contrary.

THE LATE JUDGE ARMSTRONG.

As will be seen from an obituary notice in another column, the illness from which Judge Armstrong had for some time suffered, terminated fatally yesterday morning at an early hour. That this would be the result, has been evident to his friends for the past few days. The immediate cause of death was congestion of the lungs; but age and a constant and uninterrupted attention to his laborious duties on the Bench paved the way. His death will be a loss to the community of no ordinary nature, for he was an honoured and useful citizen, and an upright and impartial judge. To his family the consolation is left—and it is vouchsafed to comparatively few—that he had arrived at a mature old age; besides, his death was that peaceful burning out of the lamp of life which gives hope of a happy hereafter. He was born at Manor-Hamilton—the seat of his paternal ancestors—in the county of Leitrim, Ireland, in the year 1801, and was descended from an old family of good standing. In 1819, he being then in his 19th year, he emigrated to Canada; ten years later he commenced the study of law with Messrs. Baldwin & Sullivan, then the leading law firm in Toronto: he completed his curriculum with Mr. Sampson, of Belleville, in 1834, in which year he was called to the bar; and in 1842, or within the short space of eight years thereafter, his ability and integrity as a lawyer gained for him the appointment of Judge of the County of Carleton. Thenceforth he became a permanent resident of the city of Ottawa, and took a deep, keen interest in its advancement, having closely identified himself with many of its charitable and beneficiary institutions. He was President, for example, of the Board of Trustees of the Protestant Hospital, of which he was one of the founders, and in the prosperity of which he took a very warm and hearty interest. He was also for a series of years President of the Ottawa Mechanics Institute and Athenæum—an institution which under his fostering care and vigilant supervision grew and flourished. He was, by virtue of his position as County Judge, a member of the Board of Commissioners of Police, where his sound judgment was of very great service in perfecting the administration of justice within the Corporation of Ottawa. Socially he was a gentleman of genial disposition and sympathetic nature, and his name will be long remembered in Ottawa with respect and affection. His loss will be sincerely and deeply regretted by his bereaved family and a large circle of personal friends.

CITY AND VICINITY

PERSONAL.—Mr. Alex. Begg, Ontario Emigration Agent to Scotland, has arrived in the city, and is staying at the Russell House.

SCOTTISH GAMES.—Almonte inaugurates its first annual Scottish games to-day. It is to be hoped success may attend the endeavors of the Scotchmen of this flourishing village.

MUNICIPAL LOAN FUND.—The municipality of the Township of Gloucester has resolved to expend its share of the Municipal Loan Fund in the improvement of Road and Bridges. It amounts to the sum of $9,000.

THE CITY HALL.—The vexed question of the City Hall has at last been settled by awarding the contract to the lowest bona fide division tenders, amounting in the aggregate to $64,937.

MEETING OF THE BAR.—A meeting of the Ottawa Bar takes place this afternoon at three o'clock, to make arrangements for the attendance of the members of the legal profession, at the funeral of Judge Armstrong to morrow.

A BAND FOR PEMBROKE.—The St. Patrick's Literary Society of Pembroke are organizing a brass band, and have deputed Mr John Wright, of that place, to invest $300 in purchasing instruments. Mr. W. H. Farrell, who taught the Carleton Place band, will be instructor of the new band

CHURCH OPENING.—A large and commodious Wesleyan Methodist church has recently been opened in East Hawkesbury. The inauguration services were conducted by the Rev. Dr Mark of this city. Some sixty dollars were taken up in the collection at the close of the service. The edifice will cost over three thousand dollars.

AGRICULTURAL.—The Agricultural exhibition for the county of Prescott will be held at Vankleek Hill on Tuesday the 15th day of October next. A good list of prizes is offered, and will doubtless be a source of attraction to men who take an interest in agricultural matters in the surrounding counties.

UNTRUE.—The paragraph that lately appeared in the city evening papers, to the effect that all Union bricklayers and masons have been prevented by order of their Union from working on my building, where stone from Mr. H. Robillard's quarry is being used, is incorrect, as the Union has taken no such action.

BASE BALL.—A friendly game between the Ottawa and Hull Base Ball Clubs will be played this afternoon at four o'clock on the ground of the former. The match should have come off on Thursday, but was postponed, owing to the Foot Ball contest between the Highlanders and Lowlanders. The admission to the grounds this afternoon will be only 15 cents, which is charged for the purpose of defraying expenses.

MASONIC FUNERAL.—Yesterday afternoon the members of Dalhousie Lodge paid the last token of respect to the memory of their late brother, sir G. W. Steacy. In this they were assisted by brethren from sister lodges. The members of the fraternity assembled at the Masonic Hall at two p.m., and marched to the late residence of the deceased, and from thence to Beechwood Cemetery, where they interred the remains in accordance with the rites of the order.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday evening a driver of one of the City Passenger Railway Cars had a narrow escape from receiving very serious injuries. It seems that while in the act of unhitching his horses to allow the car to pass over the temporary tram way across the Sappers' Bridge, he fell accidentally on the track, the car which was running at a pretty rapid speed at the time, striking him on the leg, and injuring the limb very severely. Fortunately the man escaped without any broken bones, but he has been so severely bruised as to incapacitate him from attending to his duties for a few days at least.

A YOUNG EAGLE. Mr. A. W. Lang of Sparks Street, has in his shop a very young specimen of the genus eagle. The other day while out on the Bank Street road, near Billing's Bridge, Mr. Lang observed coming towards him a large bird, and just as it was passing he threw his walking stick at it and felled it to the ground. Having stunned it with the blow he succeeded in capturing his prize ere it had sufficiently recovered to make good its escape. It is somewhat ferocious and will fight dogs, cats or other animals that chance to come within reach, using its talons pretty dexterously in the encounter. It already evinces a desire to become domesticated.

ROBBERY AND SHOOTING AFFRAY.—A very serious fracas took place yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock in the St George's Hotel, Rideau street, which almost resulted in a serious loss of life. It would seem that a man unknown in the city, and presumed to have come in the train of the circus, is the party responsible for the whole affair. He is said to have robbed a man named Abram Henderson, a mason residing on Ashburnham Hill, of five dollars. Henderson having become suspicious of this man seized him and demanded his money. He had scarcely done so when the thief retaliated by drawing his revolver from his pocket and firing at him. The ball grazed his person and entered the floor alongside of where he was standing. When he fired the shot he immediately took to his heels and fled, followed by several men who yelled at the top of their voices, murder! murder! and called upon some one to catch him. Upon reaching the By Ward Market on York street, P. C. Lepine seized the fugitive, when he was immediately fired upon by the daring villain. He also miraculously escaped, the ball grazing his arm. The scoundrel was secured, and now lies in the station, awaiting his trial before the magistrate. He will doubtless be sent down to the Assizes.

MURRAY'S CIRCUS.—Murray's great Railroad circus opened in this city yesterday afternoon and to a crowded house in the evening. The performance throughout was first class. The grand entry to the ring of horses and men was as good as has been in Ottawa for some time. The lying down of the horses and dismounting of the riders was a scene not often witnessed in circuses. The wardrobe is another feature of the show; seldom are such fine costumes seen as was worn by the performers. A chair and bottle feat by Mr. J. Leclair was for some time the subject of wonder. This was followed by some daring equestrian feats by Mr. W. Cooke. Tom Barry, as clown was well received. His singing and jokes provoked much mirth. He was ably assisted in his comicalities by Mr. Almonte who also makes a good jester clown. The juggling of Mr. John Cotterell on a running globe was a masterly effort and was warmly applauded. The double equestrian feats of Miss Emma and Mr. William Fredericks was greatly admired. The bareback riding of the latter afterwards, and his leaping from the ground to a standing position on the horse's back won the plaudits of the entire assembly. The equestrian feats of the young ladies were graceful, and the flights through hoops and over banners were well executed. Miss Turnour on the flying trapeze held the spectators bewildered for a considerable length of time. The acrobatic feats were good, and ended with Mr. Cook leaping over eight horses. Mr. Seymour's double somersault and the same feat by Mr. Cook over eight horses and three men, were rapturously applauded. Mr. Murray exhibited a well trained horse. Another somewhat novel feature was the acting of a trained goat, which also performed the difficult feat of walking up and down an incline on an ordinary piece of two-inch scantling. The skilful riding of Mr. James E. Cooke, wherein he ably managed the reins over six horses, called forth immense applause. Mr Murray offers a good show to the public, and will no doubt to-day be liberally patronized, it being the last opportunity to witness it in this city.

CITY COUNCIL.

An adjourned special meeting of the City Council was held last night, His Worship the Mayor in the chair. Present Aldermen Bangs, Pratt, David, Christie Rowe, Birkett, Robertson, Rocque, McDougal, O'Connor, Heney, Groulx, Waller and Durocher.

DEATH OF JUDGE ARMSTRONG.

His Worship stated before preceding to business, that he sincerely regretted to have to announce to the Council the death of Judge Armstrong an old and much respected citizen. He would at the same time add that he thought some resolution should be passed in respect of his memory, and steps taken for the Corporation to attend the funeral in a body.

Ald. Heney had known the deceased for over 30 years, and it was due to his long services that some recognition should be taken of his death.

He therefore moved, seconded by Ald. Bangs. "That this Council learns with unfeigned regret of the decease of His Honor, Judge Armstrong, and desires to express, that this city has sustained a severe loss by the death of so honest and upright a Judge."

This resolution was carried unanimously, and the clerk instructed to send a copy of the resolution to his widow and family.

On motion of Ald. McDougal, seconded by Ald. Rocque, it was agreed that the City Council should attend the funeral in a body.

CITY HALL TENDERS.

His Worship the Mayor ruled that the meeting was a continuation of the previous council to consider the City Hall tenders, and that the motion of Ald. Christie to accept the tender of Crain and Lyon was before the Council. He also stated that a resolution had been handed in by Ald. Christie, moving the previous question, which would have to be put to the Council without debate.

Ald. Rowe hoped Ald. Christie would withdraw the second resolution, as it prevented an opportunity for discussion, and, being absent at the last meeting, he would like to know how matters stood.

Ald. Christie withdrew the resolution for the previous question.

Ald. Waller moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Robertson, that the following tenders be accepted:—

Johnson & Reid, Carpenters	$22 073
P. Cassidy, Mason	32,474
H. Roche, Gasfitter	4,390
Thos. Dunn, Plasterer	3,110
Keough & Strange, Painters	3,581
Total	$65,628

The amendment was lost on the following division:

Yeas—Rowe, Robertson, Waller, Birkett and Heney.

Nays—Pratt, David, Bangs, Christie, McDougal, Rocque, Groulx, O'Connor and Durocher.

A question being asked as to the legality of submitting resolutions previously voted on by the Council.

His Worship the Mayor remarked that they could not be entertained unless Rule 32 was suspended or a reconsideration moved.

Ald Pratt accordingly moved, seconded by Ald Waller, that Rule No. 32 of the Rules of Order be suspended during the present meeting, and that any question that has been before this meeting can be reconsidered.

This being carried, Ald. Pratt then moved, seconded by Ald. Bangs, that the tenders of

George Adams, Masonry	$31,256
Johnson & Reid, Carpentry	22 073
Thos. Dunn, Plastering	3,110
H. Roche, Gasfitting, &c	4,390
H. Gallagher, Plastering	2 890
	$63 719

be accepted by this Council, for the erection of the proposed new City Hall.

This was voted on with the following result.

YEAS.—Pratt, David, Bangs, Rowe and Walter.

NAYS.—Christie, Robertson, Birkett, McDougal, Rocque, Groulx, O'Connor, Heney and Durocher.

Ald. Rocque then moved seconded by Ald. Waller that the tenders of:—

Johnson and Reid, Caprenters	$22,073 00
P. Cassidy, Mason	32,474 00
H. Roche, Gasfitter	4 300 00
Thos. Dunn, Plasterer	3,110 00
H. Gallagher, Painter	2,800 00
	$64 637 00

be accepted and that they be notified to sign all necessary papers and give securities to the satisfaction of His Worship the Mayor and City Solicitor within eight days and provided any of the above mentioned parties refuse to sign his contract, prepared by the City Solicitor, or to give the required security that then this motion be void, and that His Worship report the facts.

This amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Pratt, David, Bangs, Rowe, Robertson, Waller, Borkett, Reckque, O'Connor, Heney and Durocher.

Nays—Christie, McDougald and Groulx.

The Council then adjourned.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, Esq, P. M.

FRIDAY, Sept. 4.

R. Dolan, charged with a breach of the peace, was fined $1 and costs.

Narcisse Menoche, charged with using insulting language, was let off on payment of costs.

Mary Gayette, for keeping a house of ill-fame, was sent to durance vile for a month, at hard labor.

Mary Lapointe, for being an inmate of the house, was sent down for two months.

Thos. Clarkson, arraigned for assault, was fined $1 and costs.

George Hughes, on a similar charge, was mulcted in $5 and costs.

Wm. Askley, another bruiser, was relieved of $2 and costs.

That was shrewd advice of a learned lawyer to a pupil: 'When the facts are in your favor, but the law opposed to you, come out strong on the facts; and when the law is in your favor and the facts opposed to you, come out strong on the law.' 'But,' inquired the student, 'when the law and the facts are both against me, what shall I do?' 'Why, then,' said the lawyer 'talk round it.'

THE WAR OF RACES

TROUBLE IN THE SOUTH.

Secession Openly Discussed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.

A Times Washington special says that Alexander White, Congressman, at large from Alabama, reports that there never was such excitement in the South as now, and the probabilities of another secession war are openly discussed.

Grant and Dufferin.

[From the New York World.]

While President Grant and his Cabinet were on board the City of Pekin, tarrying long at their wine in the interests of the Pacific Mail, Earl Dufferin was, as appears from The World's Brantford correspondence, otherwise engaged. After a lengthy summer tour to the impoverished settlers and scattered Indian bands along the northern shores of Lakes Huron and Superior, the Governor-General is now traversing the Peninsula of Ontario, visiting impartially his red and white constituents, and being received by both with—as the French would say—equal effusion. His speech to the powerful Six Nations, the tomb of whose great chieftain, Brant, he had just visited, deserves attention, reiterating as it does the open secret of Canada's success in treating her Indians, and conveying an intimation of her future progressive policy. Recognizing the fact that the nomadic habit was not to be shaken off in one or two generations, the Governor-General advised them frankly that in the coming generation they would be expected more equally to compete with their white fellow-subjects in agriculture and industry, thus carrying out the idea of Mr. Howe, who objected to subsidize the Plain Indians of the Northwest, because even after game had disappeared they had a bountiful soil under their feet, which they were as well able to till as the white men. Over and over again His Excellency pledged the Dominion and the Mother Country to what he called "the policy of common sense and good faith," assuring his three thousand hearers that "the word of Britain, once given, was never broken," and that "from one end of the Dominion to the other every Indian subject should feel that he enjoyed the rights of a freeman, and could with confidence appeal to the British Crown for protection."

These were as brave words as we shall hear these summer days, braver indeed than Mr. Grant's oration on the 'constitutional and geographical relations of New Jersey and the Union,' and better than their eloquence is their truth. During the same visit we find the Munsees citing treaties made with Tecumseh and his warriors by Proctor as he retreated from the St. Clair River to be routed, by Harrison and Johnson's Kentuckians at the battle of the Thames, among those with whose observance they were satisfied. And yet the ink is hardly dry on the Laramie treaty, where the United States by some of their most eminent citizens pledged their faith after due deliberation that the Black Hills should not be invaded!

Truly Earl Dufferin is right. What we want is the 'policy of good faith and common sense,' departing not from our obligations and suffering no departure from the obligations assumed towards us by others ranking the Indian with the white, the negro and the Chinaman as an intelligent and responsible being, for whom neither the laws of nature nor of society are to be infringed or suspended. Whenever we shall adopt and honestly carry out such a policy, then the name of the United States may become in Indian affairs what Earl Dufferin declares with just pride that of Canada to be—'from ocean to ocean a synonym for humanity, for good faith, and for benevolent treatment.'

THE BROWN SLANDER.

Judgment for Mr. Brown.

COMMON PLEAS.

Present:—Chief Justice Hagarty, Mr. Justice Gwynne, and Mr. Justice Galt.

The Queen v. Thompson and Smallpiece—Chief Justice Hagarty, yesterday, delivered the judgment of the Court as follows:—

This is an application on behalf of Mr. George Brown for leave to file a criminal information against these defendants as publishers of certain libels against him.

His affidavit, sworn 22nd August, 1874, states that he has read an article published in the National newspaper in Toronto, on the 16th August, 1874 setting it out verbatim; that the applicant is the person referred to and negativing the statements, and that they are intended to prejudice and injure him;

That the defendants "are and were on said 16th August, 1874, proprietors and publisher of the said National newspaper and the said article hereinbefore set out and referred to was printed and published by them and is the same article which is contained in the said newspaper attached to the affidavit of Charles Lysander Roberts filed on this application.

The affidavit of Roberts is sworn the same day, and states "the annexed copy of the National newspaper bearing date on the 16th August, 1874, was on that day published in Toronto, at 21 Adelaide St. East, by Thomas Phillips Thompson and Henry Edward Smallpiece, who are the publishers and proprietors thereof."

The newspaper annexed contains the libel set out in the applicant's affidavit.

A similar affidavit is filed by the applicant as to each of the other two libels accompanied by a like affidavit with the newspapers attached.

The application was made to the Court on the 24th of August, and the rule is drawn up "on reading the three several affidavits of George Brown and the several affidavits of Charles L. Roberts, Alfred Houel and Trevellyan Ridout and the printed papers thereto annexed to the said affidavit of C. L. Roberts, beginning with the words" &c., &c., &c.

Cause was shown by M. C. Cameron, Q.C., and R. A. Harrison, Q.C., and Mr. J. Hillyard Cameron, Q.C., supported the application.

It was objected that the applicant's affidavit was defective in referring to the affidavit of Roberts as "filed on this application," the application not being then made or for two days after, and also objections were taken to the allegations as to publications by these defendants as being insufficient, and Rex v. Baldwin 8 A and E 168; Rex v. Woolmer 12 A and E 422; Ex Parte Smith 21 L. T. N. S. 294; Rex v. Parkyns 3 B and Ald 665; Ex Parte Dale 2 C. L. R.; 28 Law and Eq. Repts, 165; Rex v. Strange L. R. 6 Q. B. 352.

The case of Rex v. Baldwin was very different from the present. The affidavits stated that defendant was the printer of a newspaper called the Standard, and did on, &c., insert and print in said newspaper a certain scandalous libel, &c., a copy of which said libel is hereto annexed, &c. The newspaper was annexed to the affidavit.

The court held that there should be proof of publication by defendant distinctly given. Patterson, J., adds, 'There is an express statutory provision as to the proof in such cases. If parties will not adopt that, they must show publication by some direct proof, as that a party bought the libel in defendants' shop'

In Rex v. Woolmer the affidavits contained the stamp office certificates, verifying the declaration delivered to the office, whereby it appeared that defendants stated they were printers, publishers, and sole proprietors of a newspaper named therein.

When motion was made, a newspaper was exhibited to the Court corresponding with the declaration and containing the passage complained of. It was not, however, annexed to any of the affidavits or filed, and the rule was drawn up only on reading certain affidavits and other papers there annexed

The Court held this insufficient, that the newspapers should be filed with the affidavit, and that it was essential the rule should be drawn up on reading it. In Regina v. Stanyer, it was held it was not sufficient to swear that defendant was, as deponent believed, the publisher of the newspaper. Blackburn, J., says that information and belief is not sufficient evidence that defendant was the publisher of the libel.

The case before us is, we think, free from these objections. The newspapers are filed and the rule drawn up on reading them

Mr. Cameron's objections that the reference to the affidavits filed on this application cannot be supported, or properly be held to refer to affidavits not filed till two days after. We think 'filed on application' naturally means—there being only one application about being made or to be made on these affidavits. Nothing but the most distinct authority binding upon us should, we think, induce us to give effect to such an objection. We see nothing in the objection that the rule is moved by counsel for the Crown.

It was also urged that we should consider the position in life of the applicant as simply described as an 'Esquire' and Ex Parte Dale was cited.

We have seen two reports of that case and find no such doctrine laid down. It is merely to the effect that the Court will not grant the rule on a libel in a private letter addressed to the relator.

Ex Parte Smith merely shows that where a newspaper had published a severe article as to the guilt of a man charged with the murder of his wife, for which he was afterwards tried and convicted of manslaughter an application for a criminal information subsequently made to the court was refused, as under the circumstances and after what had taken place, it was not a case for the interference of the Court.

Then the defendants file an affidavit that they received information of the matters stated that in the alleged libel from persons, whom they believed to be reliable and trustworthy, and that they had no personal knowledge of the matters. That the Globe newspaper, which is controlled by the applicant published a number of articles violently attacking the private and moral character of one Sangster, a candidate for a public office, and articles upon that subject were continually appearing in said newspaper. That the applicant is an active politician, and uses the paper he controls to attack the personal and private character of persons politically opposed to him, and having attacked said Sangster on a subject akin to the matter alleged to be libellous, the defendants believing the truth of the statements made to them, with a view of counteracting the attacks made in said newspaper upon the said Sangster, published the information so given to them without malice, and believing the same to be true.

We do not think that anything stated in this affidavit should prevent our acceding to the present application if it be otherwise entitled to succeed. These statements respecting Sangster seem quite beside the question. It may or may not have been, for all that we can know, judicially right and proper to have made the statements referred to as to him. Nor can we know anything in the information before us as to the propriety or impropriety of the alleged attacks upon the character of persons said to be politically opposed to the applicant.

We have examined the late case of Regina v. Aunger, 28 L.T.N.S. 630, and the remarks of Blackburn J. as to the discretion of the Court in refusing, in certain cases, to allow this prerogative proceeding. In that case one of the specific charges had not been sufficiently met, and the alleged libel was of a political and public character. Here it is wholly of a private and domestic nature. It is sufficient for us to say that there is nothing laid before us on this application to warrant our making an exception against the applicant, and refusing to him the leave of this Court to file a criminal information for this reiterated publication in a newspaper of matter not pretended either to be not libellous, or to be true in fact.

Our judgment is that the rule be made absolute.

Josh Billings has an entirely bald head. It is related of him that once, when he was at the Zoological Gardens in Paris, the day being warm, he lay down upon one of the benches and went to sleep. After a while he was awakened by a sense of suffocation, and when he opened his eyes he found that something covered his eyes. He began to struggle to release himself and the next moment a gigantic ostrich leaped up and began to prance down the path. The ostrich had observed the top of Josh's bald head, and, mistaking it for one of its eggs, had begun to sit upon it for the purpose of hatching.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealer. 1m

Toole tells another amusing story with regard to his making-up. The incident occurred one night when he was playing for a benefit at Sadler's Wells. He performed at the Surrey theatre and at the Adelphi on the same evening and, as may be imagined, had little time to lose in dressing, etc. However his work over at the Surrey and the Adelphi, he left the latter establishment, taking a cab, in order to be driven to Sadler's Wells. He entered the cab as Mr. Spriggins—an old man—the character in 'Ici on Parle Francais,' which he had just been playing, and to the cabman's intense surprise, when he opened the door of the vehicle for his fare to dismount at the stage entrance of Sadler's Wells, the popular attire of Muster Grinidge, in the 'Green Bushes,' met his eye. There was, of course, no vestige of old Mr. Spriggins in the cab. "What have you done with the old man?" cried the startled cabman frightened at his sudden disappearance, "Where's the old man?" Hereupon Toole explained to him how that he and the old man were one and the same person, held out a liberal fare and told him they were waiting for him on the stage inside the theatre. But the cabman was for a long time obdurate. He thought that some unfair play had been transacted, and refused to let his fare go, calling on him continually to produce the "old man!" The disturbance might have been indefinitely prolonged had not some of the theatrical officials come outside to look for the recreant actor, and found him struggling between the cabman and the appreciative crowd. Of course a release was affected and Toole taken in triumph on the stage.—The Illustrated Review.

FEROCIOUS CRIME.—The Pall Mall Gazette says:—It is to be regretted that colliers will not, or cannot, moderate their amusements, and the conduct of six young colliers, who were charged the other day at the St. Helens police-court, Lancashire, with assaulting an old man named M'Grath, over eighty years of age, seems at first sight rather unjustifiable. It appears that these thoughtless young men a few nights ago occupied their leisure moments by attacking several cottages, smashing the windows and doors. They then entered M'Grath's house, and having struck a light, commenced operations at once by knocking one of the old men's eyes out, kicking him and throwing him on the floor. Then, seeing a bucket of newly slacked lime handy, they opened M'Grath's mouth and forced some of the lime down his throat. The empty socket of his eye was also filled with the same material, and the contents of the bucket emptied upon him. M'Grath by this time appearing to be dead, the young men not entirely destitute of good feeling, were kind enough to leave him alone, and contented themselves with savagely kicking and beating Mrs. M'Grath. Some persons will, no doubt, speak as harshly of this occurrence as though it were a case of attempted murder; but M'Grath was not killed. By the latest accounts he was comfortably lying at the St. Helens hospital—quite blind it is true—but not dead. The young colliers have for a wonder been committed for trial, and, if the facts stated are proved against them, will, no doubt, receive some punishment.

MONTREAL.

The Local Ministry—Union Bank v. J. B. Stevenson—Killed on the Track—Hudon Cotton Factory.—Markets.

MONTREAL, Sept. 3.

Hon. Mr. Robertson left last night for Quebec having completed his investigation into the Tanneries land swap. His decision is looked for anxiously. The latest report anent the Government is that the Hon. Mr. Robertson will not resign, that the Cabinet will be reconstructed, with Messrs. Lynch, representative of Brome, and Gendron, member for Bagot, to replace Messrs. Irvine and Ross, resigned, and that the Government as reconstructed will meet Parliament.

It is stated that the high price of bricks is causing a number of country makers to bestir themselves, and that they are taking measures to carry on their operations upon an extended scale, and are securing improved machinery for that purpose. It is evident that the monopoly in the brick trade cannot be of long duration.

The demand of the Union Bank of Lower Canada v J. B. Stevenson, to enforce an assignment in insolvency, was yesterday withdrawn.

It is estimated that 1,700 frontiersmen will go through their annual drill at Laprairie the week after next.

The family of the Governor General will arrive from Cadouna to-morrow by boat, and will continue their journey to Ottawa.

St Hyacinthe is building a three-foot railway to Lake Champlain.

A notorious thief named Theo. Bourke, who has been under arrest for several weeks, made his escape this afternoon while undergoing a preliminary investigation in the Police Court.

Yesterday morning as the Waterloo mail train was passing over the peat marsh, this side of Farnham, it caught up with Louis Jette, an old man aged 84, a beggar, who lived at St. Brigide, and who was walking on the track, followed by a dog which drew his cart. Discovering his danger, he sprang to get the dog off, but not having time, jumped back, and slipping fell, the heel of the cowcatcher striking him on the right shoulder. He lived only about five minutes.

The Hudon Cotton Factory is running very successfully, and to supply the increasing demand the proprietors are putting in a hundred more looms, which, with other necessary machinery, will go into operation within a week. The number of hands now 250, will be increased to 300. 48,000 yards of cotton cloth were turned out last week.

The flour market is very quiet. Sales—50 superior extra at $6 12½; 100 extra at $5 95; 100 strong bakers' at $5 70; 150 spring extra at $5 45.

There is nothing now to note in the money market, which continues quiet and very easy at unchanging rates.

Sterling exchange was nominal to-day at 109¼.

The Market this morning was quiet, without any decided change in prices, except in Montreal Telegraph which was higher.

Sales of Montreal 184¼, closing at 194¼ to 194¾.

Telegraph up to 2½ closing at 1½ to 2½.

Toronto 187, closing at 186 to 190.

Commerce 136½ to 137.

Merchants 119½ to 119¾.

Royal Canadian 98 to 98½.

QUEBEC.

Reciprocity—Rain Needed—Bi-centenary of the Archdiocese of Quebec.

QUEBEC, Sept. 3.

The Rev Mr. Bonneau, military chaplain, has obtained one year's leave on account of ill-health, and will retire to the Convent of the Sisters of Charity.

John Mahony, a laborer, while at work to-day, suddenly felt unwell, and died in a few minutes. The medical man called in at the inquest to-day, was of opinion that death had resulted from disease of the heart.

The two hundredth anniversary of the formation of the Archdiocese of Quebec will be celebrated on the 1st of October next at the French Cathedral and the Laval University. Thirty-eight Bishops have already answered that they will be present at this grand festival. By a decree of the Vatican, the Cathedral has been erected into a Basilique Mineure, and the Pope has signified his intention of giving a picture representing the Holy Virgin.

A meeting of the Quebec Cabinet has been summoned for to-morrow.

The Hon. J. J. Ross ex-Speaker of the Legislative Council, arrived in town yesterday.

Dr. Moffat died to day after an illness of a few hours.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for the 9th inst, to discuss the proposed Reciprocity Treaty.

The weather continues very dry. Rain is much needed by the country, very little having fallen during the past two months.

HALIFAX

The Crops—Yacht Race.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 3.

From all parts of the country come good reports of the crops.

The Government schr Ella J. McLean, from St. John, brought here two iron bell buoys, one of which will be placed on the Sisters, off Sambro, and the other on Bars Rock, off Cape Sarso.

The market wharf property has been purchased by E. Morrison & Co. for $58,400.

The yacht race for the Governor-General's medals came off to-day, starting at noon, Squirrel, Whisper and Petrel competing in the first-class, and six other boats in the second-class. The medal for the first-class was won by Mr. Armstrong's Squirrel, and the one of the second-class by Mr. Norris' Cygnet. The course was from the Club's piers around Tarump Camp buoy and back.

KINGSTON.

Rain—The Abortion Case—Preparations to Receive the Governor General.

KINGSTON, Sept. 3.

To-day it rained for several hours, and there is great thankfulness for the relief from drought.

Bail will not be accepted for the prisoner Spencer, charged with using the instrument causing the late abortion. Dr. Nash was bailed.

Col. Coffin arrived to-day to conduct the sales of Government lands here, which are to last two or three days.

The preparations for the Governor General's reception are going on smoothly and well.

PRESCOTT.

Races—Purchase of Blood Stock.

PRESCOTT, Sept. 4.

The Committee of the Prescott Driving Club have offered one thousand dollars in purses to be run and trotted for here on the 6th by 7th and 8th of October. The track is acknowledged by all horsemen to be one of the best for running horses there is in Canada.

Mr. J. R. Wiser, of this town, has lately gone extensively into blood stock. He has purchased the horse 'Rysdyke,' for which he paid ten thousand dollars, also, the 'Hambeltier' mare, and colt four weeks old, by 'Rysdyke,' by her side, and 'Patchen mare with filly, eight weeks old by her side, one of Peck's Idol. They arrived yesterday.

BELLEVILLE.

Brutal Murder—Arrest of the Murderers.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 3.

A most deliberate and unprovoked murder was perpetrated last night at the Race Course Hotel, about two miles east of the town. That place is noted for dances and rough crowds, and last night, while a dance was going on, two men, named John Josey and Jonathan Blytheman drove down in a buggy, and after remaining a short time called one of the girls, named Jane Boulton, to the door and urged her to go with them. Upon her refusal, Josey immediately drew a revolver and shot her through the head. She died about two or three hours afterwards. The two men then got in the buggy and drove down the road, but after going a short distance they got out and made towards the bay. The police were quickly at hand and succeeded in arresting Blytheman without much difficulty, but Josey had got a boat and was endeavoring to escape across the bay. The police patrolled the bay all night, and finally succeeded in arresting him this morning near Rednersville. Both men are now in custody.

PROVENCHER ELECTION.

Riel Elected by Acclamation.

FORT GARRY, Sept. 3.

Riel was elected to-day for Provencher by acclamation. Dr. Bown was nominated in opposition, but through some informality, the nomination was rejected. Bown's friends are confident they can defeat the election through the courts. The day passed off quietly. There was no excitement.

SMITH'S FALLS.

The Approaching Vice Regal Visit.

SMITH'S FALLS, Sept. 4.

Great preparations are being made here to give the Governor General a grand reception on Monday next. The Smith's Falls brass band, being the best in the County of Lanark, it is rumoured are to escort him to Carleton Place Junction.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

SPAIN.

The Crises in the Cabinet.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch from Madrid to the Times says:—The Cabinet crises continues. Senor Coloner, President of the Council, persists in his resignation.

General Blanco and other leaders of the Northern Army have accompanied General Seabold to Madrid.

New Ministry.

MADRID, Sept. 4.—Marshal Zeabala's Cabinet has resigned. Senor Sagosta will form a new Ministry, probably constituted as follows:

Sagosta, President of Council and Minister of Interior.
Ulloa, Minister of Foreign Affairs.
Calemandera, Minister of Justice.
Serrano Bedoya, Minister of War.
Cameto, Minister of Finance
Rodrigues Arias, Minister of Marine.
Navarre Rodrigo, Minister of Commerce.
Romeso Orles, Minister of the Colonies.

Reinforcements for Cuba.

Two thousand men will be sent to Cuba in a few days to reinforce the Spanish troops on the island.

The Siege of Puyceerda

The Carlists have abandoned the siege of Puycerda. The failure of the insurgents to capture the place causes great rejoicing

BELGIUM.

Terrible Coal Mine Explosion—Several Lives Lost.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 3.—By an explosion in a coal mine at Doen yesterday several lives were lost, and five miners were badly injured.

UNITED STATES

Platform of the Republican Convention.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 4.—The platform of the Republic Convention, held yesterday, opposes the third term of the Presidency and favors the election of a President by a direct vote. It recommends that the Government establish and operate a double track of railway from the Missouri river to the Atlantic coast, and favors the transfer of the Indian management to the War Department; and also favors free banking.

Obit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Madame Agatha, the operatic singer, died here yesterday.

SS Arrival.

Arrived: ss. 'France,' from London.

Suspension.

Bigler & Co., heavy lumber dealers, of Newbury, have been compelled to suspend. It is said that the suspension is caused by the failure of Comptroller Green of this city to pay bills to the amount of $200,000.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Safety of the Austrian Polar Expedition.

LONDON, Sept. 4—The members of the Austrian Polar Expedition, for whose fate grave fears were felt, have been heard from. They were shipwrecked and took to sleighs, in which they have succeeded, after a long journey, in reaching the Norwegian Island of Wardoe.

LATER—Sept. 5—Further details of the Austrian-Polar expedition have been received: After abandoning their ship the party travelled for seven months in sledges and passed two winters on the ice. The highest point reached was in latitude 80. A large tract of land was discovered to northward of Novazembla. The expedition arrived at Welrido on a Russian boat. Only one death occurred during the entire voyage.

The Transit of Venus

The expedition from the United States to observe the transit of Venus, arrived at Cape Town on 5th of August.

SPAIN.

The Carlist War.

MADRID, Sept. 4.—The Carlists are entrenching themselves around Bilbos. The damage done by the bombardment of Puycerda was insignificant.

FRANCE.

Bazaine's Escape.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—The official report of the Commission appointed to investigate the circumstances of Bazaine's escape, is made public. It implicates the jailors, and states that they were instigated by Colonel Vilette, Bazaine's aide-de-camp, to further the prisoner's flight, but acquits the garrison of that part of complicity in the affair.

Bazaine Gone to England.

Le Bien Public says Marshal Bazaine has gone to England.

Meeting of the Committee of the National Assembly—A Tirade against the Press.

A meeting of the permanent committee of the National Assembly was held yesterday. M. Buffet, President of the Assembly, presided.

M. D. Mahey, Deputy of the Left, complained of the continuous righteous treatment of the Government of newspapers in the municipalities. He also called particular attention to the speeches of Captain Mun at a meeting in La Vendee in which he advised his hearers to follow the example of the inhabitants of that Department at the first revolution and draw their swords against their enemies.

Chauteaubrand La Tour, Minister of the Interior, replied that the Government would make inquiries into this matter.

M. Tirard, another Deputy of the Left, complained of the unequal treatment of newspapers by the Government. Some he charged were favoured and others were oppressed. He also made complaint against restrictions placed upon the introduction and circulation of foreign journals, and of the suspension of newspapers in Bordeaux, because it stated that Marshal McMahon was coldly received during his recent journeys.

M. Tirard declared that notwithstanding these proceedings by the Government, the Paris Figaro was allowed to incite citizens to hatred of each other. He demanded the cessation of these rigorous measures.

La Tour justified the action of the Government in suspending a journal in Bordeaux, and in prohibiting the publication of eight other Bonapartist papers, because of the reproduction in their columns of attacks which were of a serious nature. He stated, however, that he regretted the necessity of such proceedings.

M. Picard asked the Government to enforce the decision of the Assembly abolishing the Empire. He said that M. Berger, the Bonapartist candidate for the Assembly in the Department of Maire et Loire, had issued a circular to the electors ignoring the decision.

La Tour said he disapproved of this circular, but was unwilling to interfere, because it would be an invasion of electoral liberty.

Several members of the extreme Right uttered their protests against the recognition of Marshal Zerrano's Government in Spain, because it was opposed to the interest of France.

La Tour replied that France had acted in harmony with the other powers and also added that large bodies of troops had been dispatched to the frontier, to preserve strict neutrality.

UNITED STATES.

Generous Donation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Gordon W. Burnham offers to the Park Commission a colossal bronze statue of Daniel Webster, to be completed by July 4th, 1875, and placed in the lower end of the Mall, Central Park.

Racket Match.

The Racket match for the championship of America and a purse of $500 was played by Thomas Moore and Jas. Denny yesterday. The former was the winner.

Fish Culture in Foreign Waters.

Fred. Mather, who sailed from this country a short time ago, having in charge some 100,000 young shad, intended for the streams of Germany, writes from on board the steamer that the fish all died of starvation. Another attempt will be made to transport shad from American to German waters.

Destructive Conflagration.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 4.—The following particulars concerning the destructive fire at Greenville, Miss., on Wednesday morning have been obtained from passengers from that place: The fire, supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, originated in the grocery store of Morgan & Platt; then crossed Mulberry street going east and Main street west, destroying the entire portion of the town from Mulberry street to the river, embracing nearly all the business houses, in all seventy-three houses, valued at $250,000. The insurance is about $150,000. There will be considerable suffering, nearly all the provisions in the town having been destroyed.

Incendiary Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Late last evening a stable in West Philadelphia, owned by C. Lafferty, containing one hundred and twelve mules and eight horses, was totally destroyed by fire, together with a large quantity of lumber, the property of the Kingston Bridge Company. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Public Dinner.

ALBANY, N Y., Sept. 4.—A large number of the leading citizens of Albany have tendered a public dinner to General J. Meredith Read, jr., in recognition of his services as Consul-General to Paris during the war between France and Germany, and as Minister to Greece. The dinner will be given on Monday, the 14th inst.

Balloon Accension.

CLEVELAND, Ohio Sept. 4.—The balloon 'Buffalo' ascended from the public square this morning. The weather was bright and an immense crowd of spectators witnessed the departure. Prof. King was accompanied by Luther L. Holden, of Boston, Dudley A. Cosade, of Cleveland, and representatives of the Cleveland Daily Herald, Leader and Plain Dealer. The balloon went off in a north westerly direction.

Charges against Havemeyer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The friends of Mayor Havemeyer claim that the charges against him will be dismissed by Gov. Dix on the ground that he has no power to remove him for the offences complained of.

The Southern Troubles—Military Preparations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—No formal order will be issued from the War Department as to the distribution of troops in the department of the South, but the whole matter will be left with the Commander who will dispose of the forces so as they can be used by the United States Marshals in case of necessity. The whole number of troops in the several Southern States number between 2,500 and 3,000.

Amateur Boat Races.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 4—The races of the Association of Amateur Oarsmen were ended here to-day. The second heat of the single scull race was won by F. E Yates, of the New York 'Athletics' who also won the final heat of the singles in the afternoon. The four oared race was won by the 'Argonauts,' of Bergen Point, N. J. The double scull race was won by Curtis and Yates, of the N. Y. 'Athletics,' in 9:37½. Yates' time in the final single was 10.16½. The final race was the deciding heat of the four oared boats, the contestants being the 'Argonauts' and the 'Beaverwicks' of Albany, the winners at Saratoga. It was hotly contested and was won by about a length by the Saratoga champions. Time, 8:45½. Time of the 'Argonauts' was 8:51½. The prizes were then presented by C. L. McArthur at the Laureate Club boat house, at the conclusion of the races.

JAPAN.

The difficulty between China and Japan—The Japanese on the Qui vive—Arrest of Gen. Legendre—The Simonoiski Indemnity.

SANFRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The Steamship 'Great Republic' arrived to-day and brings Yokohama dates to Aug. 14.

The Japanese still adhere to their determination not to be driven into war with China, except as a last extremity. The whole tendency of their present negotiations is pacific, but so many influences are operating against them that they feel the necessity of fully preparing themselves to this end large bodies of troops have been assembled in certain southern parts ready for instant departure in case of need, and several large steamers have been added to their transport fleet.

General Legendre who sailed for China a fortnight ago to make peace, was arrested. It is not yet known whether he will be temporarily or permanently detained. Astonishment at the news of his seizure is chiefly caused by the fact that the amicable character of his mission was known to everybody. It is looked upon as another proof of the determination of foreign representatives to obstruct the efforts of Japan to arrive at a fair understanding. No foreigner acting on behalf of China has been molested or interfered with in any way. The Chinese Government, fortunately foreseeing the possibility of obstacles in General Legendre's case, despatched other Commissioners immediately after his departure who could not be hindered in the fulfillment of their duties.

The affair of the Simonoiski indemnity has taken a turn that could never have been anticipated by Americans. Mr. Bingham has received instructions from Washington to demand full payment, and the amount has been deposited to his credit.

POND'S EXTRACT

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause three intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acrimonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.
MONTREAL, 15th June, 1864.
DEVINS & BOLTON:
GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathise with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.
Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to BERKELEY, Sept. 1868.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable Pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS.

READ AND PROFIT!
He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in
City Houses, City Lots and Farms,
Amounting in the aggregate to $68,000.
He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:
A very valuable property, of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 182 feet on Albert-st., by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1670 per annum, which can be increased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.
That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $500 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.
East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.
A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.
West half of lot 7, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.
East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $7 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.
Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 48 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots at South Stewart and 35 North Wilbrod streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality
A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.
A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.
A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.
A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.
100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 23 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.
50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth O. F., nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.
50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa, front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.
200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.
That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consist of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.
A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.
A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.
A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.
A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.
A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.
A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.
100 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.
200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

CANADA STILL AHEAD
Mr. John Rochester, M. P., said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbug, and I got a neighbor who had tried Bannister's Canadian Washer, advised me strongly a trial of the Canadian Washer and I found it to be the best, that I took one and it was in reality a good Machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer.
Price $6.00 each and for sale by W. A. R. GILES, corner Nicholas and Theodore streets.
June 11th.

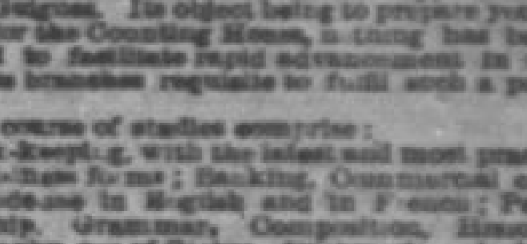
LEA & PERRINS
CELEBRATED
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE.
DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS
TO BE
THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.



CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD
The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to ASK FOR LEA AND PERRINS' SAUCE,
and to see that their names are upon the wrapper, labels, stopper, and bottle.
Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.
Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.
Wholesale and for Export by the Proprietors Worcester; Crosse and Blackwell, London, &c. &c.; and by Grocers and Oilmen universally.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric — Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of [illegible]parts, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left. It acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now.' H. Cole, of Iona, writes. "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., write—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS,

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, those pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

For full particulars, obtain free, of the agent a pamphlet, or refer to advertisement.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills return mail.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ordnance Lands Sale,

TORONTO.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on TUESDAY the 8th day of September next, at Noon, will be sold at Toronto, by Mr. Orin Wardell, Auctioneer, the annual Leases of the Reserves on Lake Erie, at Pointe Pelée, containing about 4,200 acres, Rondeau, containing about 500 acres, and Turkey Point, containing about 592 acres, respectively, to be employed for the purpose of shooting and fishing, for the proper preservation of the game and the protection of the timber thereon.

These Leases to endure for a term of 21 years each, with power to the Department to resume possession, at any time, on giving one month's notice.

On condition, that the just rights of all squatters and Indians shall be respected, and reserving—all rights of fishery, or use and occupation of the shores in connection therewith, under authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

The rent to be paid to this Department, semi-annually in advance, and good and sufficient security to be tendered, at the sale, for payment. If insufficient, the sale to be renewed at the time and place of sale.

Further conditions, if considered necessary, will be declared at the time of sale.

Lessees to accept boundaries and quantities as shown on the Ordnance plans.

By Order,
E. A. MEREDITH,
Deputy of the Minister of The Interior.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY! so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital: the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, while Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the overchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollections of a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School, Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College, Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

NOTICE.

Morson's Effectual Remedies

Are sold by Chemists and Druggists throughout the world.

PEPSINE—The popular and professional medicine for indigestion is Morson's PEPSINE, the active principle of the gastric juice. Sold in Powder, Lozenges, Globules, and in Wine in [illegible] bottles [illegible]

CHLORODYNE is of such celebrity that it can scarcely be considered a speciality, its composition being known to practitioners. Many of the Chlorodynes being unequal in strength, MORSON & SON have prepared this. [illegible]

GELATINE—The purest preparation is Morson's.

Carefully packed and shipped. Orders made payable in England.

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs. SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are set forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either [illegible] compounds, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle, and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to cause serious disappointment and to prejudicially affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturing Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, [illegible] the usual saponifying result; [illegible] moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, [illegible] appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

Another Strange Abduction.

NEWPORT R. I., August 28.

At the commencment of the season two Indian women with three small children, one girl and two boys, came to this city and pitched a tent in which to live upon the bathing beach, near the ticket office. The children were left to play in and about the tent, while the women went about the city and offered for sale ladies' fancy baskets and other trinkets peculiar to the Indians. They belong to a tribe who are located at Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

One of the children above referred to was an interesting and beautiful girl, of about nine years, whom one of the women Mrs. Lizzie Charles, adopted when she was four years of age. Her mother having died, her father, marrying again, gave her to her to bring up, and she consented, as she had no children of her own. The other two children are Indians and belong to Mrs. Charles' business partner.

On Friday all three of the children were at play in the vicinity of the tent, when a well-dressed gentleman took the girl by the hand, and asked her it she did not want to take a walk with him? She answered "No;" but at his promise to her to purchase some candies for her she consented. He immediately took her inside the tent and removed her outside garments, which were very shabby, and replaced them with new ones, which he had brought with him, and which go to prove that he knew of the whereabouts of the girl.

He walked rapidly up the hill that leads from the beach with his prize, and as it was nearly dark he did not attract much attention from the passers by. Some of the townspeople, however, had been accustomed to see the girl in company with her dark skinned companions, rollicking about among the sand hills, and who had vainly conjectured the reason of her being with them, noticed the couple as they passed down Bowery street, opposite the Ocean House, but thought nothing of the circumstance.

They were again seen at the depot of the Old Colony Steamboat Company, on Long Wharf, just previous to the arrival of the steamer 'Providence,' on her way from Fall River to New York.

In the meantime the squaws arrived home from their hard and toilsome day's labor, only to find that little Charlotte Wyeth, for that was her name, was missing. Upon inquiry of the other children the above facts were gleaned. They immediately proceeded to the station house, wild with grief, and informed the police of the fact, but it was of no use, for the child had gone probably forever.

The 'Herald' correspondent called at their tent this afternoon, but their inability to speak English distinctly rendered his visit void of success, save the gleaning of the facts above mentioned. He could plainly see, however, the sincere grief of those ignorant women, especially the one who had promised to care for the child, and for whom, she informed your correspondent, her tribe and her husband as well, could hold her to strict account when she returned home. She imagines that many of the white people in Liverpool, who knew all about the child, will believe that she has either sold or murdered her; as she uttered these words her grief was heartrending.

There are various opinions in regard to the motive of the kidnapper the most probable of which is that its unnatural father, repenting of his folly and knowing the ultimate fate of the girl if left in her present condition, determined to undo what be had done in an un[illegible] moment, followed the Indians to this place, and, seeing a good opportunity, took possession of the girl. At all events her fate can be no worse than it was in her relation to the Indians, not but what they were as kind to her as they knew how to be, but their barbarous mode of living was never intended for this poor unfortunate waif.

While here she was obliged to fare the same as her guardians, having as a bed the cold ground, while through the top of the tent the stars could plainly be seen. The many who visited the beach were drawn by sympathy to her, and many were the pennies that were dropped into her snow white hands.

The policy have the matter in charge, but do not believe their efforts will be successful in finding a clue to her whereabouts, and the affair will doubtless for ever remain a mystery, and the fate of little Charlotte be known to but a few.

TENDENCY OF WEALTH EASTWARDS.—While the poor and uneducated classes are emigrating from this and other European countries to America, the wealthier and more highly cultivated classes of the United States are emigrating to Europe. Not only do they show an increasing tendency to spend their summer in England or on the Continent, but there are now to be found in many of the Continental towns a growing number of American colonists who have made their homes there and retain little connection with their native country beyond drawing their their dividends from its securities. This inclination on the part of Americans to live abroad has begun to attract considerable attention, and there are many speculations as to its cause and probable effects. By some it is attributed in great measure to the excessive dearness and discomfort of American hotels and lodging houses, but it is probable that the dislike entertained by many educated Americans for their natural home has a deeper root than the extortions of hotel and lodging house keepers. In an article on the subject the Nation remarks that no country retains the affection of its educated class which does not feed the imagination. The more we cultivate men the higher their ideals grow in all directions, political and social, and they like best the places in which these ideals are most satisfied. The long and varied history of older countries offers their citizens a series of pictures which stimulate patriotism in the highest degree; and it will generally be found that the patriotism and love of home of the cultivated class are in the ratio of the supply of this kind of food. They are languid among the Russians, and among the Germans, prior to the late war, as compared to the English and French. In default of a long history, however, historic incidents are apt to lose their power on the imagination through over use. The jocose view of Washington and of the Pilgrim Fathers, of Bunker Hill and of the Fourth of July, already gains ground rapidly among the Americans through too great familiarity. When Professor Tyndall in one of his lectures in the United States made an allusion, which he meant to be solemn and impressive, to Plymouth Rock, its triteness drew a titter from the audience, which for a moment confounded him. Unluckily history cannot be made to order. It is the product of ages. The proper substitute for it, as well as for the spectacular effects of monarchy in new democratic societies, is perfection. This has not yet been quite attained in the United States, where, as the Nation truly remarks, material prosperity is now associated in people's minds with so much moral corruption that the mention of it produces in some of the best of the Americans a feeling not far removed from nausea.

THE DAILY TIMES can be procured every morning for 15 cents per week. The "Weekly" Friday mornings, in time for English Mail, at E. A. Perry's Elgin St; Battle Bros., Rideau St., and Russell House; Lacy, Bridge St., Chaudiere; L'Echo Office, Hull; St. Lawrence & Ottawa, and Canada Central Railway Station.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

LEVITIES.

The best smelling committee would be an hose company.

"Going out drowning?" is the question put to bathers at the beaches now-a-days.

A man who saw a Milwaukee car for the first time, imagined himself the frontier of Rhode Island.

"Melancholy, Slow"—Conductor: 'Look alive, Bill! Here's an old gent inside's afraid he won't ketch his funeral."

One point of difference between a timid child and a shipwrecked sailor is, that one clings to its ma and the other to its spar.

A mathematician being asked by a wag, 'If a pig weighs 280 pounds, how much will a great boar (bore!) weigh?' he replied 'Jump into the scales, and I will tell you immediately.'

A Pennsylvania boy got so homesick that he walked 78 miles without eating, in order to sit down once more at the family hearthstone. He was received with such warmth by his male parent that it was several days before he could sit down anywhere.

The London Herald has been trying for some time to discover the reason why young men wear black hat-bands on white hats when they are not in mourning for any friends or relations. It has at length arrived at the conclusion that they are worn in memory of their lost brains.

A Job's Comforter—Maud: 'O, Uncle George, I can see at least three gray hairs on your head!' Uncle George (with sentiment,) 'Ah, my dear, all my hair be will gray soon!' Ethel: 'Never mind dear Uncle George! there's so very little of it that it won't much matter!'

REST BEFORE EATING.—Everybody knows that a season of rest after dinner pays well, but it is not more important than the rest before eating if one is weary. This rule is of the utmost importance to 'business men,' or the person engaged in brain labor, and its violation is one of the chief causes of our natural dyspepsia—this and the rapid eating that is customary. People of strong and unimpaired constitutions (if any such can be found) may not feel how impossible it is for the body to carry on the business of digestion when greatly fatigued or while it is being put to hard labor in some direction; but such is the case, and the health of our citizens is all the time being destroyed for the lack of knowledge on this point. The stomach must have some vitality or nerve force to do its work with, and if the body has been using this vigorously, with the muscles or with the brain, a little time should be allowed for gathering up its energies for the task of digestion.

BUILT OF SEA SHELLS.—I've just heard of very wonderful things. The houses and churches and palaces of the big and beautiful city of Paris are almost all made of sea shell! This is how it happened: Some hundreds of thousands of years ago, the waters of the ocean rolled over the spot where Paris now stands. Under the ocean waves lived and died millions and millions of tiny sea shell animals. By and by, after a great, great many years, the ocean waters no longer rolled over this spot, and the very, very big piles—I might say, indeed, the mountains—of dead shells were left for the sun to shine on, the winds to blow on, and the rains to fall on for many centuries more, till the shells had hardened into rocks. Then after hundreds and hundreds of years more, men came and began to build houses. They dug in the earth, and found the sea shell stone, with which they built the beautiful houses and churches and palaces for which Paris is so famous. And yet the poor little sea shells, that lived and died so long ago, never get the least bit of credit for all that they did for the fine city! Perhaps, though, they don't care. At any rate, we will remember them, and that will be something. While we are talking about this matter, it may be as well to remember that a great many of the rocks in different parts of the world were made of sea shells and fresh water shells to just about the same way that the stone of Paris came to be ready for the builders.

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealer. 1m

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1872 Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 3559

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 21, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine monts with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnoea, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wishing you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1874.

In the Cornwall controverted election trial, counsel closed their arguments on Saturday, and the Judge reserved judgment until to-day.

The coloured men of Zion Church, Flatbush, N. Y., have delivered themselves of a characteristic set of resolutions in re the report of the Investigating Committee of Plymouth Church. They met on the evening of Wednesday last, and resolved to offer their sympathy and rejoicings to the family of Mr Beecher for the Committee's "full and righteous deliverance." They condemned the charges against him as foul and malignant, they said they had read them with inexpressible anguish; and they spoke of Mr. Beecher as "the peer of "American preachers—the champion of "the nineteenth century in religion and "morals." If their feelings are as expressive as their words, they must be strong, for while they speak of the Investigating Committee as able and impartial, and their examination rigid and thorough, they express the not very well grounded hope that the report in acquittal will be the means of "stopping forever the brazen "lips of his false accusers, filling the bosoms of his friends and advocates with a "just conviction of his entire innocence "and purity."

Mr. Beecher's enemies have laid a good deal of stress upon the alleged fact that his brother, the Rev. T. K. Beecher, in a letter to their sister, Mrs. Hooker, professed to give credence to the charges of immorality and adultery preferred against the great preacher. The Rev. T. K., however, has offered an explanation of the said letter which, although it bears inconsistency upon the face of it, and would make it appear that the rev. gentleman has in the past been "doing evil that good might come," at any rate amply exonerates the pastor of Plymouth Church. In a letter to the Elmira Gazette, published about the middle of last week, he says, in substance, that his letter to his sister, Mrs. Hooker, was aimed simply to caution and dissuade her from a costly act of fanaticism. It was written without other knowledge of the facts than such as she stated and such as were sincerely believed by her. To avoid controversy the truth of her allegations was assumed. Since 1854 he has not had two hours' conversation with his honored brother, Henry Ward, and he cannot recall at any time her having had a discussion with him on the subject of free love, marriage, divorce, the relation of the sexes or female suffrage. He disclaims, therefore, being a competent witness as to his brother's views on such subjects. The divergences of views between himself and his brother, he thinks, are to his brother's credit and his own discredit, his brother being a believer in the nobility of human nature and himself believing human nature bad; his brother making haste to go with every popular movement, as with a tide obeying a Divine guidance; he thinking the same a device of the adversary and cautioning all against it. Of Henry Ward Beecher's personal truth, purity, honor and piety, he never had for a moment a doubt that was based upon any trustworthy information, and he gratefully puts on record the statement that he knows of nothing whatever, past or present, that hinders him from giving to his brother the most implicit, contented and loving credence, and he concludes with saying that any use of his letter to his sister to his disadvantage is a renewal of the indiscreet, if not dishonourable, acts by which alone it became public property at the first.

THE RIGHT REV. BISHOP CUMMINS.

The Right Rev. Bishop Cummins, D.D., formerly Associate Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Kentucky, and now of the Reformed Episcopal Church, is a man upon whom a large amount of public attention has for the past twelve months been centred. It will be remembered that he was one of the delegates to the memorable meeting of the Evangelical Alliance at New York last year, when so many celebrated divines from all the Protestant Churches in the world were brought together. It will also be remembered that he partook of the Sacrament during that time in company with Presbyterians and others, at which his ecclesiastical superior took mortal offence, called him to account for it, and persecuted him to that extent that Dr. Cummins finally joined the new movement, refusing to continue in communion with a church which professed so much liberality in matters of belief and usage, yet displayed so little in practice. Of course the Bishop's action was variously commented upon, and lauded and disparaged in turn, and his statement of the reasons which incited him to rebel against the prosecution—or persecution—of his superior adversely and favourably criticised as the feelings of his critics might dictate. These matters we leave for arbitrament to the great settler of all disputes, as they make no material difference to the principle for which he contended, and can have but little effect one way or another in pointing to a proper conclusion those who may be hesitating as to whether they should follow his example or continue their connection with the honoured church of their fathers. We are required simply to say in this connection that his addition to the new movement was a valuable one, and has already succeeded in bringing considerable eclat to, as well as an increase of the numbers of those who subscribe to the revised order of service and expurgated prayer book of the Reformed Church.

The Bishop held a communion service in the Court House—the usual place of worship—yesterday morning, but his health was so poor that he was unable to bear the fatigue of preaching. In the evening, however, he felt sufficiently recovered to do so; that is to say, the spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak, for ere he got through he was greatly exhausted. It cannot be said, although the sermon was an able and eloquent one, that we have seen him in his best—under the circumstances that could not have been anticipated. His sermon was eloquent so far as language was concerned, but the reasoning was scarcely as close as one would have expected. In appearance, Dr. Cummins is not striking. He has a good, well-developed head, placed upon a thin, spare, and apparently somewhat weak frame, and the want of his teeth makes his utterance somewhat difficult to understand. Notwithstanding these draw-backs, there is something in the man's appearance which signifies the possession of a mind above the common, as there is in his preaching that which goes to make an orator. He is to lay the foundation stone of the new Reformed Episcopal Church—the first, we believe, on Canadian soil—on Tuesday afternoon.

THE WAR OF RACES.

The news which comes from day to day regarding the state of matters in the Southern States of the American Union is truly alarming. The horrible stories of wholesale butchery, individual murder, and the perpetration of the foulest and most despicable of imaginable crimes—the violation of womanhood—are so terribly revolting in their brutal details, that one shudders to think of them. We would willingly refuse to give them credit, but we cannot. The picture in some cases may be overdrawn, but it is nevertheless true in the main. The maddened Democrat may paint the criminal sensuality of the negro in colours that are almost too black for belief, but when we read of an estimatable widow lady, living alone with her daughter, having her house broken into, her money and valuables appropriated, and the hellish designs of the burglars completed by an act of damnable infamy from which human nature recoils with horror, we cannot but confess that the position is appalling and overdrawing scarcely possible. It is strange that the prevalence of a crime of this nature should be the result of hostility between the races, but it appears nevertheless to be the fact. And this seems to be how it happens. No greater insult could be offered to a white Southerner than to speak of his daughter receiving the attentions of a coloured man, even supposing the latter to be her equal as regards education, intelligence, the world's gear, and everything which in the estimation of communities composed of the same race is considered necessary to equality in this respect. He would murder her rather than allow her to receive the addresses of a black. This feeling pervades the entire white population from the most lowly to the most exalted, from the poorest to the richest. Unhappily, the effect produced upon the despised negroes has not simply been one of repulsion. They have not been content to stand aloof from their white fellow-citizens, and let time and nature work out their own cure. Among the lower orders, where reason is subservient to lust, and the intelligence vouchsafed to humanity in its rudest forms only serves to facilitate the invention of means of satisfying unbridled desires, to possess that which the white man scorns to concede seems to have become a ruling passion which has led to the fearful outrages with which the past six months have been so prolific. So far as yet appears, this is the only provocation offered by the blacks, but it has been offered with a frequency and an impudence which is revolting. It is not surprising that the white population, cherishing, even without provocation, an intense aversion to the blacks, should become frenzied in their indignation, and murderously mad in their desire for revenge. The honour and virtue of a man's wife and daughters are dearer to him any day than life, and he who revenges an indignity offered to them with his own hand, if he cannot escape the stern reproach and punishment of the law, yet he meets with a strong sympathy from the public which makes it almost like martyrdom to have to suffer for the crime. It is not surprising that in cases of this nature the white people of the South have imposed upon themselves the duty of administering prompt punishment, but not in every case justice, to those who are supposed to have injured them. If they had stopped short at this, there is not a husband or a father's heart in Christendom which would have refused them the most profound sympathy and moral support; but it is morally certain, if we have been able to arrive at anything like the truth, that they have not contented themselves with taking revenge upon those who have injured them, or even those who are believed to have done so. They have gone much farther, and butchered in cold blood men of prominence and standing in the country, whose only sin was their sable complexion. To this extent the sympathy of civilized humanity refuses to follow them, and begins indeed to turn against them; for it brings back to mind the excruciating miseries which the poor negroes suffered but the other day, as it were, at the hands of those who, being now their murderers, were then their owners. Retaliation for outrages of the character we have mentioned if resorted to without the formality of a legal process might be overlooked if not excused, but to murder without provocation, and to add to that the crime against the blacks, for which they profess a desire to punish them, is evidently as indefensible as can well be conceived, and calls for the condemnation of the whole civilized world. It is further remarkable that while there are stories of inhuman outrages perpetrated by the some of the blacks upon the innocent white women, there are no cases of murder reported, although of course we hear of secret meetings, and oaths administered, and other suspicious actions on their part, which, however, must be taken with a grain of salt. On the other hand, the white men outrage unoffending negro women, and assassinate equally unoffending negro men—become perpetrators of deeds, in short, to which those of the most depraved blacks offer no parallel. This appears a lamentable picture, but its most lamentable feature is its truth. The New York papers admit the gravity of the position, as well as the almost impossibility of effecting a lasting remedy—not even a present one without the shedding of blood.

Jefferson Davis and the rebels of the South are not dead; they have simply been asleep. And yet it is questionable whether in their enforced slumberings they have not been more or less active not apparently, perhaps, but really nevertheless. Whether they have or have not is immaterial, however, for the fact remains all the same that the work which they did in the South has never been undone—that the cause for which they fought although vanquished is not dead. The New York Herald confesses, and confesses with evident regret, that the "mutual repugnance of the two races is "deep and real, and where the State "governments are inadequate to hold such "dangerous elements in check the worst "consequences may be feared." Things must have come to a serious pass before the organ which professes above all others to be beyond the reach of party influence, and to have in view the ultimate good and present glorification of the United States, as has no other newspaper in New York or elsewhere, makes a positive declaration of this nature. There can be no question of it, that a war of the races is imminent, if not indeed another secession war; and this is all the more likely that the Herald and every Republican organ in the North have declared that neither a return to slavery nor a persecution of the blacks, who are to all intents and purposes citizens of the Union, and entitled to equal rights with all, will be permitted by the party which conquered the South and freed the bondmen only ten years ago.

Canada Official Gazette.

Saturday's Official Gazette contains the following appointments:—

Mr. Adams, of Sarnia, Ont., to be a Landing Waiter and Searcher in Customs.

Mr. Breadner, of Athelstan, Quebec, to be a Landing Waiter and Searcher in Customs.

The circulation and specie report shows an excess of specie of $230,713.33.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

SIR,—In this morning's impression of your paper, I find that my house is named as the one where the shooting affray occurred yesterday. Allow me to say that nothing of the kind occurred in or at the St. George's Hotel.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
W. PEAT.

[Of course we give the above publicity, although the correction has already been made in our local columns.—ED.]

CITY AND VICINITY

CITY COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of the City Council will be held this evening.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Fyfe, agent of the New York Carbolized Hose Company, returned on Saturday evening from Prescott, and is staying at the Russell House.

PROTESTANT HOSPITAL.—VISITORS THIS WEEK.—Directors: Messrs. H. V. Noel, and T. C. Bramley; Rev. Dr. Jones and Mr. J. Hunter; Physician: Dr. James Grant.

BASE BALL.—A match was played on Saturday afternoon, between the Hull club and the "Ottawas," which resulted in a victory for the "Ottawas" by a score of 26 to 9.

Amende Honorable—In our impression of Saturday morning, it appears that the shooting affray that took place on that day occurred in the St. George's Hotel. This happened through being incorrectly informed. It should have been the English Hotel, Rideau Street.

STARTS FOR IRELAND.—Mr. Thomas Kinsella, late foreman of the City Public Works, starts to-morrow morning for his native country. He sails from Montreal on Thursday, by the Dominion Steamship Line. He purposes staying at home several months, before he again returns to Canada, the land of his adoption.

THE "OTTAWA" HAND ENGINE.—By instructions from the Chief of the Fire Brigade, the Ottawa hand engine was transferred on Saturday to the Queen Fire Station on St. Paul Street, where it will in future be housed. The "Queen" Company will hereafter use the Ottawa when summoned to fires, in place of their own engine, which the Council has decided to sell to the village of Buckingham. The "Ottawa" engine, although probably the oldest machine in the City, is still a most efficacious agent in the extinguishing of fires.

MORE LIGHT WANTED.—Time and again have appeals been made, but in vain, for a little more gas-light in the public streets. The Corporation has referred the matter to the members of the Fire and Light Committee several months ago, but they have been so negligent in the matter as not yet to have concluded a satisfactory agreement with the Gas Company. The only alternative seems to be the starting of a new Company and the granting to such an organization a liberal bonus by the City Corporation. For the past few nights persons having occasion to be out late have been put under the necessity of carrying lanterns.

O.B.G.A RIFLE MATCHES.—The fourth Annual Rifle Matches under the auspices of the Ottawa Brigade Garrison Artillery commence this morning at the Rideau Rifle Range, and will be continued to-morrow, and until the several competitions are completed. To-day the meeting will open with the Brigade and Association matches, which are open only to members of the Brigade. The All-comers Match, Nursery Stakes and Consolation Match will follow. The prizes, which have been most liberally contributed by the citizens, amount in the aggregate to $600, a sum sufficiently large to induce the best shots in the city to try their chances on the target. It might be stated that all the competitions are free to bona fide volunteers, who must appear in uniform.

OBSEQUIES.—The funeral of Judge Armstrong yesterday was one of the largest that has been witnessed for some time in the city. The cortege was fully half a mile long, and took some 15 minutes to pass a given point. There were 87 carriages in the line of procession. The members of the Bar and Civic corporation were in attendance out of respect to the memory of the deceased. The members of the legal profession followed the chief mourners on foot, in their robes, from Christ's Church to the Protestant Hospital Immediately behind were the members of the Corporation in carriages. In front were three carriages; the leading one for the undertaker, Mr. Swalwell, who ably managed the work assigned him. The others contained the clergy and medical attendants of the deceased, and the pall bearers, who comprized some of our leading and most respectable citizens. The long array of carriages followed, and Beechwood was reached at nearly five o'clock. Shortly after, all that was mortal of the late lamented Judge was deposited in the tomb. Archdeacon Lauder in a solemn and impressive service performed the funeral rites.

VICE REGAL.—The Vice-Regal party will arrive home by special train on the Canada Central this evening. A guard of honor and the band of the Governor General's Foot Guards will meet them and escort His Excellency and suite to Rideau Hall.

CHRISTENING OF A BELL.—The bell on the new Parish Church of Notre Dame du Lourdes, in Gloucester, was christened yesterday with the usual ceremonies consequent upon such occasions. A number of people were out from the city to witness the ceremony.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.—At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held on Saturday morning the following resolution was passed: "Moved by His Worship the Mayor, and seconded by His Honor the Police Magistrate, That the members of the Board of Police Commissioners of Ottawa deplore the death of Judge Armstrong, who for many years acted as Chairman of the Board with great industry and impartiality."

SERMON BY THE REV. LACHLAN TAYLOR, D. D.—Yesterday morning Rev. Lachlan Taylor, D. D., conducted the services in Metcalfe Street Wesleyan Methodist Church. He preached an eloquent sermon, replete with sound reasoning and striking illustrations of divine truth. Perhaps the highest compliment that can be paid to the reverend gentleman is contained in the fact, that he rivetted the undivided attention of a very large congregation for the space of an hour and twenty minutes.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—Its affects are almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. I is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark, if need be. 3565.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Mr. H. Lindley re-opens to night with M. Marietta Ravell as star artiste. She will appear to night in the celebrated play of the "French Spy," in which she has appeared over a thousand nights in New York alone, having played it over 300 times. The New York, London and Parisian press speak in the most glowing terms of her stage embodiments. Mdlle. Ravell appears for the first time this evening in Ottawa, having been engaged for a few nights only by Mr. Lindley who, despite the expense attendant on bringing forward so famous an artiste, is not afraid but that her extraordinary talents and world-wide reputation will remunerate him. She is supported by the New York favorite actor Mr. Edward Lay and the Lindley company.

FALL MEETING OF THE FRUIT GROWERS ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO.—A meeting will be held in the rooms of the Literary and Scientific Society, Sparks street, commencing at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, and continued the following day. This is the first meeting of the Association ever held in Ottawa. Any of the public who wish to do so, are invited to attend free of charge. The discussion of a subject so interesting to this section, where native grown fruits are so scarce, is sure to be worth attending. The President, the Rev. Mr. Burkett, of Hamilton, the Secretary, D. W. Beadle, of St. Catharines, and Canada's great Hebridist, Mr. Arnold, of Paris, Ont., will be in attendance, and other members from a distance are expected.

Meeting of the Bar.

A meeting of the Ottawa Bar was held in the Court House on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to take such steps as might be deemed advisable in connection with the death of the late Judge Armstrong.

Amongst those present, we observed Judge Lyon, Hon. J. O'Connor, Q.C., Messrs. G. B. L. Fellowes, Q C, C. H. Pinhey, Robt. Lees, A. R. Ross, W. McKay Wright, W. M. Matheson, J. J. Gemmell, R. Cassels, jr., N. Sparks, Geo. Taillion, P. Pennock, jr., Alex. Christie and F. H. Chrysler.

On motion of Mr. W. McKay Wright, seconded by Mr. A. Christie, G. B. L. Fellowes, Esq., Q.C., was appointed chairman of the meeting and Mr. C. H. Chrysler requested to act as Secretary.

The Chairman announced briefly the object of the meeting. He referred with regret to the decease of the late Judge Armstrong, who for so long a time had held an honorable position on the Bench. He thought the members of the bar should in some tangible way take cognizance of his death, and express, by resolution or otherwise, its condolence with his widow and family. The City Corporation had resolved to attend the funeral in a body, and he thought the members of the bar should at least do the same, out of respect to the memory of the deceased.

Mr. McKay Wright heartily endorsed all the Chairman had said, and thought it would be well to have the members of the Quebec Bar from Hull and Aylmer, also attend in the usual dress of the profession. He felt satisfied the meeting would act on the suggestions of the Chair and pass resolutions of condolence and sympathy with the late lamented Judge.

Moved by Mr. W. A. Ross, seconded by Mr. C. H. Pinhey; that this meeting representing the legal profession of the City of Ottawa, have to record their sincere regret at the lamented death of the late Christopher Armstrong, Esq., who filled for so many years the honorable position of Judge of the County of Carleton, and resolve, as a mark of respect, for his memory to attend his funeral in a body in their robes, and also to wear mourning for the period of one month.

It was then agreed that the members of the Bar should walk in procession with their robes from Christ's Church to the Protestant Hospital, from which point they could either return or proceed in carriages to the Cemetery.

Judge Lyon thought it his duty as junior of the deceased to be present in conjunction with the Bar. He spoke in feeling terms of the deceased, and was glad to see the members of the Bar taking action to mark their sense of regret at his death. He concluded by stating that he purposed attending the funeral along with the members of the Bar, and trusted they would take no objection to his doing so.

Moved by Mr. W. M. Matheson, seconded by the Hon. J. O'Connor, Q. C., that the Bar of Ottawa desire to express their sincere condolence with the family of the late Jugde Armstrong in their present bereavement, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Armstrong.

The meeting then adjourned.

A tragic affair occurred the other day at Bucharest arising out of legal proceedings for recovery of a debt. An old man, a Servian resident, owed a sum of money to a usurer, who, failing to obtain payment of his claim, went to law and obtained a writ against his debtor. When, however, he proceeded to eject the old Servian considerable difficulties "cropped up." The old Servian did not like to be ejected, and endeavoured in the first instance to induce his creditor to grant him a respite. His request was ably backed up by his wife and children, but it was made in vain, for the creditor was inexorable. Annoyed at the refusal of his supplication, the old Servian somewhat hastily plunged a knife into the heart of the usurer, probably intending no harm, but imagining that usurers have no hearts. If the old Servian had simply contented himself with simply killing the usurer perhaps little would have been thought of the matter, but unfortunately, on a bystander officiously attempting to seize him, the old Servian, still further irritated, gave him also a mortal stab. Here the tragedy would probably have ended, but that the dying bystander, instead of forgiving his assailant in his last moments, was unchristian enough before he died to seize a log of wood and knock the old Servian's brains out. The bystander then expired, and everybody concerned in the affair being dead, nothing remained to be done but to bury their bodies. The fate of the old Servian has excited general sympathy, and much indignation is expressed at the conduct of the usurer which has led to such deplorable results.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Sermon by Bishop Cummins.

The Right Rev. Bishop Cummins, D.D., dispensed the Holy Communion to the Reformed Episcopal Congregation in the Court House yesterday forenoon. The right rev. gentleman was in too weak health to preach twice, and reserved himself for the evening service. Before dispensing the Communion, however, he expressed thankfulness to God that he had seen this glorious day, and invited all members of Christian Churches present to communicate.

SERMON IN THE EVENING.

At 7 o'clock a very large congregation put in an appearance to listen to the eloquent words of the Right Rev. Bishop. After the usual preliminary service,

Bishop Cummins commenced by selecting for his text the 6th verse of the XI. chap. of the Acts of the Apostles, "And the Disciples were called Christians first at Antioch." He remarked that great cities have always played an important part in the history of the world, and especially in the history of the early centuries of the Church. Four great cities, he said, occupied chiefly the attention of the historian, and had considerable to do with moulding the character of the Church of Christ. These cities were Jerusalem, Antioch, Alexandria and Rome. One of these, namely Antioch, was to occupy their attention upon this occasion. This city, although unmentioned in the Old Testament, was founded by the successor of Alexander the Great, Lysander, and formed the centre of the great Greek Empire. He commented upon the position the city occupied from a commercial and artistic point of view, and described its population as under the influence of that species of heathenism with which early Christianity had to contend. That description was at once eloquent and striking, painting, as it did, the beautiful groves and sunny bowers in which the inhabitants of Antioch worshipped, and describing the sensual and degrading character of that worship. And yet, he remarked, this was the place where the followers of Christ were first called by the name of Christians, such the people who had conferred upon all believers in Christ's salvation that holy and blessed name. He then proposed to inquire into the origin of this name, to examine and find out, if possible, whether it was human, or whether it was divine. Throughout the whole of the New Testament the followers of Christ were called by various names, such as brethern, believers, and even saints, but only twice, with the exception of the text, was the appellation of Christian made use of. The name Christian, therefore, clearly did not originate with the disciples. Nor yet could it have been conferred upon them by the Jews, for to have called the early disciples Christians, would have been to acknowledge them as of God, since Christ meant the Messiah. On the other hand they called them Galileans, and of the sect of Nazarenes. Who then could have given the name to the Church, who could have baptised it with the name of Christ? He believes it was God and not man. The Divine Father had in honour of his Son, his Son whom he had declared by his Spirit to be the Messiah, determined that his followers should be called by His own name, and accordingly they were called Christians. Next, he would enquire as to the meaning of the name—for it was a name of great significance. The question was one which was worthy of solemn consideration, for the answer to it might condemn speaker and hearer, alike; for like all things below, it was necessary on the very threshold to distinguish between the true and the false, between the genuine corn and the counterfeit. He proceeded to remark upon the difficulty with which we were at once confronted in proceeding to the examination. What monsters of wickedness, he remarked, have called themselves Christians; what deeds of darkness had been perpetrated under its shadow. Philip II., perhaps the greatest demon that ever appeared in human form, who thrust his own religion upon the people of the Netherlands, declared that he should sooner die than that Protestantism should live there, and who plotted and carried out the massacre of a 100,000 men, women and children, was called a most Christian King, and his successor, Isabella, had conferred upon her the name of the most Christian Queen. Multitudes had received the sign of the cross at baptism, but having lived without a thought of Christ and died with their baptismal vows unfulfilled, were lost for ever. We spoke of Christian nations, and denominated as such countries which pretended to recognize it in their literature, their legislation, their jurisprudence, their science and their social relations. He asserted, as a matter of fact, that there is no really Christian nation, and never had been. Out of the 40,000,000 of people in his own native country, he doubted if there were 10,000,000 really devoted to Christ; and yet it was called a Christian nation. The nature of its legislation and the honesty of its public men would be somewhat different were the name of Christian perfectly applicable. What then, he inquired, is it to be a Christian and who are Christians? He was a Christian whose heart was Christ's, not the man whose name was simply on the baptismal register, not the man who had simply been confirmed, not the man who had simply partaken of the Holy Sacrament. The heart of the Christian must have been surrendered to Christ, dedicated to him, occupied by him, dwelt in by him, and indeed he could speak until midnight and be unable to give a better description of what constituted a Christian than when he said that Christ dwelt in his heart. Belief in Christ, trusting the soul to Christ in simple faith, clinging to Christ and God with the whole being these were the things that made a Christian. In illustration of these facts, he recited an incident connected with the ministerial functions of the late Dr. Chalmers, the celebrated Scottish divine. "A poor woman came to him desiring to be admitted to communion, and in order to prove the extent of her fitness, he asked her one question after another, but curiously enough her mouth was dumb. He asked her about election and regeneration, and sanctification, and the leading doctrines of the Presbyterian Church, but the poor woman could answer never a word. I would like to admit you, said the great Divine, to the Table of the Lord, but you are too ignorant. Then she turned away, and with a heaving bosom and the great tears bursting from her eyes, she said, "Oh, Sir, though I canna speak for the Master, I could die for Him." Oh, woman, said Chalmers, come back, for you are better fitted than I to go to the table of the Lord." Yes, said the Bishop, she was a Christian, for her heart was right. Again, he remarked the Christian was possessed of the spirit of Christ, and that spirit was the spirit of love, of mercy, of forbearance, of forgiveness, of meekness, of long suffering, of purity, of heavenly mindedness. "If any man have the spirit of Christ, he is of him." The Christian, a man of unforgiving spirit, Oh, no! The Christian, a man of vindictive heart. No. The Christian, a man who is dishonest in business, the thing was impossible. The Christian, a man secretly intemperate or unchaste. It was all a sham! The Christian, an unkind husband, undutiful father to his children. Impossible! The man who might have his name enrolled on the books of the Church, but had not the spirit of Christ, was none of Christ's. It was the Christian who followed his Lord and Master, whose soul was animated by his holy love, a spirit which it was in the power of no church to confer, without the blessing and aid of the Son of God. He need say nothing of the responsibility attached to bearing that sacred name, for in the history of Antioch, where the disciples were first called Christians, there was a lesson taught which was worth the learning. He remarked that of the four great centres of Christianity, the four great cities to which he had referred, there was none more fruitful, of healthy lessons, regarding the importance of making use of the opportunities of salvation offered us, than the city of Antioch. Ignatius was its Bishop, and St. Chrysostom, who was called the golden mouthed oracle of Christ, was born there. In his time the members of the Church of Antioch numbered 100,000 souls, and 3,000 poor were supported from its funds. What was it to-day? The morning sun came over the Mediterranean Sea, and shone upon Antioch, but Antioch reflected not its light from its gilded cross on the temple of Christ but its rays were flashed back from the Crescent of Mahomet. Christ was forgotten, and the place where the disciples were first called by His name was handed over to the desolation of Paganism. True, the Moslem had captured the city, but that was not the cause of the decline of Christianity. Persecution did not destroy the church of Antioch, for Christianity always thrived best amid the flames of persecution. In the history of Antioch was fulfilled the warning doom which the Evangelist pronounced against the church at Ephesus. The light went out in the candlestick, and the candlestick was removed from its place. There history was being repeated in the Mother Church of England, in the church in this country, and it was to purge from this species of corruption that the Reformed Episcopal Church had been established. Forty years ago it had taken root, and it had grown in strength from day to day. Faithful men have been alarmed of it. We have been, said the Bishop, called "Alarmists;" we have been accused of having been unfaithful to the church. We have been charged of disloyalty to her and accusing our brethren. What has been the result? The Parliament of Great Britain, just prorogued, has spent well-nigh the whole session in striving to stop this deplorable evil. England has awakened at last, thank God. Even Mr. Gladstone, the ablest man, and, in my opinion, the ablest among English statesmen, with all the power of his oratory, and with all the force which with his splendid abilities he was able to oppose the Public Worship Bill, was compelled to admit that there was a necessity for something being done, that, in fact, there were traitors in the Church. England's Protestant sentiments have been awakened at last. At last the people of that land have purged the church of their fathers, and boldly asserted that it shall not be Romanized. God be praised for this result. If the church in these Provinces, and the church in the United States, only do the same thing, our work is well nigh done. We are not pulling down the old house of our forefathers, we are simply cleansing off the rubbish of ages. We are merely taking the dirt from its windows and letting in the light. It was the old house still, the old historic Episcopacy, the old the beautiful Liturgy, but expurgated and eliminated from it every vestige of sacerdotalism and Romanism. This is the true Protestantism, people of Canada, which we bring to you. Our appeal is to you all. By the Church of your fathers, by the blessed memory of the past, by the fires of Smithfield, and the blood of the Reformation, we beg of you to help us in our endeavour to protect and perpetuate uncorrupted, the pure Reformed Episcopal Church.

Rev. Johnston McCormack then intimated that Bishop Cummins would lay the foundation of the new Reformed Episcopal Church on Tuesday at four o'clock. After the usual devotional exercises, the benediction was pronounced and the congregation dispersed.

Another Serious Conflagration.

Eleven Tenements Consumed—Estimated Loss $30,000.

A serious fire broke out near the corner of Rideau and Cumberland streets yesterday, shortly after 1 o'clock, a.m The alarm was quickly given, and as soon thereafter as it was possible to do so, the fire brigade was on hand at the call of duty, and set to work with will to stay the ravages of the devouring element. The "Conqueror" steam engine was quickly out and in 14 minutes was playing on the fire. For a time, however, she pumped mud, rendering her stream ineffectual. This was, however, soon remedied and two good streams secured through nearly 3,000 feet of hose. She was located at the creek at the corner of Dalhousie and George streets. The "John Heney" was also placed here, and with two streams, one on Rideau street and the other on George street, did good execution in suppressing the flames. The hand engines, as auxiliaries, were found of infinite service. The firemen were somewhat long getting to work, but when they did, they soon got the fire under control. The fire burned with terrific fury for a considerable time, and a strong wind having arisen, fears were entertained that the whole eastern end of the city would become a prey to the flames. Cinders were flying in every direction, and alighting here and there were the means of almost creating new fires; a very heavy shower of rain, however, fell just at the time, and removed all fears in this direction. Mr. Addison is deserving of every praise for the prompt manner in which he opened the sluice gate and furnished a full supply of water for the two steamers. The fire is supposed to have originated in the stable at the rear of the English Hotel and is believed to have been the result of incendiarism; but it may have been caused by somebody smoking in the vicinity of the outbuildings. A horse and sheep belonging to Mr. Dagg, one of the sufferers of the fire were burned. A man is supposed to have perished while in the upper flat of the English Hotel, as he was observed go in and not seen coming out again.

THE SUFFERERS.

Messrs. Slocombe and Stevens, lose the fine rough cast row of buildings on George Street, containing four tenements and valued at $4,500. They are only insured for $1,200 in the London, Liverpool, and Globe Insurance Company. Messrs. Stewart, Macdonald, Meyers, and another party, occupants of this building, were turned out summarily, losing the greater part of their effects.

Pat. O'Meara's stables, together with the building in which his man, who had charge of the premises, resided, were burned, entailing considerable loss upon their proprietor. There was no insurance upon the premises.

Mr. Thos. Starmer has met with a serious misfortune in the loss of the fine brick building occupied by Mr. Dagg, as a flour store, and by Messrs. Slocombe & Stevens, as the English Hotel; also, an adjoining wooden tenement, occupied by Mr. Williams as a tailor and clothier shop. He will be a loser to the extent of at least $10,000, and has only an insurance on the brick building of $1,600. Messrs. Slocombe & Stevens sustain a heavy loss in connection with the hotel, and lost also some carriages and sleighs that lay in the outbuildings. Mr. Dagg, the flour merchant, lost everything and had no insurance. He very unfortunately was absent from home, and had left only a young girl, his daughter, in the house. Mr. Williams loses heavily in his clothing shop and had no insurance effected thereon.

Mr. Finch, as proprietor of a frame double tenement to the west, is a loser to the extent of at least $2,000, including outbuilding. He had no insurance. Mr. Aspinwall, occupied one part of this building as a confectioner's shop, and although much of his stuff was carefully removed, he nevertheless suffers to a great extent. Mr. Brown, the carter, occupied the other end of the buildings, and succeeded in surviving his household effects. His loss will be trifling. Neither occupants were insured.

Dr. Macdonell, in the next building adjoining, was also turned out rather prematurely, and in the removal of his stuff lost considerably. He had no insurance on his furniture. Mr. Robert Stewart, the proprietor of this building, loses severely, as the roof is all burned and the building gutted. An insurance of $700 will not by any means restore the building to its former condition.

P. Baskerville and Brothers lose some seven or eight hundred dollars in the burning of a store-room they had leased in that locality. Not having any insurance this will be a total loss.

The scene of the fire presented a melancholy appearance yesterday, and many visited the locality, scanning the debris. Much sympathy is evinced for the sufferers, who have been so suddenly thrown on the street.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, P M.

SATURDAY, Sept. 5.

Arthur Cullen, charged with assaulting another lad with an axe, was discharged it being clearly shown to be the result of an accident.

Felix Blais, arraigned for being drunk and disorderly, was also discharged.

Patrick Mansfield, charged with a breach of the peace, was dismissed, the case no being clearly proven.

William Walker, charged with fighting on the public streets, was sent to durance vile for two weeks at hard labour.

John Cleary, on a similar charge, was relieved of $5 and costs.

Thomas Logan, charged with the larceny of a shirt, was sent to limbo for a month.

THE SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Andrew Egan was arraigned on three different indictments: attempted murder, shooting at a policeman, and larceny. He was first charged with shooting at George Proctor, with intent to kill.

George Proctor being sworn, said he was bar-tender in the English Hotel, Rideau street. A squabble arose among parties there; Abraham Henderson accused Egan of having taken $5 out of his pocket; Henderson went to seize prisoner, when the latter pushed him back and retired behind the stove; he drew a revolver and said he would shoot any person who would touch him; I had come out to prevent disturbance, and was standing with my back against the counter when prisoner aimed deliberately at me and fired; I was doing nothing at the time; the ball grazed my thigh, where there is now a mark; after firing he cleared out at the back door, and we gave chase down George and Dalhousie streets. The pistol was produced and identified.

To Prisoner—You seemed to make peace; you drew the pistol deliberately without my making any advance towards you; the crowd had advanced on you; you had had some hot discussion.

Henry Clemens being sworn, deposed: Was at the English Hotel at five o'clock yesterday; saw prisoner there and witnessed row from one of the boxes unobserved by the prisoner; they had some high words, and prisoner pretended to make peace; on the occasion that he held Henderson back he noticed a $5 bill in his hand, and the latter immediately accused him of having robbed him of the money; he fired deliberately at Proctor.

He was committed to the Assizes.

The prisoner was then charged with shooting at P. C. Lepine.

Lepine being sworn, said he saw prisoner pursued on Dalhousie last evening by five or six men; I pursued him, and overtook him near the market; he had the revolver in his hand; I took hold of the arm which held the pistol, and he struggled to fire at my head; after I arrested the prisoner he said I was a damned fool that I did not shoot him; that he would shoot me if he had the chance.

Mr. Wm. Beatty sworn, said: Was present when prisoner was arrested, and narrated the circumstances corroborative of P. C. Lepine's evidence.

He was also committed on this charge.

Prisoner was then charged with taking $5 out of Mr. Henderson's pocket.

Abraham Henderson was sworn, and said he had gone down to the English Hotel with prisoner, who said he was a circus man; he asked me where the circus was, and said if I came up by-and-by he would pass me in; he took the money out of my pocket; I was sober; I did not offer to strike any person.

He was committed on the last charge, also to stand his trial at the assizes.

Riley and Green were up on remand for the Taylor burglary, but were again remanded till Wednesday morning.

ARTERIAL blood contains the [illegible] Vitality and Nutrition, which is [illegible] into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but [illegible] wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to [illegible] causing pestules, scalp eruptions or [illegible] sores, bronchitis &c. They may loosen [illegible] nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their [illegible] influence, cause those intensely painful [illegible]tions called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these [illegible] particles, and the parts become [illegible] from the congestion or pressure [illegible]. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism, or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not [illegible] washing out these acremonious [illegible] draws the undue supply of blood [illegible] parts, ceases to contend, and performs [illegible]tion as best she can; however, the [illegible] the blood through the affected [illegible] continues painful. This is Chronic [illegible]tism, which may exist without the [illegible] cedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other [illegible] maladies. [illegible] dissolve these corrupt particles [illegible] have lodged in the affected parts, so that [illegible] circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the [illegible] the effect ceases.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.
MONTREAL, [illegible]

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the [illegible] martyrs of rheumatism that I met in my [illegible] day rounds, I was induced to try the [illegible] DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks [illegible] acute pains across my loins and back, [illegible] indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the [illegible] following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, [illegible] rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing the third bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I am very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Office,
St Lebelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two bottles suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send for it to An Aristocratic Convert.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Times says that the Marquis of Ripon has become a Roman Catholic. The announcement a few days ago, that he had resigned the Grand Mastership of Free Masons, and that the Prince of Wales would temporarily succeed him, caused much excitement, which is heightened by the information that, the Marquis has embraced Catholicism.

The Anglo-American Cable.

At noon, yesterday, the Great Eastern had paid out 1,534 nautical miles of the Anglo-American cable. She was then in lat. 50 30 N. long. 49 45. All going on well.

The Irish-American Rifle Tournament

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Standard's Dublin correspondent says, that the forthcoming Irish-American Rifle match excites the greatest interest. The Irish team will embark on the Cunard steamer at Queenstown on Sunday morning. The Lord Mayor of Dublin and Lady Mayoress will escort them to Queenstown, and they will be accompanied to America by Viscount Massereene and Mr. B gnall as extra members of the team; also by several ladies and representatives of the Irish press.

A Diabolical Plot Discovered.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The Shreveport Times publishes the statement of a merchant of Conchotta, named Abney, to the effect that the citizens had discovered a plot on the part of the negroes and the murdered whites to murder wholesale a gathering of young people on the night the disturbance began; that these facts were brought out by the examination conducted by the committee of citizens since the occurrences were reported.

Reported Murder of Two Negroes.

Since Abney's statement was received, a report reaches this city that the two negroes charged with shooting Dickson have been murdered by a mob at Conchotta.

SATURDAY'S MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES.

Monetary Matters.

LONDON, Sept. 5, Afternoon—The rate of discount on the open market for three months' bills is 2¾ 1-16 below Bank of England rate.

The amount of bullion gone into the Bank balance to-day was £80,000.

Professor Tyndall.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Spectator has the following in reference to Professor Tyndall's late address:—His somewhat fierce demand for freedom for scientific statement was in this country hardly required. It is the rights of political statement which now requires extension. Professor Tyndall will be much less persecuted socially for denying the existence of God than he would be for questioning the value of Monarchy, and may defend Atheists with much less abuse than the Communists or Oligarchs.

UNITED STATES.

Prospect Park Races.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Prospect Park Association began running on their track, outside of Brooklyn, to-day. The first race was the sweepstakes for two year-olds, three quarters of a mile, and was won by 'Minnie McD.' Time, 1:19. The second race, for a purse of $5,000, all ages, one mile heats, was won by 'Mate' in two straight heats. Time, 1:45½ and 1.43½. The third race, for a purse of $500, for three-year olds, two miles, was won by 'Leva,' 'Botany Bay' second, 'Erastus' coming in third. Time, 3:48½.

A Generous Offer Declined.

The Park Commissioners decline to accept Mr. Burnham's offer of the colossal statue of Webster, under the conditions imposed by him, on the ground that the rules of the department require that all works of art shall be inspected and decided to be artistically worthy, before being assigned a place in the Central Park.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A party just returned from Long Branch says that the Government will enforce order in the State, and steps will be promptly taken to crush the new rebellion.

SHREVEPORT CO., Sept 6.

A message was sent to President Grant last night, signed by the leading bankers and merchants and professional men of this City, denying that any resident of this party participated in the recent murders in this section, and claiming that no spirit of lawlessness exists in this parish that cannot be controlled by local authority; and also claiming that the condition of affairs here has been misrepresented abroad, and asking that a commission of fair-minded men be appointed by the Parish to visit the State and ascertain the truth.

Heavy Robbery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—Charles Jenezen, a retired business man had his pocket picked of $15,000 worth of United States and Railroad bonds, in Central Park yesterday

Sermon by Beecher.

TWIN MOUNTAIN, N.H., September 5—Rev. H. W. Beecher preached to-day to another large congregation. Special trains brought over one thousand hearers. The sermon was mainly a history; no allusion was made which bore in any way on the scandal, though at times during his remarks Mr. Beecher appeared very much affected, his voice fluttering and his eyes filled with tears.

Charles Gavan Duffy.

From the St. John "Telegraph."

The return of this brilliant Irishman to the land of his birth recalls a history at once erratic and successful. Mr. Duffy, or as we should call him, Sir Charles, is "a Monaghan man," of Monaghan town, nearly sixty years of age, a Roman Catholic, and an orator, and of late a public servant. He was first known to the public as a reporter for the Dublin Morning Register, for whose duties he displayed marked ability. Subsequently he undertook the management of the Belfast Vindicator. In 1842 he visited Dublin and here met several gentlemen, who afterwards were known as the leaders of the "Young Ireland" Party, including John B. Dillon, Thomas Davis and others, and among them they agreed to start the Dublin Nation as a weekly organ of the Party, with Duffy as the editor. He advocated Repeal and Revolution so successfully that with Dr. Gray, of the Freeman's Journal, O'Connell, Barrett of the Pilot Ray and several priests, he was indicted and imprisoned for a short term. But while Duffy was writing patriotic articles and "national" poetry, smiting the British Philistines hip and thigh through the medium of the Nation, the Repeal Association was being rent in sunder, one class of enthusiasts marching out with Duffy, Mitchell, Meagher, and O'Brien, under the banner of the "Young Ireland" party, the other holding with O'Connell and the Old Ireland party. Duffy and his friends continued to publish seditious articles and to urge the Irish to "action," meaning rebellion, and in 1849, the year of the division, he was again indicted and again got clear. But he was not fast enough for Mitchell, and in 1847 the two separated, Mitchell starting the United Irishman and out-Heroding Herod in his assaults on the Saxon and the Saxon's institutions, for which he was soon arrested, tried for sedition and banished to Bermuda. Duffy then became the newspaper "soul" of the Nationalist party, advocating the most desperate remedies. Two months after Mitchell's trial, Duffy was arrested for "treason felony" and marched to Newgate; "the people surged and swelled around him and would have rescued him had not he and Mr. McGee," [our own D'Arcy] "dissuaded them." He was allowed to contribute to his paper from prison, was twice tried, the jury disagreeing each time, and, after some months' detention, was released. Mr. Duffy's views seemed to moderate from this time forward, although he edited the Nation and discussed Irish questions; the party broke up in 1855 and Duffy quitted public life in Ireland, alleging that "he could not look in calm inaction at her ruin." He went to Victoria (Australia), was greatly admired for his abilities, was elected to Parliament, and soon became Prime Minister of that great colony, a position which he twice held. During his Australian career, he visited England twice and was well received by the Queen and English statesmen; on his first visit, in 1866, meeting in London the Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, once a Young Icelander like himself, but then a member of the Government of Canada! It is but a short time since the second Administration, of which he was the leader, was outvoted in the Assembly, but since its fall Mr. Duffy has become Sir Charles Gavan Duffy. Her Majesty having conferred on him the rank of a Knight of the Order of S. S. Michael and George, and he enjoys a pension from his Parliament of $10,000 a year as an ex-Premier. To-day he finds Ireland prosperous, her people comparatively contented, the connexion between Church and State abolished, and the land tenure question somewhat advanced towards settlement. He is enabled also to recognize how quickly the Imperial Government forgives and forgets political offences, and how thoroughly real public service is recognized and rewarded under the British Constitution. His career ought to satisfy all loyal men, all men of parts and who feel a call to rule, that the highest positions in the country may be attained without resort to disloyal practices, and that under the British flag, and within the compass of this great Empire, there are work enough and honors for every form of ability, without regard to class or creed.

Clippings from the 'Pall Mall Gazette.'

Whatever may be the results shown at the final settlement of the accounts of the Irish Church Establishment, it is as well that the process of winding up should be conducted in a regular way and as directed by the Act of 1869. At present the Auditor-General declares himself unable to understand the accounts furnished to him, and it appears that they are most defective in many respects. He states, according to Sir John Gray's remarks the other night, that on applying to inspect mortgage deeds, he has found that many of them were not executed: other accounts were so insufficiently kept as to render it impossible for him to certify to their accuracy; and under the head of Tithe Rent-charge it was stated that many of the sums were small, and therefore it was not thought necessary to introduce them. In reference to the see of Armagh, there was a deduction of £4,000 from the revenue, and the Auditor-General thought it necessary to call the attention of the Commissioners to it. Going through the report Sir John Gray found, he said, not one, but twenty passages indicating the same result—no accurate accounts were given. In one instance an income derived from tithe rent-charge, amounting to £1 300 a year, had not been scheduled. No return was given of it. The Auditor-General had not been able to give any account of the matter at all. There was apparent throughout the utmost laxity in the mode of conducting business. The Chancellor of the Exchequer admitted in his reply that "so far as the report had gone there were matters in it which seemed to challenge further investigation," and proposed to refer the report to the Public Accounts Committee. Probably this course would be the best, if not the only one, to adopt, as the Auditor General has apparently no further power than to report to the House on the incomplete character of the accounts furnished, which it is clear must be supplemented if we are to get in the whole of that surplus which nobody in the least knows what we are to do with when it is got in.

The "pious founder" has of late become as notorious and bewildering as the "bona fide traveller," or the "compound householder," but, to give him his due, no one ever expected to find him in a public house. To the sad surprise of his best friends, he nevertheless figures conspicuously in an appeal case heard at Middlesex quarter sessions the other day, with reference to the refusal of the justices of the St. Pancras division to transfer a license to sell exciseable liquors at a public-house in the Tottenham-court road. It seems that this license was refused on the ground, among others, that the Tottenham-court-road house was a branch establishment of a public house in Bishopsgate street, known as "Dirty Dick's." This disagreeable name was, according to the statement of the counsel for the respondents, given to the Bishopsgate-street establishment, because an eccentric person, about a hundred years ago bequeathed it on condition that no one should be allowed to be served in it twice, and that it should never be cleaned. It was not mentioned, but it would be interesting to know how far this last condition has been complied with. If "Dirty Dick's" has really not been cleaned for a hundred years, it must by this time be "Very Dirty Dicks", and in another century its name might properly be changed to "Disgustingly Dirty Dick's." In the meantime, let us hope no scrubbing brush or soap and water have ever defiled it. The wishes of its pious founder ought to be respected, whatever may be the consequences.

Some remarks made before the Society of Telegraphic Engineers in London by Herr Treunfeld, and since reported in America, on the effect produced by torpedoes in the Paraguayan war, appear to be very decidedly challenged by officers of the Brazilian navy. The four years' duration of the war, one of these affirms in addressing a New York journal, was due to varied causes, and especially to the bad local conditions of a marshy country; but it is a mistake to suppose that the movements of any of the columns were ever paralyzed by the action of the torpedoes used by Paraguay under Herr Treunfeld's direction. Many of these, made with mechanical self acting apparatus, were badly constructed, and thirteen of those taken up by the fleet had the powder wet. Fourteen others made for percussion action exploded among the parties that were to have directed them; for although this system, which consisted in floating a torpedo down the stream, and firing it at the proper moment by pulling a string from a canoe concealed under the bank, appeared safe enough in theory, it proved very much the contrary in practice, while it never arrested the movements of the squadrons against which it was devised. On one occasion only was there any result from the employment of torpedoes, when, in the attack on Curucu in September, 1866, the Monitor 'Rio de Janeiro' touched a floating one with her screw and sank from its explosion. But, on the other hand, the ironclads explored channels with impunity which a single one of these weapons should have barred, and a large fleet of transports was in constant use and motion without ever experiencing any difficulty from Herr Truenfeld's inventions. On the whole, if this Brazilian writer be correct, it is plain that that gentleman's system was neither so successful in itself nor so widely used as has been alleged; and, in fact the Paraguayan river operations seem to have left the torpedo question pretty much where they found it.

The transfusion of blood is a medical experiment which should only be tried under the best advice, and even then sometimes produces distressing results. A man named Simpson was, according to one of the American papers, the other day nearly dead from consumption, when Dr. Hopkins, who was attending him, decided to try the effect of a transfusion of blood. As none of Mr. Simpson's friends or neighbors were willing to shed their blood for Simpson's sake, Dr. Hopkins had no alternative but to use Simpson's goat for the purpose, and accordingly, opening his patient's arm, injected about two quarts of the goat's blood into the sufferer's system. Simpson began immediately to revive but his revival was marked by the most disagreeable symptoms. No sooner had his strength returned than he jumped out of bed, and, twitching his head about after the fashion of a goat, made a savage attempt to butt the doctor. Dr. Hopkins, after Simpson's head had been plunged against his stomach three or four times with the force of a battering-ram, took refuge in an adjoining room, whereupon Simpson banged his head against the door with such violence that he would have soon smashed the panels but that his attention was diverted from the doctor by his mother-in-law, who at this moment entered the room. One well directed blow from Simpson's head floored the unfortunate old lady, and then, as she lay screaming for help, Simpson frolicked round her, making efforts to nibble the green flowers which formed the pattern of the carpet. At last he was securely tied down, but alarmed the whole neighborhood by his frightful "ba'as." Distressed by Simpson's condition and the reproaches of Mrs. Simpson Dr. Hopkins determined to undo the evil if possible, and, by heavily bribing an Irishman, who was Simpson's servant, procured fresh blood from the faithful domestic and injected Simpson a second time. Simpson is now quite well but shocks his old Republican friends by displaying an irresistible tendency to vote the Democratic ticket and speaks with a strong brogue. He has only once butted since the last "transfusion." On going into church a few Sundays ago one of the remaining corpuscles of the goat's blood got into his brain and he butted the sexton half-way up the aisle, recovering himself, however, in time to apologise just as the indignant sexton was about to floor him with a hymn book.

The Local Government Board has lately addressed a letter of considerable importance to riparian owners to the rural sanitary authority of the Warwick union. It seems that the latter body have for some time past been considering the best way in which they could effect certain sanitary improvements in order to remove some nuisances pronounced by their medical officer of health to be prejudicial to public health. In their deliberations difficulties arose as to Finham Brook, which runs through Kenilworth, and the questions at issue were referred to the Local Government Board, who replied that the matter was under their consideration, but they would not feel justified in expressing an opinion with regard to the particular cases referred to, as they related to private rights and might give rise to litigation. The Board, however, pointed out generally that the rural sanitary authority have no power to interfere in questions between riparian owners as regards their respective rights in flowing water, and that the rural sanitary authority cannot take precedence in order to protect a water-course from pollution, unless such pollution arises from sewage, and is of such a character as to render the water-course so foul as to be a nuisance and injurious to health. The Board adds that, as a general rule, it is not incumbent on a sanitary authority to provide sewers for the reception of other matters than sewage.

There seems to have been a striking demonstration at Cork on Saturday night in honour of Mr John Mitchel, who was transported for life in 1848, and who has just returned from New York to Ireland. Large crowds congregated in front of the hotel where Mr. Mitchel had taken up his quarters, accompanied by bands, tar barrels, and torches. Mr. Mitchel was also visited by a large number of "leading citizens," and representatives of the National party, it is stated, waited upon him at the hotel to present addresses to welcome and congratulation. Mr. Mitchel, however, intimated that he did not desire to receive them, and that if his wishes were consulted there would be no demonstration of any kind. It would really be only considerate of Mr. Mitchel's friends and admirers to attend to his wishes in this respect, and, in fact, to make as little fuss about him as possible, for his position is, if not perilous, to say the least peculiar. Mr. Mitchel did not bid farewell to the colony to which he was transported on ticket-of-leave, but took "French leave" of the authorities; in other words, he escaped, and unless his sentence has been remitted (a fact not generally known) he has no business whatever to show his face in any part of the United Kingdom. The law (in Ireland) is not held in very great respect; but so long as it exists, even in name, it is bad taste for any one to snap his fingers at it too openly. Mr. Mitchel probably feels this, and will, no doubt, make a formal application for a pardon before he accepts any public token of the sympathy due to his misfortunes and of gratitude on account of his great services to Ireland.

DR S JACOBS, ON APHONIA, OR LOSS OF VOICE.—Orange Street, St. John, N. B., 1869.—Mr. Fellows.—Sir: I am bound to award the palm of merit to the preparation of Hypophosphites discovered by you. I had occasion to use it myself in a case of Aphonia, which would not yield to regular treatment, and am happy to say it proved to be all that you claimed for it, having acted with expedition and entire satisfaction. I feel called upon to publish the fact, that the profession may avail themselves of a remedy in your "Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." Yours, very truly, S. Jacobs. 3665

Real Estate Bulletin
FOR AUGUST, 1874.
READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following, which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st., by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1170 per annum, which can be increased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $600 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 27, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $ 2 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 48 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 31 South Stewart and 25 North Wilbred streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality.

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 28 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 15 in the ninth O. F. nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa, front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

CADADA STILL AHEAD

Mr. John Rochester, M. P. said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbugs, but a neighbor who had tried Bunnell and the Canadian Washer, advised so strongly a trial of the Canadian, which he had found to be the best, that I took one and that it was in reality a good Machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer."

Price $8.00 each and for sale by A. R. GILES, corner Nicholas and Theodore streets.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparts, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, I have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes spendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., write—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS.

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, those pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully reserved.

For full particulars, obtain free, of the agent a pamphlet, or refer to advertisement.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills return mail.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY! so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, while Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time: or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive character has which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus precisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuiness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of Dr. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of Dr DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

Caution.
GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are put forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either unprepared compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the Genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the label on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturing Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled in Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

TO BE THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.

CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD
The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to ASK FOR LEA AND PERRINS' SAUCE,
and to see that their names are upon the wrapper labels, stopper, and bottle.
Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.
Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.

The Valley of the Dismal River.

The undiscovered country lately explored by a troop of cavalry from this post, according to a statement contained in a New York daily, and so wonderfully well adapted for agriculture, stock-raising, Sunday Schools, and everything else that not only makes life endurable, but enjoyable, is not altogether that earthly paradise which the lively fancy of the writer paints it; neither has it the advantages which are described to some portions of the district referred to as remaining a closed volume to the white man, "except a few hunters and trappers," who from "selfish motives" have represented the country as a barren waste. There is too much inclination on the part of the average Western man to indulge in panegyric over territory that a grasshopper would die in, and thus lead settlers to risk their little all in a country that the Almighty has not designed for human habitation. The valley of the Dismal River is the first oasis in a desert of sand hills that rises to the north of us in broken ranges of constantly succeeding hillocks which bear each to the other an exact resemblance. In travelling through these hills it is utterly futile for the oldest scout or guide to go by landmarks; if the ocean were suddenly petrified in the midst of a storm the scene would be an excellent counterpart of the country referred to. As an officer remarked in speaking of a trip through this region when asked to describe the scenery:—'Well, you come to sand hills, then more sand hills, and after that you see more sand hills,' and that is about it in a nut shell. Imagine an old farmer of the Mohawk Valley attempting to grow a crop in a country whose horses sink fetlock deep in loose sand at almost every step. The valley of the Dismal is a perfect gem, made more appreciable by the surrounding desert, and is heavily timbered with cedar and other woods from within six miles of its mouth on up to its head. To be sure, it is rather narrow in places, but there are many splendid sites for ranches, plenty of good soil to grow crops, and any quantity of land for grazing purposes. The stream itself is beautiful, abounding in fish and fairly alive with otter and beaver. Now there is not one settler in the whole valley—not because its beauties and advantages are not known, but because the Indian reservations are too near and the troops too far away. The red man has persistently discouraged all advances in that direction. It is well known that the Sioux look upon white men who sojourn north of the Platte as their legitimate prey, and whilst they are afraid, as a general thing, to interfere with soldiers, they have not the same hesitation where a ranchman or trapper is concerned. All of the north country, clear to the Niobrara or Rapid River—has been scouted over by different troops of the Third Cavalry since they came into this department in 1872, and is perhaps as well known as any part of the West that is not actually filled up with settlers. The sand-hills adjacent to the river are full of antelope and black-tail deer, whilst in the Dismal Valley elk can always be found in large numbers. It may be surprising that a river possessing such natural beauties should be called by such a name, but the explanation is easy. When General Warren, then a lieutenant, undertook his exploration through that country he camped about three miles above the mouth of the river. From this point no timber can be seen, and the stream flows through a broad prairie with sand hills, barren sand-hills, on either side, until it empties its waters into the Loup. From the impression then and there received the river was named. The old Indian name describes it better. I have forgotten the Sioux name for it, but it signifies the "river of cedars." The Loup Fork is well settled below the mouth of the Dismal quite a distance, and has been protected heretofore by a summer camp in that vicinity. A two-company post will be built there this fall, and when that is done the Dismal Valley can be made as safe as necessary to induce settlers to locate.

Company I of the Third, which left this post on the 31st July, as previously reported, for Grinnell Station, Kansas Pacific Railroad, marched on the 25th inst. from that station en route to Fort Dodge. The wagons which the company took out from this post returned the other day under escort of a sergeant and six men, who brought with them a waggon from Fort Hays with which to return. This looks very much as though the company were to be permanently located in the Department of the Missouri. As it is one of the best troops in the service—having in its ranks men who belonged to the 'Old Rifles' 20 odd years ago and have served faithfully ever since—their absence from this department is to be deplored, especially if they are gone for good; but quien sabe? "C" Company, Third Cavalry (Sutorious's), has gone from Sidney to the Red Cloud Agency to relieve "G" Company (Monaghan's), of the same regiment, which will take post at Sanders, one of the most pleasant stations in the department, whilst it is said that "A" Company (Hawkley's) is booked for Spotted Tail Agency, relieving "B" Company (Meinhold's) at that not very desirable post.—N.Y. World.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 3559

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10 1872 Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor 265

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers. 1m

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1874.

The South Renfrew Controverted Election trial commences to-day at the village of Renfrew. The Chancellor, and Mr. Bethune, M.P.P., counsel for Mr. McDougall, arrived in this city yesterday from Cornwall and leave for Renfrew this morning.

The Cornwall election trial ended yesterday morning by the Chancellor giving judgment, voiding the election on the ground of corrupt practices on the part of persons assumed to be agents of the successful candidate. The Chancellor expressly exonerated the sitting member from liability to any charge of personal bribery.

RETURN OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

His Excellency the Governor General returned last night from the extensive tour he has made of the West, and now that his triumphal "progress" has ended, we are afforded no little food for reflection. We may set out with the general statement that it has been from beginning to end a most unquestionable success, adding immensely to the prestige and popularity of His Excellency as a Governor, a British nobleman, and an individual, both in Canada and elsewhere. We are not without the hope, either, that it has tended to increase the well known admiration and esteem with which he regards the Dominion and her people, and that, despite the inconveniences which necessarily follow in the train of official visits by the heads of Executive Governments to the loyal people whom they govern—inconveniences which are invariably accumulated and increased by the popularity of the visitor—he has himself, with his amiable lady, derived both pleasure and benefit therefrom. It would be impossible to over-estimate the drain which it must have been upon His Excellency's mental resources and personal convenience to receive and reply to the numberless addresses presented to him, expressive of the loyalty and attachment of our people to himself and the Sovereign he represents, and but for the opportunity which was afforded them by his presence for the expression of those admirable and gratifying sentiments, we could excuse him if he dreaded a repetion of the infliction; but, on the other hand, denude his visit of this characteristic, and perhaps his happiest and most estimable quality as a Governor would have remained unknown. We refer to his unrivalled facility for replying to addresses. The readiness with which he seemed to grasp the points of those carefully prepared salutations, involving, as they no doubt did in the majority of cases, a severe exercise of the united mental capabilities of each corporation which had the honour of presenting them; the freshness and appropriateness of each reply he made, and their perfect dissimilarity both in matter and construction, especially considering the general sameness of the sentiments to which they were a response, were something truly astonishing and wonderful. By the very virtue of their number, the replies of His Excellency were as a rule extempore, and, for the very same reason, the smallest opportunity could not have been afforded him for previous preparation, since the labour of reading them over first, and then hearing and replying to to them, would have been simply impossible to be performed within the time at his disposal. His fund of complimentary language, and his power of immediately and thoroughly laying hold of the salient points and leading sentiments contained in the expressions of welcome with which he was everywhere received, were equally remarkable; and he appears to be endowed with a spontaniety of ideas and a power of putting them in attractive and popular form, which would win for him the hearts and affections of the people when his higher and more enduring qualities would fail to reach them. He was equally at home in replying to the 'cute business men who compose the councils and the trade corporations of our counties, towns and cities—men who would scan his behaviour and his utterances with a keen, critical scrutiny—and in conveying his carefully worded and well-weighed sentiments to the simple and untutored denizens of the forest. His diplomacy is only equalled by his urbanity, and there ran through every speech he made and every act he performed that modesty, that subordination of self to Imperial interests, that full recognition of the constitutional liberties of the people of the Dominion and the responsibility of the advisers with whom Parliament has surrounded him, which mark the sound, matured judgment of the statesman. He is not insensible to personal merit, nor does he refrain from expressing his admiration of it, as the appropriate, well-deserved, and fitting tribute which he paid to the Premier of Canada amply illustrates; but as to the feelings with which he regards the particular policy either of the Premier or his opponents, we may read his utterances every way and fail to find in them the remotest indication. The sentiments he expressed, surrounded as he is by a Liberal Administration, were just the sentiments he would have expressed had his advisers been Conservative—a fact which proves how fully he appreciates the true nature of the duties of his high office.

There were three incidents of his visit to the West which outshone all the others in the diplomatic tact and felicitous expression of sentiment with which they were marked—namely, his references to the mutual relations of Canada and the United States, commercial and political, in reply to the address from the Chicago Board of Trade, his paternal response to the greetings of the dusky Indians at Sarnia, and his speech at the Toronto Club. For the first he received the unqualified praise of the Chicago press, remarking, as some of them did, that the number of American statesmen who could similarly acquit themselves would not be difficult to count certainly a compliment of no ordinary kind from the public newspapers of a country where people are accustomed to speak and think of their political institutions and public men as unequalled by any on the face of the earth. The terms in which he addressed the Indians at Sarnia were also the subject of approving comment by the press of the United States, and the noble words he there spoke on behalf of Canada and Great Britain in regard to their past and prospective dealings with the original owners of the soil of North America are worthy of being preserved in letters of gold. However humane and commendable may have been our treatment of the Red man in the past, however good our own resolutions regarding him for the future, a tribute such as was paid us in this respect by one who, although representing Her Majesty in our midst, is nevertheless an authority as independent as he is competent, must be as gratifying to our common humanity and Christianity, as it is to ourselves and the mother country as the parties directly concerned. Of his speech before the Toronto Club it would be impossible to speak in adequate terms. It was a proof beyond all others which His Excellency has hitherto afforded the people of Canada of how minutely he has studied and how completely he has mastered the details of our system of Government. It might scarcely be a fair representation of the facts, as it certainly would be somewhat humbling to our national pride to say that he told us some things of which we are not previously aware; but the statement is at least proximately correct, inasmuch as it can hardly be said, while we probably had an intuitive knowledge of them, that we altogether comprehended the advantages of our somewhat dependent connection with the Empire. We are so much accustomed to speak of British connection as an abstract idea, and of growing eloquent over the importance of maintaining it that we never stop to enquire, or rather reflect upon, the particular mode in which those advantages accrue to us practically. It would be interesting to those who think it would be better for us, were we numerically as great a nation as we are commercially, to set at a separate nationality, to consider whether the nominal dependence we owe to the mother country, coupled, as His Excellency clearly showed it to be, with advantages which the mother country does not and cannot herself enjoy, would be at all worth exchanging for a nominal independence which would deprive us of those benefits, or that we could preserve intact as a separate nationality, those institutions which we now possess, and to the utility of which Lord Dufferin has paid such a high, and, we firmly believe, deserved compliment.

In conclusion, we may say that we feel very certain we express the feelings of every citizen of Ottawa when we welcome back to their residence in our midst His Excellency and his estimable partner, and congratulate them on the enthusiasm with which their presence was greeted wherever they went, as well in the neighbouring Union as in this "Canada of Ours."

THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT.

At last it would appear the Quebec Cabinet have yielded to their inevitable fate, but, like every Tory Government that ever existed, they have parted with the seals of office, with great sorrow and mental anguish—that is to say, if they, have in reality parted with them at all. Of course we are somewhat sceptical on this latter point, because we know how hard Tory combinations always die. One wonders, if the statement of their resignation be correct, why they should have waited till this time before doing it. The reasons which must have impelled them to this act yesterday, were equally strong a month ago. Why did they not resign then? We may be told in reply that Mr. Robertson had not then returned from England. Of course he had not, but that was no good reason for refusing to resign. He could have been communicated with by telegraph, and so no doubt he was. But they did not resign when he returned, and therefore his absence could not have been the real reason in the first instance. We are told that he came to Montreal soon after he landed, to examine the papers connected with the Tanneries transaction for himself, and it is to be presumed that had this examination been satisfactory to him, we should have heard of no such thing as resignation. It would appear, then, that the Treasurer had so little confidence in his colleagues that he could not accept their statement of the matter, and had to make a personal scrutiny. What a fine thing it must be, to be sure, to see Tory Ministers playing hide and seek round each other's backs like this. Surely this is a case which smacks of that recreancy and traitrous conduct which our Tory contemporaries have been so ready to unearth and willing to denounce, and yet we hear no note of alarm. How is this? When a whole administration swallowed the Pacific scandal—the most monstrous piece of jobbery and corruption in which any government holding power under British institutions was ever concerned—our Tory contemporaries swallowed it too, and shouted "treachery" till they were hoarse at any man who had ever given a Tory vote, or by word or action indicated any sympathy with the Tory Government, if he dared to dispute the accuracy of their verdict. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel! It is all changed now. It was set down as terribly treacherous on the part of independent members of the House of Commons to refuse any longer to support the charter-selling Government of Sir John Macdonald, and one of the watch-words with which the Tories went to the country at the last election—a wild and woeful refrain caught up as it fell from the lips of their fallen "chieftain"—was "death to traitors." But when Mr. Irvine, having given his official assent to the Tanneries Swap, and having remained in office for weeks after that outrageous piece of business was consummated, he suddenly found out that it was going to ruin the Government of which he was a member, and like a rat which finds itself in a sinking ship, he marched out double quick. And yet, even such unprecedented conduct on the part of a Minister of the Crown towards his colleagues is lauded by the same organs as an act of great moral uprightness. Not a word about its perfidy, although surely they who have have such noses for treason, treachery and official unfaithfulness of all kinds, might, with little difficulty, have so construed it. We express no opinion of our own in writing thus with regard to Mr. Irvine's conduct; we simply apply to him the rule by which his own friends have, for the past twelve months at any rate, been accustomed to measure conduct on the part of others far more praiseworthy, far more disinterested, and far less suspicious in appearance than his.

And now, it would seem, this pretty Cabinet having left their case to the judgment of one of their colleagues, he has given an adverse decision. What a pitiable sight it is to see the Prime Minister of an important Province like Quebec meekly submitting to the indignity of having his conduct in the transaction of public business made the subject of personal inquiry by his official inferior and junior partner in the Administration. The turpitude of the transaction itself was nothing to them; they would have been unfaithful to the record of the party to which they belong had it been otherwise. The indignation of the public was nothing to them; when was ever a genuine Tory known to give a fig for public opinion, provided that by disregarding it he could hold on to the public treasury or put a good thing in a friend's way? What did it matter to them that they had been convicted on their own showing of a monstrous public swindle — a piece of rascality to which Canadian history affords no parallel except the sale of the Pacific charter? Nothing, provided Mr. Robertson thought it could be got over—provided he could be retained in the Cabinet, and his influence in the House and the country secured. Honesty ought to be a valuable article in the Tory market, for clearly enough the supply is limited. "Birds of one feather flock together," and the probability is that Mr. Robertson was somewhat of a feather with Mr. Ouimet. We are not disposed to credit him, on the evidence before us, with any great amount of honesty, or to believe that the delicacy or sensitiveness to wrong of his political conscience had much to do with his arbitrament of the case submitted to him. We are rather inclined to suspect that when he was supposed to have been examining the documents in connection with the Land Swap and weighing their effect, that he was secretly scanning the political sky to see whether the auguries which flew across his vision were of good or evil omen, and that he weighed the importance of the evidence against his colleagues by the balance of the party caucus. The probability is that expediency was his conscience, necessity his law, and personal and party interests the counsel which pled with his heart and judgment most bewitchingly and effectively. Altogether the spectacle afforded by this plotting, scheming, corrupt, and rotten combination is enough to make the nation, as well as the province, sick and disgusted. It proves to a demonstration what has frequently been asserted by the Liberal party, that it is expediency which is honesty among Tories; that, in the memorable words of Johnson, they have supported themselves in power "by temporary expedients," and that "each day was lost in contriving for to-morrow;" and, indeed, we may fitly describe them when we say in the words of the immortal Dryden—"of all their expedients, never one was good."

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents will be good enough to furnish to the Editor their real names, otherwise their communications over fictitious signatures cannot be inserted.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

SIR:—Some time ago, if I remember aright, an estimate was made of the cost of the Water Works for this city, and debentures were issued to the full amount of that estimate. Again we are called upon for a further amount about equal to the first, thus doubtless, the original estimate—What value can be placed on the estimate of a civil engineer after that? Is it incapacity, carelessness or fraud, and which, and at what figures is the cost to stop? Not apparently until the city becomes hopelessly involved in debt. When are we to get an intelligible explanation of or a remedy for this condition of things.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW. New York: The Leonard Scott Publishing Company.

The Leonard Scott Publishing Company's reprint of the London Quarterly Review for July contains as follows: "The Isle of Wight." A condensed description of this "English Madeira." Its physical structure, history, dialects, customs, traditions, and places of interest are set before the reader in very entertaining detail. The second article, on "Primitive Man," takes up recent works by Tylor and Lubbock, discusses the results of their teachings as affecting the monistic and dualistic hypotheses, and after a minute comparison and examination of their testimony, decides emphatically against the theory of Evolution. "The Countess of Nithsdale." The Book of Carlaverock, from which this sketch is taken, is compelled from the documents and letters of the Maxwell family. As the work is only printed for private circulation, the public must depend upon such reviews as that before us for a glimpse into this collection of family papers. The writer gives us the story of the Countess of Nithsdale, who, when her husband was arrested and sentenced to death for taking an active part in the insurrection of 1715, succeeded in effecting his escape "by the rare combination of high courage and inventive skill, a determined constancy of purpose, and a prompt versatility of means." She afterwards suffered many hardships, and seems to have been devoted to a very selfish husband. "English Vers de Société." "The writer of Vers de Société stands in the same relation to the audience of the salon as the ballad writer to that of the alehouse and the street. The one circle is more cultivated than the other, but the poet must equally reflect its tone, think its thoughts, and speak its language." The article mentions many of these poets, and gives specimens of their verses. In "John of Barneveld and Sixteenth Century Diplomacy," Mr. Motley's recent work is very favourably criticised, and pronounced a fitting sequel to his former histories. "The Labour Movement at Home and abroad," treats at length on Trades-Unions and Strikes. "Japan as it Was and Is." Without going deeply into history, this article gives an account of some of the more important events that have occurred from time to time in Japan, and a description of its present condition. "Victor Amadeus, a Reversal of History." We have hitherto been taught that Victor Amadeus not only regretted his abdication, but that he made an effort to regain his throne, which resulted in his arrest and imprisonment. Documents have recently come to light, and are quoted at length in this article, showing that he never had any such regret nor made any such effort.

CITY AND VICINITY

Fifty cents only for a handsomely filled dressing case, at T. E. Moore's Hair Cutting Rooms, 72 Sparks street. 3666-3

CORNER STONE.—The corner stone of the new Reformed Episcopal Church will be laid this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Bishop Cummins.

ARNPRIOR EXHIBITION.—The Arnprior Agricultural Exhibition begins to-day and will continue for three days. Many will doubtless take a run to-morrow by the Canada Central to see this fine show.

NORTH RENFREW ELECTION.—The North Renfrew Election Case will be tried in the Court House in the town of Pembroke, on Monday next, the 14th day of September.

FRUIT GROWER'S ASSOCIATION. — The members of this Association meet this morning at 10 o'clock, in the rooms of the Ottawa Literary and Scientific Society, to further the interests of the organisation. They will remain in session two days.

GAOL STATISTICS.—There are present in the county gaol 39 prisoners; 27 males and 12 females, the latter being principally composed of the abandoned class. It is stated that this is an unusually large number of prisoners to be incarcerated in the County of Carleton gaol.

PRESBYTERIAN UNION.—The congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Arnprior, have unanimously adopted the remit on Union as amended at the last meeting of Synod, in conjunction with the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church.

CRICKET.—A cricket match was played on Tuesday last between the Arnprior and Portage du Fort clubs, which resulted in a victory for the former club. There was only one innings played, and the score stood Arnprior 74, Portage du Fort 31.

DELAYED TIMBER.—Two rafts belonging to Messrs. Mohr & Coburn and Mills & Turner and Made on the Kippewa are laid up at the head of the Deux Rivieres rapids, it being too late in the season to run through the Des Joachims slides. One raft contains 114 cribs, the other 113 cribs, and are principally white pine.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—Its affects are almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark, if need be. 3665

ANOTHER MILL TO BE CLOSED.—Conroy's mill, on the Des Chenes Rapids, will be closed on the 12th inst. From this time forward others may be looked upon as following suit. This will have a depressing effect upon the labor market, and men will find it difficult to obtain employment. It will be a good time to prosecute all public works, as any number of men can be had to work upon them.

T. E. Moore begs to inform his many friends, that for a few days longer he will continue his cheap sale of diamond rings, gold and silver watches, gold chains, and sets. The most elegant goods ever seen in Ottawa, including Mettendorfs celebrated Prize Medal Musical Boxes and Mechanical Singing Birds, until his new hair-dressing and bath rooms are ready, which he is now fitting up in the most improved style, 72 Sparks street. 3666

POLITICAL NOMINATIONS.—The people of Brockville have already entered the arena of political strife, and both parties are working strenuously in support of their respective interests. The Reformers have chosen Lieut. Col. Cole as their standard bearer in the coming contest for the Local Legislature. The Tories have embraced Mr. Fitzsimmons, the old representative, and will endeavor to elect him at all hazards

ARRIVALS AT THE RUSSELL HOUSE. — A Alford, New York; J Blyth, Prescott; George H McHenry, Maitland; D Hurley, Montreal; Hon. D A Macdonald, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. C H Canceine, City; James Bethune and Mrs Bethune, Cornwall; C A Brough, Cornwall; Dr G La Roque, St. Therace, Bloinville; J Black, Mr. H Abbott, Montreal; Thomas Hills, Belville; Mr B Caldwell, Mrs M J Caldwell, Miss R Caldwell, Mm Caldwell, Lanark; Mr W G Hall, J Davis, Windsor; George Leslie, Junr., Toronto; Dr. Walker, Kingston; James McLaren, Buckingham.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Last evening, one of the most brilliant stars in the dramatic firmament appeared as above, Mdlle. Marietta Ravel. The piece chosen was the well known 'French Spy,' although in her hands it is not the conventional Spy with which we are so familiar, but a fresh sparkling artistic and admirable performance. Her pantomine simply speaks—her dancing is the perfection of the poetry of motion—her poses are graceful and natural—her bye play are excellent—and her combat simply the most marvellous ever before exhibited by a woman. Her fight with Mr. Ed. Lay was the most untiring, skilful and enduring, that could possibly be achieved. In fact, it is the highest perfection of swordsman skill. It brought down thunders of acclamation and she was twice called before the curtain. Her costumes by the way were in excellent taste. The dramatis personnæ were fully up to the requirements of the piece, particularly Mr. Ed. Lay, who supports Mdlle. Ravel in this engagement, and who gave a vivid portrait of the Arab. The stock company did their duty ably, and the music, if we except the occasional omission of one, was efficient, but this may be accounted for owing to the late arrival of Mdlle. Ravel. This evening the "French Spy" is repudiated, and we think it, is good, with such a star as Mdlle Ravel for a week at least, although the management announces its speedy withdrawal.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, P.M.

MONDAY, Sept. 7.

Peter Neptune, charged with being drunk, was cautioned and discharged.

William Porter, arraigned for assaulting Sergt. Lambkin, was fined $20 and costs.

Francis Dea and John O'Neil were charged with driving carts without the necessary license. They were let go on a promise that they would procure licenses.

Elie Lalonde, charged with leaving the employment of F.X. L'Heureux was mulcted in $20 and costs.

Edwin Mooney, a circus man, charged with larceny, was remanded till this morning.

A man named Peter Canaille, on a somewhat old charge of stealing a horse in May last, was sent down to the Assizes for trial.

City Council.

A regular meeting of the City Council was held last night, His Worship the Mayor in the chair. Present—Ald. Bangs, Pratt, David, Christie, Rowe, Birkett, Robertson, Durocher, Heney, O'Connor, Waller and Rocque.

PETITIONS, ETC.

Petition from Knox's Church for remission of taxes. Referred to Assessment Committee.

From Paul Favereau for increase of salary. Referred to Finance Committee.

From James Buchanan and others against placing hydrants on the pavements.

A considerable discussion followed, and considerable fault was found with locating the hydrants so far on the platforms. Referred to the Board of Works.

From Chas. Magee, for closing a small lane that runs through the Russell House block, and named McLaughlin street.

On the motion of Ald Bangs the matter was referred to the City Solicitor, with a view to the necessary steps being taken to close said street.

From the Metropolitan Rifle Association asking for a grant. Referred to Finance Committee.

A communication was received from Messrs. Gunn and Demers offering the privilege of allowing the main sewer through their lots for $120 and $100.

On motion of Ald. Rocque cheques were ordered to be granted in favor of the respective parties for the amounts.

A letter was received from the City Engineer, stating that no bricks were received for the Main sewer, and those offered were not suitable for the work. Referred to the Board of Works.

Several accounts were presented and referred to the Finance Committee.

HALF YEARLY REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF THE OTTAWA FIRE BRIGADE.

To the Mayor and Corporation of the City of Ottawa.

GENTLEMEN—In this my half yearly report, I beg leave to state that the number of fires and alarms, to which the Brigade, as a whole or in part, have responded, has been more numerous during the past half year than for the whole of the year previous.

The Engines hose, and Hook and Ladder waggons, also the Steamer, hose and horses are all in good working order and condition.

Much has been done by your honorable body, and the Fire and Light Committee, to improve the department, but much has yet to be done if the city is to reap the advantages gurranteed by the introduction of Water Works and the telegraph. The telegraph alarm will be of little use unless there is in each station one or more paid men always ready to take advantage of it, and leave with the reels instantly for the scene of the fire.

The present stations, which are the property of your honorable body could be used for the purpose named by so altering them as to accommodate in each a double reel, capable of carrying, say from 600 to 700 feet of rubber hose, a place for a horse and a residence for a Guardian. Some place might be secured on Le Breton Flats in which to station a reel, as I believe the interest of that part of the city demands all the protection which can be given in connection with the Water Works.

I would also recommend that your honorable body should add to the Department a Salvage waggon, and the necessary outfit in connection therewith, the same as is in use in Montreal, and which has proved such a decided success, for there is no doubt but with the introduction of Water Works a large share of the losses will be caused by water, which could be avoided by the establishment of Salvage Corps.

I would again draw your attention to the necessity of having a Fire Escape situated in some central part of the city, as the increased height of the new buildings renders it impossible to reach the upper storey's from the outside with our ordinary ladders.

I would suggest to your honorable body the advisability of some one or more of the Council going to Montreal and Quebec to see the working of their Brigades, and take from them the experience which they have gained, and apply the same to our city, so that in starting a new system, we may do so, as near perfection as possible, and thereby save money to your honourable body, and valuable property to the ratepayers generally. Attached is an inventory of the property belonging to your honourable body in connection with the Fire Department, which you will see represents a very large amount of money, and which necessitates a great and increased watchfulness in its management.

I would also recommend that a book be kept by the Chief, in which all the expenses connected with the Fire Department should be entered, so that at the end of the year your honourable body would know to a dollar what your Fire Department costs, which at present is impossible.

I would also draw your attention to the advisability of having the apparatus in connection with the steam fire engine put on sleighs for winter use, and to do that it will require the work to be put in hand at once, because, if the engine, hose reels, and other apparatus are not put on sleighs, I will not guarantee their being able to get to fires during the coming winter.

I would also recommend that while the alterations of the George Street Station are being made, that a door be opened in the side, so as the hose reels can come out in that way, and not interfere with the "John Heney," which is being placed in the same station; and besides, the hose will require to be kept from burning during the winter, which cannot be done in the outside sheds. We will also require the sheds for other purposes.

I would also suggest that your honorable body establish regular office hours for the Chief and his Assistant, so that anyone having business with them in connection with their duty may know where and when to find them, and that the same be made public.

The whole of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient Servant,
WILLIAM YOUNG, B.O. F.B.

On motion of Ald. Christie, the report of the Chief of the Fire Brigade was received, adopted, and ordered to be printed with the minutes.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Dr. Lynn, the health officer, presented an elaborate and instructive report in the interest of the public health and other sanitary matters.

On motion of Ald. Rowe, the report was referred to the Board of Health.

RECONSIDERATION.

Ald. Birkett moved the reconsideration of that portion of the 7th report of the Board of Works fixing the width of sidewalks in Sussex Street at 10 ft., lost on the following division:—

Yeas—Durocher, Waller, Heney, O'Connor, Rocque, and Birkett.

Nays—Bangs, Pratt, David, Christie, Rowe, and Robertson.

APPOINTMENT OF A CITY COLLECTOR.

On motion of Ald. Waller, seconded by Ald. Robertson, the By-law to appoint a City Collector for the year 1874 was introduced and read a first time.

The blank in the By-law having been filled with the name of Thos. H. Kirby it was read a second and third time and passed; Mr. Birkett recording his dissent.

THE MARKET QUESTION.

Ald. Bangs moved, seconded by Ald. Christie, that the City Clerk is hereby authorised to advertise for plans for the erection of a New Market House on the Wellington Ward Square—said plans to be sent in on or before the next meeting of this Council, and that this Corporation give for the plan selected $100, cost of Market House not to exceed $20,000.

A long discussion here ensued in which the advocates of the rival markets fiercely contended. It was argued on the part of one side that there existed a pressing necessity for the extension of the By-Ward Market, and that the proposed improvements in Upper Town could be deferred. On the other hand it was contended that Upper Town was sadly in need of improved market accommodation and that it was ungenerous of those in the majority to deny it to them.

Ald. Rocque moved in amendment, seconded by Ald Birkett, that all after the word that in the main motion be struck out and the following inserted in lieu thereof:—"That the Market Committee be instructed to report at the next meeting of this Council of the advisability of building a new market house in Wellington Ward, and propose to the Council some plan for carrying out said improvement.

This amendment was carried without a division.

On motion of Ald. Birkett, seconded by Ald. Heney, the Chief of Police was instructed to have all the buildings situated on the By-Ward Market lots recently purchased removed immediately in a way that will be most profitable to this corporation, but the removal of said buildings to take place at once. subject to the City Solicitor as to any legal question that may arise.

This resolution was also carried.

THE FIRE BY-LAW.

On motion of Ald. Rocque, seconded by Ald. Waller, a Special Committee composed of His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Christie, Pratt, Waller, and the mover, was appointed to define the fire limits of this city so as to be inserted in the fire by-law, now being prepared by the City Solicitor.

CHANGING NAMES OF STREETS.

On motion of Ald. Pratt, seconded by Ald. Christie, the City Solicitor was instructed to prepare, and the City Clerk to give the proper notice that an application would be made to the Legislature of Ontario at its next session, for an act to enable the Corporation to change the names of certain streets, and give such names to them as may be deemed proper.

THE DOG TAX.

Moved by Ald. Robertson, seconded by Ald. Rowe, that with a view to the more effectual and equitable collection of the dog tax within the Corporation, the By-Law Committee are hereby instructed to prepare a By-Law for the issue of licenses to all who may be desirous of keeping or harboring dogs in the city, the cost of each such license to be one dollar; the By-Law also to require the owners of such dogs to procure for them an appropriate collar with name and number attached for identification by the police.

The resolution was carried.

EXEMPTION FROM DUTY.

On motion of Ald. Christie, His Worship the Mayor was instructed to wait upon the Minister of Customs and learn upon what terms the Government would be willing to release the bondsmen to the bond for the payment of duties upon the steam fire engine "Conqueror."

ARBITRATION.

On motion of Ald. Birkett, seconded by Ald. Rocque, the City Solicitor was instructed to take the necessary steps to arbitrate on the Parson and Corcoran properties for the proposed extension of the By Ward Market.

GRANT TO THE SHOW.

On motion of Ald. Rowe, seconded by Ald. Rocque, the usual sum of $500 was granted the City of Ottawa Agricultural Exhibition, and the Mayor instructed to sign a cheque for the same, suspending all rules of the Council to the contrary.

SUSSEX STREET PLATFORM.

Ald. Birkett again moved, seconded by Ald. Heney, that whereas in the Seventh Report of the Board of Works, in the clause that refers to the width of certain platforms, it is not clearly stated what the width of the platform in Sussex street should be, therefore be it resolved that the width of said platform be twelve feet.

It was argued against the resolution, that the report of the Board of Works had recommended ten feet platforms for said street, and that in accordance therewith they had been laid in many parts of the street, and that it was absurd to be doing and undoing work in such an extravagant manner.

The resolution was put to the meeting and carried on the following division.

YEAS.—Waller, Birkett, Rocque, O'Connor, Heney, Durocher, and His Worship the Mayor.

NAYS.—Pratt, David, Bangs, Rowe, Christie, and Robertson.

Ald. O'Connor's name was taken down by the clerk among the yeas, whereas he voted nay, but it was not found out till after the adjournment, and will therefore have to be settled at the next meeting.

The Council then adjourned.

VICE-REGAL TOUR.

GOVERNOR GENERAL AT BROCKVILLE.

His Excellency the Governor-General and suite arrived yesterday at the town of Brockville, on his return home from his somewhat extended tour in the West. There, as in all places which he visited, he was most warmly received. The following address was presented to His Excellency:—

To His Excellency, the Right Honorable Sir Frederick Temple, Earl of Dufferin K.P.K.C.B., Governor General of the Dominion of Canada.

May it please Your Excellency:

We, the Mayor, Council and citizens of the Town of Brockville bid Your Excellency welcome.

We trust the extended tour Your Excellency has enjoyed through the Province of Ontario has been of a nature to impress Your Excellency favourably with the progress and prosperity of the country, while at the same time it has convinced you of the devoted loyalty of the people.

We express our sincere desire that Your Excellency and your amiable Lady and family may long enjoy the blessing of health, and that when you retire from the high and honorable position you now so ably fill you may do so with the knowledge that you have well represented our Sovereign in caring for the privileges surrounding her, as the head of a great country as well as for the liberties of a free people.

On behalf of the Corporation and citizens of the Town of Brockville.

J. D. BUELL,
Mayor.

Sept. 7, 1874.

His Excellency in reply said:—

MR. MAYOR AND GENTLEMEN.—I thank you for the address with which you have honored me.

This is the last address I am destined to receive before my final return to Ottawa where much serious business awaits my attention. It is with regret I find my holidays drawing to a close and a termination is about to be put to the pleasant and instructive personal intercourse I have had with such large numbers of the Canadian people. At all events I shall carry the pleasantest memories with me into retirement. During the six weeks my tour has occupied, I believe that I have received something like one hundred and twenty addresses, everyone of which breathed a spirit of contentment, loyalty and kindness. In fact from first to last no harsh, desponding, or discordant note has marred the jubilant congratulations of the nation. But the demonstrations with which we have been honored, have not been confined to mere vocal greetings. It would be impossible to describe either the beauty or the variety of the triumphal emblems which have glittered on either hand along our way. In addition to the graceful and picturesque decorations of evergreens, flags, tapestry and prismatic canopies of colour from window to window, with which the towns were gay, we have passed under a number of the most ingenious and suggestive arches. There was an arch of cheeses, (laughter), an arch of salt, an arch of wheels, an arch of hardware, stoves, and pots and pans, (great laughter), an arch of sofas, chairs and household furniture, [laughter], an arch of ladders laden with firemen in their picturesque costumes, an arch of carriages, [laughter] an arch of boats, a free trade arch, a Protectionists' arch, [great laughter], an arch of children, and last of all an arch—no, not an arch—but rather a celestial rainbow of lovely young ladies! [Great laughter and applause] Indeed the Heavens themselves dropped fatness, for not unfrequently a magic cheese or other comestible would descend into our carriage. As for the Countess of Dufferin, she has been nearly smothered beneath the nosegays which rained down upon her, for our path has been strewed with flowers. One town not content with fulfilling its splendid programme of procession, fireworks and illuminations, concluded its reception by the impromptu conflagration of half a street, [laughter and applause], and when the next morning I thought it my duty to condole with the authorities on their misfortune, both the owner of the property and the Mayor assured me with the very heroism of politeness, that the accident would produce a great improvement in the appearance of the place. [Great laughter] Gentlemen I must now bid you good bye, and through you I desire to say good bye to all my other entertainers throughout the Province. I have been most deeply affected by their kindness, for although of course I am well aware that the honours of which I have been the recipient have been addressed, not to me, the individual, but to my office, it would be affectation were I to ignore the fact that a strain of personal good will has been allowed to mingle with the welcome accorded by the people of Ontario to the Representative of their Queen. (Cheers) I only wish I could have made a more fit return to the demonstrations with which I have been honoured. Happily the circumstances of the Country have justified me in using the language of honest, and hearty congratulation, and if I have done wrong in sometimes mixing on a purely festive occasion, a gentle note of warning, or hint of advice, I trust that my desire to render practical service to the country will be my excuse for any inopportune digressions of this nature. (Cheers).

His Excellency concluded by thanking the Mayor and Corporation for the kind reception accorded to himself and the Countess of Dufferin.

HIS EXCELLENCY AT CARLETON PLACE.

Yesterday Earl Dufferin and party paid a flying visit to Carleton Place, on their way to Ottawa, when there he was presented with the following address:—

To His Excellency the Right Honorable the Earl of Dufferin, K.P., K.C.B., Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada, &c.

May it please Your Excellency,

We the pupils of the High and Public Schools of Carleton Place, sincerely welcome your Excellency and Lady Dufferin.

And we also gladly embrace this auspicious opportunity of expressing our hearty loyalty to our gracious and noble Queen, and our warm regard for your Excellency, as her worthy and honoured representative in our fair Dominion.

Deeply thankful for the cordial interest you have uniformly taken in the Schools of Canada, we wish to assure you that, with the blessing of Our Heavenly Father, we shall endeavour to use our educational facilities in such a manner, as to show that we have been encouraged and stimulated by the kindly words and excellent advice you have so often addressed to Canadian children.

Though our knowledge is yet elementary, we have already learned that we live under the most glorious banner, and enjoy the best laws in the world. And we therefore desire, as Young Canadians, to repeat our legal attachment to Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and our warm devotion to the good old flag, that for a 'thousand years has braved the battle and the breeze.'

Hoping you may be the justly popular and deservedly esteemed Governor of the Dominion, we desire, in closing, to express our sincere respect and best wishes for Your Excellency and Lady Dufferin.

D. S. Mac[illegible].

On behalf of the Pupils Union High and Public Schools.

CARLETON PLACE, Sept. 7, 1874.

His Excellency made the usual suitable reply, responding in the most happy terms.

Arrival of the Governor General.

The return of His Excellency, the Governor General, and Countess of Dufferin, yesterday evening, was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic concourse of people at the Canada Central Depot. It might be stated that the residents in that section of the city, had not up to a few minutes before the arrival of the train, been informed that His Excellency was to arrive, and hence there was but little demonstrations made by those present. About 7:30 p.m., the train containing the Vice Regal party arrived at the station. The engine was gaily decorated with flags, and the Vice Regal party rode in a special car belonging to the Northern Railway, which was elegantly fitted up. His Excellency, it is said, expressed himself well pleased with all the arrangements made for him.

On the arrival of the train the Vice Regal party were received by a detachment of the Governor General's Foot Guards, with the Fife and Brass Bands of the regiment, under the command of Colonel Ross. His Excellency and suite, on making their appearance, were cheered lustily, the Guards presenting arms, and the band playing the National Anthem. On the platform to receive His Excellency were several members of the Cabinet, a number of Civic dignitaries and representatives of the clerical and medical profession. His Excellency shook hands with the majority of those who met him, and afterwards drove to Rideau Hall.

OTTAWA BRIGADE GARRISON ARTILLERY RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting.

The fourth annual prize meeting of the above association opened yesterday morning, at the Rideau Rifle Range. The day was most propitious for rifle practice, and as the subjoined scores will show, the shooting was much above the average. The arrangements under the President, Surgeon T. H. Corbett, and the Executive Committee, Captains Graham and Cluff, Lieuts. Harris, Ryan, [illegible], [illegible], Russell, and Grant, were of the most perfect kind, and reflect much credit on those gentlemen. The following are the several competitions, and the names of the CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 22, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general emaciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wishing you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant, J. H. W. SCOTT, M. D.

TORONTO.

Ontario Rifle Association.—The Wimbledon Team for 1875.

TORONTO, Sept. 6.

The matches of the Ontario Rifle Association were brought to a close on Saturday, by the completion of the small-bore matches and the competition for the selection of the Ontario members of the Wimbledon team for 1875. In the latter the six highest scores were made by Mr. W. Cruit, Toronto, 225 points; Major Gibson, Hamilton, 223; Mr. A. Bell, Toronto, 219; Mr. J. R. Mills, Toronto, 218; Mr. Little, Toronto, 216; and Mr. Murison, Hamilton, —. The highest possible score was 315 points. The first stage of the small-bore match was concluded on Friday evening, but as the scores were not then made up we publish the list of prize winners this morning. The second stage, open to the 20 highest scores in the first stage, was shot on Saturday morning, the whole of the prizes being taken by Hamilton marksmen, the "ambitious" city having sent a remarkably strong team to the meeting just brought to a close. A special prize, a silver cup, given by the Association for the highest aggregate score in the whole of the Snider matches during the meeting, also fell to a Hamilton marksman, Major Gibson, whose aggregate was 883 points.

A woman named Ann Nolan, aged 34, was found dead on Saturday night at her residence, No. 58 Dominion street. The deceased, who was a vagrant, suffered from Asthma and Heart disease. No inquest was held.

MONTREAL.

Accident—Lenon's Charge—Fire—City Improvements—Legal Intelligence—Personal—Markets—Reported Murder.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.

This afternoon, while a load of material was being raised to the third story of the new Post Office by a derrick, the pin of the latter gave way and the derrick fell to the floor, its chains falling across the necks of two men, injuring them severely.

To-day Mr Alex Fraser, of Fraserville, District Magistrate for the District of Kamouraska, was arrested in Montreal on a charge of perjury, on the complaint of the Hon. John Fraser, of St. Marie. He gave bail in the Police Court.

This morning a fire was discovered in the shirt manufactory of Young, McNaughton & Co., St James street. The total loss is estimated at $1,000. Of this Messrs. Young McNaughton & Co., lose about $300 on stock, and the balance is on the building, which is owned by Mr. Henry Judah. The loss is covered by insurance.

The Police and Fire Committees are moving jointly to procure sites for the erection of the two new combined fire and police stations.

Judgment was tendered this morning in the case of Canadian Bank of Commerce vs Brown, McMinn & Co., maintaining the writ of capias issued by the bank.

There is no change to note in the money market, which continues quiet and very easy at changed rates of interest and discount. All kinds of exchange are nominal to-day.

Rev. Dr. Ormiston preached this afternoon and evening in Erskine Church to very large congregations.

The Gazette says a telegram came to the city about half-past eight on Saturday night that a man named Raphael Brunet was murdered at Point Claire, and the Coroner received a similar telegram. The detectives sent a despatch asking would they proceed out there, but they were informed that a prisoner was arrested and again released. It is surmised that it may have been an accident that happened the man which caused his death, as no further communication has been since received.

SMITHS FALLS.

Fire.

SMITH'S FALLS, Sept. 7.

Yesterday morning the house of Mrs. Hugh Ross, adjacent to the municipality, took fire while the family were at church, and was burned to the ground. The fire had gained such headway before discovered that very little was saved. Mrs. Ross loses very heavily, as, besides furniture, piano, clothing &c., there was a large sum of money in the house at the time. The house was insured in the Provincial for $800.

HALIFAX.

Boat Race—Maritime Items—English Mail Steamers.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 5.

The boat race fixed for Tuesday, between the amateur crews known as the Logans, of St. John, and Ross-Foley, of Halifax, is exciting little interest among boatmen. The stakes are only $200 a side. Betting is even.

Steamer Alhambra, from Charlottetown, arrived this morning, and left at 4 p. m. for Boston.

Capt. Bonnel, of the schooner Volant, at Sydney, reports having struck on Lamaline Point on the 13th August, with a cargo of lumber. The vessel was making water, and he had to sell her in St. Pierre. She is now on the Sydney Marine Railway undergoing repairs. He also reports a French barque on shore at Lamaline with a cargo of salt, bound to St. Pierre from France, a total wreck.

The English mail steamer will not arrive here until Monday, having only left Newfoundland at noon to-day.

QUEBEC.

Political Rumours—Accident to a Steamship.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.

Various rumours are afloat as to the action of Hon. Mr. Robertson and other members of the Government. To-night's Mercury says that at the time of going to press no resignation had been made.

The Rev. Jno. Foster has resigned the Rectorship of Three Rivers.

The St. Lawrence Navigation Company's steamer 'Saguenay' damaged her machinery on the downward trip, and had to be towed back to port.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Arrested.

LONDON, Sept 7.—Mario, the famous tenor, has been arrested at Venice for the violation of the press laws. His residence has been searched and he has been taken to Turin for examination.

FRANCE.

Victor Hugo and the Peace Congress.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Victor Hugo has written a letter declining an invitation to the Peace Congress at Geneva. He says peace cannot be established until another war has been fought between France and Germany. He points to the existence of the deep and the undying hatred between the two countries, and declares there will be a duel between the principles of Monarchy and Republic.

Arrested for Fraud.

PARIS, September 7.—Chas. Perkins, formerly United States Consul at Lisbon, and his wife were before the Correctional Tribunal of the Seine last Saturday, on a charge of obtaining 39,000 francs under false pretences. It was charged that Perkins obtained by allegations that he had the agency for the cable between Spain and England; that he was negotiating a loan for Don Carlos, and that he was engaged in other moneyed transactions. Judgment in the case will be given to-morrow.

SPAIN.

The Carlist War.

BAYONNE, September 7.—It is stated that the Carlists are blockading Pampeluna.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES.

ENGLAND.

The Anglo-American Cable.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The work of laying a new direct cable from the Irish to the American coast has commenced. The following despatch from the steamer 'Faraday' reports the progress made by her on Sunday:—We spliced the deep sea cable with the Irish Shore end on the 3rd and had payed out 330 knots when a fault was discovered on the 4th. It was found that a wire had pierced the gutta percha. While we were overhauling the cable it got entangled in some wreckage, broke, and was lost in 2,570 fathoms. The grappling apparatus was set at work, and the cable recovered. Insulation is now perfect. We are in lat. 50 51 long. 17 34.

S. S. Arrivals.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7.—Arrived the S. S. 'Oceanic' from New York.

GERMANY.

Destructive Fire.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—A fire has occurred in Meingen. The half of the place has been burned. The loss in buildings amounts to $3,000,000. Upwards of 700 families are homeless, and great distress exists among them.

UNITED STATES

A New Bishopric.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The N. Y. Freeman's Journal has a special Cable despatch from Rome stating that San Antonio Texas, has been made a Diocese, and Vicar General Pelticer, of Mobile, named as its first Bishop, also that the Rio Grande, district of Texas, has been made a Vicarite Apostolic with Brownsville its headquarters, and the Rio Mouncey of Montgomery, Alabama, its bishop.

Subscription for Mrs. Tilton.

NEW YORK Sept. 7.—A subscription has been started in Plymouth Church for Mrs. Tilton, and $1,700 has already been subscribed.

Destructive Fire.

ALBANY, Sept. 7.—The Albany and Boston Freight houses, East Albany, took fire about 9 o'clock to-night, and were totally consumed. Loss $50,000.

S. S. Arrival

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Arrived 'Cuba,' from Havana.

Fire.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Sept. 7.—Fairfield's paper mill at Holyoke last night was partially destroyed by fire. Loss $25,000.

The Black Hills Expedition.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 7.—A special to a journal from Bismarck says that a party of fifty men will leave Bismarck in about thirty days for the Black Hills. The party will be composed of experienced miners and hunters, who not only know the color of gold and the habits of the Indians, but are sharp enough to evade the military, and who once in the hills can live as Indians live, and consequently will not bother themselves with supplies to any great extent.

Presidential Movements.

WASHINGTON, September 7.—President Grant is to leave Long Branch permanently for Washington on Wednesday.

Theft.

Chas. Janson was robbed of $15,000 in bonds.

Fire—Fatal Results.

NEW HAVEN Con., Sept. 7.—A barn owned by Frederick Tegtmier, on Bristol street, was burned this afternoon, and his two sons, aged six and three years, who were playing in the hay loft, were burned to death.

The English Wheat Crop.

The announcement was recently made by cable that the wheat crop of England would this year be only seven per cent. below the average, and that the country on foreign supply would, therefore, be sensibly diminished. Some very ridiculous comments were made upon this piece of news by some New York papers, and what with the return of grain which had been sent from England to France, and the presumed abundance of the crops over Europe at large, and the most gloomy anticipations were indulged in as to the prospective demand for American wheat. We have yet no means of judging as to the amount of wheat surplus which Russia, Germany, and our other rivals in the English market will have to dispose of, but we do possess some intelligible data as to to the actual needs of England. That very trustworthy authority, Mr. James Sanderson, has sent his usual annual report on this subject to the London Times, and as his conclusions substantially agree with the estimates quoted by cable from the Mark Lane Express, they may be received as the most accurate at present accessible.

The English wheat harvests of the last three years have all been deficient, and the last was the worst of the three. The average yield of the years 1871, 1872 and 1873 has been twenty-two bushels per acre. But the average of the last seven years, which furnished the standard by which the yield of each year is measured, was thirty bushels per acre. On this basis the crop of the present year has been estimated at seven per cent. below average. In other words, the wheat crop of this year will, should England be favoured with good harvesting weather, show an average yield of a little over twenty-eight bushels per acre. This is about twenty-five per cent. better than the average of the last three years, and is therefore a most appreciable improvement. The comparative abundance of the harvest has led some people to the conclusion that the country was to have such another harvest as that of 1868, but Mr. Sanderson points out that there is no analogy whatever between the two. "In 1868 the number of grains on each head averaged over sixty, this year they do not average forty; the crop of 1868 was at least thirty per cent, over average, this year's crop is under average.

Let us see how these figures affect the probable British demand for wheat. The average area under wheat in the United Kingdom for the last seven years is set down at three and a half millions of acres. Sanderson places the area for the present year at what is certainly the outside figure—3,600,000 acres. The total yield from this area, estimating the crop at seven per cent. below the average of thirty bushels per acre, would be one hundred millions of bushels. But the average annual consumption of wheat in the United Kingdom amounts to at least one hundred and ninety millions of bushels. There is thus a deficit of ninety millions of bushels to be supplied, and the source from which the greater part of this supply will be drawn, is unquestionably the United States. The last harvest left a deficiency of about twenty millions of bushels greater than this, and as it was accompanied by short harvests in other parts of Europe, we had less competition than usual in the English market. During the last few years our exports of wheat and wheat flour to Great Britain have been pretty nearly as follows:—For the year ending June 30, 1870, they reached 33,000,000 bushels; in 1870-71 they were 28,000,000; in the year ending June 30, 1872, they sank as low as 20,000,000 bushels; in the following year they rose again to 33,000,000 bushels, and as nearly as can be estimated from the imperfect statistics in our possession, they will amount for the year ending June 30, 1874, to at least 45,000,000 bushels.

For the nine months between October 1, 1873, and June 30, 1874, our wheat shipments to England have been on a scale of unexampled magnitude. That they will show any marked diminution during the coming fiscal year may fairly be doubted. We have seen that England will need between, say September 1, 1874, and August 30, 1875, some ninety millions of bushels of wheat. It is no extravagant estimate to assume that the United States will be required to furnish the half of this quantity. Of the thirty-five millions of bushels imported to the United Kingdom during the first six months of this year, twenty-one millions of bushels came from this country. We have in fact taken the place of Russia as the chief producer of breadstuffs for England, and there is no evidence that Russia will have a very much larger surplus to send to that market than she did last year. Beyond all question, prices of wheat will be lower than they have been since 1870, though the increased consumption which always attends cheap bread in Europe may by and by have a reflex influence on values. That a market will be found at remunerative prices for all the wheat we can spare, seems equally certain.—New York Times.

Bad for the Home Ruler's Trade.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, the Duke of Abercorn, a week or two ago attended the banquet of the Royal Agricultural Society of Ireland, and replied to the toast of "Prosperity to Ireland." He delivered on the occasion a remarkable speech, in which he showed that Ireland was progressing rapidly. In presence of the facts dwelt upon by him, the Home rulers must find it hard to keep up their agitation at a working pitch. The following is the most important portion of the Duke's speech:—

"I begin with that which is most important, and certainly the most interesting, I may term it—our population and human wealth. I am happy to be able to state, from the returns that have been made to me, that the emigration lists of the year ending the 10th June, 1874, show a decrease of 14,000 over the corresponding term in 1873 (hear, hear). The usual average, as far as it is calculated for the close of the year 1874, will show more than 20,000 decrease over the year 1863, the numbers in 1874 being calculated at 68,000, whilst those of 1873 amounted to 90,000. The numbers also in 1873 are some thousands less than in any year of the preceding five years, except in 1869, which is slightly below it. We have also the satisfactory fact that, looking at the number of able-bodied males over 15 years in workhouses, the year 1874 shows a decrease of some hundreds, the number for the year ending June, 1874, being 2,200 against 1,500 in 1873; the numbers in 1874 being also a little more than one half what they were in 1863, and little more than one seventh what they were in 1873. (Hear, hear.) I think, gentlemen, that these figures will show us that the working population of this country, the bone and sinew of the country, is in no depressed or diminished state—(hear, hear)—and if we return to that monetary and funded wealth which can best ensure for that population the blessings of a complete competence, we shall find that it is in a more satisfactory state. We find that the aggregate Irish investments for the year ending June, 1873, in Government and India stock, in Irish joint stock banks, and in trust and savings banks, amounts to £67,000,000—(hear, hear)—showing an increase of £2,500,000 over the averages of the last five years, and an increase of 8,500,000 over the average of five years preceding. We find that the deposits in Irish joint-stock banks, which I include in the account for the year ending June, 1874, amount to £2,980,000, which shows an increase over the averages of the five preceding years, and more than £4,900,000 over the average of the five years preceding that taken in 1883. In connection with that I received two or three days ago an interesting report from Professor Ferguson, in which he states that at no time has the health of agricultural stock in Ireland been more satisfactory than at present, the only exception being a slight reappearance of foot and mouth disease of a mild nature. The deposits in the Irish savings bank, for the year ending June, 1874, amounted to £783,000, which also shows an increase of £150,000 over the average of the last five years and of no less than £360,000 for the five years previously. We find also, on looking over the reports of the amount of money passing under probate business for the year 1873 that it amounted to £7,300,000, and that shows an increase of £1,500,00 over the preceding five years. Taking these figures into proper account there cannot be any doubts that they are signs of increasing wealth in Ireland. If we look to the agricultural statistics of this country we find them to be satisfactory. We find for the year ending 1874 that the estimated value of cattle, sheep, and pigs in Ireland amounts to £7,440,000, and that shows an increase of £1,550,000 over the average of the five preceding years. The reports for June, 1874, show a slight decrease in the number of cattle of about 26,000 under 1873, but this is most satisfactorily accounted for by the very large exportation of cattle, amounting of 684,000, which took place in 1873—an exportation, which was 68,000 over the exportation of the preceding year. We find also in 1874 the number of sheep have slightly decreased, about 47,000, but this is also most satisfactorily accounted for by the enormous exportation of sheep that has taken place within the twelve months, amounting as the report shows, to 163,000 more sheep than were exported in the twelve months previous. If we come to the statistics of crime, we find that the number of offences in 1873 not summarily disposed of, was only 6,900, which shows a decrease of 1,780 over the averages of the preceding five years, and not less than 2,900 over the averages of the five years before that.

Oysters.

The unfashionable few who would have their oysters and eat them, in a mouth without an r, were delighted with the advent of September, while those who abstained were equally well pleased. The base counterfeit of good oysters, obtained from the United States, and in use in our city during the last three or four months, now give way to the genuine article, and "Prince Edward Islanders" and "Shediacs" may be had at all well managed city restaurants. It is needless to say that the consumption of oysters in St. John is large, but few except the saloon keepers know how very large it is. As a rule, our citizens are an oyster loving people, and in this they are perfectly correct. We have the high authority of the New York Herald for the assertion that "apart from the easy digestibleness of the bivalve, it serves to equanimise people's tempers and to reconcile wearied limbs to further trudging on the slippery road to matrimony. Everybody knows that oyster never hurt anybody, never interfered with the eating of a square meal, never kept anybody from sleeping, and has always been a welcome warmer after the theatre and filled many a gap when anything more than fifty cents was altogether out of the question. The oyster is a universal favorite, as it ought to be. A good way to get at the truth about oysters is just to imagine for a moment that the whole crop was a failure this year, and in case what a terrible gloom would overspread the city, and what a winter would be in store for us."

And the Herald is equally good authority on the oyster statistics of New York City, of which it says:—The following may give an idea, so far as the oyster saloons go, of the consumption daily when the season is at its height, not including the consumption in hotels or ordinary restaurants or in private families:—

Average number of stews	555,000
" " fries	250,000
" " raws	175,000
" " roasts	75,000
" " broils	25,000
Total number of dishes	1,075,000

Seven thousand oyster saloons in New York do a thriving business, and 100,000 people are said to live by oyster fishing. Along the East River, in the neighborhood of Broome street, there are eighteen large wholesale establishments, and on the North River there are thirty-three similar ones. On the East River sixty boats may be seen in a single day waiting to be unloaded, while on the North River, where the larger port of the trade is carried on, as many as 180 boats, including some schooners, have been counted. Besides these a large amount of business is done with independent boats, whose cargoes are not consigned to any of the large wholesale houses. The export to the West is about equal to the consumption in New York city. Chicago does a great oyster business, and the trade with the West is increasing in proportion as the population increases there. From Baltimore, also, supplies are sent to the West. The oyster trade from Virginia is immense in the winter months, fully one hundred sail of vessels being engaged in transporting oysters from the Virginia coast.

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

RHEUMATIC
CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 18th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

PAIN-KILLER

THE GREAT

Internal and External Remedy.

TAKEN INTERNALLY it relieves INSTANTLY the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY it is the best LINIMENT in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

Price, 25 Cents per Bottle.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS. 2695

CADADAELL AHEAD

Mr. John Rochester, M. P., said to me after having tried and used many kinds of Washing Machines, "I came to the conclusion that they were all humbugs, but a neighbor who had tried Bundells and the Canadian Washer, advised so strongly a trial of the Canadian, which he had found to be the best, that I took one and that it was in reality a good Machine, and I heartily recommend it to all desiring a first-class Washer.

BERMINGHAM'S

Real Estate Bulletin

FOR AUGUST, 1874.

READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $65,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following, which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1170 per annum, which can be increased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by

J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $600 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 26, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by

J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 27, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $12 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by

J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 46 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 34 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbred streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by

J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by

J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $700 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by

J. BERMINGHAM

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 107 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 28 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by

J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth O. F., nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to

J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by

J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by

J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by

J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like [illegible]—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ordnance Lands Sale,

TORONTO.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on TUESDAY the 8th day of September next, at Noon, will be sold at Toronto, by Mr. Orin Wardell, Auctioneer, the annual Leases of the Reserves on Lake Erie, at Pointe Pelée, containing about 4,200 acres, Rondeau, containing about 5.0 acres, and Turkey Point, containing about 592 acres, respectively, to be employed for the purpose of shooting and fishing, for the proper preservation of the game and the protection of the timber thereon.

These Leases to endure for a term of 21 years each, with power to the Department to resume possession, at any time, on giving one month's notice.

On condition, that the just rights of all squatters and Indians shall be respected, and reserving—"all rights of fishery, or use and occupation of the shores in connection therewith, "under authority of the Department of Marine "and Fisheries."

The rent to be paid to this Department, semi-annually in advance, and good and sufficient security to be tendered, at the sale, for payment. If insufficient, the sale to be renewed at the time and place of sale.

Further conditions, if considered necessary, will be declared at the time of sale.

Lessees to accept boundaries and quantities as shown on the Ordnance plans.

By Order,
E. A. MEREDITH,
Deputy of the Minister of The Interior.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY: so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life," by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its Early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use of that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

POSTPONEMENT.

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

20,000 CASH GIFTS,

AGGREGATING

$2,500,000

Will be distributed by lot among the ticket-holders.

NOTICE.

Morson's Effectual Remedies

Are sold by Chemists and Druggists throughout the world.

PEPSINE—The popular and professional medicine for indigestion is MORSON'S PEPSINE, the active principle of the gastric juice. Sold in Powder, Lozenges, Globules; and as Wine in ½ and 1 pint bottles.

CHLORODYNE is of such celebrity that it can scarcely be considered a speciality, its composition being known to practitioners. Many of the Chlorodynes being unequal in strength, MORSON & SON have prepared this. Sold in ¼ oz., 1½ oz., and 3 oz. bottles.

GELATINE—The purest preparation is MORSON'S.

Carefully packed and shipped. Orders made payable in England.

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them set forth as possessing the rare and properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, oitments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the label on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

The Original and only Manufacturers, Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essential Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

Squandering by the Government of Manitoba

(From the Nor' Wester.)

It is well known in Manitoba that a large amount of money has been uselessly squandered in the administration of justice. In more ways than one this Province under than heading has been made to pay money which might have been left in the Treasury. There is, however, little use in crying over spilt milk—what has been done cannot very well be undone. It rests with the present Government to see that no such useless expenditure is made in the future. One item alone, that of indictment fees, requires more careful handling. The temptation no doubt is strong to induce an Attorney-General to bring unnecessary indictments against parties, because for every one found by the Grand Jury he obtains $25 from the Government. The Attorney-General, as Crown Prosecutor, has the right to go before the Grand Jury, and, as it were, plead his case, and a clever man (in nine cases out of ten) can show sufficient reason for a true bill being found. We are well aware that the Government has no right to interfere with the duties of their colleague in charge of the administration of justice, but they have the power at least, if they find that unecessary indictments are being indulged in, to interpose, and, if required, remove the member of the Cabinet guilty of the wrong—for we can call it by no other name. It was stated by no other name. It was stated by the Hon. Provincial Treasurer, during the late session of the House, that the ex-Attorney General of the Province had drawn over $13 000, in seventeen months, over and above his regular salary. This is a very large amount, and there are a good many items in it which seems to us unnecessarily large. Secret Service is one, and why we should have to spend a large sum in that way is more than we can tell, or any one else, we imagine. We do not wish to convey the idea that the present Attorney-General is likely to be guilty of the same fault as his predecessor, but we deem it our duty to give him a public warning.

We understand that the late Government in their little pleasure excursions to Ottawa on "Better Terms," spent over $12,000. There was three trips, and, we believe, three Cabinet Ministers went each time. This gives each nearly $1,500 to spend on the trip. Truly they must have had a good time, and what has the country received in return? Nothing.

It is just as well to let our present Government know that the people are not forgetful of these little matters, but at the same time we have every confidence that the men at present in power will not run into the extravagancies of their predecessors.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—Its affects are almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark, if need be. 3665.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases. 2642

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 3659

On Saturday night last, says the Austin (Nev.) Reveille, a Piute, with disheveled hair, distended eyes, and a general look of wildness, rushed into Sower's store, and strowing down a dollar, excitedly exclaimed: 'Gime deck cards and four bits candies!' We knew by his excitement and eagerness to be obtain the articles that a big poker game must be in progress on the hill, so we questioned him concerning it. 'Yes,' he replied, 'heap big poker game; me heap lose; play 'em all night, maybeso get even; hell! dam!, and grabbing the cards and candies he struck a bee-line for the camp on the hill.

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1872 Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: In order that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869, I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as well, fat and hearty as I could wish to be. Yours, very truly, W. Frank Cochran. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to sustain it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restores the nervous element, it will always strengthen the heart weakened through loss of this element.—The Inventor. 265

OWNERS OF HORSES REJOICING.—And why not? and who knows but that their horses are rejoicing as well; who can prove the contrary? But their owners are rejoicing because of the astonishing and almost miraculous effects on their horses of "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Some were lean and poor having no appetite, others would devour their food ravenously, yet derive no benefit from it; some were hide-bound, with rough and shaggy hair; others had severe colds and coughs; many had the heaves and other complaints peculiar to horses; on all it operated as a charm, the disease or complaint was speedily removed, the appetite and digestive organs corrected, skin softened, and a sleek and shining appearance given to the coat all without any danger to, or preventing the horse being used.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on the package.—Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers. 1m

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 21, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine months with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnœa, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant,

The Ottawa Times

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1874.

The Committee appointed to investigate the charges preferred against Mr. Arnoldi, Mechanical Engineer of the Board of Works consisting of Messrs. J. Langton, Deputy Minister of Finance, W. Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and W. Dickinson, Deputy Inspector General, meet to-day to commence their enquiry. Notices to attend were served yesterday on the witnesses in the case.

There is much of a sameness in the evidence taken at the several controverted election trials now going on throughout the country. The story of one is that of another with only a few verbal differences. It is quite evident, from the judgments given upon the evidence taken in the Essex and Cornwall cases, that London and Lincoln will have a similar termination. Indeed, it may be anticipated that in every case now before the Courts the election will be voided.

We understand that the Post Office Savings Bank system of Canada, heretofore limited in operation to the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, is about to be extended to Fort Garry, Manitoba. This extension will be found a convenience to those settlers in the Province of Manitoba who, having placed deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank before removing to the new Province, will now be able to deposit or withdraw with the same facilities as when still resident in Ontario and Quebec.

THE CORNWALL ELECTION TRIAL.

The Conservative organs are congratulating their party upon the result of the Cornwall election trial. It is not unlikely that they have good cause for doing so; but we are bound to be plain with them and to say that in respect of several very important facts they are plainly lying. It is stated in the special telegrams of the Montreal Gazette substantially that certain votes were procured for Mr. A. F. Macdonald, upon the promise of an appointment to office made by the Postmaster General. Another Conservative journal, one that has made lying a specialty, makes the same statement in the following words:—

> "The Postmaster General has had it wrung out of him, under the solemnity of an oath, that he not merely bribed a voter by promising a valuable consideration for his vote; but that he made use of his position as a Minister of the Crown in order to make the promise good! If Duncan Macdonald would vote for A. F. Macdonald, then D. A. Macdonald would give the said Duncan employment. This was the bribe tendered and the bait took.

Now, this is precisely the contrary of what was stated in evidence by both the parties to the alleged bribery. The evidence was to the effect that a promise was made that in the event of a certain voter being dismissed from his employment for voting as he had always done and as he at the time intended doing, he should have other employment. He was dismissed for voting against the party in Cornwall in whose interest the Gazette and the Citizen are falsifying evidence, and shortly thereafter he obtained a temporary appointment in the Post Office Department at Ottawa. These are the facts as they were given in Court, and upon which the Chancellor, in his elaborate review of the evidence in giving judgment, remarked that he was glad the matter had been dropped by the Counsel for the Petitioner, and that it did not call for any comment from him. The distortion of evidence published here and in Montreal, and the display lines of the Mail have a common object in view. The Conservative organs know what they are doing, although they are as usual perfectly unscrupulous in the doing of it. They discover in the Postmaster General a faithful and distinguished member of the Liberal Party. They know that his influence has greatly promoted the success of the Liberal cause in Eastern Ontario, and that to-day it is doing much to maintain the supremacy which that cause has recently achieved. He is therefore, a fit subject to be lied about at the Conservative organs have lied about Mr. McKellar and every other liberal who has proved himself faithful to his principles and to his party.

In their action in this matter however the Conservatives have another object in view. They have no hope of the Postmaster General, or of his brother the member for Cornwall; but they have hope, and that not without reason, that Dr. Bergin and those who supported him at the late election will yet be of service to them. It appeared in evidence, at least it was stated on oath by a witness substantially that prior to the general election of 1872. Dr. Bergin had pledged himself in writing to Sir John A. Macdonald; and it is well known and may be stated in conjunction with that circumstance that Sir John was very much displeased at another gentleman, who was at the time a candidate, for not retiring before the day of nomination so that Bergin might go in unpledged. It is also well known that Bergin was always a doubted and suspected member of the Reform Party in the House of Commons, and moreover that he had always been an exceedingly troublesome auxiliary. The Conservatives, therefore, have good cause for their advocacy of his claims and for the decided stand they have taken against the supporters of the Government in Cornwall, and we have no doubt they find ample justification of their resort to falsehood as a weapon against the Postmaster General. In their present distressed condition they feel that they can neither be very particular in their choice of companionship, nor very chary as to the means they employ. Their situation is a desperate one, and they have come to the conclusion that the end will justify the means.

It is exceedingly amusing to find Reform journal undertaking to shew its Conservative contemporaries that they are altogether wrong in their treatment of the Cornwall case, quite unconscious that itself is "barking up the wrong tree." The Hamilton Times, wise as an owl, undertakes to enlarge with great freedom upon a subject its ignorance of which leads it into most egregious mistakes. One or two extracts will shew the sort of stuff with which that journal regales its readers In support of its position, which is that the Tory papers don't know as much as it does about Cornwall politics, it says:

> "If any further proof is required, it can be found in the evidence given at the trial now going on, where we have Mr. H. S Macdonald, son of the late John Sandfield, and chief aid-de-camp of Mr. A. F. Macdonald in the late election, saying on oath that he made arrangements for a special Grand Trunk train on election day to enable certain voters to vote first for Sir John Macdonald at Kingston, next for Mr. Shanley at Prescott, and then reach Cornwall in time to vote for Mr. A. F. Macdonald."

Of course it is easy by such means, in other words by barefaced lying, to make a plausible argument. It appeared in the evidence that Mr. H. Sandfield Macdonald did not "make arrangements" for a special train; and a train was not "provided to enable certain voters to vote first "for Sir John Macdonald at Kingston next "for Mr. Shanley at Prescott." A train was provided, however, to enable "certain voters" to vote for Mr. Macdonald who were passing en route to vote elsewhere And upon this matter of the special train the Chancellor remarked that it would be regarded as equally legitimate with the hiring of an ordinary conveyance or the use of a private carriage. But there is an historical incident connected with those "certain voters" whom the Times discovers to have "travelled all day in a Grand Trunk Car," in order to vote for Sir John and Shanley and to have "wound up the "day with a trip to Cornwall to vote for A. "F. Macdonald." It is this: One of those "certain voters" was the medium through whom Sir John A. Macdonald procured Bergin's written pledge of support in 1872, and so displeased were they with him on that account that one of them, we believe, came all the way from France to vote against him. That historical incident will sufficiently dispose of our Hamilton contemporary's pet candidate and representative Reformer of Cornwall and will show with admirable clearness whose contention in behalf of Bergin is the most worthy of acceptance.

SECTARIAN EDUCATION.

It is reported from Queensland that a bill has been introduced into the Legislature of that Colony and passed, providing for the abolition of State aid to non-vested schools—that is to say, to schools in which religious instruction is given in addition to that authorized by the Board of Education, by whom the salaries of teachers in these schools are at present paid. The Church of England and the Roman Catholic Church are the only denominations which maintain schools of their own; and the bill in question provides that at the end of next year all such schools shall cease to be recognized by the Board. For years past the settlement of the education question in Queensland has been impeded by what is known as the "religious difficulty;" and it is thought that the non-vested schools having been thus disposed of, the subject may now be dealt with on its merits. Every school under the jurisdiction of the Board is open to the clergy of all denominations, who are at liberty to give religious instruction to the children after the regular school hours; but this concession does not satisfy the ecclesiastics of either of the above mentioned churches, and the Roman Catholics in particular, are loud in their denunciation of the wrong as they contend it is, which is sought to be done them. Of course it is to be regretted that an educational system could not be introduced which would satisfy all the parties; but as it appears the vast majority of the people of Queensland are averse to the denominational system, the prudent thing for the objectors would be to submit, as becomes all law abiding and truly loyal citizens. This is just the difficulty which presents itself to educationists in the mother country, and indeed more or less in every country. In the United States the national system has been carried out in its entirety, and as a consequence we find that the very same classes who are aggrieved in New Zealand also complain of the system there. In Ontario we have to some extent solved the difficulty by conceding separate schools to Roman Catholics, but, if appearances are not very deceiving, the solution is only a temporary one. The religious organs devoted to the interests of the Episcopal Church have been for some time quietly but strenuously preparing their readers for an open and avowed advocacy of denominational schools, and we are mistaken if the clergy are not largely in favor of such a system. The laity, however, appear as yet not to have espoused the cause, and it is to the end that at the proper time they may be sufficiently "educated" in the direction indicated to join in an attack on the present mode of imparting education in our public schools that we suspect the religious press are now directing their efforts. This is not by any means surprising, as it is well known that the ecclasiastical element in the Episcopal Church had always more or less of a separatist tendency. But we do confess to a good deal of surprise when we find the British American Presbyterian the organ of the Canada Presbyterian Church, quoting with approval the address of his Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, in reply to Professor Goldwin Smith, and declaring that religious instruction, imparted by parents and at Sunday Schools is not securing for the young a thorough scriptural training. It speaks of His Grace's statement, while containing much of course from which it dissents, as fair, and setting forth the position of the Roman Catholic Church temperately—an opinion from which few who have read the production can disagree, and it suggests that his words may strike a chord in the hearts of many a Christian who is mourning over what it terms the "irreligious training of our public schools." The Bible, it says, has been put out of these schools, "pro-"fessedly that our Roman Catholic fellow-"citizens might support them, and to "avoid sectarian strife; but the former "object has not been gained, there are "separate schools, and instead of religious "strife we have irreligious indifference—"just as ruinous as the evil we shun." This statement, as may be seen at a glance, starts from incorrect premises, and arrives at incorrect conclusions. The Bible has not been excluded from our public schools upon any such profession, for Roman Catholics never concealed their complete and entire opposition to any proposal of the kind; the purpose was to enable Protestants of different denominations to educate their children together, permitting them thus to concentrate the forces placed at their disposal by the State, and to give their offspring the best possible commercial education at the smallest possible cost. Whether or not there actually exists any great amount of religious indifference in the Presbyterian Church may well be doubted, and whether, even if it did exist, it was caused by want of religious education in public schools, would require further demonstration than the Presbyterian has vouchsafed it, before we could convince ourselves that the assertion was well grounded. Admitting for a moment, and in order to serve the purpose of the argument, that the religious indifference spoken of actually prevails, and that our system of public school instruction is the cause of it, how does the Presbyterian propose to remedy the evil? Why, by inaugurating a system which according to its own showing, would be a hot-bed of religious strife—by substituting for an existing evil another which in its own estimation would be equally ruinous. A more impotent argument, a more illogical conclusion, it would be simply impossible to conceive. But while agreeing with the Archbishop as to the duty and right of the parent and the State in education—and it is at this agreement we express surprise—it is at this agreement the advocates of non-denominational education may be alarmed—the organ confesses to not being quite prepared to endorse government aid to denominational schools. The position thus accepted must suggest itself to everybody as somewhat anomalous and paradoxical. How religious instruction of a denominational nature—and it is impossible to conceive of any form of religious instruction which could be otherwise than denominational, at any rate to a sufficient extent to admit of its being participated in by Roman Catholics and Protestants at the same time—may be imparted to all in our common schools, without the approval and aid of the State, is a problem whose solution has defied the greatest statesmen in the world hitherto, and will defy them to the end. There are just two courses open in this matter, as our religious contemporary ought to know, and probably does know, and they are simply sectarian and non-sectarian education. It would be absurd to suppose that there is any middle course, especially when the organ does not even suggest what such course might peradventure be, or how it could be attained. We cannot help regretting the pitiful whine with which the Presbyterian closes its article. Surely the following sentence will remind the reader of a petted, spoiled child, complaining that some questionable benefit conferred upon another member of the family, has been withheld from him:—"Nor can we see why Roman Ca-"tholics should enjoy the privilege of "giving their children a religious educa-"tion with State funds, while Protestants "cannot do so" And this, too, in the face of its own declaration, several sentences before, and in the same article, that it is "not quite prepared to endorse "government aid to denominational "schools."

Since the rumors of a probable change of Ministry seem to take some consistent shape, it may be well to say, in the broadest way, that we believe there is no reason to expect that any such event as that spoken of, will take place, or has been contemplated. The story has gained some color from the fact that two or three prominent public men were recently in Ottawa. This gave the gossips occasion to speculate upon the object of what was supposed to be their meeting. But, in the first place, this meeting is partly apocryphal, inasmuch as Messrs. Holton and Blake, who are supposed to have been present at it, did not see each other at all. Mr Brown, we suppose, went to Ottawa to consult with reference to the Reciprocity Treaty; Mr. Holton, or any other public man, may well have business in Ottawa apart from any idea of reconstructing the Ministry; and, we believe, Mr. Blake's visit was for purely professional purposes. At all events our belief, we repeat, is that nothing of the supposed reconstruction is likely to occur.—Montreal Herald.

CITY AND VICINITY

GUARDS' BAND.—The band of the G. G. F. Guards will play (weather permitting) this evening at the usual hour on Parliament Square.

NEW POSTAL CAR.—A nicely furnished postal car is about to be placed on the St. Lawrence & Ottawa Railway. It is represented to be an elegant affair.

OUT OF REPAIR.—The well on the corner of George and Cumberland streets is out of repair since the night of the fire. The foreman of works would confer a favor on residents of that locality by sending a man to effect the necessary repairs.

HEAVY IMPORTATION OF ALE.—A well-known Toronto firm have succeeding in effecting a sale of 1,500 barrels of ale in this city. This is a pretty extensive business, especially in a locality where temperance organizations are in such a flourishing condition.

ANOTHER MILL CLOSED.—The large lumbering establishment of Messrs. Wright, Currier & Eatson, in Hull, was closed yesterday. This is somewhat early, but it is only carrying out the policy marked out at the recent meeting of the lumbermen held in this city. The closing of this establishment throws a great number of men out of employment.

EMANUEL CHURCH.—The New Reformed Episcopal Church has been named "Emanuel Church." The Vestry left the choice of a name to the Right Rev. Bishop Cummings, and he very appropriately recommended the name "Emanuel" signifying God with us. The suggestion was heartily approved, and at the laying of the corner stone yesterday the new edifice was styled "Emanuel Church."

EFFECT OF THE DROUGHT.—The exceeding great drought which has prevailed for some time back is having a disastrous effect both in the city and surrounding country, in many ways. Wells are for the most part dried up, cattle are suffering not only for the want of water, but also for the want of grass, as the fields are actually burnt up. Rain is much needed, and will be cordially welcomed the moment it comes.

TO SINGLE MEN ONLY.—Just drop into Radford & Goyer's sale to-night and buy a suitable present for your girl. 3667in2

Radford & Goyer's sale. This is continued each evening until the whole of Young's stock is cleared. Only genuine articles offered.

CLOSE OF THE FIFTY CENT SALE.—T. E. Moore begs to inform the public that he has closed his novelty sale, and to thank them for this very liberal patronage.

TO LADIES.—Do you want a present for your husband or lover? If so, look in at Radford & Goyer's. They have the very thing to please you at a great reduction. 3667in2

MAKING PREPARATIONS.—The members of the Dominion Rifle Association are taking active steps to make the forthcoming annual meeting a success. The Rideau Rifle Range is being enlarged, in order to meet the requirements of the association.

AS IT SHOULD BE.—The ladies are in their best humour, all smiles and eager for the whim of their "helps," from Radford & Goyer's auction sale, where they nightly procure those beautiful presents. Gentlemen, as you value peace of mind and happiness keep this going. Radford & Goyer will help you. 3667in2

ORDINATION SERVICE.—As will be seen by an advertisement in another column an Ordination Service will be held to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's Church, Wellington street, for the induction of Mr. Todd as a Presbyter of the Reformed Episcopal Church. The service will doubtless prove an interesting one.

IMPORTS.—The following imports for Ottawa appear in the manifest of the steamship 'Peruvian,' just arrived at Montreal from Liverpool: Garland & Mutchmor, 10 cases; Shoolbred & Co., 2 pkgs. merchandise; Fingland & Draper, 3 cases; Kearns & Ryan, 1 case; T. Hunton. Son & Co., 1 case; Militia Department, 7 cases camp ovens, Chalmers & Co., 1 pkge. merchandize.

NEW PLATFORM.—A new platform is now being constructed from King to Augusta street, on the north side of Besserer street, on Sandy Hill. True, it is not a very substantial structure, as it is impossible to effect a permanent improvement in that locality until the street is graded, but it will nevertheless be a great convenience to the people of that street, who are thankful for even the smallest favors.

HALF MILE FOOT RACE.—Yesterday afternoon Thomas Canty and George Irvine competed on the Mutchmor Racing Park for a purse of $25 a side. There was little betting, but Irvine from his former reputation as a young racer, was the favourite. The race, which was closely contested, was taken by George Irvine in 2m. 13sec., which is really good time.

IMMIGRANTS.—A number of immigrants arrived yesterday by the St. Lawrence & Ottawa Railway, having come out by the steamships 'Manitoban' and 'Peruvian.' Mr. Wills thinks the prospects for the future look gloomy for any emigrants who may arrive owing to the shutting down of the mills and the scarcity of labor. He thinks it would be advisable to prosecute all Government and Civic Public Works possible in order to tide over the hard times that are now looming up in the distance.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A young child aged 7 years, and son of Mr. Frederick Proderick, of Sussex street, sustained severe injuries yesterday morning by falling from a window in rear of the house, a distance of about 20 feet, to the ground. Dr. Sweetland was immediately sent for to attend to the wants of the young lad, who seems to have received some internal injuries from the concussion consequent upon the fall. It is yet doubtful whether he will survive his injuries or not.

NEW DRAINS.—Maria Street is being blessed with a new box drain. The work will soon be completed and is heartily welcomed by the residents of that street. Theodore street on Sandy Hill is having a similar favor accorded it. The people in that locality rejoice accordingly and are loud in their praises of the City Fathers. This drain might with advantage be extended in an easterly direction, to drain a locality at present infected with typhoid fever.

HANDSOME TRIBUTE.—Mr. Hugh Davies, Treasurer of the Unity Protestant Benefit Society, has paid over to the widow of the late Joseph Mills the sum of $120, the funeral allowance to which she is entitled from the funds of the above Society. She has gratefully acknowledged the receipt of this amount. This Society, through the energy of its President, Mr. T. H. Kirby, and the other Directors, is in a flourishing condition, and is every day giving evidence of its usefulness as a benevolent institution.

BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES.—The City Clerk, as registrar of vital statistics for the City of Ottawa, says that he has recorded 73 births, 87 marriages and 37 deaths since the first of January last. This he considers an improvement on previous years, but there is yet room for improvement, as the foregoing figures do not by any means convey the actual results. The prosecution of parties negligent in this respect he thinks would have a salutary effect on a non-statistical community.

TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION.—At the semi-annual meeting of the Teachers' Association held on Saturday last in the Central School East the election of officers for the ensuing term took place and resulted as follows:—President, Rev. H. J. Borthwick, M. A., I.P.S.; first Vice President, Edwin Parlow; second Vice President, Miss M. Shapley; Secretary, Archibald Lees; Treasurer, J. W. McDowell; Management Committee, Misses A. M. Living, M. B. Butterworth, E. Living, E. Stewart, and M. Hasty.

Thos. E. Moore begs respectfully to thank those friends who so liberally patronised his novelty cheap sale, and begs to inform them that his object has been accomplished. The reducing of his fancy stock, and his immense increase of trade demands more of his personal attention. He has closed his 50ct. sale, but begs to inform all who may wish to purchase fancy goods, that he will continue to retail such articles 25 per cent. lower in price than any other house in the city; all goods ticked in plain figures and no two prices made.—Thos. Edwin Moore. 3667

CONTINUED SUCCESS.—These auction sales held by Radford and Goyer attracts crowds of wise people each evening. Why? Because the value offered is greater and better every night. Come to-night and see them. 3667in2

Y. M. C. A.—The regular meeting of this Association was held last evening in their rooms on Sparks street After devotional exercises, an excellent paper on the subject of Cremation was read by Mr. John Makinson. A lively and interesting discussion ensued in which a large number of the gentlemen present took part Before the close of the meeting several new members were proposed and accepted. This Association affords a very pleasant and profitable way of spending an evening, especially for young men; and we are glad to know that it is in a flourishing condition.

THE CITY OF OTTAWA CENTRAL FAIR.—The Agricultural Show under the auspices of the City of Ottawa Agricultural Society opens on Tuesday next, and promises to be one of the grandest exhibitions ever held in the city. The Secretary, Mr. Woodburn, is indefatigable in his exertions to promote its success, and in this direction he is ably assisted by the Directors. Stock entries from important breeders in both Eastern and Western Canada have signified their intention of competing for prizes; and in the industrial way many have already entered from Oshawa, Gananoque, Bowmanville, Brantford and Hamilton. Our own citizens, alive to the importance of encouraging the exhibition, are preparing to make an extensive show on the occasion. The farmers in the adjacent counties will exhibit some fine specimens of grain, vegetable and other farm products, and florists in the city and vicinity are preparing on an elaborate scale miniature gardens, which will so adorn the place as almost to convert it into a paradise. No exertions are being spared to enhance the grounds and contribute to the comfort of visitors. Refreshment booths have been leased to responsible parties, which will ensure a full supply of all kinds of refreshments at moderate rates to such as visit the fair. Everything seems to augur success for the approaching exhibition, which will doubtless eclipse any previous effort on the part of the managers.

NEW DIRECTORY.—Woodburn's new Directory of the City of Ottawa and vicinity has just been published, and as a manual of information should be in the possession of every citizen. The Alphabetical Directory has been evidently prepared with care and precision; and appended is a neatly arranged Street Directory that cannot prove otherwise than useful to business men. A good map of the city is another important feature of the work that will prove convenient to such as are not familiar with the topography of the city. It gives a full and comprehensive account of the Government and its various departments that will prove of interest even to strangers. To electioneering agents and candidates for approaching Municipal and Parliamentary elections, the Directory will prove an invaluable guide, for the names of voters in the surrounding townships and villages have been carefully compiled. The work evinces much taste in its typographical appearance, and the publisher has enjoyed a very large advertising patronage. It is for sale at all booksellers' shops in the city, and can also be had at the office of the publisher on Elgin Street.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—The French Spy was reproduced last evening with still greater eclat than on its first production. Mdlle. Ravel was if possible still better than on her first appearance. Her combat, although one of the most powerful ever seen, was if anything more forcible and untiring than on the previous occasion. We can also conscientiously praise the music and acting as being now more en regle and to the purpose. The dancing of Mdlle. Ravel is the most graceful of its class—her costuming is elaborate, her poses natural and refined, her wondrous elasticity of body incomprehensible, and her acting the ne plus ultra of dramatic art. She has also a beautiful figure, charming personnel, and an unobtrusive but winning manner that fascinates her audience. She is par excellence the Star of the Pantomimic Art. To-night is the last production of the French Spy, and we advise our French citizens to witness a drama which glorifies the immortal Napoleon, and to see a really French artiste, and we know our English citizens will not be behind hand in appreciating a true genius, let her race be what it will. It is probably the last opportunity of seeing Mdlle. Ravel, as she shortly returns to Paris. The only fault we could find last evening was with the gas, which was totally insufficient for the requirements of a theatre, and at times next to total darkness reigned for a few minutes. Surely the manager can compel the gas company to supply a proper light to a place of public amusement. It mars a performance sadly.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Laying of the Corner Stone.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONY.

Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the corner stone of the New Reformed Episcopal Church was laid by the Right Rev. Bishop Cummins, of New York. The work was performed by His Lordship, accompanied by a solemn and imposing religious service, in which he was assisted by the Revs. Messrs. McCormac, Moore, Hunter, and other clergymen of the city. Amongst those present we observed Messrs. Z. Wilson, H. Alexander, Amos Rowe, T. H. Kirby, W. A. MacAgy, J. P. Featherston, H. McCormick, A. Burritt, Thos. Beament, W. H. Tracy, J. T. Bartram, F. Abbott, J. B. Steacy, and a number of other prominent citizens. Many ladies were present, and were accorded seats surrounding the dais prepared on the ground floor of the building. The contractor, Mr. Farquhar, had all the necessary appliances ready, and the stone prepared to be laid in its final resting place.

His Lordship, Bishop Cummins, opened the proceedings with prayer, invoking the Divine blessing upon the sacred work about to be performed.

The Rev. Johnston McCormac then read the 84th Psalm, it being a psalter for evening prayer.

The Rev. W. J. Hunter read, as a first Scripture lesson, the 4th chapter of Nehemiah. This was followed by the reading of a second Scripture lesson by the Rev. Wm. Moore, the 52nd chapter of Isaiah.

The pastor of the congregation then gave out, as a song of praise, the 60th hymn. The choir of the church led off, and were accompanied by the entire congregation in singing.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

At this stage, Mr. H. Alexander, Vestry Clerk, read the following historical statement:—

The Congregation which erects this edifice, has it is true, not long been in existence, yet its history of a few short months will for ever remain of record in the annals of this city and country, as possessing incidents of a religious movement at once important and momentous to the Evangelical Christian world. On the 2nd day of December, 1873, twenty one men, clergymen and laymen, met in the city of New York, and founded the organization of a new branch of Christ's Church, to be known as the Reformed Episcopal Church. The meeting was held in response to a circular issued by the Right Reverend George David Cummins, D. D., Coadjutor Bishop of the Diocese of Kentucky, who in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, who had previously announced to the Rt. Rev. the Presiding Bishop of that Church his intention of retiring from the work of a Bishop in the Protestant Episcopal Church, owing to the heavy trial he felt it to be when called to exercise his office in certain churches in his Diocese, where the services were conducted so as to symbolize and teach the people doctrines subversive of the truth as it is in Jesus, and as it was maintained and defended by the Reformers of the Sixteenth century.

At this first General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev George David Cummins, D. D., was elected Presiding Bishop, and the Rev. Charles Edward Cheney, D. D., was elected Missionary Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church, in the North West. At this meeting also, a "Declaration of Principles" was adopted, which may be briefly summarised as follows:—

1, As to faith, a belief in the Holy Scriptures, as the sole rule of faith and practice, in the Apostles and Nicene Creeds, in the two Sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, and the doctrines of grace, substantially as they are set forth in the Thirty-Nine Articles of Religion.

2. As to order, a retention of the Episcopacy not as essential to the existence of a Church, but as ancient and desirable.

3. As to Liturgy, a Book of Common Prayer thoroughly expurgated of Romanizing germs, and giving liberty in extemporaneous prayer.

The Reformed Episcopal Church condemns and rejects the following erroneous and strange doctrines as contrary to God's Word:—

First—That the Church of Christ exists only in one Order or form of ecclesiastical polity.

Secondly—That Christian Ministers are "Priests" in another sense than that in which all believers are a "Royal Priesthood."

Third—That the Lord's Table is an Altar on which the oblation of the Body and Blood of Christ is offered anew to the Father.

Fourth—That the Presence of Christ in the Lord's Supper is a presence in the elements of Bread and Wine

Fifth—That Regeneration is inseparably connected with Baptism.

Very shortly after the enunciation of the above "Declarations of Principles" a number of Evangelical members of the Church of England, resident at Moncton, in the Province of New Brunswick, were the first to organize themselves into a congregation in this Dominion, in connection with the Reformed Episcopal Church. The good example of the brethren at Moncton was soon followed by a few evangelical members of the Church of England, resident in this city, who had long felt that to continue in membership in any organization necessarily involves reiteration, and directly or indirectly a patronage of the objects and operations of that organization, and in the case of a Church, which, as they believe, has departed from the faith, to have membership therein, is to contribute to the subversion of the souls of the people, and to the dishonour of the Lord Jesus, and in response to a call for a meeting to consider the principles and basis of organization adopted, by the then recently organised Reformed Episcopal Church

Signed by the following persons:

H. Alexander, W. H. Tracy, Amos Rowe, James Egleson, Thomas H. Kirby, Thos. W. Thompson, R. L. James, W. A. Macagy. D. W. Coward, Zacariah Wilson, J. B. Steacy, J. T. Bertram, Thomas Beament, Thomas Storey, George Forde, John Sweetland, M. D, George J. Duff, John P. Featherston (Mayor), C W Mitchell, W. Champness, W. Bishop, George L. Irwin, A. J. Routh. W. H. Falls, Hugh McCormack, F. W. Shephard, Frederick Champness, C. Graburn, Francis Abbott, William Schofield, Robert Lyon, (Judge).

A meeting of the signers of the call was convened by circular, and held in the rooms of the Ottawa Young Men's Christian Association, on the 12th day of February, 1874. Mr. W. A. Macagy occupied the chair and Mr. Henry Alexander acted as Secretary. The "Declaration of Principles" as adopted at the meeting of the first General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church was read, and unanimously assented to by those present. A motion was also unanimously adopted inviting the Right Rev. Bishop Cummins to visit Ottawa at an early day. Pressing engagements and subsequent illness prevented Bishop Cummins accepting the invitation, but in his stead the Bishop sent the Rev. Mason Gallagher, an earnest worker in the cause. The first meeting for public worship was held by the Rev. Mr. Gallagher, in the Court House, the use of which had been kindly granted by the County authorities, on Sunday, 8th of March, 1874. On Thursday evening, the 12th of March, a public meeting was held in the Court House, Mr. Z. Wilson in the chair, at which after listening to the explanations of the Rev. Mr. Gallagher as to the causes which had led to the organization of a Reformed Episcopal Church, a motion was unanimously adopted with the view to the organising of a congregation with that body. At this meeting a large number of persons signed the roll of membership, and subscriptions in support of a minister and other church expenses to the amount of $1,650 was subscribed. The temporal affairs of the congregation continue to be managed by an executive committee appointed at the preliminary meeting held on the 12th February last until Easter, when according to ancient custom in Episcopal churches, a congregational meeting was held for the election of Church Wardens and Vestrymen. At that meeting, the Rev. Mason Gallagher presided, and two Church Wardens and ten Vestrymen were duly elected office bearers of the church for the current year. The Rev. Mr. Gallagher being obliged to leave Ottawa in furtherance of the work of organizing congregations elsewhere, the Rev. Johnson McCormac, a Presbyter of the Protestant Episcopal Church assumed the charge of the congregation, and has since continued in the zealous discharge of his pastoral duties. The first Episcopal visitation of the congregation was made on Sunday the 16th August, 1874, by the Right Reverend Charles Edward Cheney, D.D, Missionary Bishop of the North West, who held a confirmation service in St. Andrew's Church, the use of which was kindly granted by the managers, when thirteen candidates openly confirmed their baptismal covenant and confessed Christ before the Church and the world.

In laying the corner stone of a building to be dedicated to the service and worship of Almighty God, we do so in love to all who name the name of Jesus, and we would humbly express our earnest prayer and heartfelt desire that within this edifice the glorious Gospel of the ever blessed Jesus may be preached in all its heaven born simplicity. Here may Jesus Christ our Divine Lord and Saviour ever be held forth as the foundation and chief corner stone on which men must build their hopes for eternity, and within these walls may our glorious Protestant Liturgy, from which all known error has been eliminated, ever be rendered in all its sublimity—in all its native Saxon. "The Lord shall count when he writeth up the people," and may it then be said of our Zion that this and that man was born in her.

This the corner stone of "Emanuel Church" of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Elgin street, in the city of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario, and Dominion of Canada, was laid by the Right Reverend George David Cummins, Doctor of Divinity, Presiding Bishop, on the 8th day of September, A.D. 1874, and in the eighth year of his consecration as a Bishop in the Church of God, being the 37th year of the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria; Sir Frederick Temple Hamilton Blackwood, Earl of Dufferin, being Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada.

The Reverend Johnson McCormac, Rector.

Alexander Burritt and Amos Rowe, Church Wardens.

Zachariah Wilson, Thomas Beament, David W. Coward, Henry Alexander, W. H. Tracy, Thomas H. Kirby, R. A. Bradley, W. A. MacAgy, A. J. Parker and Charles E. Anderson, Vestrymen.

Thomas W. Thompson, Treasurer.

Henry Alexander, Vestry Clerk.

William Hodgson, Architect.

William Farquhar, Contractor for Masonry.

William Thornton, Contractor for Carpenter work.

Bissett & Craig, Contractors for Plastering.

William Howe, Contractor for Painting.

Cost of building and lots, estimated at $11,500.

The Corner Stone is laid by the Right Reverend George David Cummins.

Enclosed beneath this corner stone, is the current coin of the Dominion of Canada, 50 cent, 25 cent, 10 cent, 5 cent, and 1 cent pieces.

Constitution and Canons of the Reformed Episcopal Church adopted in General Council May, 1874.

At the conclusion of the reading of the document, Mr. Rowe had all the records, periodicals and coins hermetically sealed in a copper box and deposited in the cavity cut in the stone to receive it. The corner stone occupies the north east corner of the building.

The tackle was next adjusted, and the stone lowered to its proper place under the supervision of Mr. Hodgson, the architect. When this was done, Mrs. A. Burritt stepped forward and presented Bishop Cummins with an elegant silver trowel. The design is a very chaste one, and reflects credibly upon the manufacturer, Mr. W. H. Tracy, jeweller, of Rideau Street. On it was the following inscription:—

Presented to the Right Rev. Bishop Cummins, D.D., by the Church Wardens and Vestry
On the occasion of laying the Corner Stone of the Reformed Episcopal Church,
Elgin Street,
Ottawa, 8th Sept., 1874.

His Lordship then stepped forward, and with trowel and mallet laid the chief corner stone of the new church in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. He named it "Emanuel" in connection with the Reformed Episcopal Church of Ottawa.

His Lordship next addressed the audience in a very eloquent and telling address, setting forth the principles upon which the Reform Episcopal Church were based. He depicted at some length the corruptions and errors that had crept into the Episcopal Church, and deplored the errors that had been allowed to get into the Book of Common Prayer. They had actually been using a prayer book compiled under Charles II, 200 years ago, replete with sacerdotal and Ritualistic principles. As long as this state of things had been allowed, there was little wonder that there were repeated desertions to the Church of Rome. They could now, however, thank God that the Reformed Episcopal Church had a prayer book free from the Ritualistic precepts that corrupted the old Church. They were laying the corner stone of a building to dayin which they could worship without any danger of their being led astray. He admired the English pluck of the people of Ottawa in this undertaking, for doubtless they would soon see the work they had this day begun successfully completed He concluded by invoking a blessing on the "Church of Emanuel" just consecrated to the service of the Lord.

The 150th hymn of praise was next sung.

The proceedings were then brought to a close by the singing of a Doxology and the pronouncing of the Benediction.

OTTAWA BRIGADE GARRISON ARTILLERY RIFLE MATCHES.

MONTREAL.

The Crystal Palace Difficulty—Political Rumour.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.

The Election Court met for a few minutes yesterday, and on application of both the parties changed the day for the trial of the Argenteuil Election petition from the 17th of this month to the 5th of October.

Some doubts having been raised as to the legality of the proceedings of the City Council authorizing the loan of three millions in England, the Council to-night confirmed those proceedings. They also appointed a Committee to make arrangements for the reception and welcome of Vice-Admiral Wellesley, who is now in the city.

Messrs. Ferguson & O'Leary have been awarded the grading and masonry of that portion of the Northern Colonization R between Nation and Little Blanche Riv

A woman named Mary Connolly, who had been brought from Kempt street to the Hospital, about a month ago with a broken leg, died on Saturday from her injury.

Of the small-pox deaths last week, one occurred in St. Gabriel street, outside the limits; two in St. Mary's Ward; one each in Seaton and Sydenham streets; two at the Tanneries; one in the Misericorde Asylum, St. James Ward; two in the parish of St. Cunegonde; two in St. Antoine Ward; one each in St. Martin and Workman streets, and one in Mignonne street, St. Louis Ward.

There is a rumor on the street to the effect that Lieut.-Governor Caron has accepted the resignation of the Hon. Messrs. Ouimet, Chapleau, and Archambault, and that Speaker Blanchet will be called to form a new Ministry, with a proviso to the effect that the three former gentlemen are to have portfolios under him.

The works on the Northern Colonization Railway have advanced so far that a further instalment of $70,000 has been paid on account of construction by the Provisional Government.

Dr. John B. McConnel, of this city, and graduate of McGill College, has been elected to the chair of botany in the medical faculty of Bishops College.

On Saturday, Col. Wylie and Capt. Pope, of the Militia Department, Ottawa, representing the Minister of Justice, proceeded to the Crystal Palace, accompanied by Chief McLaughlan and ten men of the Water Police Force, and took forcible possession of the Crystal Palace building on behalf of the Government. A stout lock was plased on the door, and the building has since been garrisoned by officers with strict orders to admit no one. Of course this decisive action of the Government, which has arisen from the determined opposition of the Provincial Board of Arts and Manufactures to accede to a reasonable request, will now tend to a speedy settlement of the difficulty. After the old Provincial Board of Arts was formed, it in 1860 leased the Crystal Palace Ground from McGill College for ninety-nine years, conditionally on its occupying the property in a manner agreed upon. Both the College and the Board of Arts soon after borrowed money from the Government on the security of this property, but they neglected to pay the interest, and the Board of Arts failed to pay McGill its annual rent. In 1863 matters looked still worse, and there was no probability of the Board of Arts paying either McGill College or the Government. The Board did not fulfil its agreement as embodied in the lease, and the College by its terms had a legal right to enter into possession of the property again. Indeed, so plain did the case stand that had the Macdonald-Dorion Government remained in power during 1863, it would have taken possession of the property, advancing any further sum claimed by McGill College and paying several contractors who had not then been paid. However, this Government went out of power and for the next ten years the property stood idle. In 1873 the Macdonald Government disposed of the matter finally. A deputation of the College Association proceeded early in 1873 to Ottawa, and the Government decided to accept the principal of the loan made by it to the College in full payment, not requiring payment of the interest due, and releasing all claims on the grounds retaining, however, possession of the Crystal Palace as security against the amount owing it by the Council of Arts, and it decided to remove the building from the land which now belonged neither to it nor the Council of Arts, which, however, it did not effect before going out of power. As soon as the McGill College Board got possession of the land again it sold it by private sale upon the understanding that the building was to be removed by the Government. Soon after these events took place, the Mackenzie Ministry came into power, and though it is stated that they condemned the action of their predecessors in office, yet as the transaction had been formally ordered in Council, the College had become the owner of the land, and of course the order in Council would have to be carried out. They had to decide whether to remove the building from the ground, out of the way of the purchasers or else to sell it to them, they being the only persons who could use it as it stood, as by its remaining in the hands of the Government expense would be entailed; and lately in was offered to the buyers of the ground at a fixed valuation. This offer was accepted, whereupon Colonel Wylie took possession of the building as before stated.

QUEBEC.

The Ministerial Crisis—Cabinet Meeting—Drowned.

QUEBEC, Sept. 7

The Ministry resigned at two o'clock this afternoon. Hon. J. G. Blanchet and Hon. Mr. DeBoucherville are spoken of as likely to be called for. Mr. McDougall, of Three Rivers will, it is supposed, be asked to take the lead of the English wing of the new Ministry. No one thinks there is any chance of success for a Cabinet constituted under the above mentioned auspices. The general opinion is that Mr. Joly will have to be called in.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Mr. Robertson definitively resigned to-day. The Ministry meet to-morrow morning at ten o'clock, it is supposed to resign.

The Chronicle says that the Hon. Mr. Robertson's resignation was handed in on Friday, along with Dr. Fortin's, but the Premier, at the meeting held on Saturday last, asked for further delay until to-day, when it is likely a resignation en masse will take place. A number of gentlemen are mentioned as likely to be called upon to form a Ministry, but nothing positive is yet known.

Sir James Douglas, and Mr. Edward Jenkins, M.P., Agent for Canada in England, and Mr. C. J. Whellams, Emigration Agent, arrived yesterday, per steamer 'Peruvian,' from England.

Mr. Henry Taylor, General Secretary of the National Agricultural Laborer's Union was a passenger on the steamer 'Ontario,' of the Dominion Line, which arrived in port yesterday. He brought out with him a large number of agricultural laborers and their families, who proceeded West last night.

On Saturday afternoon, a young man named E. Martineau, aged 17 years, residing in Cap Blank, in company with several friends, had been upon a hunting expedition to St. Augustin, and upon entering the row boats to return, he had loaded his gun, with the hope of utilising any chance of small game on the river. It seems that in the boat, while reaching for the gun, he stepped forward, and his foot catching in the hammer, discharged it. The charge of shot entered his head, causing almost instantaneous death.

The employees of Messrs. Woodley's shoe manufactory, numbering over 500 persons, made a handsome present to Miss Woodley on the occasion of her marriage. The affair passed of pleasantly with the usual congratulatory speeches.

Admiral Wellesley, C.B., with Mrs. and Miss Wellesley, left on Saturday evening for Niagara Falls and the West, and will be the guests of the Governor General and the Countess of Dufferin at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, on their return.

The Mercury of this evening says the Quebec Cabinet sat to-day, and will meet again to-morrow and Wednesday, when it is expected the result of their deliberations will be made known. In the meantime, the Ministers are busy in despatching business in their respective Departments.

LONDON.

A Diabolical Act—The Camp of Instruction.

LONDON, Sept. 7.

A fiendish outrage is reported from Delaware. An evening or two since some miscreants fired a pistol shot through the window of Mr. J. D. Deadman's residence, the ball striking Miss Deadman, who was seated at a table, but, glancing off by coming in contact with a steel spring in her bodice. The would-be assassin is supposed to be a rejected lover.

The Camp of Instruction for the western district, comprising the 7th London, 22nd Oxford, 24th Kent, Windsor, Leamington, independent companies, and the 24th Kent Battalions of Infantry, the 1st Regiment of Cavalry (Col. Cole), and the London Field Battery of Artillery (Col. Shanly, went under canvas at Kensington to the west of the city to-day. Nearly all the battalions are up to their full strength

ESSEX.

Reform Convention—McGregor Nomination.

WINDSOR, Sept. 7th.

At the Reform Convention held at Essex Centre to-day, Mr. William McGregor, lately unseated in consequence of one of his supporters at the general election having purchased a vote, was unanimously chosen the standard bearer of the Reform party at the election shortly to take place. There were present a large number of delegates, and about two hundred other influential gentlemen attended the open air meeting held after the work of the Convention was finished. A good many speeches were made at this meeting by representative men from the different parts of the county, and each one agreed that if opposition should be offered, which however is not expected, Mr. McGregor's majority will exceed a thousand. McGregor's conduct during the late session of Parliament proved satisfactory to his political friends, and won the respect of not a few Conservatives, thereby strengthening his position, and the shamelessness of his opponent, whose elections had always been carried largely by means of corruption, in protesting against his return, has brought to Mr. McGregor's side a host of persons who, last winter, worked and voted against him. Essex is now safe for the Reform party for many a long day.

HAMILTON.

Judge Ambrose.

HAMILTON, Sept. 7.

A boy went to bed last night night and left a lamp burning in his room, the flame of which scorched as it were some clothing that hung above the lamp, causing the room soon to be filled with a dense smoke, which soon rendered the boy insensible, and he would soon have died of suffocation had not his father accidentally arisen and smelling the smoke gone to his son's room, extinguished the burning clothes, and carried out the lad only just in time to save his life.

Judge Ambrose is still indisposed. He endeavored a few days ago to resume his duties, but was unable to continue. Judge Smart is still acting as Deputy for the County.

NEWCASTLE.

Terrible Contest with a Bull.

NEWCASTLE, Sept. 8.

A sad and almost fatal accident happened here this evening. As Mr. John Wall's hired man was leading a bull from the stable to water the animal became unmanageable, and attacking the man, threw him down and injured him severely. On Mr. Colin Walls going to his assistance, the infuriated brute turned upon him, tossing and goring him in a fearful manner. Another party, running in with a stick, struck the animal on one of the horns, which seemed to stud the brute, giving Mr. Walls time to get out of his reach, and he was then carried into the house. Dr. McNaughton, on arriving, pronounced his wounds of a very serious nature. When last heard from, Mr. Walls was progressing favourably. He is highly respected and is a member of the Council of this place, and it is hoped he will soon be able to resume his duties.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The Outrage on Mr. Magill.

PANAMA, Sept. 7.—The prisoners who committed the outrages on the British Consul, were tried a second time on the 26th inst. The previous sentence was confirmed.

The total value of all exports for the year 1873 was $3,363,661.77.

UNITED STATES.

Murder.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 7.—Geo. M. Day, officer on the Street Railway was shot and killed last night by J. M. Cole, Railway Clerk.

Fire.

NEW HAVEN, CONN, Sept. 7.—Fifteen buildings of the Northern Wheel Company were destroyed by fire to-night and 150 hands are thrown out of employment. The loss will amount to $35,000.

Inundation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Advices from Brazil state that a great inundation is announced. From the town of Barrieves the correspondent telegraphed: "We are inundated and all communication with the continent is closed. The river rises are extraordinary high. The houses on the lower part of the island are inundated.

Theatrical.

The play called "Passions Perils,' which was suppressed in Boston, was brought out at a Bowery Theatre here last night. Papers pronounce it a striped parody of the Beecher-Tilton scandal.

Result of an Old Feud.

An old feud existing between Thomas Hayes and Thomas Delaney, Deputy City Marshal terminated last evening by Hayes shooting Delaney in the head, supposed fatally.

Bush Fires.

The fires in the woods near Hamilton, N.J., have burned over twenty thousand acres of valuable timber land and cranberry bogs. The flames are still raging and spreading.

T. E. Moore begs to inform his many friends, that for a few days longer he will continue his cheap sale of diamond rings, gold and silver watches, gold chains and sets. MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES

SPAIN.

The Insurrection.

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—The Capt.-General has committed death sentence on the rebel leaders Betoncourt, Jeminez and Rojas.

The following official advices have been received from Concivalles district: The Spanish column after a pursuit of three days overtook a band of Germinez troops near Sequaney. The latter turned to fight with cries of "Al Machete." The Spanish troops with counter cries charged, and the insurgents fled after suffering considerable loss.

UNITED STATES.

Railway Accident.

LEWISTON, Sept 7—A collision occurred this morning between freight trains on the G. T. Railway below Daniel Junction, badly smashing the cars and engines. No one much injured.

Mayor Havemeyer.

NEW YORK, Sept 8—The hearing before Governor Dix on Wednesday next on the charges against Mayor Havemeyer will not take place. Counsel for Tammany having informed the Governor that they will rest the case on the papers already submitted.

Edmund Yates.

Edmund Yates writes from London to the Tribune, denying the charge that he has ever attempted to satarise his American acquaintances in his move of a dangerous game. He says such of my American friends as I have had the pleasure of meeting since my return home will be in my best witnesses, as to the manner in which I am in the habit of speaking of my visit and of my treatment in America. The pleasantest six months of my life were passed in the United States. The greatest personal kindness, hospitality and attention which I have ever experienced were received there. This is not said with any view to the future, for there is no present prospect of my again visiting America. It is simply a repetition of what I have continually expressed orally and in print since my return, and it is the protest which I desire to place on record in a prominent American journal against an unfounded charge, by which I have been much distressed.

Guano Bed

PANAMA, Sept. 8.—The principal news by steamer, with dates from Peru to the 20th inst., is about another discovery of guano in one of the excursions made by vessels composing the squadron along the southern coast. Deposits of guano discovered, heretofore unknown, and to all appearances of remarkably rich quality, great in extent, and in the immediate neighbourhood of the Port of "Ilo." From surveys, hasty and incomplete, of the officers of the ship, it would seem that the bed is of extraordinary value.

Primary Schools.

SALVADORE, Sept. 8.—The Government has ordered that there shall be primary schools formed in all garrisons of the Republic for the benefit of the soldiers, said schools to be placed under direction of an army of officers in actual service.

Letters from Honduras.

HONDURAS & NICARUGUA, Sept. 8.—From Honduras & Nicarugua there is nothing of any interest; the latter is chiefly taken up with the question who shall be next President, and the farmers with matters of public instructions, taking the school system of the United States as a model.

Fire.

ELWOOD, N.J., Sept. 8.—The fire in the Pines has extended to both sides of the Atlantic Railroad, and is spreading to the Atlantic Cranberry Meadow.

Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Treasury Department has been advised that yellow fever exists at New Orleans, Pensacota, Galveston, Mobile, Darien and Brunswich, Ga.; Baltimore, at quarantine, and New York, at quarantine, and in view of its prevalence at these points, Secretary Brestow has issued a circular concerning the duties of the United States officers with reference to quarantines and public health.

A telegram was received at the Navy Department this morning from Commander Woolsley, commanding the navy yard at Pensacota, Fla., stating that one of the surgeons of the yard is down with the yellow fever, and the other is overtasked, and asking authority to employ physicians at Pensacota. Relief has been sent to him.

Indian Troubles.

ALBANY, Sept. 8.—The total loss to the Boston & Albany RR. by the fire in East Albany last night amounts to $90,000.

Camp on Red River, September 1st, via Fort Dodge, September 8—The command of Gen. Miles met between 400 and 500 Cheyenne Indians 12 miles from Red River, Texas, on the 30th of August, and after a sharp engagement, lasting five hours, drove them over 13 miles of high and almost impassable canons with a loss to them of 25 or 30 killed or wounded. Our casualties were 3 badly wounded.

Old Times.

From Hall's Journal of Health.

Who does not remember in the times gone by, half a hundred years or more ago, that if the fire went out in the kitchen during the night, as it would, especially if it happened to snow two or three feet, the nearest neighbor had to be visited to get a coal or two to kindle it at home! But the little friction match has come into our dwellings, and is now considered an indispensable article in every household; and yet it was unknown fifty years ago. But one day, a plodding old Dutchman, named Brandt, who wanted to take a short cut to fortune, was trying to find out some way to turn silver into gold; he took it into his head that it could be done by boiling and concentrating urine, and thus obtaining a solvent which could accomplish the desired result. He found a waxy residue that would take fire as easily as would alcohol by the application of flame; in fact it would take fire if warmed, even by heating it in the hands; this was phosphorous, one ounce only from one hundred gallons of the liquid. He sold his secret for two hundred dollars; but this ounce was worth two hundred dollars. But nearly two hundred years passed away before anyone thought out a plan for kindling a fire with phosphorous. Up to 1831 a box holding fifty matches sold for two dollars, but then it was ascertained that they could be made as inexpensive material as phosphorous, which could then be had for a trifle.

For some years the common friction match was known as a Loco Foco, which name was transferred to the Democratic party in connection with a disorderly political meeting, some one putting out the lights, when one of the members having a match in his pocket used it to re-light the apartment. Dr. Nichols, in his very valuable "Boston Journal of Chemistry," says that the first matches were made of very expensive materials, but it was found that if chloride of patash and sulphide of antimony were made into paste and dried and subjected to friction, a light would be produced; so for convenience a bit of dry wood was dipped into the mixture, and when dry, it was dipped into melted brimstone, which, on being let dry, made the common lucifer match, but for some years the smell of brimstone was a great objection to its use. In 1834 it occurred to an English chemist to dip a pine splinter into sulpher, then into a mixture of phosphorus, made into a paste with glue, a little sand and red ochre; this is now the most common match, but there are several kinds, one of which, the 'Safety,' will not ignite unless it is rubbed against a material which is attached to the box holding the matches.

Suffocation and other dangerous results have taken place from drawing in the breath at the instant of lighting a sulphur match; the instant any kind of match kindles it should be held at arm's length from the body to allow time for the fumes to rise above the head. There is a sweetness in the taste of some matches, and young children have been tempted to bite off the match end and eat it, with fatal results.

A convenient rat poison is made by throwing a few matches into melted grease, stir it up, place it in a saucer in the middle of the floor for the rats and mice and snakes to eat, which they will freely do to their own destruction. But phosphorus will take fire of itself unless kept under water; to prevent then the match from setting itself on fire, it is covered with a thin film of gelatine, which perfectly excludes the air, so that now the match must be rubbed against something rough, to scale off this film and allow the air to get to the more inflammable substance underneath. The chemist is still alive who made the first phosphorus for matches at twenty-five hundred dollars a pound. It now sells in New York for a dollar a pound, obtained from bones; it requires a hundred pounds of coal to make one pound of phosphorus; requiring such a heat as to rapidly destroy the apparatus used in making it, while the inhalation of the fumes by those who make the matches produces in some constitutions dreadful ulcerations about the face and other parts of the system, while others seem to escape all injuries. There is a kind of rock in South Carolina discovered lately which contains phosphorus enough, in its crude state, to make matches sufficient to supply the world for a million of years.

POND'S EXTRACT

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 18th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathise with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

DRESSMAKING BEING THE ORDER OF THE TIMES.

J. W. RYAN

Has much pleasure in informing his numerous Lady customers and others that MADAME OLLIER, the celebrated Cutter and Fitter of Ladies' Garments, has arrived from her New York and Boston trip, and re-engaged with him to superintend his Dressmaking Department,

No. 234 WELLINGTON STREET

It will be remembered that Madame Ollier came direct from Boston last March to make arrangements with him, but was subsequently induced, by large offers for her valuable services, to go into an old established firm in Centre Town; but finding that she had made a change for the worse, again engaged with him. Madame Ollier's attainments in the art of Scientific Measurements enables her to ensure a perfect fit without putting her customers to the inconvenience of removing a single garment.

BERMINGHAM'S

Real Estate Bulletin

FOR AUGUST, 1874.

READ AND PROFIT!

He sold property during the month of July at Private Sale, in

City Houses, City Lots and Farms,

Amounting in the aggregate to $63,000.

He has now for sale some most valuable properties, as may be seen from the following, which is but a small portion of what he has on hand:

A very valuable property of eight buildings, corner of O'Connor and Albert streets, having 132 feet on Albert-st. by 99 on O'Connor, and now bringing in a rental of $1470 per annum, which can be in-creased. To be sold cheap and on easy terms, by J. BERMINGHAM.

That splendid property, a double brick house with stone basement, adjoining St. Alban's church Daly-st., having each six airy bedrooms, drawing room, dining room, and basement breakfast room, with kitchen, pantries, closets, stables, coach house, &c., &c. They are now rented for $500. $600 can be got for them. To be sold cheap for cash.

East half of lot 20, North side Clarence-st., with double frame building thereon. Rented for $200 per annum. Will be sold at a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A handsome brick residence on Gloucester-st., Centre Town, with six good bedrooms, dining room, drawing room, kitchen, pantries, cellar, &c., &c.; good yard, and sheds recently built; well finished, having many modern improvements. Will be sold cheap.

West half of lot 27, S. Rideau-st., with a commodious and comfortable brick cottage, having five good bedrooms, parlor and sitting room, kitchen, &c. Good yard and shed accommodation. Now rented for $180 per annum. To be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

East half of lot 21, Boulton street, with two tenements rented for $12 per month, to be sold very cheap and on very easy terms by J. BERMINGHAM.

Lots 6 and 48 North Biddy, 41, 42 and 43 South Nepean street, all good building lots. Lots 31 South Stewart and 35 North Wilbred streets Sandy Hill, two choice lots, well situated and in a healthy and respectable locality.

A house and twenty-six acres of land about half a mile from Cumming's Bridge, township of Gloucester, Rideau front, the residence of the late Agar Yielding, Esq. The new bridge now erecting across the Rideau here, brings the property in this locality close to the city, thereby enhancing its value. This will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A most comfortable and commodious cottage in Rochesterville, on Rochester street, opposite the Catholic Church, having a double parlor, sitting room dining room, kitchen, six good bed rooms, coach house, stables, sheds, closets and two extensive water tanks, all new. This property which has many recommendations will be sold cheap. The finishers are still on the premises, and if purchased at once, the buyer can have that chance of making any alterations before they leave. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

A valuable property on the corner of Preston and Spruce streets, Rochesterville, with five good dwellings; can rent for about $370 per annum. This is good property; will be found an excellent investment, and will be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A block of land in Rochesterville, having 167 feet on Rochester street by 165 on Lydia street, with buildings thereon; this is finely situated in an elevated position, and close to the Catholic Church. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM for particulars.

100 Acres of Good Land south half of lot 23 in the fifth of Templeton, six miles from Ottawa, Sixty acres cleared; good log house, barn and stables. Will be sold a bargain by J. BERMINGHAM.

50 Acres, south half of north half of lot 16 in the ninth O. F., nine miles from Ottawa, good land and well timbered.

50 Acres of rich land, cleared and cultivated, with good orchard, dwelling and outbuildings, within about three miles of Ottawa, in the third concession Gloucester, Ottawa, front, will be sold cheap. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Acres of excellent land, within four miles of the city, township of Gloucester. A big bargain.

That most valuable property known as Eastman's Springs, with ten acres of very fine land. This property is within twelve miles of the city of Ottawa, and is very valuable, not alone for the fertility of its soil, but for the numerous mineral springs with which it abounds. The quality of these springs are so well known to the people of Ottawa and surroundings, that it is unnecessary to say anything in their praise. Suffice it to say that they are admitted to be the best in this part of Canada. A little expenditure in laying out and ornamenting the grounds and building a large hotel, is all that is required to make them a most remunerative speculation and the Saratoga of Canada. The Springs consists of Saline, Sulphur, Gas, and Minerals, and are admitted to be most valuable for their curative qualities. For full particulars apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A furnished house on Gloucester street, Centre Town, to rent. Price moderate.

A magnificent Steinway Piano, nearly new for sale. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A Seven and a quarter octave Piano, D.P. Hale & Co., New York, quite new, to be sold cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

A second-hand Cottage Piano for sale by J. BERMINGHAM.

A very fine house on Metcalf street to rent. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

A large quantity of English and German Chromos on hand, for sale cheap.

200 pairs of Grey Shanty Blankets, large size, and 100 pairs White do., for sale cheap by J. BERMINGHAM.

200 Horse Blankets on hand, all fit for shanty purposes. Apply to J. BERMINGHAM.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric! — Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most sceptical. J. Cottard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Ionia, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes —"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Oliver on, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well."

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM — PURELY — CALIFORNIA — ALCOHOL — DR. WALKER'S — EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY! so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the ever-changing phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S OIL so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it to be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

"I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, LL.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers."

PINE LANDS.

OVER 900,000,000 FEET, well located mainly on the rivers leading into Lake Michigan. The numerous streams and lakes surrounded with pine timber along the line west of Reed City, offer the best of locations for mills, where logs can be held safely free of expense, and free from the annoyance of Boom Companies. The railroad direct to East Saginaw and Toledo offers the best source of supplies, and never failing market for Lumber Shingles, etc., which may be delivered anywhere on the line.

CLARKE'S

WORLD FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE

Trade Mark—"BLOOD MIXTURE."

The Great Blood Purifier and Restorer

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases and sores of all kinds it is a never-failing and permanent cure.

It cures old sores,
Cures ulcerated sores on the neck,
Cures ulcerated sore legs,
Cures blackheads, or pimples on the face,
Cures scurvy sores,
Cures cancerous ulcers,
Cures blood and skin diseases,
Cures glandular swellings,
Clears the blood from all impure matter,
From whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of testimonials from all parts.

Sold in bottles 2s 3d each, and in cases, containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases, by all chemists and patent medicine vendors throughout the world.

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

GENUINE PANCREATINE

PANREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them [illegible] forth as possessing the rem[illegible] ties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either [illegible] pounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle, and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to [illegible] affect the reputation which the genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE,"

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

☞ Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of cream, is palatable and readily taken."

HOW A SON HONORED HIS WIDOWED MOTHER

A Small Gift and a Great Theft.

(From the Essex Record.)

Mrs. Eliza Goslin, a widow of sixty years or more, and a well-known resident of Windsor, recently went down to Leamington to receive from Squire Wigfield the first instalment of the price of a farm sold by her husband, and on last Friday fortnight the money was paid to her—her children, excepting one son, George, and a daughter, being present to get their respective shares of the amount. Mrs. Goslin retained her own portion $500, and her daughter's $350, together $850, which she carried away in her pocket. Subsequently she visited two of her sons who reside in the township of Mersea, William Goslin who lives on the Talbot Road being the last called upon. His house she left very early last Wednesday morning, he driving her to Leamington in his waggon, in order that she might take the stage to Windsor. Prior to leaving William's the latter persuaded her to put the parcel of money in a basket, it being more safe than carrying it in her pocket; but she took the precaution to tie it to the basket. Stopping at a hotel at Leamington, Mrs. Goslin went into the sitting room, and through the window kept her eye steadily upon the basket in front of the house. Her son, who remained outside, went to her about half an hour later and said he would have to move the waggon, and did take it round the corner of the street. Feeling naturally anxious about the parcel, she in a few minutes followed, and on turning the corner, observed him standing on the sidewalk with the basket in his hands. On seeing his mother approaching, William confusedly asked her, "what in the world are you doing here?" to which she replied, "I want my basket;" and laying hold of it took it from him—noticing then that the string by which the parcel had been secured to the basket was hanging loose.—But still, although these things seemed strange, and caused her to feel annoyed, the thought never crossed her mind that her own offspring was capable of robbing her, and she did not remove the covering of the basket to ascertain if her money was there or not. She returned to the hotel, and when the stage made its appearance got into it and rode as far as what is known as the Oak Opening, when she concluded that it would be well to make sure that the parcel was all right. Of course it was gone, and in spite of parental feeling she could not overcome the conviction that her son had deliberately laid a plan to rob her and carried it out successfully. She walked back to Leamington, and there obtained a conveyance and drove to William's house. On entering she told her daughter-in-law of her loss, but she knew nothing of it. Her son, who heard the announcement, at first said nothing, but after a while declared he had not seen the money. His conduct both at Leamington and at his own house left her with one resolve, and that was to recover possession of the cash if possible, and in doing so punish him if needs be for the theft. Accordingly she came to Windsor and placed a warrant for her son's arrest, and another for the searching of his premises into the hands of Chief Constable Bain, who captured his man on Monday without much trouble, and got the whole amount of the cash after a diligent and exhaustive search of the house, stable and outbuildings—the respective parcels being still in the wrappers placed upon them originally by Mr Wigfield. Mr. Bains merits great credit, and should be handsomely compensated for recovering the money, as the chances were but as one in a thousand in his favor. It was carefully packed away in the manger of one of the stalls in Goslin's stable, among rubbish well calculated to conceal so small a parcel.

William Goslin, the accused, is about 44 years old, and, as the reader will have understood, is a pretty well-to-do farmer. What could have induced him to commit so grave a crime, and withal, victimize one whose property even a wild savage would protect, it is impossible to conceive. He was examined by Police Magistrate Caron on Monday and remanded till Wednesday. Mr. Wigfield proved Mrs. Goslin's testimony in so far as his paying over the money was concerned, and the amount in each of the parcels retained by her; and also identified the wrappers of the parcels. The evidence was deemed conclusive and the prisoner was therefore committed for trial at the approaching assizes. He may, however, choose to place his case in the hands of Judge Leggatt, in which case his fate will soon be determined. The most contemptible affair of the case as developed in the Police Court, was the gift to Mrs. Goslin by her son's wife, on the morning of her departure for Windsor, of $25 as a mark of her son's affection—which in the light of subsequent events seems to have been intended to strengthen her affection in order the more divert suspicion from the cruel thief.

Early Marriages

Mr J. C. Goldsmith, editor of 'Frank Leslie's Weekly,' writes as follows upon a subject of very general interest:

A distinguished divine, in a recent address to a graduating class at one of our seaboard colleges, advised its members, in substance, if not in terms, to go home and get married as soon as they could find good girls who were willing to marry them. It was advice which had the pleasing peculiarity of being acceptable, and which was, in a sense, pertinent. But unless very clearly qualified, we should hesitate to say that the advice was good. Indeed, our observation teaches us that college graduates do not require any special impulse from reverend hands to topple them over the perilous verge of matrimony. As a rule, they rush for that precipice with great eagerness.

Not that the practice of early marriage is without its advantages—we all know that it is not. We know, too, pretty well, what they are, for we have most of us heard them preached by instructors who came down in an unbroken succession from the patriarchal times when nothing was considered good form in a mature man but to increase and multiply. Essays innumerable have told us that a man who marries young is less likely to fall into lewd company; that he obtains an aim in life for which he is more willing to practice the virtues of self denial and industry; and that he begins at once to perform a certain share in the duty of maintaining society. All this has a portion of truth in it; but there is another side to the question which the distinguished divine to whom we have referred failed to bring forward. The common sense of the world has embodied this other side in a proverb which has its counterpart in several of the languages of civilized Europe, and which is "Marry in haste and repent at leisure." Marrying in haste, we think every one will acknowledge, is a mistake much more apt to be made by very young men than by older ones. It is a pleasant error. It involves the gratification of a desire more or less intense without delay, and it enlists all our friends and acquaintances in a temporary, but very delightful interest in us and in our proceedings. But repentance is never agreeable, and the more leisurely it is the less agreeable it becomes. When it is stretched out over years of petty miseries and unfailing irritations, it becomes one of the saddest, and, in view of the feeling that ought to exist, one of the most terrible things in life. We have lately been treated to a to a picture of this experience in the wretched family of the Tilton's. It has been put before the public with painful particularity, and if from the picture we could wipe out the darker shadows of alleged sin on either side, how unspeakably dreary, how full of torment and bitterness and perversion of things good, how crowded with minute thorns and ever recurring pitfalls, it still is! Yet this is the picture of many households. We do not entertain any intention of becoming sentimental over the matter. It is not a picture of a majority, or of a large minority of the households with which our readers are familiar. But it very fairly represents a large percentage of those in whom marriage has been hasty.

The trouble with all advice on this subject is, that it is addressed to the wrong parties. The great mass of youngsters just out of college, and of girls of a like age, are in nowise fitted even to receive advice on the subject. The chances are that they will obey their whims or their passions, or be guided by their opportunities, much more than by any one's advice. And the cause of this is that, as a rule, parents take little pains to prepare the minds of their children to anything like reflection on the gravest act of their lives. They do not discuss it thoughtfully with them. They do not make it a part of their child's education. They put it aside for one reason or another, and suddenly they find that when the most serious question of their lives is presented to the poor creatures, they are startled, puzzled, bewitched and excited by it. But they are seldom prepared to give it an approximately reasonable conclusion. Surely this could in a great measure be avoided. The sentiment of love is a baffling thing to study or elucidate, but it is not made less so by utterly ignoring it, and the mind of the parent ought to be able to give some help to the inexperienced offspring in dealing with it. There is a miserable lack of common sense in our way of dealing with this whole matter. We reverse, as to it, the rules which teach us care and patience and foresight with our children in all other things. And the result is an enormous amount of avoidable misery.

Western Salt.

From the Milwaukee Journal of Commerce.

The American Grocer of August 29th, has an informing article on the trade in salt. The single defect in this otherwise trustworthy article arises from the fact that, like so large a proportion of the writing in the New York press, it ignores the existence of the west. We should recommend the formation of a "Society in the Interests of Abstract Truth," for the purpose of giving every New York commercial editor and reporter a month's tour through the great trading cities and the lively manufacturing towns of the northwest. For this poor but respectable class of our fellow citizens, Horace Greeley's advice is good yet.

The American Grocer is mistaken in implying that the salt used in the United States, since the revision of the tariff in 1872, is entirely imported from England. Whatever may have been the consequences of the change in our tariff policy upon the salt manufactures of a little county in the State of New York, we cannot find that it has by any means ruined or paralyzed that industry on the shores of Lake Huron. This region for a distance of seven hundred miles around Lake Huron, extending inward some thirty miles, has never failed to yield salt to bores of from 800 to 1,200 feet. Goderich and Kincardine, Canada, are underlaid with solid salt rock, ranging in thickness from 50 to 96 feet. This rock is dissolved by water supplied by the subterranean water courses that are penetrated by the bores before they reach the salt. In Canada there are over fifty works. The salt works on the west or Michigan shore of Lake Huron, the greater portion of which are on the Saginaw river, number one hundred and ten and will alone produce this year about 800,000 barrels, or 4,000,000 bushels. The total annual salt product of the Lake Huron district is now about one million barrels or two hundred and eighty millions pounds. This product is regularly increasing, and there is absolutely no other limit to the Lake Huron salt yield than the amount of capital that is willing to invest in this direction. We dare predict that the manufacture of Michigan, or rather Lake Huron, salt will increase at the rate of at least 100,000 barrels a year for the next fifty years.

The cheapness with which salt can be made in connection with the manufacture of lumber, will continue to give the west an advantage over foreign competition so long at least as our pine lands hold out, without the aid of artificial legislation. Owners of extensive saw mills have been obliged to go into the manufacture of salt merely to rid themselves of the accumulation of saw dust, which they use exclusively for fuel, and to consume refuse lumber by making it into barrels to carry the salt to market. The cost of making salt at the Saginaws, as we learn from Messrs. H. W. Sage & Co., who have a producing capacity of 500 barrels a day, is about sixty-one cents per barrel of 280 pounds. There are also important salt works on the Ohio river, where this product is turned out very cheap. We concur with our valuable contemporary in the opinion that other brands of salt are as good as Ashton. We can recommend the "Goderich dairy" as an article superior to Ashton, at fifty per cent less cost than the latter.

The market for Lake Huron salt is in Canada, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and in Colorado and other northwestern territories. When we bear in mind that this extensive industry has sprung up since 1866, that the first cargo of Michigan salt was put on the Milwaukee market only nine years ago, and that the first lot manufactured sought this market, and that Mr. Jesse Hoyt, of the firm of Angus Smith & Co., was the first of eastern capitalists to invest in salt at Saginaw—we can hardly wonder that even an eastern journal which enjoys especial claims to accuracy should have overlooked the magnitude and prosperity of the salt interests of the west.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—Its effects are almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark, if need be. 3665.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on those centers we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and decided benefit received by patients labouring under these diseases. 2642

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favourite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press. 3659

DR. S. JACOBS, ON APHONIA, OR LOSS OF VOICE.—Orange Street, St. John, N. B., 1869.—Mr. Fellows—Sir: I am bound to award the palm of merit to the preparation of Hypophosphites discovered by you. I had occasion to use it myself in a case of Aphonia, which would not yield to regular treatment, and am happy to say it proved to be all that you claimed for it, having acted with expedition and entire satisfaction. I feel called upon to publish the fact, that the profession may avail themselves of a remedy in your "Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites." Yours, very truly, S. JACOBS. 3665

The Ottawa Times

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1874.

Major D. A. Macdonald left last night for Fort Garry on duties connected with the Department.

By special telegram published elsewhere in this issue we learn that Mr. A. F. Macdonald, the other day unseated at Cornwall, will again stand for that constituency, and is already in the field. His candidature will be well received here and we are pleased to learn that there is no chance of successful opposition to him.

We see by the printed list of the British Association for the Advancement of Science held in Belfast this year that the Hon. Geo. A. Walkem, Premier of British Columbia, is enrolled as one of the "Associates" and in the "Journal of Sectional Proceedings," is a member of the Committee under Section E., Geography.

The enquiry into the charges made against Mr. Arnoldi was to have been entered upon yesterday, but was deferred until to-day in consequence, it is understood, of there being no prosecutor. We should not be surprised to find the whole story a mere invention. From the first it looked fishy, and it will probably turn out to be the offspring of malice.

Judge Galt has declared the Lincoln election void, and Chancellor Spragge has given a similar decision in the South Renfrew case—both on the ground of corrupt practices on the part of respondents' friends. No personal bribery has been shown in either case, and both Captain Norris and Mr. MacDougall are eligible for re-relection.

The British Columbia papers, received here yesterday, report the return to the vicinity of Victoria of Mr. Richardson, of the Canadian Geological Survey. He is said to have examined the geological features of the several ports of calling on the Pacific Coast, and has been for the past few months engaged in inspecting the shores of the several inlets, some of which he describes as mountainous, filled with numerous snow-slides and glaciers, and consequently most difficult of travel. He left his men to continue these surveys, while he will himself resume work in the neighbourhood of Victoria. Mr. Richardson also states that Mr. Horetsky has been penetrating the country towards the interior from the head of the several inlets on the North West coast, in some directions obtaining a view of the plains. This course it was believed he would follow for some weeks, when it was expected he would cross the country to Fraser River, and reach Victoria next month. A few traces of copper and magnetic iron were found, and some excellent limestone was also discovered. The Indians were found to be very friendly, and no trouble whatever was met from them.

NURSING AN ADDER OR SOMETHING VERY LIKE IT.

The Victoria (B.C.) Standard, whom the Tories of these Eastern Provinces have lately taken to their bosom, is not behaving in a very childlike manner, notwithstanding all the blandishments they have bestowed upon it. We do not assert they have been nestling an adder, but whatever the creature may turn out to be in the end, it shows something exceedingly like fangs now and again. It recently devoted, out of gratitude no doubt, an article to the subject of "Canadian Conservatism," in which it notices that the party in these regions is about to re-organize with the presumed object of strengthening their position before the country. We have not yet heard the news at home, but considering the need there is for something being done in that way, of course we cannot altogether refuse to give it credit. Perhaps that was what Dr. Tupper and Mr. James Macdonald were up to when they held a "general meeting" in Halifax to which only such members of the press as were in the secrets of this "star chamber" organization were admitted, and perhaps it was not. Neither the organ on the Pacific Coast, nor any other organ has as yet vouchsafed to us any information as to the principle upon which this re-organization is to take place. Presumably they have another Pacific charter or a new "Land Swap" in their mind's eye. Indeed, it is not improbable that the Tanneries transaction of the party in Quebec, which is decidedly included in the "Eastern" Provinces, is the very basis of the reconstruction shadowed forth. It must have been fresh news in British Columbia about the time the article to which we refer was written, and were it not that the organ carefully abstains from telling its readers anything except that re-organization of some kind was proposed, we should set the probability down as the fact without much hesitation, since huge public swindles, from the proceeds of which the pockets of Conservative politicians are plentifully replenished, are the favourite Tory methods of "strengthening their position before the country."

But in its very second sentence, the organ proceeds to say some most unmerciful things, as for instance:—"The Pacific "Railway Scandal was a crushing blow to "the Conservative party, from which it is "likely to take many a long day to "recover." Oh, cruelty, thy name is the Victoria Standard! Why did the organ not mix a little mercy with this terrible justice! It is long since the Tory party in Canada have had a better illustration than this of the refined ferocity which characterizes a petted renegade. There would, however, be little pain in this viperous sting, were it not that it contained the poison of truth. "Recklessness on the one hand "and carelessness on the other" says this friendly print, were the rocks upon which the late Government struck and went to pieces. Of course if any eastern organ defies it to prove these assertions, it can point to the reckless bargain into which they entered with British Columbia, and the supreme carelessness they manifested as to its fulfilment. But then it must be confessed that all this looks like black ingratitude on the part of the Standard, in view of the fawning and beslavering which the Tory newspapers of Eastern Canada have lately bestowed upon it and the ignoble cause it has espoused. But as if to complete the retributive blow with which it greets the sycophantic and deceptive adulations of our Tory contemporarries, the Standard proceeds to say that it rejoiced in the change of administration, and was glad when the reign of the late Government came to a close; and this too, for reasons altogether apart from and independent of the Pacific Scandal. And then the organ grows highly patriotic, and while believing that so far British Columbia has been neither better nor worse by the change, it alleges that "the moral "effect of their removal upon the Dominion "as a whole may in the end prove some-"what beneficial."

Of course, the Tory organs will give to this "the same publicity," &c., which they are so fond of offering as a recompense for their malicious slanders. But now comes the unkindest cut of all:—

"Another reason," says the Standard "why we were disposed to look upon the removal of the Macdonald Administration with a degree of satisfaction, was because it had the effect of breaking up that system of coalition of parties in the Government which had become a kind of chronic evil in the country, that gave rise to no small amount of corruption in the administration of public affairs, and finally culminated in the Pacific Railway Scandal. When men holding political views almost diametrically opposed to each other join hands in the management of public affairs, and for considerations of place and patronage, either ignore their principles altogether or agree to hold them in abeyance, misgovernment and corrupt practices are just as certain to follow as that a bad tree will bring forth bad fruit. Such was the character of the late Government. It was an unholy combination of political antagonisms—Conservatives and Reformers—who were as wide as the poles asunder in their political sentiments, and who only held together for the sake of power and the emoluments of office. The breaking up of the Macdonald Government was, we hope and believe, the breaking up of that very objectionable system, we trust now and for all time to come."

Ye gods and little fishes, what a commentary upon the principles and practices of the party to whom the Standard and British Columbia are asked to look for comfort and aid. "Considerations of place and patronage," "misgovernment and corrupt practices," "an unholy combination of political antagonisms," "who only held together for the sake of power and the emoluments of office!" Why, we almost stand aghast at this horrid picture which is presented to us, and this, too, from a friend and brother, whom they had taken to their hearts and upon whom they had almost expected the mantle of Toryism had fallen. And the Standard has the courage to follow up all this villification and abuse of its particular friends—at any rate, these are the names by which its friends would call its sentiments—by telling them boldly that it has no desire to see them resume the reins of power, but would simply like to see Mr. Mackenzie's following so reduced that he would be bound to accede to the demands of the party in British Columbia for which it speaks, no matter how absurd, impolitic, or extraordinary those demands may be, the House of Commons being at present constituted in a manner which puts him beyond their mercy, or to use the Standard's own words: "too much like the handle of a jug—that is, too one-sided."

The Oshawa Vindicator says:—The practical results of Free Love were illustrated here last week. A young man named Ward, then residing near Oswego, married a woman with Free Love proclivities. After residing together some years he wanted to go west, believing he could do better. She refused to go, and remained behind with the children. He went, and after remaining away some time returned and found his wife had taken up with his brother-in-law, whose wife was dead. Finding affairs in this position he endeavoured to obtain possession of his children, but was opposed by his wife, who in turn sued him for their maintenance. He however, helped by the neighbours, managed to obtain them, and, finding they would not be safe in that neighbourhood fled to Canada and took up his residence at Port Oshawa with Elder Henry, to whom he had a letter of introduction. He obtained board for his children with Mr. T. Farewell, near Harmony. Unfortunately his unfaithful wife learned of his whereabouts and followed in pursuit. She came here and after a search found where the children were, and one day drove to Mr. Farewell's while he was absent, and, seizing the children, drove off. Since that time nothing has been heard of them. The husband at once commenced enquiries, and is determined to get his children if money and perseverance will do it.

CHRONIC SPLENITIS.—Physician's report of a remarkable case. Gagetown, N. B., July 22, 1868. Mr. James I. Fellows, Chemist. Dear Sir: Allow me to bear testimony in favor of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have used it myself for Tuberculosis with marked benefit, and have given it to a great number of my patients, with the same results as I experienced from its use. The most marked was a case which was under my care in March last. This was a patient who had been under treatment nine monts with no beneficial results. When I first saw him he was so feeble that he could not sit up long enough to have his heart and lungs examined. He had a severe Cough, Dyspnoea, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Digestion, and consequent general maciation. I put him under treatment, prescribed your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and after using four bottles he was able to attend to his farm, and is now perfectly well. In March he was given up by four physicians respectively; in May he assisted in ploughing eighteen acres of land, and had run up in flesh from 136 to 148 pounds weight. I send you this for the purpose of your making what use you please of it, and wish you all success in your labor for the benefit of suffering humanity. Strongly recommending the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or general debility. Believe me, your obedient servant
J. H. W. SCOTT, M. D.

CITY AND VICINITY

SELECTION OF JURORS.—The Assessors and City Clerk completed the somewhat arduous task of selecting jurors for the City of Ottawa last night.

FURNACES FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—It has been decided to place coal furnaces in the Central Schools, with a view to the use of coal instead of wood as fuel for the ensuing winter.

ON DIT.—It is freely stated that Ald. Rocque will be a candidate in the Liberal interest at the approaching election for the Local Legislature, in the County of Ottawa, in the Province of Quebec.

CLOSED.—The Rifle Matches under the auspices of the Ottawa Garrison Artillery having been concluded, the Range will now be closed until all the necessary repairs are effected for the forthcoming Dominion Matches.

ALMOST A FIRE.—It was reported that a fire on a small scale took place in the new block adjoining Warnock's bakery last night, shortly after seven o'clock. It was, however, suppressed before there was any necessity for ringing the alarm.

PRESBYTERY OF OTTAWA.—At a meeting of the Presbytery of Ottawa, in connection with the Church of Scotland, held in St. Andrew's Church, Wellington street, on Tuesday night, the new remit on Union was approved.

LOST HIS HORSE.—A man named Popkins, employed on the main sewer, and residing in Letter O, had his horse stolen from his stable the night before last. He not only loses the animal, but by its loss is thrown out of employment.

IMPORTS.—The following goods for Ottawa appear in the manifest of the steamship Manitoban, just arrived from Glasgow: Garland and Mutchmor, 1 bale; C. T. Bate & Co., 30 casks; Fingland and Draper, 1 case; Thomas Patterson, 3 cases and 4 bales.

NO GAS.—The lamps in Slater, Albert, Queen and other streets were not lighted at all on Tuesday night. This is a deplorable state of things. A good idea is suggested in the fact that when residents observe the lamps not lit, to light them themselves, with a view to counteract the niggardliness of the gas company.

ENGLISH MAIL.—An English mail will close at the City Post Office to-morrow, (Friday), at 12.05 o'clock noon, destined for the steamship Austrian, which sails from Quebec for Liverpool on Saturday. A supplementary bag will close at 1:15 p.m. for the same destination.

PERSONAL.—Mr. J. G. Moylan left for Kingston yesterday morning on business connected with his office. Mr. F. X. Prieur left for Montreal the evening before to look after some matters in connection with the St. Vincent de Paul Reformatory, in the City of Montreal.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—A meeting of the Congregation of St. Andrew's Church is called for Wednesday night next, to take into consideration the new remit on Union sent down from the last meeting of Synod. A lively time is anticipated, but the opposition will not be of so serious a character as to prevent the adoption of the new basis of Union.

ANOTHER RACE FOR A SOLICITORSHIP.—The legal firms of the city are again on the hunt. This time the coveted prize is the Solicitorship of the new Bank of Ottawa. Speculation is rife as to which firm is likely to be successful. An impression however prevails that Messrs. Walker, Cassels and Pennock will receive the appointment.

OTTAWA AND GLOUCESTER ROAD COMPANY.—At a meeting of the Directors of this Company held last night, it was resolved to advertise for tenders for the construction of three and a half miles of macadamized road from Billing's Bridge up the Rideau River, in the direction of Long Island. This distance of road itself in so sandy a locality will confer a great boon on the travelling community.

DEPUTATION.—At the last meeting of the Prescott Town Council a deputation was appointed to visit Chatham, and this city, for the purpose of judging of the merits of the steam fire engines in both places. It is expected that the deputation will be in this city on or about the 17th inst., when a Babcock Fire Extinguisher and a Hook and Ladder Waggon will be exhibited for the benefit of the Prescott Corporation.

SOUTH GRENVILLE.—Dr. Brouse and the Hon. C. F. Fraser are at present visiting their constituents in South Grenville. They will address the electors at Spencerville Town Hall, to-morrow (Friday), at 2 o'clock p.m.; and the electors of Central Augusta, on Saturday, the 12th inst., at the same hour. On both occasions there will doubtless be a large attendance, to hear of the present condition of the political affairs of the country.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon a horse and waggon, owned by Messrs. P. Baskerville & Bros., upset in the By-Wash, between George and Rideau streets. The animal, after cutting the harness, was extricated from its awkward position, having received no injury whatever. The driver himself escaped unhurt, only receiving a good ducking, and the contents of the waggon—a few dozen eggs—were of course demolished. The occurrence was purely accidental.

FRUIT IN ABUNDANCE.—The fruit stores all seem to have fruit in abundance. Apples, plums, pears, peaches and grapes are arriving daily in endless varieties. The demand is keen, and consequently an active market cheers the countenance of the happy vendor. Peaches seem very plentiful this season, and are of a better quality than those usually found in the Ottawa market. Apples are also plentiful and of good quality. Plums and grapes, on the other hand, are somewhat scarce and of a very inferior quality.

AUCTION SALE.—Attention is directed to an auction sale by Mr. Amos Rowe of the household furniture of Mr. Doucet, at his boarding house over Edwards and Rutledge's grocery store, corner of Kent and Wellington streets. It commences this morning at 10.30 o'clock, at the above place. The whole furniture and other effects are quite new, affording a good opportunity for any who may be desirous of starting house-keeping. Terms of sale cash.

GUARDS' BAND.—The Guards' Band, under the leadership of Mr. Carter, played the following well arranged programme on Parliament Square last night:—

Quick March	Offenbach
Overture (to the drama) 'Mozart'	Suppe
Waltz 'La Perichola'	Coote
Selection 'La Favorite'	Donizetti
Quadrille 'St. Patrick' (by request)	Laurent
Galop 'Wings of Love'	Meyder

The Regimental Quickstep.
National Anthem.

A large number of citizens of all classes turned out to enjoy what proved to be a pleasant promenade concert.

BUSH FIRES.—From accounts received it would appear that the bush fires are far from being suppressed. In Templeton they rage furiously, threatening mills, barns and houses indiscriminately. In many instances barns and their contents together with vast piles of good hard cordwood have succumbed to the devouring element. The fires have also extended through the township of Buckingham and other localities with like disastrous effects. Gangs of men are kept constantly on the alert to prevent the spreading and doing serious injury. Rain is anxiously looked for by the inhabitants of those Parishes.

Radford & Goyer's sale. This is continued each evening until the whole of Young's stock is cleared. Only genuine articles offered.

TO LADIES.—Do you want a present for your husband or lover? If so, look in at Radford & Goyer's. They have the very thing to please you at a great reduction. 3667in2

CONTINUED SUCCESS.—These auction sales held by Radford and Goyer attracts crowds of wise people each evening. Why? Because the value offered is greater and better every night. Come to-night and see them. 3667in2

AS IT SHOULD BE.—The ladies are in their best humour, all smiles and eager for the whim of their "helps," from Radford & Goyer's auction sale, where they nightly procure those beautiful presents. Gentlemen, as you value peace of mind and happiness keep this going. Radford & Goyer will help you. 3667in2

THE DAILY TIMES can be procured every morning for 15 cents per week. The "Weekly" Friday morning's, in time for English Mail, at E. A. Perry's Elgin St.; Battle Bros., Rideau St., and Russell House; Lacy, Bridge St., Chaudiere; L'Echo Office, Hull; St. Lawrence & Ottawa, and Canada Central Railway Staiton.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Last evening was the last representation of the "French Spy," which was received with shouts of approbation. This evening will be signalized by an entirely new programme, Mdlle. Ravel appearing for the first time in this city in her own drama of the "Wizard Skiff," in which she introduces her grand double combat with Mr. Ed. Lay, and also her magnificent pas seul a la Grec. This drama is her own special property, and was played by her only last week for the entire week in New York. We advise our readers to secure seats at Nordheimer's.

INSURANCE INSPECTORS.—Two Insurance Inspectors are at present in the city, one representing an English office and the other a prominent Canadian company. They have been devoting some time to an inspection of our new Water Works and fire appliances, and so satisfied are they at the result of their investigations, that they have vouchsafed the companies that a low rate of insurance will inevitably follow the completion of the works now being undertaken in the city. This will afford at least some consolation to a hitherto heavily rated community in the matter of insurance.

THE SAPPERS' BRIDGE.—The work on the Sappers' Bridge is progressing slowly. The stone work is however fast approaching completion, as is also the new arch underneath the west end being constructed by the Government. A portion of the iron railing has been put up in its place. It looks well, but is apparently rather light when contrasted with Dufferin Bridge. The iron columns have all been placed, and the men are now preparing to construct the iron arch over the canal. In a few weeks the entire structure will be finished, when it will present a fine appearance.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.—James Riley was yesterday committed for trial at the approaching Assizes for the Taylor burglary, by the Police Magistrate. James Green a supposed accomplice of Riley was discharged, no evidence having been adduced to warrant his committal. The latter, however, never content except when in mischief, interfered with Constables Mitchell and Lepine, when taking Riley to gaol with a view to facilitate his escape from the minions of the law. Riley failed in his little game and only had the nippers tightened for his trouble. Green was put in limbo also, and will have to answer for his unseemly conduct before the Magistrate this morning.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, P.M.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9.

Catherine Whelan, arraigned on a charge of vagrancy, was committed to gaol for two months.

J. Staten, charged with being drunk, was relieved of $3 and costs.

THE TAYLOR BURGLARY.

James Green and James Riley were up on remand for the Taylor burglary. The former was discharged, but the latter was committed for trial.

Board of Separate Schools.

OTTAWA, September 8, 1874.

Present—J. W. Peachy, chairman; Messrs. Coursolles, McCarron, Larose, Finly, Lapierre, Sims and Chouinard.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

A petition from the English speaking population of St. Anne's Parish, asking for a female teacher.

Communication from L'Abbe Porcile and the accounts of F. X. Lheureux, Sister Mary of the Assumption, W. & R. Riordon, A. E. Berishon, and Sister Demers, were read and laid on the table.

Also, a report from the Finance and Assessment Committee, and a tender for supplying the schools with firewood from George Taillon, Esq.

Moved by Mr. McCarron, seconded by Mr. Lapierre, that the several accounts read this evening, be referred to the Finance and Assessment Committee. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Sims, seconded by Mr. Chouinard, that the Chairman is hereby authorized to sign cheques in favour of the several house owners for one quarter's rent. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Coursolles, seconded by Mr. McCarron, that the communication of the Rev. Father Porcile, and of John Brown and others, be referred to the School Management Committee. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Finly, seconded by Mr. McCarron, that John Clancey, Esq., be and he is hereby appointed to audit the Collector's books, and if satisfied that they are correct, to receive them on behalf of this Board. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Larose, seconded by Mr. Chouinard, that the communication from Mr. Taillon as regard firewood for the schools, be referred to the Assessment and School Management Committee. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Sims, seconded by Mr. McCarron, that the Secretary be authorized to advertise for tenders for supplying the schools with firewood during the coming winter. Carried.

SIXTH REPORT OF THE FINANCE AND ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE.

To the Board of R. C. Separate Schools:

Your Committee on Finance and Assessment beg leave to present their Sixth Report, that they have examined the following accounts and recommend as follows:

William Morris, for cleaning cess pits and stables at Father Porcile's classes, for which he claims $30. The Committee is of opinion that as part of the work done has reference to the schools, he is allowed $15; and that he be instructed to collect the balance from the party who had the work done.

That the account of Sister Mary of the Assumption, for curtains, repairs and books furnished to pauper children, $10.65, be allowed and paid.

With reference to the petition of O. Dubreuil, praying for remittance of taxes on the lot he occupied in 1873, on York street, your Committee cannot recommend the granting of the petition, unless the petitioner shows that he has paid school taxes on some other property for the same year.

That the petition of Joseph Senecal, praying for the remittance of tax paid by him for another party through mistake, as is shown by the certificate of Mr. Kirby, be allowed, and the amount refunded to him.

The whole respectfully submitted.

(Signed),
T. G. COURSOLLES, Chairman,
W. FINLY,
E. A. LAPIERRE.

Ottawa, Sept. 7, 1874.

Moved by Mr. Coursolles, seconded by Mr. Finly, that the sixth report of the Finance and Assessment Committee, just read, be adopted. Carried.

Mr. Coursolles introduced a By-Law to impose a school rate for the present year, and he moved, seconded by Mr. McCarron, that the first blank in the by-law just read be filled with the words: "three-eighths of a cent in the dollar," and that the second blank be filled with the words, "thirty-first day of December next," and that the by-law thus amended be read a second and third time and passed. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Sims, seconded by Mr. Finly, that Thomas H. Kirby, Esq., be and he is hereby appointed Collector of school taxes under this Board for the current year, on same terms as last year. Carried.

Moved by M. Coursolles, seconded by Mr. McCarron, that this Board do now adjourn. Carried.

L. TASSE,
Secretary.

Fruit Grower's Association.

The Autumn Session of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association opened in the rooms of the Ottawa Literary and Scientific Society of this city on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. There was a large attendance of those interested in the propagation of fruit, amongst whom might be mentioned Messrs. C. Arnold of Paris, J. Beadle of St. Catharines, J. Dempsey of Albany, T. McGill of Oshawa, G. Leslie, jr., of Toronto, A. Wood and I. Kempt of Peterboro, Grey and Parker of Woodstock, J. Raymond of Dickinson's Landing, S. Peck of Brockville, Dr. Hurlburt, Hon. R. W. Scott, R. Lees, P. E. Bucke, Wm. White, J. Matheson, and G. P. Baker of Ottawa.

Mr. Arnold of Paris, Vice-President of the Association was called to the chair, and Mr. Beadle of St. Catharines acted as Secretary-Treasurer.

DISTRIBUTION OF FRUIT.

As is usual at such meetings, the first business transacted was the arrangement for the distribution of fruit trees among members of the Association. For the spring of 1875 the following was agreed to:—A tree of the Swayzie, Pomme Grise, apple, and either the Goodall or Flemish Beauty pear. For 1876, Glass' new seedling plumb, a large, handsome and valuable market fruit. For 1877, some of Saunders' and Arnold's new hybrid raspberries, which are represented to be productive, hardy, and finely flavored. For 1878, Dempsey's hybrid grape, the Burnet—a grape rivalling the Black Hamburg in quality of size of bunch and berry, and ripening two weeks before the Concord and one before the Delaware. For 1879, Arnold's hybrid apple No. 1, a cross between the Northern Spy, fertilised with the pollen of the Spitzenburg, and Wagner. The fruit resembles both parents, and is a winter apple that ripens from March to May.

After the reading and confirmation of the Minutes of the last meeting, the following Committee was struck to examine the samples of fruit contributed by members, and which loaded a long range of tables running the entire length of the room: Messrs. Dempsey, Leslie, Matheson and Dr. Bell. The following committee was named to draw up subjects for discussion: Hon. R. W. Scott, Dr. Hurlburt, and Messrs. P. E. Bucke, Wm. White and P. Thompson, of this city.

The Association then adjourned till evening to enable the members to partake of the hospitality of the Hon. R. W. Scott, who extended them an invitation to visit his orchard and grounds in Hull.

In the afternoon carriages were procured and the party drove over to the Hon. Secretary of State's summer residence. A happy time was spent in viewing that gentleman's orchard and garden, and the opinion was freely expressed that seldom had they witnessed grounds in a higher state of cultivation or more neatly kept. A luncheon was next partaken of; a prominent feature was the supplying of a great assortment of fruit grown on the premises. After spending a couple of hours the party returned to the city highly pleased with their visit and the cordial reception that had been accorded them.

The Association re-assembled in the evening at 8 o'clock, but the time was principally spent by the committees in carrying out the duties assigned them.

Messrs. Lees, White and other parties were examined as to the way in which they managed their fruit in this section of the country, and some very valuable information in the interest of the Association was elicited. On the other hand many suggestions were offered by the more experienced men to our local men that cannot prove otherwise than advantageous to them in the future. The meeting then adjourned till next morning at 9 o'clock.

Pursuant to adjournment the Association met yesterday morning at the appointed hour.

The subject announced for discussion was 'The Culture of Fruit in Central Canada.' It was agreed that with a view to make fruit trees succeed here, it would be necessary to secure stock that would be acclimatized and prove congenial to the soil in this section of country. It was also recommended, owing to the length of time snow water remained on the ground, to resort to deep drainage through orchards with a view to a more prolific yield of fruit. The Association then adjourned till the afternoon.

At the afternoon session the various committees presented their reports which were received and adopted.

After the transaction of some other business of a routine character, the Association adjourned having concluded its labors for the Autumn Session.

LORD DUFFERIN ON CANADA.

What he saw and Learned for the Country and its People during his Tour.

In response to the toast of the Governor General at the recent banquet of the Toronto Club, Hon. J. Hillyard Cameron in the chair, His Excellency delivered the following interesting speech:

Mr. Cameron and Gentlemen,—I cannot but consider it a very happy circumstance that one of the most gratifying progresses ever made by a representative of the Queen in any portion of the British Empire, should find its appropriate close in this cordial and splendid reception, at the hands of a body of gentlemen which, though non-political in its corporate character, is so thoroughly representative of all that is most distinguished in the various schools of political thought in Canada. It is but a few short weeks since I left Toronto, and yet I question whether many born Canadians have ever seen or learnt more of the western half of the Dominion than I have during that brief period. (Hear, hear.) Memory itself scarcely suffices to reflect the shifting vision of mountain, wood, and water, inland seas and silver rolling rivers, golden corn lands and busy, prosperous towns, through which we have held our way; but though the mind's-eye fail ever again to re-adjust the dazzling panorama, as long as life endures, not a single echo of the universal greeting with which we have been welcomed will be hushed within our hearts. (Great applause.) Yet deeply as I am sensible of the personal kindnesses of which I have been the recipient, proud as I feel of the honor done to my office, moved as I have been by the devoted affection shown for our Queen and for our common country, no one is better aware than myself of the imperfect return I have made to the generous enthusiasm which has been evoked. If, then, gentlemen, I now fail to respond in suitable terms to the toast you have drank, if in my hurried replies to innumerable addresses with which I have been honored, an occasional indiscreet or ill-considered phrase should have escaped my lips, I know that your kindness will supply my shortcomings—that none will be set down in malice—and that an indulgent construction will be put upon my hasty sentences. (Laughter.) But gentlemen, though the language of gratitude may fail, the theme itself supplies me with that of congratulation, for never has the head of any Government passed through a land so replete with contentment in the present, so pregnant with promise in the future. (Cheers.) From the Northern forest border-lands, whose primeval recesses are being pierced and indented by the rough and ready cultivation of the free-grant settler, to the trim enclosures and wheat laden townships that swell along the lakes, from the orchards of Niagara to the hunting grounds of the Nepigon, in the wigwam of the Indian, in the homestead of the farmer, in the workshop of the artizan, in the office of his employer, everywhere have I learned that the people are satisfied—(applause)—satisfied with their own individual prospects, and with the prospects of their country—(applause)—satisfied with their Government, and with the institutions under which they prosper (applause) satisfied to be subjects of the Queen—(tremendous applause)—satisfied to be members of the British Empire. (Renewed applause.) Indeed I cannot help thinking that quite apart from the advantages to myself, my yearly journeys through the Provinces will have been of public benefit, as exemplifying with what spontaneous, unconcentrated unanimity of language the entire Dominion has declared its faith in itself, in its destiny, in its connection with the mother country, and in the well-ordered freedom of a constitutional monarchy. (Applause.) And gentlemen, it is this very combination of sentiments which appears to me so wholesome and satisfactory. Words cannot express with what pride I feel as an Englishman in the loyalty of Canada to England. (Hear, hear.) Nevertheless, I should be the first to deplore this feeling if it rendered Canada disloyal to herself—if it either dwarfed or smothered Canadian patriotism, or generated a sickly spirit of independence. Such, however, is far from being the case. The legislation of your Parliament, the attitude of your statesmen, the language of your press, sufficiently show how firmly and intelligently you are prepared to accept and apply the almost unlimited legislative faculties with which you have been endowed—(hear, hear)—while the daily growing disposition to extinguish sectional jealousies and to ignore an obsolete provincialism, proves how strongly the young heart of your confederated commonwealth has begun to throb with the consciousness of its nationalised existence. (Great cheering.) At this moment not a shilling of British money finds its way to Canada, the interference of the home Government with the domestic affairs of the Dominion has ceased, while the imperial relations between the two countries are regulated by a spirit of such mutual deference, forbearance and moderation as reflects the greatest credit upon the statesmen of both. (Hear, hear.) Yet so far from this gift of autonomy having brought about any divergence of aim or aspiration on either side, every reader of our annals must be aware that the sentiments of Canada toward Great Britain are infinitely more friendly now than in those earlier days when the political intercourse of the two countries was disturbed and complicated by an excessive and untoward tutelage (cheers); that never was Canada more united than at present in sympathy of purpose and unity of interest with the mother country, more at one with her in social habits and tone of thought, more proud of her claim to share in the heritage of England's past, more ready to accept whatever obligations may be imposed upon her by her partnership in the future fortunes of the Empire. (Tremendous applause.) Again, nothing in my recent journey has been more striking, nothing indeed has been more affecting than the passionate loyalty everywhere evinced towards the person and the throne of Queen Victoria. (Great cheering.) Wherever I have gone, in the crowded cities, in the remote hamlet, the affection of the people for their Sovereign has been blazoned forth against the summer sky by every device which art could fashion or ingenuity invent. (Cheers). Even in the wilds and deserts of the land, the most secluded and untutored settler would hoist some cloth or rag above his shanty, and startle the solitudes of the forest with a shot from his rusty firelock, and a lusty cheer from himself and children in glad allegiance to his country's Queen. (Applause). Even the Indian in his forest, or on his reserve, would marshal forth his picturesque symbols of fidelity in grateful recognition of a Government that never broke a treaty or falsified its plighted word to the red man—(great applause)—or failed to evince for the ancient children of the soil a wise and conscientious solicitude. (Renewed applause and cheers). Yet touching as were the exhibitions of so much generous feeling, I could scarcely have found pleasure in them had they merely been the expressions of a traditional habit or of a conventional sentimentality. No, gentlemen, they sprang from a far more genuine and noble source. (Cheers). The Canadians are loyal to Queen Victoria, in the first place because they honor and love her for her personal qualities, (cheers), for her life-long devotion to her duties, (cheers), for her faithful observance of all the obligations of a constitutional monarch, (cheers); and, in the next place, they revere her as the symbol and representative of as glorious a national life, of as satisfactory a form of Government as any country in the world can point to—a national life illustrious through a thousand years with the achievements of patriots, statesmen, warriors and scholars, (great cheers), a form of Government which more perfectly than any other combines the element of stability with a complete recognition of popular rights, and insures by its social accessories, so far as is compatible with the imperfections of human nature, a lofty standard of obligation and simplicity of manners in the classes that regulate the general tone of our civil intercourse. As you know, on my way across the lakes I called in at the city of Chicago, a city which has again risen more splendid than ever from her ashes—and at Detroit, the home of one of the most prosperous and intelligent communities on this continent. At both those places I was received with the utmost kindness and courtesy by the civic authorities and by the citizens themselves, who vied with each other in making me feel with how friendly an interest that great and generous people have advanced the United States to so splendid a position in the family of nations, regard their Canadian neighbors; but, though disposed to watch with genuine admiration and sympathy the development of our Dominion into a great power, our friends across the line are wont, as you know, to amuse their lighter moments with those "large utterances that pleased the early gods." (Laughter.) More than once I was addressed with the playful suggestion that Canada should unite her fortunes with those of the Great Republic. (Laughter.) To these invitations I invariably replied by acquainting them that in Canada we were essentially a democratic people—(great laughter)—that nothing would content us unless the popular will could exercise an immediate and complete control over the Executive of the country—(renewed laughter)—that the ministers who conducted the Government were but a Committee of Parliament, which was itself an emanation from the constituences—(loud applause)—and that no Canadian would be able to breathe freely if he thought that the persons administering the affairs of this country were removed beyond the supervision and contact of our legislative assemblies. (Hear, hear, cheers and laughter.) And, gentlemen, in this extemporized repartee of mine (laughter) there will be found, I think, a germ of sound philosophy. In fact, it appears to me that even from the point of view of the most enthusiastic advocate of popular rights, the Government of Canada is nearly perfect, for while you are free from those historical complications which sometimes clog the free running of our parliamentary machinery at home, while you possess every popular guarantee and privilege that reason can demand—(hear, hear)—you have an additional element of elasticity introduced into your system in the person of the Governor General, for, as I have had occasion to remark elsewhere, in most forms of Government, should a misunderstanding occur between the head of the State and the representatives of the people, it is possible a dead lock might ensue of a very grave character, inasmuch as there would be of course no power of appeal to a third party—and dead-locks are the dangers of all constitutional systems, whereas in Canada, should the Governor General and his Legislature unhappily disagree the misunderstanding is referred to England as "amicus curiæ," whose only object, of course, is to give free play to your Parliamentary institutions, whose intervention can be relied upon as impartial and benevolent, and who would immediately replace an erring or impracticable Viceroy—for such things can be—(laughter)—by another officer more competent to his duties, without the slightest hitch or disturbance having been occasioned in the orderly march of your affairs. (Applause.) If then the Canadian people are loyal to the Crown, it is with a reasoning loyalty. (Applause.) It is because they are able to appreciate the advantage of having inherited a constitutional system so workable, so well balanced, and so peculiarly adapted to their own especial wants. (Applause.) If to these constitutional advantages we add the blessing of a judiciary not chosen by a capricious method of popular election, but selected for their ability and professional standing by responsible Ministers, and alike independent of popular favor and political influences—(hear, hear)—a civil service whose rights of permanency both the great political parties of the country have agreed to recognize—(applause)—and consequently a civil service free from partizanship, and disposed to make the service of the State, rather than that of party, their chief object (hear, hear); an electoral system purged of corruption by the joint action of the ballot and the newly-constituted courts for the trial of bribery (applause), a population hardy, thrifty, industrious, simple in their manners, sober in mind, God-fearing in their lives, and lastly an almost unlimited breadth of territory, replete with agricultural and mineral resources, it may be fairly said that Canada sets forth upon her enviable career under as safe, sound and solid auspices as any State whose bark has been committed to the stream of time. (Great cheering). The only thing still wanted is to man the ship with a more numerous crew. From the extraordinary number of babies I have seen at every window and at every cottage door (laughter and applause) native energy and talent appear to be rapidly supplying this defect (laughter); still it is a branch of industry in which the home manufacture has no occasion to dread foreign competition whatever (great laughter), and Canadians can well afford to share their fair inheritance with the straitened sons of toil at home. When crossing the Atlantic to take up the Government of this country, I found myself the fellow passenger of some hundred emigrants. As soon as they had recovered from the effects of sea sickness the captain of the ship assembled these persons in the hold and invited the Canadian gentleman on board to give them any information in regard to their adopted country which might seem useful. Some of the emigrants began asking questions, and one man prefaced his remarks by saying that 'he had the misfortune of having too many children.' Being called upon in my turn to address the company, I alluded to this phrase, which had grated harshly on my ears, and remarked that perhaps no better idea could be given of the difference between the old country and their new home, than by the fact that whereas in England a struggling man might be overweighted in the battle of life by a numerous family, in the land to which they were going a man could scarcely have too many children. (Cheers and laughter.) Upon which I was greeted with an approving thump on the back by a stalwart young emigrant, who cried out, 'Right you are, sir, that's what I've been telling Emily.' (Great laughter.) Indeed, for many years past I have been a strong advocate of emigration in the interests of the British population. I believe that emigration is a benefit both to those that go and to those that remain, at the same time that it is the most effectual and legitimate weapon with which labor can contend with capital. I have written a book upon the subject, and have been very much scolded for wishing to depopulate my native country; but however strong an advocate of emigration from the English standpoint, I am of course a thousandfold more interested in the subject as the head of the Canadian Government. (Applause.) Of course I am not in a position nor is it desirable that I should take the responsibility of saying anything on this occasion which should expose me hereafter to the reproach of having drawn a false picture or given delusive information in regard to the prospects and opportunities afforded by Canada to the intending settler. (Applause.) The subject is so serious a one, so much depends on the individual training, capacity, health, conduct and antecedents of each several emigrant, that no one without an intimate and special knowledge of the subject would be justified in authoratively enlarging upon it (hear, hear); but this at all events I must say, wherever I have been I have found numberless persons who came to Canada without anything, and have now risen to competence and wealth (applause), that I have met no one who did not gladly acknowledge himself better off than on his first arrival (cheers), and that amongst thousands of persons with whom I have been brought into contact, no matter what their race or nationality, none seemed ever to regret that they had come. (Great and continued applause.) This fact particularly struck me on entering the log huts of the settlers in the more distant regions of the country. Undoubtedly their hardships had been very great, the difficulties of the climate and locality frequently discouraging, their personal privations most severe; but the language of all was identical, evincing without exception pride in the past, content with the present, hope in the future (cheers); while, combined with the satisfaction each man felt in his own success and the improved prospects of his family, there shone another and even a nobler feeling—namely, the delight inspired by the consciousness of being a co-efficient unit in a visibly prosperous community, to whose prosperity he was himself contributing. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) Of course these people could never have attained the position in which I found them without tremendous exertions. Probably the agricultural laborer who comes to this country from Norfolk or Dorsetshire will have to work a great deal harder than ever he worked in his life before, but if his work is harder he will find a sweetener to his toil of which he could never have dreamt in the old country, viz.: the prospect of independence, of a roof over his head for which he shall pay no rent, and of ripening cornfields round his homestead which own no master but himself. (Loud applause). Let a man be sober, healthy, and industrious; let him come out at a proper time of the year, let him be content with small beginnings and not afraid of hard work, and I can scarcely conceive how he should fail in his career. (Long continued applause.) Gentlemen, I have been tempted by the interest of the subject to trespass far too long. I fear, upon your indulgence (no, no,) but I feel that perhaps I could not make a more appropriate return for the honor you have done me than by frankly mentioning to you the impressions left upon my mind during my recent journeys. (Hear, hear.) It now only remains for me, therefore, to thank you again most heartily for your kindness, and to assure you that every fresh mark of confidence which I receive from any section of the Canadian people only makes me more determined to strain every nerve in their service (cheering,) and to do my best to contribute towards the great work upon which you are now engaged, namely, that of building up on this side of the Atlantic a prosperous, loyal, and powerful associate of the British Empire. (Tremendous applause.)

At the conclusion of His Excellency's speech the whole company stood up and cheered for several minutes.

When the late King of the Sandwich Islands was gathered to his fathers he was buried in a feather cloak which had passed down to him from generations of royal chieftains. When the remains were to be placed in the coffin, and were removed from the feathered robe on which they had lain in state, his aged father commanded that the body be buried in the robe, as the dead king, his son, was the last of the family, and to him therefore it belonged. It will cost more than $100,000 to replace this robe, if it ever be replaced, for one million of birds, possessed of rare red and yellow plumage, were caught to furnish the material of which it was made.

TORONTO.

Toronto and Nipissing Railway—Corpse Found—Quarter Sessions.

TORONTO, Sept 8.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto and Nipissing Railway took place to-day, Mr George Goderham in the chair. The gross receipts from all sources were shown by report to have amounted to $215,307 31, as against the corresponding period in 1873 of $183,896 03, showing an increase of $31,311.28. Working expenses same period $121,273, against $114,575 55 for 1873. Regret was expressed at the explosion of a boiler in January last at Stouffville. The completion of the road with equipment, machinery, and tools, &c. in the new shops at Uxbridge has been accomplished with estimates and capital amount now paid. The report was unanimously adopted. Mr Goderham, Jr. was re-elected President and Managing Director, and Mr. A. Fulton was elected Vice-President.

A young lad named Jos Hamlin, found on a promontory island called Maskinonge Point this afternoon, the body of a man in an advanced state of decomposition. The corpse has been identified as that of a young man named James Cahlee, drowned on the 17th August when boating with two companions named James Hatt and James O'Herne, one of whom went into the water to try and save him.

The summer term of the Court of General Quarter Sessions opened this morning, Judge Duggan presiding. There are 13 cases on the calendar, one murder, one rape, and one manslaughter, and also some cases of burglary, embezzlement and conspiracy.

Yesterday, at noon, the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto and Nipissing Railway was held at their offices, corner of Bay and Front streets.

The report of the Chief Engineer, Mr. E. Wraggs, stated that the road from Scarboro' Junction to Coboconk is now completed, and is in good order. The replacing of a portion of the main line will be necessary before long, and for this purpose there is now on hand 100 tons of iron rails, and 200 tons of steel rails, weighing 56 lbs. per yard. He has recently travelled over thirty miles of it, and found that it was equal to any he had seen in England, and he thought it a credit to the country.

The following were elected Directors for the ensuing year:—Messrs. W. Goderham junior, President and Managing Director; Alex. T. Fulton, Vice-President; James E. Ellis, Toronto; Harvey P. Dwight, Toronto; W. Copland, Toronto; Hugh Macdonald, Toronto; Joseph Gould, Uxbridge; George Gooderham, Toronto; Walter S. Lee, Toronto, and Alderman Thomas Davies, for Corporation, city of Toronto.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Henry Taylor, Secretary of the English Labourers' Union, accompanied by some four hundred immigrants arrived at the depot by special train from Quebec. The party came over in the s. s. 'Ontario,' Dominion Line, and they speak favorably of the ship and its officers. Another party of about three hundred, all farm laborers, also arrived at the depot yesterday from Quebec having come over in the s. s. 'Peruvian.' We are informed that about 120 of this number came out under the charge of Mr. Whellams. Another party of about 100 by the steamer 'Manitoban' are expected to arrive here to-day. We are informed that no difficulty will be experienced in locating this large body of immigrants, as they are principally farm hands. Mr. Conrad with fifty boys from eight to sixteen years of age who came from Mr. Stevenson's Boys' Home, London, England, also arrived in this city yesterday and have gone to Hamilton.

At the sale of the Ordnance Lands in the west part of the city at Wardell & Son's auction room, yesterday afternoon, the following lots were sold at the prices named:—No. 1 Wellington Avenue north, 60 x 100, $1,260; No. 27 Strachan Avenue west, 50x120 $1,500, No. 45 Strachan Avenue west, 40x120 $1,275; a triangular piece about 63x200 on Wellington and Strachan Avenues, containing 6,223 square feet $2,665. The lease of the lands on Lake Erie, at Rond Eau and Turkey Point were withdrawn before the sale, while that at Point Pelee was put up at an upset price of $500 per annum, and no advance being offered was likewise withdrawn. The attendance of buyers was large and the bidding spirited.

MONTREAL.

The Provincial Synod—Immigrants—Market Quotations.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.

Sir James Douglas, K.C.B., and Miss Douglass, arrived in town yesterday, and are stopping at the Montreal House.

The subscribers to the Brydges Testimonial Fund are requested to call at Messrs. Dawson Bros, to sign the subscription now lying there for that purpose.

The Bishop of Fredericton will preach, on Wednesday evening next, in the Church of St. James the Apostle.

The Provincial Anglican Synod meets to-morrow, and will likely remain in session during the week. Delegates, lay and clerical, are arriving to-day, and as questions of very great importance are coming up for discussion, the approaching session will probably be one of great interest.

To-day about 400 immigrants, from 20 English agricultural counties, who came out in the Dominion Line Steamship Ontario, passed through here, bound to Ontario. They were selected by the National Agricultural Labourers' Union, and were aided in emigrating by the bonus of the Ontario Government.

We are informed that there are several carters on the Place d'Armes stand who ply their avocation without either wearing badges, or having paid licenses, while others are brought up by the police provided they chance not to have their badges sufficiently exposed. If this be the state of affairs which exists, it is indeed very discreditable, as all carters are, or should be, equal in the eye of the law. It reflects on the impartiality of the police, and inflicts a grievous wrong on the carters who endeavour to abide by the law. This matter calls for immediate enquiry.

On Monday some 400 immigrants, from 20 of the English agricultural counties, passed through this city on their way to Ontario in charge of Mr. Henry Taylor, Secretary of the National Agricultural Labourers' Union. They consist of over eighty adult males, as many women, and their families. They are a fine looking stalwart class of people and will prove a desirable addition to Canada's citizens.

The fall of the Ouimet Ministry has stirred up leading politicians of both parties into activity and speculation, and list-making is the order of the day. The work of Cabinet-making in this case is expected to be difficult, and it is believed that nothing definite will be known till next week as to who will be called on to hold the reins of power. The presence of Mr. Blanchet in town has, it is believed, some significance. The likeliest rumour now current is that the Conservatives will endeavour to form an Administration under the leadership of either Mr Blanchet or the Hon. Mr. de Boucherville. In such case it is stated that they will endeavour to induce the Hon. Mr. Irvine to accept the portfolio of Attorney-General, and furnish as he has done in the past the real administrative ability of the Cabinet. Mr. Malhiot, of Three Rivers, is mentioned in this connection as not unlikely to accept the office of Solicitor-General. In the event of Mr. Irvine declining, Mr. Lynch, M.P.P. for Brome, is spoken of for the Attorney-Generalship. In such case Hon. Mr. Robertson would be likely to continue to control the Finance Department, and Hon. Mr. Fortin that of Crown Lands. The positions of President of the Council and of the Ministry of Education are assigned to Messrs. de Boucherville and Blanchet respectively. This would in reality be the old Administration, with the exception of the implicated members. There are also various stories in regard to the formation of a Coalition Cabinet in which Judge Coursol and Hons. H. Starnes and Irvine would be supposed to be the principal representatives of the Conservative element, but these stories are merely given as matters of talk.

The Stock Market here this morning was dull and weaker.

QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.

The annual retreat of the vicars of the Archdiocese of Quebec commenced this afternoon at the Archbishop's palace.

A public testimonial is to be presented to the new Bishop-elect of Sherbrooke. Subscriptions for that purpose are now being collected by one of the founders of the Courier du Canada.

It is reported that the Archbishop of Quebec is soon to be elevated to a more exalted rank in the Church of Rome.

On Sunday a ship labourer, named Coleman, took a can of nitro-glycerine out of Mowbray's magazine at Crescent Cove. Incredulous as to its reported powers, he undertook to examine the tin with the end of a boat hook. An explosion followed, of course. The incautious young man was shortly afterwards picked up several rods from where the experiment had been made, terribly injured. He will probably lose the sight of both eyes.

The Rev. Mr. Clark, late pastor of Chalmers' Church, and Mrs. Clarke, returned from Europe yesterday by the steamship Manitoban.

The Hon. Mr. Ouimet resigned office at 11 o'clock this morning. His resignation is accompanied with explanations. The Hon. Premier declared to the Lieutenant Governor that he declined the honor of suggesting the name of his successor, if in any event he had the right of so doing and the Governor did not exact the advice of the Premier. The Ministers will remain in charge of their respective departments until their successors are sworn in. The Lieutenant Governor does not as yet authorise the Hon. Premier to publish his letter of resignation.

It is stated that the Lieutenant Governor, immediately upon the resignation of the Ouimet Ministry, telegraphed to the Hon. Mr. de Boucherville, formerly Speaker of the Legislative Council, whom he will consult as to the formation of a new Government.

Mr. de Boucherville is expected to arrive to-morrow.

It is reported that the Archbishop of Quebec is soon to be elevated to a more exalted position in the Church of Rome.

Two of the Father Redemptorists who are to take charge of the St. Patrick's Church and Rectory on the 1st October, have arrived.

The contract for putting the citadel and fortifications into thorough repair has been awarded to Mr. Charles Cote, and Mr. P. Gauvreau will superintend the work.

The Mercury of this evening says—"The resignation of the Quebec Cabinet is at length an accomplished fact. While public opinion exacted the sacrifice of office from the entire Cabinet, it will draw a wide line of demarcation between those Ministers who bettered their circumstances by the Tanneries job and those whose hands are, in a pecuniary sense clean. Of the latter we believe Mr. Ouimet to be one, and that the frank and genial Premier who has so speedily made a multitude of personal friends amongst all parties in this city, is only suffering the proverbial fate of ill-chosen companionship, and the consequences of some neglect of due supervision over his colleagues. We understand that the Lieutenant-Governor immediately upon the resignation of the Ouimet Ministry, telegraphed to the Hon. Mr. DeBoucherville, formerly Speaker of the Legislative Council, whom he will consult as to the formation of a new Government."

CORNWALL.

A. F. Macdonald and Dr. Bergin in the Field.

CORNWALL, Sept. 9.

A. F. Macdonald is again in the field, and it is so far currently reported will be opposed by his former rival Darby Bergin. There is but one opinion here as to the result of the coming contest, namely, that Bergin will be beaten by a much larger majority than before.

LONDON.

Attempted Murder.

LONDON, Sept. 9.

On Sunday evening last two pistol shots were fired through the window of Mr. Deadman's residence, near Delaware, both striking Miss M. E. Deadman, one on the neck and the other on the breast. The latter bullet encountered the steel of the young lady's corset and did no injury, but the wound on her neck is somewhat severe. Suspicion rested on a young man named Jacob Bowring, who was known to bear a grudge against Miss Deadman, and appeared to regret that he had not an opportunity of treating her father in the same way. He was committed for trial, and is now in gaol here.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

UNITED STATES

The Elections.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Specials from Albany say that Chief Justice Church will accept the Democratic nomination for Governor, if tendered it. The Liberal Republican Convention held there to-day will not make any nominations.

Dreadful Immorality.

Charles Disner, a German shoemaker, was arrested last night for selling his daughter, 13 years old, to Peter Hallock, keeper of a bawdy house in Canal Street. Hallock was also arrested. It is reported that Disner, whose wife is dead, has sold three children in the same way.

Forgery.

Three men were arrested yesterday on a charge of forging deeds representing $100,000. One of them, Chas Sicia, is implicated in extensive forgeries of the Harlem Bank, the stock of which Van Etten who recently committed suicide was accused as principal.

Fraud.

A cargo of tea, valued at $40,000, has been seized by the Collector on the charge of an attempt to defraud the revenue.

S S. Arrivals

LIVERPOOL, September 9.—Arrived out ss. 'Weser' and 'California,' from New York.

FRANCE.

Found Guilty.

PARIS, September 9.—Charles Perkins on trial for obtaining money on false pretences, has been adjudged guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of 100 francs, and ordered to refund all moneys fraudulently obtained. His wife, who is a niece of ex-Queen Isabella, was acquitted.

GERMANY.

An Extraordinary Fiat.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—It is reported that an order will soon be issued expelling from Prussia all foreign priests, monks and nuns.

SPAIN.

Carlist Outrage.

MADRID, Sept. 9.—The Carlists recently fired on a train of cars believing that the Austrian and German Ambassadors were passengers. The driver and stoker of the train were killed.

Military Appointments.

Gen. Lazernea has been appointed Commander-in Chief of the Army of the North, and Generals Lama and Zabollas, Commanders of divisions.

UNITED STATES.

The Hoosac Tunnel.

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 9.—The first of November has been fixed as the date for running the first train through the Hoosac Tunnel.

Tilton Engaged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Tilton received a call from his children yesterday, who found him reading to a friend his 400 foolscap pages in answer to Beecher's statement.

Killed on the Track.

A despatch from Cincinnati says six men were instantly killed in the suburbs of that city this morning by being run over by a train on the Ohio and Mississippi Railway.

Forest Fires.

NEWBURY, Sept. 9.—The forest fires are raging on the high lands of the Hudson, opposite Fort Montgomery. Many acres are burned over, and the fires are still burning.

Fire.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The business portion of Russellville, Ky., was burned on Sunday morning. The fire originated in A. M. Lyle's grocery. Total loss $25,000; insurance $9,500.

Reckless Driving and its Results.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—Two section hands on the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Railway, instead of six, as first reported, were run over and killed near the river side, this morning by a passenger train which was racing with a passenger train on the Ohio and Mississippi Railway. The men were behind a sharp curve and unable to get out of the way.

Sportsmens' Convention

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept 9—A meeting of the National Sportsmens' Convention will be held in the large parlor of the International Hotel this evening, and nearly every State in the Union will be represented either by delegates or proxy. The tournament of the Niagara Falls Club had a favorable opening about noon. The field selected was a level plain at the old French landing on Schlosser Rapids, about one mile above the Falls. The attendance was large—Messrs. R O Cherry, of Manchester, Conn., J A Dibble, of Albion, N Y, were appointed judges, and T C Bates, referee. Sixty entries were made. Among the prominent shots present were Miles Johnson, of New York, John E Long, of Michigan, J J Kernman, J C Johnson and S H Turrell, of Chicago, Harvey, Bronson and J A Jones, of Ohio and many others.

Quick Passage.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The s. s. 'City of Pekin,' arrived to-night from Boston has made the trip in thirty-two hours, of which four hours were lost. She made 18 knots per hour.

The Turf.

BUFFALO Sept. 9—The second day's races was favored with delightful weather. The attendance was about the same as on the first day. The horses were called shortly after 3 o'clock. The first race on the carpet was a Sweep Stake for three year olds; five horses nominated, started. 'Josie B' and 'Helen Bennett" the drawn horses, got away on the first start in good style, 'Madge' holding the inside, 'Culpepper' second position, 'Vortex' third. 'Vortex' led around the turn, 'Culpepper' second, and 'Madge' last. At the half mile 'Culpepper' drew to the front and lead to the back stretch when 'Madge' drew to the front and on the home stretch lead by a length, making the mile in 1.49, and winning the race in 3.38¼; 'Culpepper' 2nd; 'Vortex' 3rd. The third race on the programme was the Buffalo Handicap Sweep Stakes for all ages. Four horses were nominated and three started, 'Culpepper' being drawn. This proved the most exciting race of the day. The horses had a fine start, 'Lizzie Lucas' having the inside, 'Katie Pease' second position, 'Madge' on the outside. At the start 'Lizzie Lucas' took the lead, followed closely by 'Katie Pease,' 'Madge' behind at the half pole. 'Lizzie' and 'Katie' lopped and maintained their position to the home stretch, when 'Katie' drew ahead until the second half mile, when the same lapped condition was obtained. After passing the second half 'Katie Pease' drew ahead, coming in a length ahead of 'Lizzie Lucas.' The foul was claimed by 'Katie Pease' cutting in to 'Lizzie' at the last half mile, drawing blood from off the hind legs. After a careful hearing the race was given to 'Lizzie Lucas.' Time 3.32¼. The time is unequalled on any turf save by 'True Blue.'

CUBA.

Contradiction.

HAVANA, Sept. 9.—Calixte Garcia, a rebel chief, was not killed at Yarayabo as previously reported, but taken prisoner with three officers of his staff. All have been brought to Manzarilla where they will be tried by court martial.

POND'S EXTRACT

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatoro Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 18th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathize with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

SALE OF A FARM

IN THE

Township of Fizroy,

IN THE

COUNTY OF CARLETON.

In pursuance of a power of sale contained in an Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the 15th day of October, 1870, and made by one JOHN A. McMILLAN and Wife, (and which Mortgage will be produced at the time of sale) there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

At Lyon's Hotel, in the Village of Arnprior, in the County of Renfrew, on TUESDAY, the 22nd Day of September, 1874,

At the hour of Noon, in one Lot, by Mr. NEIL McDONAGH, Auctioneer.

The following lands and premises, that is to say: being composed of Lot Number Fifteen, in the Eleventh Concession of the said Township of Fitzroy, containing

TWO HUNDRED ACRES,

More or less; about Fifty Acres are under cultivation. There are erected on the property two dwelling houses, a barn, stable and shed.

The property is about four miles from Fitzroy Harbour. There are two good roads, one on each end of the lot.

$800 of the purchase money can remain on mortgage at 8 per cent., half yearly, on the same terms as the mortgage under which the sale will be held. The property will be sold subject to a reserved bid.

One-tenth of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale to Vendors' Solicitors; the balance within one month without interest; or if the purchaser elects to give a mortgage for $800, then the balance of the purchase money, less $800, to be paid within one month without interest.

Upon payment of the purchase money, or upon execution of the Mortgage and payment of balance of purchase money, the purchaser will be entitled to his conveyance, and to be let into possession.

For further particulars and conditions of sale, apply to Messrs. HOSKIN & SPRAGGE, Solicitors, Toronto; E A. BATES, Esq., Arnprior, and the said Auctioneer.

Dated Toronto, August 15th, 1874.

BERKELEY, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Camomile Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric — Worth Ten Times in Weight in Gold

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Cottard, of Sparts, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes speedily now." H. Cole, of Ionia, writes. "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes —"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q, writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

JOB MOSES' FEMALE PILLS.

This well known medicine is no imposition but a sure and safe remedy for Female Difficulties and Obstructions, from any cause whatever; and although a powerful remedy, they contain nothing hurtful to the constitution.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, those pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron calomel, antimony or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully reserved.

For full particulars, obtain free, of the agent a pamphlet, or refer to advertisement.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 pills return mail.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Lemittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY! so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DAILY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $10 per annum.

SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE, Mail Subscribers, $4 per annum. Five copies or over, $3 each; an extra copy will be sent for every club of ten sent for at one time; or, if preferred, a copy of "Recollection a Busy Life." by Mr Greeley.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for Dr. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of Dr. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen. Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS,

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

POSTPONEMENT.

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

20,000 CASH GIFTS,

AGGREGATING

Professor Fawcett M.P., on Politics.

Shortly after the general election in February last, a meeting was held at the Town Hall, Brighton, of the supporters of Mr. James White and Professor Fawcett, M.P. for Hackney, at which it was determined that addresses should be presented to those gentlemen, expressive of regard for and appreciation of their distinguished services in Parliament as the representatives of that borough. The address to Professor Fawcett was publicly presented to him in the Dome at Brighton, on a late occasion, with a purse of money containing the amount of the returning officer's expenses, the occasion being regarded as the inauguration of a new system of Liberal organization for the constituency. Sir Cordy Burrows, J P., presided, supported by the Professor and Mrs. Fawcett, Mr. Fawcett, sen., and Sir Henry Havelock, Bart, M.P., Mr. Alderman Alger J.P., Mr. C. Carpenter, J.P., Mr. George Tatham, J.P., Mr. Seymour Burrows, Mr. D. Hack, Mr. H. M. Heath (Hackney), Mr. F. Merryfield, &c. The building was crowded, about 3,000 persons being present, and the balcony was specially reserved for ladies. The proceedings were characterized by much enthusiasm.

Professor Fawcett, who met with a most enthusiastic reception, acknowledged the compliments in a speech of great power and eloquence, and of considerable length. Although, he said, the political connection between Bright and himself had been severed, he could never forget the kindness with which they received him when nine years previously he came before them as a stranger and an untried politician. A few weeks since, in common with many others, he shared the opinion that modern Conservatism did not mean reaction and retrogression; that whether a Conservative or Liberal Government was in office, there would still be progress, although the rate would be somewhat slower in the one case than in the other. Events, had, however now shown that all who held such opinions as these were indulging in a fond delusion. By the introduction of the Endowed Schools Bill they had been told, in a manner that could not be mistaken, that conservatives, if they were not prevented, would use the power they now enjoyed, not simply to arrest progress, but, what was infinitely worse, reverse what had been done in the past, and restore to a sect what Parliament had decreed should be enjoyed by the entire nation. Let them not suppose that because the Government were forced to withdraw the most objectionable clause in the Endowed Schools Bill all danger had passed away. The Prime Minister was careful to make his supporters believe that this policy of reaction was not finally abandoned, but only temporarily suspended. But even if the Government should be afraid to reintroduce the portions of the bill which they had withdrawn, they surely could not suppose that by thus shrinking back they could throw a veil over the past, and induce them to forget that they deliberately attempted to call into existence new religious disabilities, to insult every Nonconformist by placing him under the ban of exclusion, and to appropriate to the Church endowments which Parliament had decreed should be used to promote the intellectual advancement and the liberal learning of the entire people. One advantage which was promised from the advent of the present Government to office was that they were to have "no more plundering and blundering." No more plundering, forsooth! When some child of humble parentage was on the point of obtaining some scholarship or exhibition, which would enable him to continue or pursue an honourable career of intellectual success, he was suddenly to be told, "The prize you might have gained you are not to enjoy because your father is not a Churchman, and a Government has come into office which will search out in every village and hamlet, for every scrap of its hands, in order that the Church may be still further enriched." No more blundering! Was there ever such an exhibition of this particular quality as they had lately witnessed? After a bill was introduced by a responsible Minister, and was warmly, almost passionately, defended for a fortnight by the leading members of the Government, the Prime Minister, when forced to retreat, had no better excuse to offer than that he was utterly unable to comprehend the measure for which he and the Cabinet were responsible. But as if this trifling with Parliament and the country were not bad enough, he was driven to such desperate straits to find some justification for what had been done that he had not the courage to bear to blame himself but attempted to throw it upon the permanent officials who draughted the bill. Not only was this blundering, but it was blundering of a very mean and ungenerous kind. An attempt would not improbably be made to induce the country to believe that the opponents of the Endowed Schools Bill had attributed for party purposes too much importance to the consequences that would have resulted from its passing. This was the line of defence that was adopted by the Prime Minister; but it must be remembered that he, according to his own confession, was precluded from saying what the consequences of the bill would have been, for he ultimately had to withdraw nine-tenths of it, because he said he was utterly powerless to understand it. The bill, after having been carefully considered by the Cabinet, was entrusted to a rising young statesman in order to give him an opportunity of distinguishing himself. The speech he made in introducing the bill was cheered with unusual vigor by the Conservatives, and far from any of his expressions of opinion being regarded by the older and more experienced members of the Government as our statements arising from youthful indiscretion, two of the most influential Cabinet Ministers spoke later in the evening and distinctly confirmed all that Lord Sandon had said. They were not only endorsed but amplified by the Home Secretary, who emphatically declared that what the Government had done was "not to engraft a new principle, but to extend the old one that endowments left for Church of England schools should not be applied to other purposes." In order to understand the full significance of the claims which were thus set up on behalf of the Church, it must be remembered that the bill proposed that one interpretation, and one interpretation alone, should be put upon the wishes of founders. Whatever might be the time in which they lived, whether they were Catholics before the Reformation, whether they were Puritans or Independents in the days of Cromwell, if ever they mentioned the word religion it was to be supposed that what they intended to do with their generous benefactions was not primarily to diffuse learning among the people, was not to bring high culture within the reach of those who might be by poverty debarred from it, but that their main desire was to promote the interest of the present Anglican Church. In order to bring home the peculiar injustice which was contemplated, and which so far as they knew was still contemplated by the Government, it was only necessary to remark that not merely would nearly every Catholic school which was founded before the Reformation be converted into a Church school by the proposition, but because Nonconformists previous to 1779 were not permitted to found a Nonconformist school Parliament was called upon to declare that if a Nonconformist ever mentioned the word religion, the property which he left for education was to be primarily devoted to promote a form of worship from which in his lifetime he dissented, and from which he conscientiously disagreed, that rather than conform he endured countless indignities and disabilities. Could anyone doubt that it was the clearly formed intention of the Government to pursue a policy of reaction, to undo the work of past legislation, and to restore to the Church the endowments that had been thrown open to the entire nation by the legislation of the last Parliament. Could they come to any other conclusion than that the more power the Government possess, the further they go in this backward course? If, having a majority of fifty, they would not hesitate to administer almost all the endowed schools of the country as narrow sectarian institutions, had they any security, that if the majority were one hundred they would not enlarge their aims and reimpose religious tests in the Universities in order that these ancient seats of learning might be restored to the ecclesiastic purposes for which by the will of their founders they were originally intended? Now, what ought to be done? One thing they ought to do, and that was rest until they had proved that a Government that was prepared to carry out such a policy of reaction and injustice did not represent a majority of the English nation. The Liberal party was generally regarded as in the position of an army without a general. Now no one could fairly say that he had shown an unreasonable partiality for Mr. Gladstone, but any one who calmly and candidly reflected on the present political situation must, he thought, have come to the conclusion that Mr. Gladstone never stood higher in the confidence of the Liberal party, and that so far as leadership was concerned his qualifications were never more generally recognized, and his claims were never more undisputed. He thought it had been demonstrated beyond all possibility of dispute that as a political leader no one else is to be compared with him. It was admitted on all hands that he scarcely ever spoke so well as he did during the past session; and he had a power—possessed by no other living politician except Mr. Bright—of arousing popular enthusiasm on behalf of some great cause. Never was a more unfounded charge brought against any man than when Mr. Gladstone was sometimes accused of grasping too eagerly at power, and of clinging too tenaciously to place. Those who knew him best agreed in the opinion that, if he simply consulted his own personal desires, nothing would be so congenial to him as to occupy a less prominent position in politics, so that he might have more leisure to gratify his literary tastes. It would, of course, ill become him to presume in any way to advise Mr. Gladstone as to what should be his future course of conduct, but this he might perhaps be permitted to say, that, after carefully observing the House of Commons during his absence, he could come to no other conclusion than that his relinquishment of political leadership would not only be a disaster to the Liberal party, but, what was of far more consequence, a serious misfortune to the country. It was therefore perfectly evident that, so far from the Government being able to fulfill those glittering promises by which so many in the late election were attracted to the Conservative cause, it will be necessary to practice the most rigid frugality in order to avoid a serious deficit. If Liberals carefully considered the causes which led to their defeat, and if they bore in mind some of the prominent aspects of the present political situation, they would not only feel hopeful, but must come to the conclusion that the day was not far distant when Liberalism would again be in the ascendant.

The address, which occupied about an hour in delivery, was listened to with the greatest attention, and was loudly applauded.

The Council of Public Instruction.

Reports of the meetings of the Council of Public Instruction, held 1st and 3rd inst., have been presented, from which the following summary is made: On the 1st inst. the Council met, pursuant to J Grasett, B D, in the chair. There were also present, besides, the Chief Superintendent of Education, the Rev J Jennings, D D; His Grace the Most Rev J J Lynch, D D; William McCabe, LL B; James Maclennan, Q C, M P; the Rev S S Nelles, D D; the Rev A Carman, D D; Daniel Wilson, L L D; Samuel Casey Wood, M P P; Dr Goldwin Smith, M A. The Chief Superintendent asked whether reporters would be admitted, and the Council resolved that it is not expedient to give to the proceedings a larger measure of publicity than is required by law. The Very Rev H J Grasett, B D, was appointed Chairman for the current year. After various communications had been presented, the following orders were passed: (a) That the Committee on Library and Prize Books be continued as heretofore with the same members. (b) That the Regulations, Programme and Text Books for Collegiate Institutes and High Schools, and the duties of Inspectors of High Schools, be referred to a Committee consisting of the Representatives of the Collegiate Institute and High School Masters, and of the Colleges, together with Professor Smith, and that until the Roman Catholic College at Ottawa is represented here, his Grace Archbishop Lynch be also a member of said Committee. (c) That the Regulations, Programme and Text Books for the Public Schools be offered to the Representatives of the Public School Inspectors and Teachers and of the High School Masters, together with His Grace the Archbishop and the Rev. Dr. Jennings. (d) That the Interim Committee provided for the 28th section of the Act consist of the members resident in Toronto, and that they have the powers of the Council, except that they shall not be empowered to make permanent appointments or sanction text books." Also, that the recommendations of the Central Committee as to the candidates for first-class certificates be adopted, and that the following certificates be granted: Grade A—Messrs Archibald Smirl, Joseph Standish Carson, Morris Johnson Fletcher, E D Parlow, Robert Kimball Orr, (conditional), and John Munroe. Grade B—Messrs. David McArdle, Thos. Leitch, Alfred Goodbow, Charles Andrew Barnes, and David Hammel. Grade C—Messrs. John Wesley Cook, Alexander Hotson, and Levi Clark, (conditional.) The certificate of Messrs. R. K. Orr and Levi Clark are granted, subject to the consideration that they furnish more definite evidence of their time of service in the profession, also, the Chief Superindent was requested to lay before the Council, at the next meeting, a copy of the case submitted by him for the opinion of the Chief Justice, at the request of the Council, respecting the prices of books. At the meeting on the 3rd inst., at three o'clock, there were present: The Chairman; Very Reverend H J Grasett, B D; the Chief Superintendent of Education; His Grace the Most Reverend J J Lynch, D D; the Hon Wm McMaster; Wm McCabe LL B; James MacLennan Q C, M P; the Reverend A Carman D D; Daniel Wilson LL D; Samuel Casey Wood M P P; Dr Goldwin Smith M A. After several communications, &c., it was ordered, amongst other things, that the proposed course of study for the Normal School be referred to the Committee on Public School Regulations; that the Committee on High and Public School Regulations, &c., be hereafter one joint Committee; that one gold, two silver, and two bronze medals, of a total value of $100 be granted to teachers who have passed the best examinations (1874) as recommended by the Central Committee. The next regular meeting of the Council will be held on the first Tuesday in October.—Mail.

The Ottawa Times

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1874.

Mr. Marshall Wood arrived in this city yesterday

Major General Selby Smyth, an officer of distinction in the Imperial army, has been appointed to the position of Major General Commanding the Militia Force of Canada.

By telegram it is announced that the steamer "Queen Victoria" ran aground yesterday morning during a fog. The passengers arrived in Montreal twelve hours late.

It is reported from Manitoba that the prospects of the early construction of the Pembina branch of the Pacific Railway has had the effect of giving a great impetus to all kinds of business, and the value of real estate is rapidly advancing.

Manitoba exchanges report that the Hospital Committee of Winnipeg waited upon Hon. Mr. Laird on a recent occasion, for the purpose of asking assistance from the Dominion Government in aid of the Winnipeg General Hospital on the plea that a large number of the sick were emigrants, and consequently ought to be altogether under the charge of the city. Mr. Laird promised to do what he could in the matter.

As an indication of how the people of Manitoba, irrespective of party feeling, look upon the proposed Reciprocity Treaty, we propose one of these days to quote in another column an article upon the subject from the Winnipeg Nor'-Wester, a paper by no means remarkable for its pro government proclivities. But the Nor'-Wester says it goes in for what is best for Manitoba, and don't care a cent for either Grit or Tory.

A painful accident recently happened at the Mennonite settlement in Manitoba. Two of the men were engaged in digging out a well, when it caved in and they were only extricated from their perilous position after being dangerously bruised. After being attended to medically, however, they rallied sufficiently to make their ultimate recovery probable. The accident caused great excitement in the settlement, many of the women fainting away.

The Winnipeg Nor'-Wester says if there is not a big show at Qu'Appelle at the making of the Indian Treaty, it will be a wonder. It has been asserted that nearly every tribe in the North-west, with the exception of the Blackfeet, will be represented. It predicts that the Hon. Mr. Laird and Lieut.-Governor Morris will have their hands full, and have considerable difficulty in satisfying all the treaty-makers.

The Montreal Witness gives a list of those whom it believes, upon good authority, likely to form the new Local Government of the Province of Quebec:—Hon. Mr. De Boucherville, Premier, Provincial Secretary, and Minister of Education; Hon. Mr Robertson, Treasurer; Hon. Henry Starnes, President of Council; Mr. Gendron, Minister of Public Works; Mr. Garneau, Commissioner of Crown Lands; Mr Cross or Judge Coursol, Attorney-General; and Mr Gerin, Solicitor-General.

The Reformers of Essex, in convention assembled, have, as it was expected they would, unanimously nominated Mr. McGregor, the unseated member, as their candidate in the election which will shortly take place in that county. We have reliable information to the effect that there is every probability of his re-election by acclamation, or in case of any opposition being offered to him—of which there is no word as yet—that he will be returned by a greater and more handsome majority even than before.

The London correspondent of the New York World states that Mr. Edward Jenkins, M. P. for Dundee, and Agent General for Canada, has been appointed editor of the St. James' Magazine, of London, at a salary of one thousand pounds sterling per annum. The extent of the credit which the appointment reflects upon the abilities of Mr. Jenkins can be readily conceived. He is now in Montreal, staying with his father, the Rev. Dr. Jenkins, and will be in this city, we learn, one of those days.

The Rev. Abbe Guay, the author of the Chroniques de Rimouski, has been in town for several weeks, making a collection in behalf of the building fund for the new Seminary at St Germain, the seat of the Bishopric of Rimouski. We understand the reverend gentleman will lecture at the Institut Canadien on Monday evening, in favour of the same fund. He takes for his subject: Nos Sauvages Gaspesiens, and will doubtless command a large audience, both from sympathy with the cause in hand and on account of the eloquence of the learned divine.

An Oshawa paper refers to a writer in the Mail who found the mare's nest in a letter written by the Hon. Senator Simpson to a friend in South Ontario during the general election, the said writer dating his letter from Bagotsville; and it tells us it has made enquiry in every quarter as to where Bagotsville is, the best information to be got being that it is a five acre lot with one house upon it and that the writer in the Mail was the private secretary of the late Minister of Inland Revenue and the defeated [illegible] of South Ontario.

Mr. O'Leary, the representative of the Irish agricultural laborers, who is now on a visit to Manitoba, to examine the inducements which that Province offer to Irish emigrants, has received £100 sterling from Mr. Mulligan, of Winnipeg, which has been deposited in the Merchants' Bank as the nucleus of a fund to aid Irish immigration to the Dominion of Canada. The trustees appointed to take charge of this fund are the following gentlemen—Mr. Mulligan, Manitoba, Mr. McManus Manitoba, Mr. Boyle of the Irish Canadian, Toronto, and Mr. M. P. Ryan, M. P., Montreal. These gentlemen also act as a committee in aid of the object for which Mr Mulligan's donation was given, and their numbers will be increased from time to time as it may be found necessary.

THE LONDON ELECTION TRIAL.

Chief Justice Hagarty has declared the London contested election void, but exonerates Major Walker from personal participation in the corrupt practices of his supporters. It is said that the petitioners will appeal against this latter decision, and will ask the higher Court to declare him disqualified. A contemporary states that Major Walker will have to prove, in that case, that he is actually qualified to again become a candidate. The organ's interpretation of the law is somewhat like its general reasoning—rather faulty and clumsily so at that. It is scarcely necessary to say that the onus of proving that Major Walker is disqualified will fall upon the appelants. There is moreover precious little probability of their success, for it is generally conceded that Chief Justice Hagarty's interpretation of the election law has throughout been exceedingly strict, and his judgment has therefore all the less likelihood of being reversed. We may add that all accounts from London agree in pointing to the Major as the Reform candidate for the coming contest, and his re-election is assured. It is said that Carling will not again ask the electors for their votes, in which case it is not difficult to foresee that should any one accept the Tory nomination he will but lead a forlorn hope, and sacrifice himself to boot.

EAST HASTINGS.

The Belleville papers report that Mr. Grand Sovereign Mackenzie-Bowell, M.P., and his highly refined and well-educated friend the member for East Hastings, are likely to find political matters in the East Riding somewhat difficult to manage at the forthcoming election for the Ontario Legislature. It is said that at last election—that is the General Federal Election—a bargain was made with a Mr. Lazier to the effect that if he would lend his influence and support—he is not an Orangeman, whereby hangs the tale—to John White, John White and his friends would support Mr. Lazier for the Local. But there is a refractory son of Esculapius in the Tory ranks which his name is Dr. Willson—who has long sighed for a seat in some legislative hall, and as he is so determined to go there, whether his friends are willing or not, that he refuses to be bound by the decision of a convention. Dr. Willson has already stood from dinner twice, and he refuses to eat humble pie any longer. It would seem rather unfair to ask him, and yet what can be done, for Mr. Lazier has been promised the nomination, has received the vote of the convention, and is unquestionably in the field. The only solution of the difficulty—and the proper one—is to be found at the polls, where no doubt both candidates will try their fortunes.

JUDGE PLAMONDON.

The entire Liberal party of the Province of Quebec, and a great many supporters of the Conservative party as well will rejoice to hear of the well earned distinction conferred on Mr. Marc Aurell Plamondon, by his recent elevation to the Bench of his native Province of Quebec. Both from a party and from a professional point of view, Mr. Plamondon's appointment is an excellent one, and will, as we have stated, afford general satisfaction. Mr. Plamondon is a practitioner of long standing, marked ability, and ripe experience, who for many years filled the onerous position of Secretary of the Bar of Lower Canada, section of the District of Quebec, and was subsequently, if we remember aright, Batonnier of the same body. In politics he has always been a determined Liberal, and has never wavered from the cause, notwithstanding all the temptations which beset the path of the eloquent young advocate in the long days when Conservatism continued the winning side. At the general election of 1859 he was one of the Liberal candidates for the City of Quebec, and was beaten only after a most arduous contest; later on, with the present Minister of Justice, he edited the old National of the Ancient Capital, and after it succumbed he was one of those who founded and edited the Liberal, which did such good service during the days of the Sandfield Macdonald Dorion administration and subsequently. We sincerely congratulate Judge Plamondon on the success that has crowned his career both as a lawyer and a politician. In the latter capacity his present reward points a moral which young politicians would do well to ponder over—that where a man honourably and consistently stands by his party, through good report and evil report, that party in the long run, all things being equal, will not forget him.

WRONG AGAIN.

The Postmaster General bids fair to attain the not unenviable distinction of the best-abused man of his party. We say not unenviable distinction, because it is only in consequence of exceeding activity and usefulness to his party that a man attains it. Mr. Macdonald's name has in some way come up in the evidence given at the election trial in Renfrew. The story, as given in the evidence as reported is substantially that, on the application of Mr. McDougall, of Renfrew, a certain voter was given a mail contract, and that he thereupon voted for Mr. McDougall. We observe the reports in the several papers to vary materially, to be framed in fact so as to serve the political tendencies of the journal that distorts them. It is, therefore, not worth while to notice the reports, but we re-produce from the Mail an editorial deliverance upon this subject of the postal contract:—

"There was an elector by name John Havey. He had voted for O'Reilly in 1872. Mr. McDougall desired to secure his 'vote and influence.' There was nothing easier. A mail contract did it all; and that without a tender. Place was found for him in what would seem to have become in an especial manner refugium peccatorum, the Post Office Department. No sooner had his vote been cast and Mr. McDougall declared elected than the corruptly chosen member for the Riding wrote to the Postmaster General that Havey must have a mail contract, and that without tender. The demand was prompt, the answer equally so. Havey got what he wanted."

Confident that there was nothing in it, we caused enquiry to be made at the Post Office Department with a view of learning the facts. We have the authority of Mr. White, Secretary of the Post Office Department, for the statement that Mr. Havey's application, not for a new contract, but for an extension of the old one, was made on the 19th September to Mr. O'Connor then Postmaster General. The Inspector reported in favour of the renewal on the ground that the rate was a reasonable one and Havey a good contractor, and thus the transaction was complete some weeks before Mr. Macdonald entered office. If the contract was formally executed after the change of Government, it was merely a fulfilment by one Administration of the engagements of its predecessor.

In the evidence as reported a witness is made to say that this mail contract was a good thing, at least that is the purport of the answer put in the mouth of the witness by his interrogator. We shall give the figures and allow people of common sense to judge how good a thing it is. The old contract sum was $985; the renewed contract sum $843. The former contract was for carrying the mails 50 miles, from Sand Point to Pembroke; the renewed contract, 43 miles, from Renfrew to Pembroke. The sum is reduced, it will be observed, pro rata with the distance. The contractor then who has this "big thing" has to make 312 round trips in the year for $843, or $2.70 for the round trip. This rate is much below the average rate paid for similar mail service; and, Mr. Havey being a satisfactory contractor and willing to renew at these figures, the Department acted properly, and in accordance with the usual practice in extending his contract for another term. We say that the Department acted properly, although this action was taken by our political opponents weeks before our friends obtained office. Only a week ago, the Cornwall Gazette, in the interest of the Opposition, raised a great row about a certain person's tender being passed over, and that of another, a favorite of the Postmaster-General, accepted. On enquiry, it turned out that the person in whose behalf the remonstrance had been made was the person who got the contract, and that the vast elaboration of story to the contrary was false from beginning to end. Will not those rattle-brained fault-finders after this just restrain their impetuous desire to make other people appear as degraded as themselves and their leaders, until they will have got hold of a grievance with some foundation. It is really silly business, this contradicting such nonsensical charges. The reference to Mr. Scott and the Brudenell affair is doubtless as foundationless as the other. The Conservative organs must do better than that; they will never lead their party to power by vending charges to day only to have proven falsehoods to-morrow.

Something About Lord and Lady Dufferin.

Lord Dufferin is an Irishman by birth—an Englishman by profession. The family name is Blackwood, and the Earl can boast of plenty of patrician 'blood.' He is a man of scholarly attainments, has written some books, and sailed around a good deal, and is reported to be unassuming and amiable. D. H. Hayes, writing to the Chicago Times, says:—The Irish man or woman must be very ignorant indeed who has never heard of the name of Lord Dufferin. In the counties of Tyrone, Down and Antrim, where he is best known, his name is a household word. He is a noble speciman of his class, for noblemen, (as they are called in Ireland), even though of Irish birth, are invariably the greatest oppressors of their fellow countrymen; the actual bloodsuckers of the tenant farmers, Lord Dufferin is a noble exception to the general rule. He and the late Earl of Massereene and Ferarrd were the only three noblemen in Ireland who openly preached and practiced tenant rights. Lady Dufferin is younger than her husband and evidently is a lady of great conversational powers. She has the reputation of poetical genius. One of the poems attributed to Lady Dufferin,

I'm sitting on the stile, Mary,
Where we sat side by side.

was one of the most affecting compositions in the English language. The young Clandeboye looks like a wide awake boy who will never be spoilt by having been born with a silver spoon in his mouth.

President McCosh, of Princeton College, was given a complimentary breakfast at Belfast, Ireland, July 23, at which Sir Thomas McClure presided. In the course of his remarks Dr. McCosh alluded to Prof. Goldwin Smith's assertion concerning the attitude of Americans towards Great Britain, and said that when he first visited America, in 1866, and afterwards went to reside there in 1868, there was, as they thought, cause of irritation, which found expression in the public prints and in the speeches of public men. There were times when he felt offended and remained away from public meetings lest there should be manifestations against Great Britain which he never liked, and which he thought to suppress; but since the settlement of the unfortunate Alabama claims, he could say, and he believed, he had better opportunities of knowing the opinions of influential men from the most distant parts of America, that from that time to the present he never attended a public meeting at which a single offensive allusion was made to Great Britain, and he believed if any man had the impudence to stand up and make such an allusion, the whole audience would utter a protest of a decisive kind, and he believed would put him down on the instant. He wished it to be widely known in this country, that among the mass of the American people there was now the warmest feeling of friendship towards this country.

The Convocation of Canterbury, which adjourned the middle of July, held a long discussion on the subject of a Pan-Anglican Synod to determine, among other things, what relation the Archbishop of Canterbury should bear to the various Anglican bodies. The Bishop of Litchfield introduced the subject. He stated that there were now one hundred and fifty-six Bishops in the Anglican Communion who "can scarcely be said to be under any visible head. It seems to me," he continued, "that there should be a centre of unity throughout the Anglican Communion, and that the Archbishop of Canterbury should be looked upon as the centre, in the nature of a Patriarch, if not by that name." The subject is expected to come before the Protestant General Convention in New York this Fall.

CITY AND VICINITY

SOCIAL.—The Young Men's Christian Association will hold a Social on Monday the 14th in the W. M. Church, Metcalfe Street.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.—The City Clerk. Mr. W. P. Lett, sustained serious injuries on Wednesday night in jumping off a Street Car, near his own residence. Drivers in going down a grade run their horses at such a furious pace as to render it almost impossible for a passenger to leap off the car with any degree of safety. Ring the gong and stop the car every time, as this alone will ensure you from all accidents.

DEFECTIVE SIDEWALK.—The platform on the North side of George street is sadly in need of repair, immediately to the East of the St. Lawrence Hall. Two broken planks leave man traps that will be the means of breaking some person's legs, if not at once repaired. The foreman of Works should see to it at once that such dangerous holes are not allowed to remain in the sidewalks.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.—A meeting of the Ottawa Branch of the Alliance will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms, Sparks Street, on Friday evening, 14th inst., at five o'clock, sharp, for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the Canadian Conference of the Alliance, to be held in Montreal, commencing on the 1st of October next. All members of the Ottawa Branch are requested to attend the meeting to-morrow. W. J. Hunter, Secretary.

ARRIVALS AT THE RUSSELL HOUSE.—H Jones, A B Chaffee, L A Hall, J O Palmer, Geo P Thomson, Montreal; Jas A Massie, Glasgow; R G Jones, St John; J R Aristorchi, Washington; Henry Little, Rochester; J G Bryson, Coulonge; G A Austin and wife, Vermont; R W Barker, Kingston; F L Buenos Ayres, S A; Wm H Huges, New York; Chas P Sterms, C W Woodward, Boston, Mass; Carrie B Tyler, A M Mackay, Denver.

SUPERIOR AYRSHIRE CATTLE will be sold at the Exhibition in this city by Mr. Wm. Rodden, as he intends reducing the number of his herd because of the loss by fire of two barns with their contents of farm produce. This will afford purchasers an opportunity of securing some really fine young stock from one of the best herds in this country. The number of prizes taken here and at other exhibitions by animals from Mr. Rodden's herd have fully established the character of the stock. A few superior Suffolk pigs and Leicester sheep will also be sold. 3669-4

C. O. O. F.—A meeting of the Metropolitan Lodge, No. 50, Canadian Order of Odd Fellows is called for this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Odd Fellows Hall. Members are particularly requested to attend as it is proposed to get up a moonlight excursion under the auspices of the order. All entertainments in the west and in the United States by Odd Fellows have been immensely patronized by the public, and there is no reason why an excursion under their auspices in this city should not prove a decided success

INTERFERES WITH NAVIGATION.—The dense smoke on the Ottawa river, coming from the many fires which are raging along its banks, has a tendency to seriously interfere with navigation on the river. The "Queen Victoria" did not succeed in reaching Grenville yesterday till late in the day, being unable to leave L'Orignal to cross the Bay to Grenville. The "Peerless" was in the same dilemma on the down trip yesterday, but eventually succeeded in reaching her destination. This adds another to the many reasons already assigned, why rain would confer a blessing on the whole community.

STONE THROWING.—The practice indulged in by some lads of throwing stones on the public streets, is a very reprehensible one, to say nothing of the great danger to which people are exposed. Yesterday evening a young lady residing on George street, had a narrow escape while standing at her own door, from being struck on the head by a large stone thrown by a boy. The missile almost grazed the young lady's head, but fortunately struck the pillar of the verandah against which she was standing. It is very desirable that the police should take steps to put a stop to a practice so frequently indulged in by thoughtless young men and boys.

RUSSELL TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The teachers of the County of Russell have organized a County Association to further the interests of the profession in their locality. The preliminary meeting took place in July last, but the first regular meeting was held at Bearbrook on Saturday last, the 5th inst. A constitution, for the government of the Association, was adopted at this meeting, and the following persons elected officers of the Association: President, Rev. Thomas Garrett, B. A., J. P. S.; Vice-President, Mr. Niles Ross; Secretary, Mr. Wm. Summerby; Treasurer, Mr. Thomas Gibson. The next regular meeting will be held at Duncanville, on Friday, the 2nd of October next.

CLEAR THE WHARF.—The Wharf at the Canal Basin is so laden with goods of all kinds and coal as to prevent access to the canal itself at all. If the Wharfinger would leave, say two or three places clear at some distance apart to facilitate the getting to a source of water supply the fire steamers Conqueror and John Heney in the event of a fire he would be doing the city a very great service. At the head of St. Paul Street near Dufresne & McGarity's, near Mrs. Toughey's at, the head of Little Sussex Street and at the head of Mosgrove Street near Currier's mill yard, no obstacles should be allowed to remain in the way of the steamers getting to the Basin. These suggestions if acted on might prove invaluable in the event of a serious conflagration.

VALUABLE PRIZES.—At a meeting of the Ontario Council of Public Instruction, held in Toronto on the 3rd inst., it was ordered that one gold, two silver, and two bronze medals, of a total value of $100, be granted to teachers who have passed the best examinations for the year 1874. It is pleasing to note this desire on the part of the Board of Public Instruction to recognise and reward true merit. Another noticeable feature is, that the gold medal is likely to be awarded to Mr. Smirl, Principal of the Central School East in this city, who heads the list, and that a bronze medal will be awarded Mr. Parlow, Principal of the Central School West, who stands fourth on the list. This is pretty good for Ottawa, and speaks volumes for the zeal and literary attainments of her teachers. A few more points would no doubt have added the name of Mr. Munro, another Ottawa man, to the honor roll as a Medalist.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS PIC NIC.—The usual annual pic nic in connection with the City Public Schools takes place to-day. The 'Queen Victoria' has been chartered for the occasion, and will leave the Queen's Wharf, foot of Sussex street, this morning, at 8 o'clock sharp, for Gill's Wharf, some seven or eight miles down the river. The place set apart for the pic nic is a beautiful grove, situate a little distance back from the river, where doubtless the scholars, teachers, and such other friends as may accompany them will spend a pleasant time. Swings, music, and a good programme of games is in store for those who are to participate in the festivities of the day. The fare both ways is only 15 cents, which is a very reasonable figure, and should tend to have at least six hundred children present. These annual pic nics of the public schools are generally a success, and it is to be hoped this one may pass off with as much eclat as those hitherto have done.

TO SINGLE MEN ONLY.—Just drop into Radford & Goyer's sale to-night and buy a suitable present for your girl. 3667m2

Radford & Goyer's sale. This is continued each evening until the whole of Young's stock is cleared. Only genuine articles offered.

RINK MUSIC HALL.—Last evening Mdlle. Ravel appeared in a new role in a pantomimic drama entitled "The Wizard Skiff." The drama is of an uncertain historical age, and exhibits several marvellous anachronisms, amongst others the use of firearms at a period before gunpowder was invented. It is, however, only a medium to exhibit Mdlle. Ravel in dancing, pantomime and swordmanship, in which her excellence is so well known that comment is needless. The drama abounds in red fire transparencies, combats and melodramatic situations, and of course obtained due meed of favour. This evening's entertainment is for the benefit of Mdlle. Ravel, when she offers the gala bill of the week, viz., her drama of "Jartine, the pride of the 14th." She for the first time here appears in a speaking part. She also introduces her lightning Zouave Drill, which she exhibited before Her Majesty Queen Victoria and Royal Family at Windsor Castle, and in addition dances, a new pas d'Espagnol. In the course of the evening she also appears on the Tight Rope without the aid of a balance pole. These varied features should jam the house. This is the last night but one of Mdlle. Ravel.

REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Ordination Service.

Last night a large number of people assembled in St. Andrew's Church, Wellington street, to witness the ceremony of inducting Mr. Todd as a Presbyter of the Reformed Episcopal Church by the Right Rev. Bishop Cummins, of New York. Amongst those present we observed Rev. Mr. Reid, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Brooklyn; Rev. Mr. McCormac, of the same Church, in this city, together with the Rev. Messrs. Gordon, Cameron, Sanderson, and Dr. Mark, of other denominations in the city.

His Lordship was a little late in arriving, being disappointed by a carter who had undertaken to drive him to the Church. He on this account omitted the introductory Psalter customary in such services.

He accordingly opened the service by giving out the 58th Mission Hymn. The choir of the Reformed Episcopal Church led off in singing, from the Orchestra gallery, accompanied by the fine organ of the Church.

Mr. Todd next came forward, and was subjected to the usual examination upon such occasions by the Bishop, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Reid, of Brooklyn. His Lordship next exhorted the candidate as to the nature of his duties and his obligations as a Presbyter of the Church, and asked any who had objections to his being ordained to the sacred office to come forward and state their objections. His Lordship again addressed Mr. Todd, admonishing and advising him as to the obligations incumbent upon him in the office he was about to enter. The candidate was next subjected to a rigid examination, with a view to test his eligibility for the office of Presbyter. At the conclusion of this examination the Bishop requested solemn silence for a short while, which injunction was complied with, and for a few minutes an impressive stillness reigned in the Church. At this stage the ceremony of laying on hands by the Bishop was performed, he at the same time giving the new presbyter clerical authority in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. He also gave him authority to preach the Word of God. An interesting feature in the ceremony was the participation of other clergymen present in the laying on of hands and fraternal salutations to the new presbyter.

His Lordship next invoked in devout prayer the Divine blessing upon the presbyter who had just been consecrated as a servant of the Lord.

The learned Bishop then addressed the people, setting forth the principles of the ordination service, dwelling for a time upon the novelty of Non-Episcopal brethren of other churches assisting them in the solemn service. He condemned in severe terms the doctrine of Apostolic succession, as approved by the Episcopal Church, and held it to be blasphemy to assume that mortal divines of any church were possessed of the miraculous powers vested in the Apostles of Old. There was no scripture for the doctrine of Apostolic succession and it must therefore fall to the ground. He also censured in vigorous language the arrogance of Bishops who assumed to themselves the power of laying on the hands and of giving through this means the Holy Ghost to the new Presbyter. It was the veriest blasphemy and there was not a tenet in the Word of God to sustain the doctrine. He next adverted to the extraordinary action of the Ecumenical Council of Roman Bishops in proclaiming Pius IX. infallible, and drew parallels as to the great similarity between the governments of the Episcopal Church and the Church of Rome in this respect. He deplored the unchristian character of these two churches shutting out all Christendom from association with them, and paid high eulogiums upon Luther, Calvin, Knox and Wesley, the great shining lights of the Reformation, and thought the members of the Reformed Episcopal Church would do themselves honor in extending to the followers of such men the right hand of fellowship. He concluded by a very excellent address, by a fervent appeal to the members of the Reformed Episcopal Church of this city, who had been amongst the first to raise the standard of purity in the Episcopal Church to stick to their colors, and as God was with them, they must and would succeed in their noble mission.

The congregation at the conclusion of the address all joined at the request of His Lordship in the singing of a portion of the 148th Hymn,

His Lordship next engaged in prayer, after which he brought a very solemn service to a close by pronouncing the Benediction.

Police Court.

Before M. O'Gara, P.M.

THURSDAY, Sept. 10.

Patrick Follou, Joseph Pelltier and Joseph Crolteau, were arraigned for drunkenness and mulcted in $5 and costs each.

Another man named Thomas McKenna was arrested on a similar charge, but was let go on a promise of sobriety in the future.

James Green appeared on a charge of interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty. He was allowed to depart on a promise that he would leave the city.

Felix Galarneau charged with assaulting one Alphonse Cote, was fined $3 and costs. In default he was sent to gaol for a week.

Emily Goodall was charged by Margaret Price with an assault upon her child, and was relieved of $3 and costs.

County Court.

Before His Honor Judge Lyon.

TUESDAY, Sept. 8.

The Queen vs. Farrell. The prisoner elected to be tried summarily before Judge Loyn. He was found guilty and sentenced to three years at hard labor in the Penitentiary.

The Queen vs John Gutheridge. The prisoner was arraigned for stealing a pair of boots from one Patrick King. Mr. Lees, County Attorney, appeared for the Crown. He was found guilty and sentenced to two month's imprisonment in the common gaol at hard labor.

The Queen vs. John Gutheridge. The same prisoner was charged with stealing an overcoat from Ald. Rocque. Mr. Lees appeared for the Crown. He was again adjudged guilty by the evidence, and sentenced to two months additional imprisonment.

TUESDAY, Sept. 9.

The Queen vs. Peter Camille. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the stealing of a mare from a man named McGillivray, for which he was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the common gaol at hard labor.

The Queen vs. James Riley. This prisoner was arraigned for the Mr. I. B. Taylor burglary in New Edinburgh. He elected to be tried summarily and his trial was fixed for Wednesday the 23rd inst.

Canadian Salt.

The Buffalo Courier says that notwithstanding the heavy duty, and the competition of the Onondaga Salt Company, considerable quantities of Canadian salt are imported and sold at Buffalo and various points on the frontier from Ogdensburg to Chicago, including both of these cities. It says:—

"Six or seven years ago several strata strongly impregnated with salt, and below that a vast deposit of the purest rock mineral itself, were discovered in Canada on the shores of Lake Huron. The same formation has since been found to extend through Seaforth, Clinton and Kincardine—a distance of seventy five miles in an air line—and at all these places, as well as at Goderich the manufacture of the best quality of salt is now in successful operation. The discovery itself was accidental and is interesting. It was supposed oil might be obtained near Goderich, and a sanguine operator bored some seven hundred feet into the earth with the hope of finding it. He exhausted his capital, but at this crisis the Corporation of Goderich and a land company, having special interests in this subject, came to his relief and advanced ample substantial aid on condition of his extending his researches to the depth of a thousand feet. This being done, he reached what is probably the bed of an ancient sea, the waters of which were evaporated by intense heat, leaving an absolutely inexhaustible supply of salt for the future use of man. The brine obtained from this source is, when not pumped too rapidly but left to attain its natural strength, thoroughly saturated with this indispensable article. The breadth of the deposit is not yet ascertained, but its extent is already known to be so vast that land underlaid by it commands no additional price on that account, and monoply is practically impossible. The result is exceedingly beneficial to the Canadians."

Livingstone.

With reference to the letter of Mr. Clements Markham appealing for subscriptions to the fund to meet the expenses of Lieutenant Cameron's expedition, to which we called attention in our last number, there is one point that has been raised by Mr. T. Livingstone in his letters to the Times, and that a most important one, which we are in a position to settle. The son of the great explorer, for whose succor Lieutenant Cameron risked his health and life, and in whose service he gallantly undertook the journey to Ujiji, endeavors to make out that the papers left by Dr. Livingstone there were of no great value, that the country between Unyanyembe and Ujiji was perfectly safe, that a part of Livingstone's negro servants could have performed the journey as easily as the English officer, and hence that Cameron has done no service. We are able to contradict the whole of these statements. The map left by Dr. Livingstone at Ujiji, which Lieutenant Cameron has now recovered, is of very great value. It is a map of the entire unknown region from Kitangulf on the coast to Lake Nyassa, and without it the records of Dr. Livingstone's discoveries would be very incomplete. By its recovery Lieut. Cameron has performed an important service to geography, for which he deserves and will receive warm thanks from his countrymen if not from the son of the great explorer for whom he has done and suffered so much. Lieut Cameron found the country between Unyanyembe and Ujiji in a more dangerous and disturbed state than it has ever been before. Mirambo was very powerful and his followers were well armed. He was devastating the country in all directions, and was within a few miles of Lieutenant Cameron at the Malagarasi Ferry, who saw several of his men. Besides Mirambo there was a colony of runaway slaves right across the route, armed with muskets, which attacked and plundered all native parties. An English officer with tact and judgment, like Lieutenant Cameron, was not molested and could obtain supplies. But no large Arab caravan has passed for years. Mirambo's followers declared that any armed party of negroes or Arabs would be attacked or driven back; and the people said that they would rather destroy their food than give it to such invaders. Single messengers or small parties may pass to and fro with letters and parcels, but not without risk. It is very clear that, as things stood, Livingstone's journal and map could not have been recovered if Lieutenant Cameron had not undertaken the journey to Ujiji. The attempt to injure Cameron by insinuating that he did not give essential aid in forwarding Livingstone's body and effects to the coast will also recoil on those who have made it. The fact that he did give such aid is capable of absolute proof; which will no doubt be produced by Lieutenant Murphy, who has arrived in England. Lieutenant Cameron is now on the verge of important discoveries, and it will be a disgrace to this country if he is left to his fate, or even checked for want of funds. We trust that the appeal for subscriptions will be promptly and generously answered.—Academy.

Found his Equal.

The following is stated as a fact:—A rich broker in San Francisco lately made a desperate effort to prevent a pretty daughter from marrying a man who mended harnesses for $65 a month. The girl loved the man and seemed determined to go ahead with the business of true love. The broker offered the harness mender $1,000 to desert his daughter forever. The young man refused the bribe as an equivalent for his claim. He then went to the young man's employers to get them to discharge him. They could not think of doing this, as he was a good, faithful fellow and gave entire satisfaction so the old doctor didn't know what to do next. His daughter helped him out of his uncertainty, but plunged him into deeper trouble than he had ever known. She disappeared one day, and search for her proved unavailing. In two or three days traces of the missing girl were found in the office of a Justice of the Peace. There was a record there of her marriage with the faithful harness mender. The broker draped his house in mourning, according to the custom of his religion, and of course regards his daughter as dead. She immediately found a place as saleswoman in a millinery store at $45 a month, and $45 and $65 make $110, which is not so bad a figure after all for a young married couple to cut. It is just the sort of beginning that founds a happy home, into which mothers-in-law are not apt to enter with their disturbing influences, and where fathers do not break through and steal their daughter's away.

The next Anglican Church Congress will be held at Brignton, opening Oct. 6. The President, the Bishop of Chichester, will open the proceedings with an address, after which the old Catholic movement in Europe will be discussed by the Bishop of Winchester, the Dean of Chester, and others. Among the other subjects to be considered are: Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Church Patronage, Convocations of the Church of England, Education, Diocesan Synods, Church, Finance, and Scepticism. This body has no legislative power, and meets simply for discussion.

It has hitherto been thought impossible to eat your cake and have it too, but that old-fashioned idea is now exploded. A company has just been organised in England to repay to people all their bread and butter and furnishing expenditure. It is simple enough. The company sells its tickets for all amounts to respectable tradesmen, their credit being 5 per cent. of the amount of which they are inscribed—which amount is usually allowed to the purchaser for ready money. This discount, however, he gets from the Company, not from the tradesmen, since in return for every $25 worth of expenditure tickets collected from tradesmen in return for his equal expenditure, he receives a $25 assurance bond. Trustees take charge of the percentage paid by the tradesmen, which percentage accumulating at compound interest enables the company, according to its own statement, to pay off the bonds in ballots, thus returning the whole expenditure of the customer to himself or his heirs. So cheerful a plan ought to succeed.

A Deadly "Keepsake."

A Sicilian correspondent of the London Times writes:—"A young captain, Filomeno Genova by name, was quartered with his regiment, the Twenty-second Infantry, at Messina. In his rambles through the town he often observed and was observed by a young lady at the window of one of the houses. After a short time Captain Genova received a basket of fruit from the fair incognita in return for which he sent flowers and sweet meats, and, as a matter of course, presented himself to her family, but, when matrimony was spoken of, it appeared that the damsel had no fortune beyond her face. On this the captain withdrew his pretensions on the plea that he was not rich, and that his pay was insufficient to justify him in taking a wife, and so matters went no further. Early in the course of last month the young lady heard that her lover was about to leave Messina. On what day do you start? she asked him. He told her, inquiring at the same time why she desired to know. That I may give you a keepsake you will never forget, she is reported to have replied. A few mornings before that fixed for his departure Captain Genova was walking on the seashore, when he was stabbed in the side. He turned upon the aggressor until he took refuge in a modiste's shop, where he was captured. The captain covered with blood, was taken to the hospital, where, in a few days he expired, his poor mother, who was looking forward to his return, telegraphing three times a day for news of his state. The assassin confessed to having received only 25 lire for his work of blood."

Nervous Mothers.

We read a great deal of good advice to mothers, to the effect that they should have their children constantly under their own eye. That there is something to be said on the other side of the question will be seen from the following paragraph:—

There is a sentiment among American women which makes it de rigueur for a mother to have her children always about her. If she does not nurse her infant—and modern American mothers can rarely do that—she has it constantly in her presence; and purposely employs an ignorant and inexperienced nurse, for the sake of having one about her who will submit to be constantly harassed by directions. The practical result of this sentimental maternity is really disastrous. American women are nervous, American men are nervous. Naturally they have nervous children; children of slender physique, but easily excited into an exhibition of precocious intelligence, which is considered genius. To make it "notice" early, to make it talk soon, and then to report its wise and witty sayings, is the aim of the fond American mother's life. Instead of letting the little creature suck its fist and grow fat, it is jumped and danced and seesawed, confused with unmeaning sounds, bewildered by unceasing gabble. It is made to know its "own papa and mamma" before its knows there are such things as papas and mammas. It is made to repeat like a parrot names to which it can attach no sense or meaning, and pick the eyes, nose, mouth and other features out of every visitor's head. The English method of placing very young children in the hands of experienced nurses, making them responsible, is much better. The nervous activity of the mother would then cease to irritate, and only act as an occasional stimulus. The child would be subject to less excitement, less indulgence, more regular and healthy habits. The trained mechanism of the nurse, which admits of little outward manifestation of feeling, surrounds her charge with just the quiet, uneventful atmosphere in which a baby best grows and thrives. A large, airy nursery at the top of the house; a good, clean, wholesome Belgian, Swiss or Swedish woman to take charge of it; breakfast of oatmeal porridge and milk; dinners of roast or boiled beef or mutton and rice pudding; tea of bread and butter, milk and fruit, and no candy or 'pieces' between meals; rides with mamma and visits at bed-time—this is the routine which American children need, and which they must have, to counteract the unfortunate tendencies which so many inherit from their parents, and which are aggravated by sharing their bad habits, their late dinners, and the stimulating pressure of their constant society.

The Atrocity of Feather Beds.

BY A COUNTRY PARSON.

The cackling of the goose is said to have saved Rome. The feathers of the same bird are dealing death to America. We are reminded of this as the summer approaches and the hospitality of rural friends occasionally introduces us to the "feather bed" which has come down as an heirdoom in the family for five generations. It is a capacious bag holding some thirty to forty pounds of good, honest goose feathers, plucked a hundred years ago, and held in high esteem by succeeding generations until it has come into the possession of the present incumbent of the old homestead. Underneath this feather bed is the straw bed, filled annually with clean, sweet oat straw. This relieves the pressure upon the bed cords, which are annually tightened at the spring house cleaning with the old-fashioned winch and pin until the tense cord makes music to the stroke of the hand. This feather bed was a tolerable institution in the days of log houses, with the free ventilation of a big fireplace and rifts in the roof through which the wind whistled and the snow drifted in every winter storm. But now, with tight houses and stoves that heat everything from cellar to garret, the case is altered. No amount of airing and sunlight will permanently redeem the bed from the odor of old feathers, which is anything but agreeable, and the more atrocious effete animal matter that has escaped from the sleepers that have sought repose here for generations past. Think now of John Giles coming in from his day's work in the field where he has been following the plough or driving the mower or reaper, his body all day long in a vapor bath, to repeat the process in the night watches as he stretches his weary limbs upon the unpatented perspirator. Here he tries to sleep, but wakes often from fitful dreams, and tosses as if a fever were raging in his veins. Is it any wonder that he rises from unrefreshing sleep with the early dawn, that he grows lean and cadaverous, and becomes cross and dyspeptic? The poor wife who shares his couch has possibly, in addition to his discomforts, the care of a nursing child. Is it any wonder that she comes to the morning meal more dead than alive? Is it any wonder that so large a per cent. of the inmates of our lunatic asylumns come from our farms? The old proverb that "the rest of the laboring man is sweet" needs to be received with several grains of allowance. There is not much sweetness or refreshment on this pile of feathers in the sweltering summer nights. It is surprising to see how long it takes modern improvements to invade the agricultural districts even with the help of railroads and newspapers. Hair mattresses and spring beds are unknown luxuries in many of those districts where the civilisation is at least two hundred years old. "The age of home-spun," supposed by some of our brilliant writers to have departed fifty years ago, is still continued in almost unbroken force. Something cool and soft to sleep on and under is still a desideratum in most farming houses. The apology for feather beds and cotton-quilted comfortables is not poverty but convenience of manufacture. The feathers are a home product, and a tea drinking makes the quilts and comfortables. Yet John Giles owns his farm, is out of debt, has a good bank account, owns railroad stock, and could have mattresses, fine linen, and blankets if he understood their comfort and economy.—American Agriculturalist.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER.—Its effects are almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark, if need be. 3666.

Some weeks ago we published an article showing the progress made by the English expedition sent from London to Central Asia for the purpose of extending British commerce there. It will be remembered that this expedition concluded a treaty with the Ameer of Cashgar, by which the British merchants would be enabled to compete successfully with the Russians, who have hitherto possessed almost entire control of the trade of Yarkand and neighboring districts. But the English have not allowed the matter to rest at this stage. A Company was formed a few days ago in London called the 'Central Asian Company,' with the intention of carrying on a more extensive trade with Yarkand than has been done in the past. As a commercial speculation this movement, it is believed, will yield remunerative returns. Among the novelties to be sent forward we are told are a steam thrashing machine and a steamboat. These will doubtless create a sensation among the Parkandese. The Russians have been keeping a jealous eye on this movement, in British interests, and it is generally believed that something will be done either directly or indirectly to check it.—Montreal Herald.

And now the candy poison sensation is to be revived. A leading American manufacturer has been interviewed on the adulteration of bon bons, and in reply to the question of what are the principal injurious articles of adulteration, he responded: The principal, of course, is terra alba, a sort of plaster of Paris, or gypsum. It comes from South America, and ships bring it back as ballast. It is sold in bags or hogsheads, and is very cheap, (two or three cents per pound,) but there of course various other poisonous and unhealthy substances used by unscrupulous men in the candy business, who do not care how many people they injure so long as they can make money. Thus, lamp-black, verdigris, prussic acid, a deadly poison, gamboge and various chemical compounds for coloring enter largely into the manufacture of these wares. And then he goes on to say that there are not a dozen candy dealers in New York who do not use the articles named. All of which is but a poor outlook for the little folks, and shows to what uses even the sweets of life are brought.

HEART DISEASE.—Halifax, Feb. 10, 1873. Mr. James I. Fellows—Dear Sir: [illegible] that some other sufferer may be benefited, you are at liberty to give this letter publicity. In the winter of 1869 I was taken ill with Disease of the Heart, accompanied by violent palpitation, and from that time gradually became weaker, notwithstanding continued professional attendance, up to a few weeks ago, when your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites was recommended to me. The use of it during a very short time enabled me to resume my usual work, and now I am as fat and hearty as I could wish. Yours, very truly, W. Frank [illegible]. The heart being a great muscular organ requires vigorous nervous force to move it. As Fellow's Hypophosphites restore the nervous element, it will strengthen the heart weakened by loss of this element.—The Inventor.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Feeble, Irregular Action of the Heart, and a long list of kindred diseases, are attributed to a low state of the nervous system. Owing to its bracing effects on these matters we may ascribe to Fellows' Compound Hypophosphites, the prompt and permanent benefit received by patients laboring under these diseases.

TORONTO.

Collision—Queen's Own Rifles.

TORONTO, Sept. 9.

Two buggies came into collision last evening on Yonge street, one was driven by Mr. McGregor and the other by Mr. Welsh. The former gentleman was thrown violently to the ground and was insensible for some minutes.

The Queen's Own Rifles had their weekly muster and march out this evening, which is about all they can do, owing to having no drill shed, the want of which is leading to the militia corps of the city falling into a serious state of inefficiency.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.

The Ottawa River steamer 'Queen Victoria,' got aground in a fog. The passengers were taken off by freight steamers and landed at L'Orignal. The 'Peerless' took them on, and arrived in Montreal twelve hours behind time.

Mr. E. Jenkins, Agent General of the Dominion in Great Britain, is at present in this city.

A property bought in 1859 by Joseph Poupart, for $2,300, was sold in August last for $30,500.

The contract for the building of the new flour shed to replace the one destroyed in the Henderson fire, has been awarded to Mr. James Howley by the Dominion Government.

The Forfar Street Mission, near the Victoria Bridge, a tasteful structure is in course of erection, for the accommodation of a flourishing Sabbath School, instituted in that neighbourhood more than six years ago. During the winter evenings it may also serve as a place of worship for the surrounding families. The mission is sustained by the Young Men's Association of St. Paul's Church.

At about seven o'clock last evening, while Mrs. Leinhas, of 72 St. George street, was filling her coal oil lamp the oil caught fire, and communicating with that in the can caused an explosion, the can being blown to pieces and the burning oil scattered over the face, neck and bosom of the unfortunate woman, who immediately ran into the street enveloped in flames. The alarm was sounded from Box 12, and on the arrival of the men one of them wrapped a cover round Mrs. Leinhas and extinguished the flames, but not before the skin was burnt off of all the upper part of her body and her face. Dr. Kollmeyer was called in, and from the last accounts the woman was doing well. The room was partly destroyed by fire, but not to any serious extent.

QUEBEC.

The Cabinet Crisis.

QUEBEC, Sept. 10.

De Boucherville, Coursol and Robertson are closeted in a room in the Parliament House. Sir Narcisse Belleau, and several prominent politicians of Montreal, are assisting them to form a Cabinet. There are all kinds of rumours afloat, but nothing definite will be known for a day or so. About twenty new members will enter the house this session.

LONDON.

Controverted Election.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

Mr. Walker has been unseated and the Judge has declared the election void. Mr. Walker is to pay costs but is not disqualified.

HAMILTON.

Moulders Strike—Miraculos Escape.

HAMILTON, Sept. 9.

The Moulders strike seems to be progressing towards an adjustment. The Founders held a meeting last night, at which they resolved to offer to give employment to half the men of the Union, at the old full rates for which the men struck.

A horse and waggon, driven by a drunken man named Henry Martin, of Mount Albion, were thrown down the mountain side while being driven along an unfrequented road, and dashed 100 feet upon a heap of quarry rocks. The waggon was splintered to pieces and the horse killed, but the man escaped unhurt.

The daughter of Mrs. Sarah Rush, of the village of Jarvis, is missing from her home and her parents have not been able to find any trace of her.

On Tuesday evening last at 10 o'clock, the valuable saw mills situated on Wood Hill, third concession, Beverly, the property of William Nesbit, were destroyed by fire. Total loss $5,000; insured for $1,000. No suspicion of foul play is attached to any one. The mills will be rebuilt immediately.

Elopements are plentiful here now-a-days. The daughter of the ex-M. P. of Halton has eloped with a young dentist named Zimmerman of Jarvis street, Toronto.

OWEN SOUND.

Shipping News.

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 9.

The schooner 'Phebe Catherine,' whilst attempting to make Port Michael Bay on the 5th inst., went on a rock; she lies in about four feet of water, and it is thought she can be got off. She was going for a cargo of lumber, and is insured in the Western for $3,000.

The steamer 'W. Seymour' arrived here last night from Sault and local ports with passengers and freight; she had on board the captain and crew of the schooner 'Phebe Catharine.' The 'Seymour' left for Collingwood at midnight.

ST. THOMAS.

Fire.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 9.

A fire at Port Stanley on Tuesday evening destroyed the Masonic Hall, the lower flat of which was occupied by the Postmaster and agents of the Dominion and Montreal Telegraph Companies. The fire also spread to McAllister's boot and shoe store, and Manson Taylor's store, totally destroying both of them.

CARLETON PLACE.

The Union Question.

CARLETON PLACE, Sept. 9.

The Presbytery of Perth in connection with the Church of Scotland met at the above place, and was duly constituted. The Rev. D. McGillivray, of Brockville, was chosen Moderator. After a very animated discussion, the remit on Union, together with the accompanying resolutions, except that on the Temporalities, were enthusiastically carried.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES

ENGLAND.

Alarming Illness of M. Guizot.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A special from Paris to the Daily News says M. Francois Pierre Guillaume Guizot, the French author and statesman, is in a critical state and his death is imminent.

Collision in the Mersey.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 9.—A collision occurred in the Mersey to-day between the Spanish steamer 'Tomas' and the Anchor Line steamer 'Alexandria.' The latter was sunk, and the 'Tomas' was badly damaged.

Probable Strike.

A strike of 13,000 cotton operators at Bolton is regarded as inevitable.

SPAIN.

Republican Victory.

MADRID, Sept. 9.—After ten hours hard fighting the Republicans have beaten the Carlists at Mara, near Teruel.

UNITED STATES.

ENGLAND.

S. S. Arrival.

LIVERPOOL, Sept 10—Arrived s.s. 'Egypt' from New York.

Sailed.

S. s. 'Pangiss' for New York.

The New Cable

LONDON, Sept 10—A despatch from the steamer 'Faraday' which is engaged in laying the direct cable to the United States, dated 8th instant, at noon, reports that she was then in lat 52. Four hundred and fifty-three knots of cable had been paid out. A later despatch from the 'Faraday,' under date of 10 a. m. yesterday, states that the work of shifting and paying out of the cable from the fore to the aft tank had been successfully accomplished, and all was proceeding well.

Ship Burnt at Sea.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The ship 'Euxine' while on the voyage from Shields for Aden, took fire and was destroyed. Twenty-one members of the crew who escaped in two boats have arrived at St. Helena, after a voyage of over 1,100 miles, during which neither boat saw the other. The third boat containing the remainder of the crew has not yet been heard from.

Sunken Steamer Raised.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 10.—The steamship 'Alexandria,' which was sunk in the Mersey by collision with the Spanish SS. 'Tomas,' has been raised and taken into dry dock. She had only ballast on board. The 'Tomas' has also been docked.

FRANCE.

Those German Gunboats.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The newspapers of this city publish an official Carlist despatch acknowledging that the Royalists fired on the German gunboats 'Albatross' and 'Nautilus,' at Guetaria. The despatch declares that the vessels were endeavoring to effect a landing of armed men under pretext of exercising their crews, and in conclusion says the Carlists will recognise no combination of Serrano and his accomplices, but will exact respect for Spanish territory, and resist the bravado with which the German Government has endorsed the action of the gunboats.

GERMANY.

The Recent Emeute with the Carlists.

BERLIN, Sept 10—The semi official Provincial Correspondence newspaper in an article on the recent firing on the German gun boats by the Carlists, says that the 'Albatross' having returned the Carlists fire, the matter drops.

JAPAN.

The Murdered German Consul.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 10—The Japan Gazette of August 25th contains the account of the murder of Mr. Haber, German Consul at Hakodadi, by a native who says he was actuated by a demon. He killed his victim with a sword, slashing him in a most horrible manner, and cutting one leg entirely off. The German corvette 'Elizabeth' left at once for Hakodadi.

Shock of Earthquake.

A severe shock of earthquake was felt at Yokohama on August 20th, but no damage was done.

UNITED STATES

End of the Season.

LONG BRANCH, N. J, Sept. 10—The West End, the United States, the East End, and the Metropolitan hotels were closed for the season yesterday. The Ocean Hotel and Mansion House closed on Saturday.

S. S. Arrivals.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Arrived, 'Australia' and 'State of Virginia,' from Glasgow, and 'Cuba,' from London.

Horrible Reports from Conchatta.

A special to the Times says that two white refugees and an ex-Union, and an ex-Confederate soldier, arrived at New Orleans from Conchatta, having been warned away from their homes by white leaguers on account of their support of general Government, confirm the previous reports of murder of officials and negroes, and say that the swamps around Conchatta stink with corpses of slaughtered negroes.

Indian Defeat.

LEAVENWORTH, Sept. 10.—Later news from General Miles' command shows the fight by him with the Indians to have been a greater victory than at first reported. The Indians were completely routed, and many killed.

The Wood Fires.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa, Sept. 10.—Despatches from New Jersey give the following details of the progress of the fires in the pine woods near Hammonton. The fire is still burning but under control; four thousand acres near Egg Harbor are burned over.

Shipments of Grain and Flour.

WASHINGTON, D. C, Sept. 10—From a return made to the Bureau of Statistics it appears that during the month of August the amount of grain and flour shipped from Chicago to Canada to be transhipped to some European port as follows: Wheat 557,854 bushels; Corn 215,675 bushels; Oats 16,676 bushels; Flour 4,287 barrels. Total value $548,712.

Demonstration by Seamen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The members of the Seamen's Protective Association with a number of Longshoremen, Riggers and others in like employ had a street parade this morning for the purpose of protesting against the extortions of captains, boarding house keepers and shippers, and demanding a fair rate of wages. About 600 men were in line and were peaceable and orderly.

Moulton's Statement.

Moulton has returned to Brooklyn, but when he proposes to publish his new statement, if ever, the interviewers have not been able to ascertain. He is reported to have said that he had sacrificed himself quite enough out of friendship to Tilton, and that he did not propose to fight his battles any longer outside of the courts.

The Tribune this morning publishes a letter from Dr. Bacon justifying his bringing about an investigation of the scandal, on the ground that if Beecher be innocent, as he believes him to be, it was due to him and to his church that the widely extended and false scandal should cease; while, if he be guilty, the church and the world ought to know it, and mete out to him the punishment due for such hypocrisy and crime.

Sportsmens' Convention.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 10.—The convention of sportsmen assembled at the International Hotel this morning, at 10 o'clock. The following officers of the permanent organization were unanimously elected:—Hon. Allen T. Bains, of Ohio, president; C. Smith, of New York, treasurer; C. C. Codman, of Detroit, recording secretary; W. Rorker, of West Meriden, Conn, editor of the American Sportsman, corresponding secretary. It was voted that the first annual meeting of the association be held at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 2nd Tuesday in June, 1875. After appointing a committee on resolutions the meeting adjourned till 8 o'clock this evening.

The adjourned meeting of the National Sportsmens' Association adopted resolutions favoring uniform game laws throughout the country, and prohibiting the destruction of game and fish during the breeding, nesting, and spawning seasons, the capture of game birds in nests and traps at all seasons, and prohibiting the destruction of fish in non-navigable waters by means of nets and traps, and the obstruction of such streams with fish dams; favouring the better enforcement of the existing game laws and prohibiting the destruction at all times of non-game birds.

Buffalo Park Races.

BUFFALO, Sept. 10.—The Buffalo Park Races closed to-day with a larger attendance than on any previous day and with splendid sport. The hurdle race was won by 'Macon,' 'Gaffney' second; 'Granger' third. Time, 4m. 1s. The sweepstakes, for two year olds, was taken by 'Volcano' in 1m. 47s. The race for the 'Buffalo Cup,' two miles and a half, was won by 'Chestnut Filly,' in 4m. 28¼s, the fastest cup time on record by six seconds. The fourth and last race of the day was for a purse of $500, for all ages, mile heats. The race was won by 'Culpepper.' Time, 1m. 44¼s. The second heat was won by 'Favorite.' Time, 1m. 44¼s., and the third by 'Favorite,' in 1m. 47s.

CUBA.

An Official Decree.

HAVANA, Sept. 10.—Captain-General Concha to-day publishes a decree in the Official Gazette ordering out immediately for active service five per cent. of all volunteers enrolled in the Island of Cuba, to serve until April 1st, 1875. This will bring out about 3,500 men. Exemption cannot be purchased with money, those drafted being obliged to serve themselves or provide substitutes. The Government of the Island has asked from the Banks a loan of $500,000 in gold, and $1,000,000 in paper money which is to be returned shortly.

Crop Reports.

Statements with respect to the harvest from all parts of the Dominion, are unanimous in their testimony to the more than average returns to the farmer for his labour during the past twelve months. We again present our readers with a few extracts from the very satisfactory reports given by exchanges.

The Paris Transcript says:—A good many thrashing machines are now going their rounds, and we are able to glean some idea of the results. The yield is going to turn out on the whole better than last year. In the south and east of Blenheim it will average 18 to 20 bushels per acre of fall wheat. Among some of the best proceeds we have noted are Mrs R Laidlaw, 8th concession, 37 bushels and 30 bushels after peas. H Mums, 7th con., 22 bushels; David Hoggarth, 8th con., 34 bushels; Mr Lapierre, plains, 30 bushels of the 'Scott' variety of fall, procured west of London. Mr Hunt has been thrashing with his Ingersoll machine for the last fortnight around Paris and Dumfries at the rate of 500 bushels a day. He reports the average to be from 18 to 20 bushels, fall.

The same paper, in alluding to the root crops, reports;—Turnips must be reported as in general a short crop, and in many places blanky in the drills. Potatoes exhibit a great diversity of appearance. In the gardens and around the vicinity of Paris they are entirely wilted up beyond the possibility of a revival. Further north on Messrs. O'Neill's, Barker's, and other farms, in the same field may be seen patches withered and almost bare, and others still flourishing in luxuriant greenness. As a rule the Rose and other early varieties have suffered so much from the bug and drought that they will be a very short yield. The latter varieties may, however, turn out a short crop.

In this neighborhood (Barrie) according to the Examiner, in all descriptions of crops the yield has been unexceptionally good. The hay crop was abundant and well preserved; fall wheat generally yields well, and is of excellent quality; spring wheat, oats, barley and other grains are fully up to the average. In some cases the sample may be light, owing to prevailing dry weather, but generally speaking only the most encouraging statements reach us. If they stand the test of threshing and yield up to the anticipations formed, agriculturalists in these townships will have much to be thankful for. The potatoe crop has suffered somewhat in various localities from drought, and from the operations of the bug. There will be a fair yield, however, and otherwise the tuber is of very fine quality. Turnips are inclined as yet to be small, but doubtless will thrive well after the fall rains.

The South Simcoe News tells us the yield of all kinds of grain will far exceed the most sanguine expectations of the majority of the farmers.

The Lindsay Post says:—The harvest of Victoria county this year will be the largest ever gathered; and it is being gathered under the most favourable conditions. The memory of the oldest inhabitant fails to recall a season in which the weather has been more opportune, with the exception of the somewhat variable and backward spring. The hay crop is a very large one, and has been well cured, and got in in the most satisfactory state. Fall wheat though injured in places, is still a much better and larger crop than was generally anticipated. If not a full crop it will be seven-eighths in abundance the spring crop has never been excelled. Barn-room will be the great consideration. The golden fields never presented a finer appearance. The quality of the grain, too, is excellent; and is fully equal to that of last year, while the straw is much longer, and harder. About Valentia quite a number of the farmers had to thrash a day, so as to make room for the extra bulk which the fields have rendered them this year. The root crops look well, although potatoes are generally worsted considerably by the potato bug. Mr. George Calvert of Ops, sends a report as follows: The hay crop is far above the average; the Spring wheat and oats are double that we had last season; Barley an average crop; Peas, I think will not be as good a sample as last season. Turnips want rain. Cabbage a failure. I have travelled through Manvers, Cartwright, Clarke, Darlington, and I consider Ops is the best for bulk that I have seen. The farmers have only one 'If' left, that is if the prices are good all will be well.

A correspondent of the Bobcaygeon Independent who has made a trip through the back country, and noticed the crops along his journey, reports them as first-rate. There has been no failure whatever, and every kind of seed put into the ground has produced most abundantly. Hay, oats, peas and wheat are all as good a crop as could possibly be wished, and the roots will be something surprising.

The crops in Prince Edward have been most abundant in every respect. Fruit and vegetables have been garnered in great plentitude. The grain and fruit crops are represented as excellent.

The Cornwall Gazette says the harvest is one of the best for a number of years. Spring wheat, peas, barley and potatoes never looked better.

The Prescott Telegraph says:—The crops, as a general thing, are much better than they been been for years, and the weather of the past three weeks has been favourable to getting them in. So far we have heard no complaints against the yield of any of the cereals, but on the contrary have been given to understand that they are all that could be wished for. Out of some sixty acres sowing of barley, J. P. Wiser, Esq., informs us that he would have been satisfied with 1,500 bushels, but instead of having only that amount he has upwards of 3,000. The hay crop, we believe, is about the only one that is short, unless, perhaps, the drought of the past two or three weeks may affect the roots.

An Arnprior Star representative interviewed Mr. A. Riddell, jr., of Fitzroy, relative to the crop prospects in his neighborhood. He states that the hay was light in all cases, wheat moderate, the oats are very light. In all not an average crop is expected; however, we learn that in other parts of the township the oat crop is better, although many are cutting and stowing the crop away like hay, while yet green.

From the Maritime Provinces the same good news is brought. According to the Pictou Standard, the grain crop promises an abundant yield. The potato blight has made its appearance, but to what extent it is likely to be injurious it is difficult to estimate as yet.

The Bridgetown Monitor is not so pleasing when it says:—The footprints of the potato blight are visible in this neighbourhood. We regret to learn that in Clements the rot has already destroyed at least seventy-five per cent of the crop. The present season will not be remarkable for a large apple crop. A profusion of blossoms does not always result in abundance of fruit. Frosts, high winds, and the insectile tribes, all conspire to lesson the productiveness of our orchards.

POND'S EXTRACT

ARTERIAL blood contains the elements of Vitality and Nutrition, which is emptied into the capillary system and, after supplying the required nourishment, is sucked up by the minute branches of the venous system and carried back to the lungs for vital recuperation. By reason of much that is wrong in living and medical treatment, this stream of blood flowing through the body is not always pure or free from inflammatory particles, which may pass off by insensible perspiration through the skin or with the waste matter through the intestines, but cold or wet may stop their outward escape, and the internal drainage may become inactive, when the corrupt particles are apt to coagulate, causing pestules, scalp eruptions or running sores, bronchitis &c. They may locate about a nerve, causing neuralgia, and by attaching themselves to the arterial tubes and veins, large or small, and inflaming them by their corrosive influence, cause those intensely painful sensations called Rheumatism. Nature struggles to drench out or dislodge if possible these corrosive particles, and the parts become very red from the congestion or pressure of blood therein. This is called Inflammatory Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout. If nature does not succeed in washing out these acremonious atoms she withdraws the undue supply of blood from such parts, ceases to contend, and performs circulation as best she can; however, the passage of the blood through the affected channels still continues painful. This is Chronic Rheumatism, which may exist without its usual antecedant the Acute kind.

The above only true theory points out the correct treatment of this and other distressing maladies. Dissolve these corrupt particles that have lodged in the afflicted parts, so that in the circulation they may be carried off externally or internally, and having thus removed the cause the effect ceases.

The experiment of twenty years in the London Hospital, England, has demonstrated to the Medical Faculty of Europe, that the only medicine having control over this class of diseases, is the

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE!

It is the result of a lifetime of scientific study and is now for the first time offered to the Canadian public, prepared by a careful, experienced and conscientious physician, in obedience to the desire of numberless friends in the profession, in the trade and among the people. Every bottle is warranted to contain the full strength of the medicine in its highest state of purity and development, and is superior to any medicine ever compounded for this terrible complaint.

A BLESSING TO THE POLICE.

MONTREAL, 13th June, 1864.

DEVINS & BOLTON:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been one of the many martyrs of rheumatism that I meet on my every day rounds, I was induced to try the celebrated DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. I had suffered the last five or six weeks the most terrible acute pains across my loins and back, so severe indeed that I could hardly walk with the help of a stick. I commenced the Diamond Remedy—following the directions carefully. Relief came immediately with the first bottle, improved rapidly with the second, completely cured and freed from pain after finishing my fifth small bottle. You are at perfect liberty either to refer to me privately or publicly, as I feel very thankful for the relief, and sympathise with my fellow sufferers from rheumatism.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. CARDINAL,
Sanitary Police Officer,
51 Labelle street.

In simple cases, sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of two or three bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.

This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send or it to

NORTHRUP & LYMAN,
Agents for the Province of Ontario,
Scott street, Toronto.
Or to DEVINS & BOLTON,

PAIN-KILLER
THE GREAT
Internal and External Remedy.

TAKEN INTERNALLY it relieves INSTANTLY the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY it is the best LINIMENT in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives rest and quiet to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

Price, 25 Cents per Bottle.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES OF FASHION

DRESSMAKING BEING THE ORDER OF THE TIMES.

J. W. RYAN

Has much pleasure in informing his numerous Lady customers and others that MADAME OLLIER, the celebrated Cutter and Fitter of Ladies' Garments, has arrived from her New York and Boston trip, and re-engaged with him to superintend his Dressmaking Department,

No. 234 WELLINGTON STREET

It will be remembered that Madame Ollier came direct from Boston last March to make arrangements with him, but was subsequently induced, by large offers for her valuable services, to go into an old established firm in Centre Town; but finding that she had made a change for the worse, again engaged with him. Madame Ollier's attainments in the art of Scientific Measurements enables her to ensure a perfect fit without putting her customers to the inconvenience of removing a single garment.

Electric Oil Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ontario, writes 'send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful.' William Maguire, of Franklin, writes, 'I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "Please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly run out: nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well, and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson Woodford, writes—"Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P.Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P.O., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 5 cents.

THE FOLLOWING IS AN Extract from a Letter

NORTON'S PILLS

Dated 15th May, 1872, from an old inhabitant of Horningsham, near Warminster, Wilts: "I must also beg to say that your Pills are an excellent medicine for me, and I certainly do enjoy good health, sound sleep and a good appetite; this is owing to taking your Pills. I am 78 years old. Remaining, gentlemen, yours very respectfully, L. S."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The New York Tribune.

THE CONSOLIDATION OF ITALY, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capitulation of her proud and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a scion of the most liberal among royal houses; the virtual absorption of the kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemburg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the headship of Prussia, into the triumphant and powerful empire of Germany; and the arming of Russia to re-assert her preponderance in the councils of Europe, or to prosecute her often postponed but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine, and the vast but decaying and anarchical dominion of the Sultan, all combine to invest with profound interest the everchanging phases of our tidings from the Old World. The Tribune, through trusted correspondents stationed at all points in Europe where great movements are in progress or imminent aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle age Feudalism and Ecclesiasticism on the one hand and Nineteenth-Century scepticism and secularism on the other. Recognising a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is, it looks hopefully on the great conflict as destined (like our own recent convulsion) to evolve from strife, disaster, and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our city, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionised through an initial triumph of Reform which surpasses the most sanguine anticipations. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confiding it in those worthiest and fittest to wield it. To this beneficent and vitally needed reform, the Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, esteeming the choice of honest and faithful men to office as of all New Departures the most essential and auspicious.

TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL. The distinctive characteristics which have gained for DR. DE JONGH'S Oil so much celebrity, the entire confidence of the most eminent members of the Medical Profession, and notwithstanding the active and unscrupulous opposition of many interested dealers, an unprecedented amount of public patronage may be thus concisely enumerated:—

I.—Its genuineness, purity, and uniform strength are ascertained and guaranteed.

II.—It contains all the active and essential principles that therapeutic experience has found to be the most effective in the operation of the remedy.

III.—It is palatable, easily taken, and creates no nausea.

IV.—It is borne with facility by the most delicate stomach and improves the functions of digestion and assimilation.

V.—Its medicinal properties and remedial action have been found to be immeasurably greater than those of any other kind of Cod Liver Oil.

VI.—From the unequalled rapidity of its curative effects, it is infinitely more economical than any which is offered, even at the lowest price.

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

The extraordinary virtues of DR. DE JONGH'S Light Brown Cod Liver Oil in Pulmonary Consumption may now be considered as fully established. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions or produces a more marked and favorable influence on the local malady.

The following high testimony to the efficacy of DR. DE JONGH'S COD LIVER OIL in Consumption is afforded by ALLEN G. CHATTAWAY, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., of Leominster:—

"Having for some years extensively used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, both in public and private practice, I have no hesitation in stating its effects are very far superior to those of any other Cod Liver Oil. Nearly four years since, two cases of confirmed Consumption were placed under my care. In both, the lungs were a mass of tubercular deposit, and every possible sound to be heard in phthisis was present. The sole remedy employed was DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL; and now the patients are strong and fat; the diseased (abnormal) sounds nearly inaudible; and in the one case (male), hunting, fishing, and shooting, are freely indulged in, the patient expressing himself quite capable of undergoing as much fatigue as any of his fellow sportsmen."

GENERAL DEBILITY AND EMACIATION.

In cases of prostration and emaciation, where the vital forces are reduced, and where life appears to be even at its lowest ebb, the restorative powers of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL are remarkably manifested. By its administration the natural appetite is revived, and the functions of digestion and assimilation are improved, reanimated, and regulated; and, when its use has been steadily preserved in, its peculiar tonic and nutritive properties have entirely restored health and strength to the most feeble and deteriorated constitutions.

The actual benefit derived is thus described by ROWLAND DALTON, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., District Medical Officer at Bury St. Edmunds:—

"In giving my opinion of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I have no hesitation in saying that I have not the slightest confidence in any other kind. The effects of DR. DE JONGH'S OIL are sure and most remarkable, especially in that broken down state of health and strength which usually precedes and favors tubercular deposit; and I never recommend any other sort. The Oil I have had from you was for my own use, and it has certainly been the only means of saving my life on two occasions, and even now, when I feel 'out of condition,' I take it, and like it, unmixed with anything, as being the most agreeable way. I could wish that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL would come into general use, and entirely supersede the Pale and other worthless preparations."

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

From innumerable medical and scientific opinions of the highest character in commendation of DR DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL, the following are selected:—

Sir Henry Marsh, Bart., M.D., Physician in Ordinary to the Queen in Ireland.

"I consider Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil to be a very pure Oil, not likely to create disgust, and a therapeutic agent of great value."

Dr. David Smith, F.R.S., Medical Officer to the Poor Law Board of Great Britain.

"We think it a great advantage that there is one kind of Cod Liver Oil which is universally admitted to be genuine—the Light Brown Oil supplied by Dr. De Jongh. It has long been our practice, when prescribing the Oil, to recommend this kind, since, amidst so much variety and uncertainty, we have confidence in its genuineness." (Extract from "Consumption: its early and Remediable Stages.")

Dr. Barlow, F.R.S., Sen Physician to Guy's Hosp.

"I have frequently recommended persons consulting me to make use of Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil. I have been well satisfied with its effects, and believe it be a very pure Oil, well fitted for those cases in in which the use that substance is indicated."

Dr. Lawrence, Physician to H.R.H. the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

I invariably prescribe Dr. De Jongh's Cod Liver Oil in preference to any other, feeling assured that I am recommending a genuine article and not a manufactured compound in which the efficacy of this invaluable medicine is destroyed."

Sir Joseph Olliffe, M.D., Physician to the British Embassy at Paris.

"I have frequently prescribed Dr. De Jongh's Light Brown Cod Liver Oil, and I have every reason to be satisfied with its beneficial and salutary effects."

Lankester, F.R.S., Coroner for Central Middlesex.

"I consider that the purity of this Oil is secured in its preparation by the personal attention of so good a Chemist and intelligent a Physician as Dr. De Jongh, who has also written the best Medical Treatise on the Oil with which I am acquainted. Hence, I deem the Cod Liver Oil sold under his guarantee to be preferrable to any other kind as regards genuineness and medical efficacy."

THE ROYAL READERS.

A NEW SERIES OF ILLUSTRATED ENGLISH READING-BOOKS.

From Mr. M. Patterson, Rector of the Free Church Training School; Moray House, Edinburgh.

"Thanks for the Specimen of your new Reading Books and Sheets. . . They are admirable in every particular. Nothing, in my opinion, would more contribute to the improvement of Education than the wide circulation of these books, and the intelligent handling of them."

From A. Montgomerie, L.L.D., Principal of Ladies' College Glasgow.

"I have examined very carefully the 'Printing,' and Nos. I., II., and III. of the Royal Readers, and have no hesitation in saying that they are, in my opinion, incomparably the best English Reading-Books that have ever been published. The adaptation of the means to the end in view is perfect."

From T. Morrison, M.A., Rector of the Free Church Normal School, Glasgow.

"I have very carefully examined the Royal Readers. The plan is excellent, and the execution, if I may say so, even better. They are out of sight the best series of Reading-books published and should very speedily be widely used. The Illustrations constitutes an admirable features and add much to the value of the Readers

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT

In aid of the

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

DAY FIXED AND A FULL DRAWING ASSURED,

—ON—

MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.

LAST CHANCE FOR

An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated, and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed, and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT

Is the last which will ever be given under this charter and by the present management,

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced, on

MONDAY, 30TH NOVEMBER,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

Caution.

GENUINE PANCREATINE
PANCREATIC EMULSION.

The efficacy of these Medicines in the treatment of Indigestion, Bronchitis or Pulmonary Catarrh, Consumption, Wasting, &c., &c., depending entirely upon their purity and strength, Messrs SAVORY & MOORE caution the public against imitations of them which are put forth as possessing the remedial properties of the true preparations, but which are in reality either saponaceous compounds, ointments or pomades, without a trace of the Pancreatic principle and entirely unfit and useless as medicines. These imitations are calculated to produce serious disappointment and to injuriously affect the reputation which the genuine Pancreatine and Pancreatic Emulsion have acquired. It is therefore highly important that purchasers examine the labels on the bottles for the names and Trade Mark

"SAVORY & MOORE."

The Original and only Manufacturers, Chemists to the Queen, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, H.I.M. Napoleon the Third, His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, &c.

143 NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Extract from an Analytical Report upon a Foreign Specimen of a so-called Preparation of Pancreatine.

"This compound resembled an Ointment or Pomade in appearance and consistency, and was flavored with Essence of Almond or Prussic Acid. It was strongly alkaline, indicating free alkali, which, acting upon the fat, produced the usual saponifying result; the whole forming a granular moist mass of fat, soap, glycerine and water. This ointment was physically and chemically different from the true Pancreatic Emulsion which I have also examined, and which, besides being rich in Pancreatic juice, has the delicate smooth appearance and consistency of fresh cream, is palatable and readily taken."

LEA & PERRINS
CELEBRATED
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE
DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS
TO BE
THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.

CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine is to

ASK FOR LEA AND PERRINS' SAUCE,

and to see that their names are upon the wrapper, labels, stopper, and bottle.

Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.

Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce, and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.

Provincial Agricultural Exhibition.

As the time approaches for the opening of the forthcoming Exhibition of the Provincial Agricultural and Arts Association, to be held in this city the week after next, the public interest in the progress of the work of altering and adding to the accommodation heretofore existing grows more lively, and a brief statement of the present condition of the grounds will doubtless be acceptable to the majority of the readers of The Globe.

The works were commenced about six weeks ago, under the direction of Mr. C. W. Johnson, City Engineer, assisted by Mr. George Emery, clerk of the works, and so well were the plans matured, and so ably have these gentlemen been seconded in their efforts by the various contractors, that at the present time nothing remains to be done by the city authorities except renewing a portion of the walks, when the grounds will be handed over to the Association, which will probably be done on Friday or Saturday.

The work performed by the city, in erecting buildings and providing additional accommodations, consists principally of the following:—1. Five large and commodious stables, with 54 stalls in each, equal to 900 feet in length, with a depth of 30 feet 6 in. 2. Feed boxes for 270 new stalls, and the same number for the old ones. 3. Cattle sheds 900 feet long by 24 feet deep. 4. Sheep pens 400 feet long by 24 feet deep. 5. Pig pens 900 feet run. 6. Carriage sheds 250 feet long by 24 feet wide. 7. Machine sheds 100 feet long by 30 feet wide. 8. A barn for hay and feed 37 feet long by 24 feet wide. All the buildings have been constructed of lumber of the best quality, so that they will not so soon fall into decay as those used on the last occasion of the exhibition being held here. The contractors were, in section 1, comprising the stables, cattle sheds, sheep and pig pens—Mr. Harvey. Section 2, comprising the carriage shed, hay barn, machine shed, poultry coops and general carpenter's work—Mr. Dennis. Section 3, comprising painting, colouring, glazing, whitewashing, and cleansing—Mr. Dill. Several important additions have been made to the buildings set apart for the convenience and comfort of the general public, which cannot fail to be appreciated.

The prize list consists of 59 classes, being seven more than last year, and the entries up to the present time are far more numerous than has been the case in any previous exhibition, at a corresponding period before the opening. The following are the classes specified in the list:—

Class 1. Thorough-bred horses.
" 2. Roadster horses.
" 3. Carriage horses.
" 4. Canadian bred draught horses.
" 5. Heavy draught horses, imported stock.

The following will be the programme for the week:

Monday, Sept 21st, will be devoted to the final receiving of articles for exhibition and their proper arrangement. Officers and members of the Association, judges, exhibitors, delegates, members of the press, and necessary attendants, will be admitted on presenting the proper credentials, badge, or ticket of admission. Other persons will be admitted on payment of 25 cents each time. The rules for admission will be the same throughout the Exhibition.

Tuesday 22d.—The judges in all the classes will meet in their respective Committee Rooms at 10 a.m., and will make arrangements to commence their duties. On receiving the class books, they will be also furnished with the blank prize tickets, which they shall fill up and affix in each section so soon as they shall have finally determined their awards. The first prize tickets will be red; the second, blue; the third, yellow; the fourth, white; extra, green; the 'Highly Commended' and 'Commended' Tickets, white. On completing the class, the judges will report to the Secretary. The main Exhibition building will be closed all this day, for the purpose of affording the judges an opportunity of discharging their duties properly. Non-members admitted to the grounds on payment of 25 cents each time. The annual meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association will take place at the Agricultural Hall at 7 p.m.

Wednesday, 23rd.—The judges of the various classes will complete their awards as early in the day as possible. All the buildings and grounds will be open to visitors. Admission the same as on Monday and Tuesday. The annual meeting of the Mechanics' Institute Association will take place at the Agricultural Hall this evening at 7 o'clock.

Thursday, 24th.—Admission, 25 cents. The prize animals will be exhibited in the ring at 2 p.m. The annual meeting of the Directors of the Provincial Agricultural Association, for the purpose of electing auditors, deciding upon the place of holding the next exhibition, and other business, will take place at 7 p.m., at the Agricultural Hall, corner of Yonge and Queen streets, Toronto.

The President will deliver his address at the annual meeting.

Friday, 25th. Admission the same as on previous days, till 2 p.m. At 2 p.m., the Exhibition will be considered officially closed, after which no one will be admitted into the Crystal Palace, and exhibitors may commence to take away their property.

Saturday, 26th.—The Treasurer will commence paying the premiums at 9 a.m. Exhibitors will remove all their property from the grounds and buildings. The gates will be kept closed as long as necessary, and none will be admitted except those who can show that they have business to attend to.

As an example of the forward state of the preparations, it may be mentioned that already some of the machinery has been received, including the large engine by Waterous & Co., which will supply the steam power for the machinery department. It is expected that a large number of the articles to be exhibited will arrive during this week, so that with the exception of some of the horticultural specimens, and probably a few small articles of handiwork, the bulk of the goods will be arranged by Friday or Saturday in next week. Altogether it is safe to state that this will be the largest and best show ever seen in the Province, and should the weather prove moderately favourable will be, perhaps, the most successful.

Constantinople.

(From the Belgravia.)

The principal objects of interest to be seen in Constantinople are the Seraglio, or former palace of the Sultans, the Imperial Treasury, the tomb of Mahmoud, the old walls, the mosques, fountains, and bazaars. The Mosque of St. Sophia takes precedence of every other mosque, and is, in fact, the most celebrated of all the edifices consecrated to the service of Islam. It was originally built by Constantine in A.D. 325, but, having been burnt down in the reign of Justinian, was rebuilt on a more splendid scale in the year 538. According to Von Hammer, the principal architects employed by Justinian in this masterpiece of architecture were Athenius of Tralles, and Isidorus of Miletus. A hundred other architects superintended the building, under each of whom were placed a hundred masons; five thousand of the latter worked on the right side, to a plan laid down by an angel who appeared to the Emperor in a dream. The walls and arches were constructed of bricks, but the magnificence and variety of the marble columns surpassed all bounds. Every species of marble, granite, and porphyry—Phrygian, white marble with rose-colored stripes, which imitated the blood of Atys slain at Lynada; green marble from Laconia; blue Lybia; black Celtic marble, with white veins; Bosphorus marble white with black veins; Thessalian, Molussian, Proconessian marble; Egyptian starred granite, and Saitic porphyry—were all employed. The tiles on the arch of the cupolas, which astonished every eye by their extraordinary lightness and boldness, were prepared at Rhodes of a particularly light clay, so that twelve of them did not weigh more than the weight of one ordinary tile. The chalk-white tiles bore the inscription: "God has founded it, and it will not be overthrown; God will support it in the blush of the dawn." When the building of the cupolas at length began, the tiles were laid by twelves, and after each layer of twelve tiles relics were built in, while the priests sang hymns and prayers for the durability of the edifice and the prosperity of the church. The bringing together and preparation of the building material occupied seven and a half years, and the building lasted eight and a half years, and the finishing of the whole, therefore, took up sixteen years. When it was finished, and furnished with the sacred vessels, the Emperor, on Christmas Eve, in the year 538, drove with four horses from the palace above the Augusteon to the church; 1,000 oxen, 1,000 sheep, 600 deer, 1,000 pigs, 10,000 cocks and hens were slaughtered; and during three hours 30,000 measures of corn were distributed among the poor. Accompanied by the patriarch Eutychius, the Emperor entered the church and then ran alone from the entrance of the halls to the pulpit, where, with outstretched arms, he cried: "God be praised, who has esteemed me worthy to complete such a work. Solomon, I have surpassed thee!" When Constantinople was taken by the Turks, in May, 1453, the Greeks fled for refuge to the church of St. Sophia, but the gates were soon forced, and the carnage which followed was fearful. The dead covered the floor to the depth of many feet, and the massacre was only stayed by the entrance of Mohammed II. himself, who exclaimed, 'It is enough!' The other mosques worth a visit are those of Sultans Selyman, Achmet, Bajazet, Selim, and Mahmoud, as also that at Eyoub, in which the Sultans are girded with the sword of Othman upon their accession to the dignity of Emperor and Commander of the Faithful. Hasne, or Imperial Treasury, contains the rich collection of ancient armour and coats of mail worn by the Sultans, the most remarkable of which is that of Sultan Murad II., conqueror of Bagdad. The head piece of this suit is of gold and silver, almost covered with precious stones; the diadem surrounding the turban is composed of three emeralds of the purest water, are about seven to eight centimetres in size, while the collar is formed of twenty two large and magnificent diamonds. In the Hasne there is also a curious ornament, in the shape of an elephant of massive gold, standing on a pedestal formed of enormous pearls placed side by side. There is also the table, thickly inlaid with oriental topazes, presented by Catherine of Russia to the Vizier Baltadji Mustapha, together with a very remarkable collection of ancient costumes, trimmed with rare fur, and in some instances literally covered with precious stones. The divans and cushions formerly used in the throne-room of the Sultans are superb, the stuff of which the latter are made being pure tissue of gold, without any mixture of silver whatever, and embroidered with pearls weighing each about 3,600 drachmas. Children's cradles of solid gold, inlaid with precious stones; vases of immense value, in rock crystal, gold and silver, encrusted with rubies, emeralds and diamonds; daggers, swords, and shields, beautifully wrought and beautifully jewelled—and tell a story of ancient wealth and grandeur, when the Ottoman power was a reality, and Western Europe trembled before the great descendant of Mahomed. Among the chief sights of Constantinople are the 'Howling Dervishes' at Galata. The ceremonies of the former are to my mind rather repulsive, but those of the latter are exceedingly graceful and artistic. By far the most interesting sight, however, is that of the Sultan going in public state to mosque on Friday (the Mussulman Sabbath.) It is a religious duty imposed on the sovereign for the time being, from which under no pretense (unless in case of great danger from sickness) can he possibly be exempt. The present Sultan generally goes to the mosque at Bechiktach, a short distance from his palace of Dolma-Baghtche; and long before the appointed hour the neighbourhood becomes thronged with a multitude of redfezzed and turbanded men; while Turkish women clad in snowy yashmaks and glowing-coloured feridjies of every shade line the road on either side from the grand gate of the palace to the mosque itself. A double line of guards keep the route, and at a few minutes before twelve a number of Generals and Colonels, riding two abreast, precede some files of superior officers on foot. Then, come on horseback the principal Ministers of State, followed by the Grand Vizier, and at a short distance the Sultan himself, mounted on a splendid Arab charger, richly caparisoned. Immediately behind his Majesty follow the body-guard who are selected from the best families of every race in the Empire, and wear each of them their own national costume—several led horses in magnificent trappings, and an escort of picked imperial troops. As the Sultan passes along, the artillery at the arsenal fire one hundred and one guns, the band stationed at intervals struck up the Sultan's March, and soldiers shout "Long live Abdul Aziz, may he live forever!" It is a most imposing spectacle, and as the cavalcade of Pashas of every rank, with dazzling gold embroider on their saddle-cloths and uniforms studded with medjidies and nishamiftiars, move down the line of the music of the imperial band, the ensemble compares favourably with any court procession to be seen elsewhere in Europe.

The Ottawa Times

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12 1874

Arrangements have been made with the several Railway Companies for the conveyance to Ottawa of intending competitors at the Dominion Rifle Association Match, which takes place next week, at one fare and a third for the double journey. Passage at this rate can be secured upon production of member's ticket and commanding officer's certificate at any station.

Late exchanges from Manitoba report that the Hon. Mr. Laird, previous to starting on his treaty mission to the Plain and Wood Cree Indians, had, with studious impartiality, given audiences to all sorts and conditions of men. He has had to listen to grievances of every imaginable sort and kind from red-skins, half-breeds, and whites, and his patience is described by journals of both parties as of the most extraordinary length. Of course everybody was not satisfied. That would be impossible where legislation regarding rights of property has hitherto been so loose and so contradictory in character. It seems, however, that even in Winnipeg there is no lack of unscrupulousness among the writers for the Opposition press, and some of the utterances of the Minister of the Interior have been viciously perverted. A Winnipeg contemporary, however, is careful to give the lie direct to some of these false assertions, and that journal at fault, with a spirit of fairness which might be copied to some advantage by the Opposition press in this Province, has been careful to put the matter right before the public through its own columns.

Under the head of "Corruption in the Public Works Department," the Prescott Telegraph undertakes to confirm the charges made in the Ottawa correspondence of the Hamilton Times against Mr Arnoldi, Mechanical Engineer in the Public Works Department. Our Prescott contemporary says, "the proofs of Mr Arnoldi's guilt are clear and explicit, and admit of no denial whatever," and then proceeds to particularise the charges, which are unquestionably of a very grave character. We are not surprised that the statements in the correspondence of the Hamilton Times, coming as they do from a prejudiced, if not an unscrupulous quarter, are much stronger than the facts will justify. But that the Prescott Telegraph should editorially substantiate them in a way that implies accurate personal knowledge of the facts, and employ towards Mr. Arnoldi allusions that are grossly offensive in a personal sense, surprises us very much. The person so grossly assailed is one of the most efficient men in his department; and since an enquiry has been instituted and is actually going on, he is surely entitled to a cessation of charges until a decision either for or against him shall have been given. We do not believe, from such information as we can command, that the charges can be sustained in any particular. It may turn out that journals so superzealous in the public interest, or so carelessly accessible to persons who have axes to grind or spleen to gratify, as to allow charges of felony and lesser crimes to be wantonly made against individuals, will have yet to answer for their conduct.

THE MAIL CONTRACT AGAIN.

We deny every statement made by the Citizen that is in conflict with our own explanation of the Renfrew Mail contract matter as given in our issue of yesterday. The only one of our contemporary's "facts" which perhaps should be dealt with otherwise than by the above general denial, is stated in the following terms:—

"Mr. MacDougall wrote to the Postmaster General after the election, when Havey's vote and influence were beyond peradventure, and the contract, without tender, was given to him."

This is one of those "facts" which the proverb tells us, requires another to back it. The renewed contract was formally executed one clear month before the election, and took effect from the first day of January. We have no thought of "convicting Mr. McDougall of falsehood;" there are people nearer home upon whom we can carry out that design every twenty-four hours. But the papers in the Post Office Department will convict, we need not say whom, of deliberate falsehood with regard to this matter, unless it be made clearer than it is how Mr Macdougall's letter written after the election could have secured a contract that was signed, sealed, and delivered a month before that event. Much stress is put upon the circumstance that this contract was renewed "without tender." When a mail contract is satisfactory in respect of the contractor and his price, and we showed yesterday that this one was so, it is the practice of the Department, of long standing, to renew for a second term. Let us have a few more such facts; if our contemporary can stand the consequences as well as the Postmaster General there will not be much harm done.

THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT.

We gave in these columns yesterday a list which has the appearance of being pretty nearly correct, showing the composition of the new Quebec Government. As to the particular persons who may be called on to become members of the Government, we are not in the meantime particularly concerned, for in the very fact of the Lieutenant Governor becoming the tool of designing politicians, throwing constitutional practice and constitutional precedent to the four winds of heaven, and calling upon other than the Leader of Her Majesty's Opposition to form an Administration, we see the elements of early failure, and a final breaking up of the Conservative party of the Province of Quebec. It has been said that by resigning before meeting Parliament, and thus avoiding the disaster of an adverse vote, the Conservatives have shown that they have profited by the experience of their friends of the late Federal Government. If they had resigned, as they have done, but a little earlier, and the Governor had pursued a constitutional course and called upon Mr. Joly in the first instance, then we should say they had indeed profited by the experience quoted, but as matters stand it is far from difficult to see that instead of having done that which is wise, they have most effectively destroyed their own credit before the country. It is probably unfair to use the term "they," for we have the authority of the Quebec Chronicle for saying that Mr. Ouimet offered no advice to His Honour regarding the choice of a successor. The Chronicle further confesses that the endeavour to patch up an Administration out of the Conservative party is suicidal policy. It admits that they are divided amongst themselves, while the Opposition are united to a man, and asserts that no course was constitutionally open to the Governor, but to send for the leader of the united party. True, it suggests a coalition in that event, which is quite natural to a Tory organ, but we have less to do with the suggestion than with the admissions. Except for the dishonour and disgrace which the representative of the Crown in Quebec has cast upon his high office, we can scarcely say that from a party point of view we regret the new turn which has been given to affairs. While we sincerely regret that the executive head of a government, acting under the British constitution, has degraded himself by playing into the hands of political conspirators, and acted in a manner for which the history of Great Britain affords no precedent, we must admit that he has also played into the hands of their opponents and our friends, innocently enough on his own part, but apparently to good purpose. To endeavour to patch up the tottering structure at this late day is merely to insure its complete annihilation, when at no distant hour it falls to the ground with a crash. Is the new government friendly to Mr. Ouimet and his corrupt followers? Then, indeed, have the people of the Province of Quebec need to fear their rulers. Shall we find our friend Mr. Ouimet and the heroes of the Land Swap supporting the De Boucherville Administration? If we do, we are bound to wish them joy of their company. But, on the other hand, if they refuse to support this hybrid government—made up as it is of traitors to their colleagues and greedy office-seekers—what can the result be? Why, defeat of course. Truly Quebec politics are in a deplorable muddle, but the meeting of Parliament and a new election may perhaps do something towards putting things right.
